WAYS THAT ARE DARK.—An unusual scene took place during the trial of the case of Burges vs. Anderson, brought to recover money won at various times from the plaintiff at faro by fraudulent practices. The plaintiff used, as an illustration of the technicalities of the game, a complete faro table, with its mark apparatus and silver dealing-box. An expert, Mr. Daniel H. Helme, took his seat at the table and played the game, the counsel and other spectators betting on the cards, and taking their chances at winning and losing. He first used an honest set of cards and several of the spectators won their bets, although luck was largely in favor of the bank. He then took a set of "strippers"—that is, a pack in which several of the cards were trimmed at the sides to an edge—unobservable to the eye but easily perceived by the touch of the dealer. By this divice the dealer knew the position of any card, and by dealing two at a time, when necessary, was able to make the opposite player lose at will. The false deck of cards being inserted in the box, the spectators, betting at choice against the bank, found that the dealer distributed the favors of fortune all to himself, and were at once convinced how immoral a thing gambling is. The expert testified that he had been in the service of the defendant, and had used the "strippers" to defraud his innocent customers. The defendant denies the use of the "skin game" at his place, and says the story of the expert is a fabrication resulting from a personal enmity. However that may be, that such a sinful game is possible seemed to be pretty clearly demonstrated in open court.—Providence Journal.

A PROFITABLE BUSINESS.—Orange-growing in California—like the intelligent culture of this fruit elsewhere—is very remunerative. The average yield of oranges in that State is set down at about one thousand five hundred for each tree. Assuming seventy trees to an acre and one thousand oranges to the tree, the product of seventy thousand oranges would result. As these would sell at $20 per thousand, an orangery of ten acres would give a gross revenue of $14,000, which reduced by one-half to include all contingencies of poor crops, etc., would leave $7000 as the almost certain value of a season's growth. At Los Angeles, recently, a single crop was sold for $20,000, while the entire outlay due to pruning, taking care of the ground, and attendance of the growing fruit was not more than $500. As an investment there is probably no better one than that of a few thousand dollars in planting an orangery—say in Florida. The original cost would be slight; and after a few years, when the trees begin to bear, the returns of a good season—barring any possible loss from frost, which is the great enemy of the orange grower—will quite cover the expenses entailed. After that a comfortable income may confidently be anticipated from the proceeds of the yearly crops.—Lynchburg Virginian.

—One of the funniest things in the Cincinnati burlesque was Carl Schurz's refusal for a time to announce the nomination of Greeley. Three hundred and fifty-eight votes were required to nominate. Greeley climbed to 360, 380, 390, 398, 410, and stopped. Schurz frowned. He was supremely disgusted. He looked around to Ohio for relief, vaguely hoping that some idiot would move to cancel the ballot and begin again! McClure rose; Schurz grabbed at the straw, hoping against hope that Pennsylvania was coming to the rescue. Not so. A motion to make the nomination unanimous! Shouts of "No!" all over the house, and a ringing negative when the question was put. "It can hardly be so considered," remarked Schurz, blandly—and waited in vain for a motion to adjourn. Finally, John Cochrane climbed on the back of a bench, and addressed the chair: "Sir! it is customary, in conventions, when a nomination has been made, for the president to announce the consummation." Then Schurz, with pallid face, and gavel twirling in his flaccid hand, announced that Greeley was the candidate.

—We recently found in a book this sentence: "Either of them write well enough by themselves." The first correction to be made in it is, of course, to change the verb from the plural to the singular number. But this sentence is still faulty, and when it is understood that the persons referred are to man and wife, the task of correcting seems to be seriously difficult. If two men were referred to, we might say, "Either writes well enough by himself," such a use of "by" and the pronoun being authorized by custom, though not, we believe, strictly lawful. But where the parties represent two genders, we cannot do this; and we are finally brought to the conclusion that the meaning cannot be grammatically expressed by means of the words employed. This case seems to illustrate a grave defect in our language, which amounts to this: that while we may affirm a certain thing of two masculine substantives, we cannot affirm the same of two substantives, one masculine and one feminine, without employing very different phraseology. In language, at least, the sexes ought to stand on perfect equality.—Crocker's Literary World.

CHERRY PECTORAL

For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma and Consumption.

The few compositions, which have won the confidence of mankind and become household words among not only one nation but many nations, must have extraordinary virtues. Perhaps no one ever secured so wide a reputation or maintained it so long as AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL. It has been known to the public about forty years, by a long continued series of marvellous cures, which have won for it a confidence in its virtues, never equalled by any other medicines. It still makes the most effectual cures of Coughs, Colds, Consumption, that can be made by medical skill. Under the CHERRY PECTORAL has really robbed these dangerous diseases of their terrors, to a great extent, and gives a feeling of security from their fatal effects, which is well founded, if the remedy be taken in season. Every family should have it in their closet for the relief and prompt relief of its members. Sickness, suffering, and even life is saved by this timely protection. The prudent should not neglect it, and the unwise will not. Keep it by you for the protection it affords in sudden attacks, and by its timely use.

Campaign Notes.

Governor Hoffman has vetoed the bill for the charter election in New York the end of May, on the ground of its unconstitutionality. The governor also vetoed the congressional apportionment bill, as in plain disregard of the rights of the people, and of the directions of an act of Congress, but the bill passed both houses over the veto.

The time and place of holding the democratic national convention, (at Baltimore, July 9th,) are interpreted by political prophets of more than ordinary shrewdness to indicate an independent nomination and a disavowal of Greeley and Cincinnati.

The woman suffrage advocates announce a new departure. They propose to go to the polls, register their names and if their votes are refused to contest in the Supreme Court of the United States, where they will have women educated in the law to conduct their cases.

Susie B. Anthony is after Greeley, hot. She succeeded in having the following resolution passed by the Woman Suffrage Association:—

Whereas, Horace Greeley, the editor-in-chief of the New York Tribune, has for the last four years lost no opportunity to ridicule and falsify the spirit and purpose, the principles and persons of the woman suffrage movement of this country, thereby making the influental journal a powerful engine against the organization of the woman of the nation therefore.

Resolved, that no woman with decent self-respect can aid with voice or pen in his election to the high position to which he is nominated.

Greeley and Brown are not the only regularly nominated candidates for high office now in the field. A nondescript convention in New York has made the remarkable nominations of Victoria C. Woodhull for President of the United States, and of Fred Douglass for Vice-President.

The territorial convention of Wyoming endorsed President Grant.

In the Indiana municipal elections, last week, the Republicans made very general gains.

The Labor Reformers of Pennsylvania have nominated ex-Senator Buckalew for Governor.

Agricultural conundrum: Is Horace Greeley the putati-ve father of the passive policy.

Sam. Page of Concord announces his readiness to stump the State for Greeley. Sam is a natural Democratic gas bag.

Mr. Greeley states that in cultivating the hat-tree, if the white variety be desired, the roots should be treated freely with chlorate of lime. The product generally leaves when the owner does; it is a poor substitute for the castor bean but the new fruit is called the Spring's tile from its elasticity.

Senator Nye's story about H. G. sitting down on his (Nye's) hat at a dinner party, (whereupon the jovial Senator said, "Greeley, you might have known that hat wouldn't fit you,") will be told a good many times for the next month or so.

Greeley's head is level "just once." At a fashionable reception last winter, a lady, to quiz Horace, asked him to tell her what he knew about farming. He replied, "fashionable ladies require more top dressing."

The Bridgeport Standard puts it thus mildly:—"People feel like this towards Horace Greeley. They will honor him for all the good he has done in behalf of correct principles in his past career, and consign him to a contemptuous oblivion for his present treason to those principles and the aid and comfort he is giving to their enemies.

The News.

In the supreme court of Mommouth county, New Jersey, a decision against the property of Helmbold for $17,000 has been granted in favor of Hudson & Co., advertising agents.

By an explosion of petroleum and gunpowder in Tripolitz, Greece, twenty persons were instantly killed and many injured, some very severely.

Henry Clews reports receipts to the amount of $41,000 for the erection of a homœopathic hospital in New York.

James Wood ran a special train from Rochester to Syracuse, N. Y., a distance of 81 miles, in 82 minutes. This, for the distance, is the fastest time on record.

Two men were recently murdered in Sumner county, Kansas, by a man named McCarthy, who escaped into the Indian Territory. A vigilance committee immediately set out in pursuit, and found and shot him. After the return of the vigilantes, a shooting affray occurred in Wellington, in which Jack Lynch shot and wounded two men—Hopkins and Clark—and received two wounds himself. Lynch was arrested, and the affair coming to the knowledge of the committee, they marched over to Wellington, a distance of twenty miles, took Lynch from the officers having him in custody and hung him.

The brig Venture, from Demerara, picked up adrift in the Gulf Stream a buoy attached to which was a seven hundred fathoms chain and about five hundred fathoms of telegraphic cable. The buoy and attachments are supposed to belong to the company laying cables to connect with the West India islands.

The story of a fight between United States marshals and a gang of desperadoes in the Cherokee district, in which five or six on each side were killed, is now denied.

The New York Herald states that the Geneva Arbitration is ended, the answer from the British Government, received Friday, being sufficiently explicit to show that the Treaty has failed, and all hopes of a settlement are past. It is understood that the entire correspondence will be sent to Congress and that the President will take no further steps in the matter without Congressional action.

A fire in Somerset, Pa., May 10, destroyed six squares in the heart of the town, embracing one-third of the area of the place and two-thirds of its entire value. The buildings destroyed included three hotels, every business house, store and shop but one, both banking-houses, both printing offices, the lawyers' offices, post office, United States assessor's office, two churches, the Masonic and Odd Fellows' hall, telegraph and express offices, and over thirty private dwellings. Fifty families are homeless. The total losses are estimated at $1,000,000; insurance $75,000.

The freight-steamer Rotary blew up off Old Point Comfort, May 9, killing the chief engineer, his wife, child and sister-in-law, and scalding several of the crew. The tug steamer Compound exploded her boiler while tugging a schooner out of Buffalo harbor, May 10, and sunk instantly. One man was badly scalded. The rest of the crew were but slightly injured. On Friday three boilers exploded in an iron mill at Sawmill Run, Pa. A fireman was instantly killed.

A nine-inch bombshell which was thrown into a foundry furnace in Cambridgeport, Mass., created quite a disturbance when it blew the furnace to pieces. No one was hurt.

Rumors are reported from London to the effect that there is now no hope of effecting a settlement of the difficulty respecting the indirect claims in the Alabama case.

Mr. Charles G. Phelps, a New York jeweller, was fatally shot by burglars in a room over his store, Friday afternoon, during business hours. The murderers escaped.

American Girl won a race with W. H. Allen at Fleetwood Park, Friday, in three straight heats; best time, 2:33 1-4.

State News.

That nice and newsy paper, the Peterboro' Transcript, rejoices in the commencement of its 23d volume.

The Governor has again nominated Lewis W. Clark, Esq., of Manchester, for attorney-general.

The first pair of rails on the extension of the Boston and Maine Railroad were laid on Thursday, at Dover, with appropriate honors, under the supervision of Road-master Smith.

Mrs. Bigelow was thrown from a carriage in Nashua, and had her right arm broken between the elbow and shoulder, and sustained some painful bruises.

George P. Sanborn of Dorchester was found by neighbors on the floor with his throat badly gashed, having attempted to commit suicide, May 8. No cause is assigned for the act.

Edward Perkins of Dover died on Thursday morning from the effects of taking an overdose of morphine. He was a botanic physician and leaves a family.

The Governor and council have appointed William H. Gilmore supervisor of public printing at Concord.

Three hundred cords of dry wood, belonging to the Boston, Concord and Montreal Railroad Company, were burned at Littleton on Friday. Loss about $1000.

Massabesic, Newfound and Sunapee lakes are to be stocked with smelts.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

CASTORIA—is a scientific vegetable preparation; a perfect substitute for and more effective than Castor Oil, and is pleasant to take. It cleanses the system in a most remarkable manner; does not distress or gripe, but operates when all other remedies have failed. It is certain to supersede Pills, Castor Oil, Narcotic Syrups, and all other purgative and exciting medicines. The Castoria contains neither Minerals, Morphine nor Alcohol. By its emollient, soothing effect, it assimilates the food and produces natural sleep particularly adapting it to crying and teething children. It cures Stomach Ache, Wind Colic, Constipation, Flatulency, Croup, and kills Worms. Make your Druggist send for it; he will always keep it, as every family must have it. Its costs but fifty cents a bottle. J. B. Rose & Co., 53 Broadway, New York. m1 4w

A CORRESPONDENT, writing from Athens, curiously contrasts the mixtures to be found there of ancient and modern civilizations. Railroads spin their trains amid the temples of three thousand years; steamers dash their swells upon the Piræus, and the scream of their whistles resounds from Athos, Pentelicus and Cytheron to Olympus and the heavens beyond their gods. Dr. Ayer's world-renowned medicines, those consummations of modern science, are posted on the Acropolis, the Parthenon, the Areopagus and the Thesion, while the modest cards of Cherry Pectoral, Ayer's Sarsaparilla, Ague Cure and Pills, look from the windows of the shops in the streets of Athens, where they are sold.—N. Y. Sunday Globe.

HOLLOWAY'S PILLS.—The most powerful existing medicine for the cure of female complaints. Fifty years' experience, incontestably prove these remedies unrivalled for the disorders incidental to the softer sex. No family should be without them. They may be taken by young and old, as they will restore health when every other means prove unsuccessful. 25 cents per box or pot.

PILES.—The unceasing torture from internal bleeding, external and itching piles is fast wearing away the thousands of those who are afflicted and their hops and courage have long since given place to despair. Let those who see this cheer up, for a mild and sure cure may be had by using BRIGGS' PILE REMEDIES.

CORNS.—Since pride and fashion have had control of mankind, and shoemakers were compelled to make boots and shoes to fit fancy instead of the feet, the suffering from Corns, Bonions, Ingrowing Nails, Sore Instepts, Blistered Heels, Callosities on the bottom of the feet, &c., cannot be described. But Briggs' Corn and Bunion Remedies will cure all such torments, and proper fitting boots will prevent their reproduction. Sold by all druggists. al2

SPECIAL NOTICES.

False Theories Overthrown.

We live under a new medical dispensation, very different from that under which so many of our forefathers died. The sick are no longer bled till they faint, nor gorged with mercury, nor prostrated with violent cathartics, nor blistered on their shaven heads. Ever since the introduction of HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS, twenty years ago, renovation and restoration, not depletion and prostration, have been the watchwords of the judicious portion of the profession. The remarkable success of this famous vegetable preventive, invigorant and corrective has worked a complete revolution in the general treatment of diseases. At first the dogmatic members of the faculty would not believe in it. "What!" they exclaimed, "cure liver complaint without mercury, chronic rheumatism without colchicum, fever and ague without quinine! Impossible!" But the most obstinate incredulity must yield in the end to practical demonstration. From that time to the present, dyspepsia, biliousness, intermittent fevers, muscular diseases, nervous complaints and constipation have vanished under the operation of the great specific, in at least ninety per cent. of the cases in which it has been used as a remedy for those ailments, while as a preventive of all maladies generated by change of climate, sudden revulsions of temperature, epidemic poison in the atmosphere, and unwholesome water, its beneficial effects have been so obvious and uniform as to secure the most perfect confidence in its properties as an antidote, safeguard and cure.

LOCAL AFFAIRS.

Mayor Walker's Funeral.

The funeral of the late Mayor Walker will take place at noon this day, Monday, from the Middle Street Church. The last sad rites are to be simple and unostentatious, with no attendance of societies as such, in compliance with the expressed wishes of his family.—Mr. Walker having signified a desire to be buried without parade or show some years since, when he believed himself near his end. In accordance with the earnestly expressed wishes of many, an opportunity will be afforded the public to take a last look at the honored dead, at the church, between the hours of 11 A. M. and 12 o'clock, previous to the arrival of the family of the deceased.

The City Government and past Mayors will meet at the City Rooms at half-past 11 o'clock, and proceed in a body to the church; and the citizens generally are requested to attend and join in the procession from the church to the grave. The schools will be closed and business generally will be suspended during the time of the funeral.

A Sad Service.

The morning service at the Middle Street Church on Sunday was solemn and impressive. As the congregation quietly gathered — missing as they passed through the vestibule of the church the genial countenance of one who never appeared more radiant and happy than at these weekly gatherings —many eyes unaccustomed to weep were seen covered, and convulsive sobs told of the unfeigned sorrow which was finding some relief in tears. The pastor, Rev. Mr. Alden, (to whom the deceased bore as intimate a relation as that of a brother,) was well nigh overcome with grief on entering the pulpit, but soon after controlled himself and became very calm. His text was, "but though he caused grief yet will he have compassion." In the course of the sermon, which was appropriate to the circumstances under which it was delivered, Mr. Alden paid a touching tribute to the memory of his dear friend, and at the close of the exercises announced that there would be no further services that day. Probably the blow occasioned by Mr. Walker's death falls with more severity upon the church above alluded to than upon any other public movement with which the deceased was identified. He was not content with merely bearing the name of a Christian but he threw his whole soul into the work of religion. As we have before intimated, to him, more than to any other one individual, is due the present prosperity of the Baptist church. Outsiders or strangers wishing to attend divine service almost always found him at his post near the inner door of the church, ever ready and willing to extend civilities and courtesies which could never be exceeded by any other usher.

Laconics.

The Post Office will be closed from 12 o'clock, noon, to-day, until 2 P. M., on account of the funeral of the late Mayor. Mr. Walker's death is abundant cause for the universal public sorrow, and it is hoped that all places of business will be closed in honor of his memory, as suggested by the City Councils.

Stephen R. Niles, Esq., of Boston, has been appointed to the same responsible position in the press reception room of the World's Jubilee in June which he filled to such entire satisfaction of the representatives of the press three years ago. Mr. Niles' appointment is sufficient guaranty that the knights of the quill, scissors and mucilage are to be cared for at the Jubilee as they think they deserve.

The grand jury in attendance on the U. S. Circuit Court, now in session in this city, were discharged on Saturday. A bill of indictment was found against Frank Harris, for perjury. Bills were found against parties for defrauding the Government in the internal revenue tax. In the case of the United States vs. Walter Aiken of Franklin, for failing to make monthly returns of his manufactures, a decision was rendered in favor of the defendant. The court will probably remain in session through the present week.

Mr. John E. Rider has been appointed coroner by Gov. Weston.

The Ladies of the Episcopal church are to hold a sale at their Chapel, Wednesday afternoon and evening.

The following is an extract from a private letter from an officer of the United States steamer Kansas: On the morning of April 12th, about 9:30, Commander Crossman, in attempting to cross the bar at the mouth of the San Juan River in a whaleboat, when on the bar the steering oar broke. This allowed the boat to broach to. At that instant a large wave filled the boat and capsized her, leaving the crew struggling helplessly in the foaming surf. A boat was instantly dispatched to their assistance, which met the same fate. A second boat was sent, which was also capsized. We the had but one boat left and she was unfit for the purpose. It was heartrending to be compelled to stand by and see the poor fellows struggling for their lives with the merciless element, and we powerless to assist them. Commander Crossman, Lieut. Force, and four men were drowned. The body of one man only has been discovered. Those who were saved owe their preservation to being able to hold on to the boats or secure the floating oars, or some other floating substance that was capable of keeping their heads above water. Commander Crossman leaves a wife and three children in Philadelphia to mourn his fate.

The New York Mercury says: "A company under Holbrook & Dewitt has been organized at Portsmouth, N. H., for a tour. It consists of Henry Bean, leader of orchestra; Kit Johnson, advance agent; Jimmy Holbrook, song and dance; L. O. Dewitt, cornet; Frank L. Howard, comique; Dan Casey and Billy Faulkner, comedians."

Clippings.

A capital feature of the Journal is its local news. Here is some of it:—

—A new street extending through the garden of the Ladd estate on High street to Fleet street is soon to be laid out.

—De Witt Clinton Commandery of this city are to entertain the Commandery of Lawrence on St. John's Day, June 24.

—Samuel Donnell, Esq. for many years grocer in this city, is soon to remove to Peabody, Mass. to enter into the same business.

—An officer in the regular army, a resident of this city, recently travelled 656 miles in 14 days on horseback, an average of nearly 47 miles days.

—The Rockingham Cooperative Boot & Shoe Company are manufacturing a style of shoes which are in constant demand, the company having large orders ahead of their product.

——Laighton Brothers, of the Appledore House, Isle of Shoals, are erecting a gas house near the main building, for supplying their entire establishment with gas.—We are informed it will require one and a half miles of pipe to convey it through the house.

—— A new Local Board of Fire Underwriters is to be formed here, which will fix adequate rates for the various classes of insurance hazards. This will be done in accordance with a vote passed at the sixth annual meeting of the National Board of Fire Underwriters held in New York April 17 and 18.

— Harmony Grove Cemetery is being cleared of dead leaves and other accumulations, and put in order generally. The new extension of this beautiful "City of the Dead" has received the name of Sagamore Cemetery. Lots have been laid out, trees planted, and walks made. The improvements will continue as time and taste shall indicate.

BASE BALL. — The Bostons won a brilliant victory in their second game with the Mutuals, at Boston, on Saturday, 5000 people being in attendance. George Wright, of the Bostons, made the first run, in the 3d inning, Cummings and Hicks of the Mutuals securing runs in the 5th. At the close of the 8th, the score was two for the Mutuals and one for the Bostons. The latter blanked their opponents in the 9th and went to the bat with one to tie and two to win. Spalding stole two bases and tied the game amid deafening cheers, and Ryan followed him home, winning the game. Harry Wright made the closing run, the Bostons winning the game by the score of four to two. It was the most exciting and best played game ever witnessed in Boston. The first game of the series resulted in a victory of the Bostons by a score of nine to two.

—The Danbury News says: How any unprejudiced man can look on the present sized penny-cake of maple sugar, and claim that the world is growing better, passes our comprehension."

Morning Chronicle.

HORRIBLE.—A catastrophe almost unparalleled in horror, disclosing the gross cruelties of the Macao emigrant trade by one last and most terrible demonstration, happened in the China Seas last May, and is recorded in a Parliamentary Report just ordered by the House of Commons to be printed. A vessel called the Don Juan, sailing under the flag and with the authority of the Portuguese government, set sail on the 4th of May with 650 coolies on board. These poor wretches, it appears, were kidnapped and shipped in the most shameful manner. Once on board, this large multitude was placed literally in prison—penned on the main deck and fastened down by three iron gratings, which closed the hatches, ten coolies at a time only being allowed to come on deck. The shipped sailed in fair weather from Macao. On the second day of the voyage, as declared by Herker, an Austrian seaman, the captain selected twenty coolies and put them in irons, with much brutality, as an example to the others. On the third day a difficulty arose about the food passed down to the emigrants. The interpreter got angry, and struck those who complained with his cane, whereupon the wretched coolies made a rush at their European gaolers. The iron hatches were immediately slammed back upon them, and, when the poor creatures beat upon the beams and planks to get air, muskets were fired down into the crowd. It then appears that, in desperation, some few of the coolies set fire to a store-room forward, hoping, no doubt, to force the crew to throw their prison open. The sailors tried to pump water down upon the seat of the conflagration, but the frenzied men below passed the hose out of the port holes, so that pumping became useless. Then the fire spread beyond all control, and volumes of thick smoke rolled into the main deck—choking the mass of coolies at either end, who had taken no part in the previous proceeding. Red tongues of flame and suffocating clouds filled the ship below hatches—while the miserable prisoners beat at the iron grating, tore at the fastenings of the deck, and even endeavored to get up to the air through the ventilators. The port-holes, however, were fastened, the dead-lights were too small to allow of a man's body passing, and the ventilators were barred, so that there was no escape.

In two hours' time the fire was "established on the main-deck"—which means that scores of the Chinese had already been roasted or smothered—yet the crew never took a single step towards saving the lives of the imprisoned wretches. They merely lowered three boats on their own account, and pushed off from the burning vessel, leaving all that mass of human creatures pent up in a floating hell of fear and agony. The sea was calm; the hatches might surely have been opened at the last moment; yet the Don Juan's captain and hands shoved off, while the ship blazed, and while the coolies perished inside with frightful cries and screams. The scoundrel master and crew saved their villainous lives; a junk picked them up; and the same witness who tells us this says, that when the twenty Chinese in irons, who were upon the forecastle, broke away their fetters, and swam toward the junk, they were pushed off into the sea to drown. Meantime, in their awful terror, the survivors of the six hundred and fifty-five below found some means of bursting the fore-hatch. Scores were by this time killed by the flames or smoke; scores had been trampled down in the frenzied rush for life to the upper deck. About a hundred in all at last emerged from that Golgotha of anguish, and leaped at once into the sea. A few managed to get hold of spars and floating gear, and hung upon these till some fishing boats picked them up next morning. The majority were already mortally injured when they escaped, or were drowned, or crushed by the falling chains and spars of the ship. But at least five hundred were first scorched to death, or choked and trampled dead, before the infernal prison-gate was forced by the breaking open of the hatches, which the captain and crew had so shamefully left fast.

WALKING.—Walking briskly, with an exciting object or pleasurable interest ahead, is the most healthful of all forms of exercise except that of encouragingly remunerative, steady labor in the open air; and yet multitudes in our city, whose health urgently requires exercise seldom walk when they can ride, if the distance is a mile or more. It is worse in the country, especially with the well-to-do; a horse or carriage must be brought to the door even if less distance have to be passed. Under the conditions first named, walking is a bliss; it gives animation to the mind, it vivifies the circulation, it paints the face, it sparkles the eye and wakes up the whole being, physical, mental and moral. We know a family of children in this city who, from the age of seven had to walk nearly two miles to school, Winter and Summer; whether sleet or storm, or rain, or burning sun, they made it an ambition never to stay away from school on account of the weather, and never to be "late," and one of them was heard to boast that in seven years it had never been necessary to give an "excuse" for being one minute behind time, even although in Winter it was necessary to dress by gaslight. They did not average two days' sickness in a year, and later they thought nothing of walking twelve miles at a time in the Swiss mountains. Sometimes they would be caught in drenching rains, and wet to the skin; on such occasions they made it a point to do one thing, let it rain, and they trudged on more vigorously until every thread was dry before they reached home.—Hall's Journal of Health.

KNIVES AND FORKS.—New Britain, Conn. has a cutlery manufactory. In the Hartford Courant we find a very interesting description of it, from which we take the following. The principle thing manufactured is table cutlery. The visitor is first taken to the store room, where he sees piles of ox-en's shin-bones, brought hither from the slaughter houses of New York. They are first soaked and boiled, and then sawed out and shaped by a series of ingenious machines, going at last to the riveting room, where they are fastened to the blade of the knife or the shank of the fork.

In the store room, too, lie piles of cocoa, ebony and rosewood, brought from the region of the equator. The hard and beautiful woods are manipulated in much the same way as the bones, and sawed out by similar machines. The blades of the knives and the steel portions of the forks, first assume shape in the blacksmith shop, an immense room containing forges, eight or nine trip-hammers, and two rows of drops, each one hundred feeet long.

After these have given to the blades their rough forms, they are sent to the punching room, where the holes for the rivets are made. They then go to the hardening or tempering room, which contain three furnaces in which a fierce heat is constantly maintained. There are tempering, annealing and case hardening furnaces. The process is here very delicate, the blades being dipped in oil before they are packed in the annealing furnace, and great skill being required to keep the furnace always at the proper degree of heat.

This annealing is, as is well known, a most important operation. Without it our knives and forks would soon bend and break, and become useless. From this room the blades go next to the grinding room, in which are twenty-eight grindstones, with room for a dozen more. Here the edge is given to the blade, and the sharp points to the fork. The grinding room presents a curious sight. In front of the rapidly whirling stones sit men, many of them wearing goggles to keep the fine particles, which fly off in the process of grinding from entering their eyes. As they apply the steel blades to the stones, flashes of fire, the result of friction, are evolved. The occupation of knife or fork grinder is not generally considered a healthy one, the air of the room being filled with fine dust, which the grinder is obliged to inhale, and which seriously affects the throat. The stones too, are sometimes burst, in consequence of their revolution, the fragments flying off with great violence in every direction. From the grinding-room the blades are transfered to the shafting-room, where they are joined to the handles of bone or wood before mentioned. Here a clever piece of machinery turnes out the rivets with immense rapidity, with which the bolster or shoulder is fastened to the handle; these bolsters are of nickel, and are patented by one of the firm. The knives, being joined to their handles, are now taken to the polishing and finishing room, where they are polished on wheels of cotton cloth or felt.

—The Danbury News says that a humble and industrious resident of the Sixth Ward has bought a horse with his savings, and gone into business for himself. The horse is named Mayor and cost a dollar. This is the first instance on record, we think, of a mayor being bought for a dollar. They generally cost two dollars and a half. The other day the steed got out of the stables, and went to cavorting around the neighborhood of South street, in a reprehensible manner. The owner went for him at once, with the purpose of catching him at an early date; but he was disappointed. The animal frisked around in a prominent way, and finally jumped completely over his master's head, its venerable frame wiggling and twisting in the air, while its attenuated but frolicsome limbs rattled pleasantly against his head. He laid down at once to think, and the aged colt trotted benignantly down the street. The wounded man was borne into a Samaritan's dwelling, where his battered skull was saturated with liniment.

—A small boy was arrested in Chicago the other day for vagrancy, when he asserted that he could prove an alibi. Said that was the first day he had been from home in three weeks, as their folks had the small pox. The jolly justice said sharply: "For 'eavens sake stand further away from us, if that's the case." The "shyster" skedaddled; the visitors vanished; the police departed, and the reporters jumped through a window and never stopped running until they reached the office of the sanitary superintendent where "disinfectants" were freely indulged in at fifteen cents a disinfect.

—In a storm at sea, the chaplain asked one of the crew, if he thought there was any danger. "O yes," replied the sailor; "if it blows as hard as it does now, we shall all be in heaven before twelve o'clock at night." The chaplain terrified at the expression, cried out, "The Lord forbid."

—Mr. Snyder of Michigan fired into a charivari crowd and brought down his nephew.

The Singer

SEWING MACHINE

STILL LEADS THE MARKET.

The Success of the Company is far beyond that of any other similar concern; the Daily Manufacture

—OF—

400 OF THE SINGERS

Failing to Supply the Constant Demand.

All other machines call the public attention to some new loop or stitch or tension or finish, some advantage in running or needles or feed or prices—and many of these are as we have said very good points, and the agents selling them use them to divert entirely the would-be purchaser from faitly considering the facts in the case; but the

SINGER

seems to unite the good qualities of all, and is never found wanting.

THE SINGER

IS THE

OLDEST

SEWING MACHINE

IN THE MARKET,

All others being copied from its first model. It does two-thirds the sewing done in this country and preserves its advantages over all others combined.

It is readily kept clean, and has THE BEST TENSION EVER INVENTED; it is higher speeded and requires but little power to run; it works equally well upon the finest and heaviest goods; it does all the varieties of work known to the art.

N. B. Those purchasing for cash, before the 1 of January next, will have a consideration allowed them.

AYER'S

CHERRY PECTORAL

For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma and Consumption.

The few compositions, which have won the confidence of mankind and become household words among not only one nation but many nations, must have extraordinary virtues. Perhaps no one ever secured so wide a reputation or maintained it so long as AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL. It has been known to the public about forty years, by a long continued series of marvellous cures, which have won for it a confidence in its virtues, never equalled by any other medicines. It still makes the most effectual cures of Coughs, Colds, Consumption, that can be made by medical skill. Indeed the CHERRY PECTORAL has really robbed these dangerous diseases of their terrors, to a great extent, and given a feeling of immunity from their fatal effects, which is well founded, if the remedy be taken in season. Every family should have it in their closet for the ready and prompt relief of its members. Sickness, suffering, and even life is saved by this timely protection. The prudent should not neglect it, and the wise will not. Keep it by you for the protection it affords in sudden attacks, and by its timely use.

TUESDAY, MAY 14, 1872.

The Senatorship.

The Great Falls Journal favors the election of Hon. E. H. Rollins. It says:—"We entertain more than usual interest in this election of Senator, because the candidate who seems to be the choice of the people is none other than one of our townsmen, Hon. Edward H. Rollins. Mr. Rollins, it is true, left our town in his boyhood, and embarked in business in Boston; afterward he went to Concord, and successfully prosecuted his business in that thriving city. Then the voters of the second district sent him to Congress, but he does not forget his native town, county or district. When in Congress he always gave his aid to measures likely to advance the interests of this region. He always saw to it that the Portsmouth navy-yard got its fair share of building and repairs. He recently made a journey to Washington to give his aid to a project for the improvement of the Cocheco river. He is always alive, stirring, and pushing. It is these qualities which we value, and we think them likely to have full weight and influence in the Senate. It seems to us that Rollins and Patterson are to be the leading Republican candidates, and that the chances of ultimate success are decidedly in favor of the first named gentleman. He will receive strong support from the First Congressional District, and we have read the papers to very poor purpose if the current of public favor is not steadily drifting toward him."

The New England correspondent of the New York Herald writes that paper as follows:—"If Patterson succeeds in getting elected to another term, it will be in opposition to the many active workingmen of the republican party in the State, and chaos may come out of it. The common style of prophesying is that if the Legislature elects Patterson over any one of the candidates of working republicans, that party may begin instantly thereafter to dig its grave in New Hampshire without the risk of digging it too deep, for there can be no prospective resurrection. The people of this State take politics very much to heart at all times; they are always earnest in their treatment, but one who knows the general feeling, and, indeed, any one may gather its animus who meets half a dozen men anywhere, says that he never knew a time when disintegration of the republican party was more threatening than it would be if the rotation system is repudiated and Patterson sent for another term to Washington. This imminent danger induces grave consideration, and there are several Senatorial candidates in the field. And it seems that noses have been counted, and that the calculations are that on an informal caucus ballot Patterson will have 70 votes, Rollins 56, Stearns 30, and other candidates the balance of the 210 votes of the party. It is also pretty certain that all those candidates in opposition to Patterson will coalesce against him, in which event Rollins will likely be the man, but white men are proverbially uncertain, and it may be otherwise.

THE ALABAMA NEGOTIATIONS.—The announcement that the Alabama negotiations had reached a point where the United States had declined to withdraw the indirect claims from Geneva, to which England had replied she could not consent to have the conference consider them, has been erroneously interrupted as equivalent to breaking off all further negotiations. But such is not the case. Efforts at a settlement of the difficulty are still making on both sides. These are directed to agreeing upon a short supplemental treaty bearing upon the question of indirect claims alone. A proposition was made on the part of the United States on Friday, to agree to a supplemental treaty in which the doctrine of consequential damages should be set forth in a fourth rule, setting forth that whenever either England or the United States was at war, and the other a neutral, that the neutral should only be liable for direct damages arising from acts of privateers, with the understanding that such a rule should be submitted for the guidance of the Geneva tribunal in the settlement of all claims which either party might lay before it. The effect would be to enable the United States to leave its whole case before the conference in its present shape, withdrawing nothing, and at the same time, under the rule, England would have no cause for objecting to the manner in which we might present the subject of indirect damages in our case, since when the tribunal came to act it would be wholly governed by the rule.

THAT THE GERMANS, East and West, steadily refuse to submit to the Cincinnati nominations is worthy of attention. Only one German paper within our knowledge, the Westliche Post of St. Louis, the recognized organ of Carl Schurz, treats them with any show of respect. A half-dozen others accept the situation reluctantly, or hold their judgment in reserve. At a great meeting held in St. Louis on the 6th instant, attended principally by Germans, Carl Daenzer, editor of the Anzeiger des Westens, denounced the nominations as the work of politicians who came into the movement at the eleventh hour, and were able to capture the convention by reënforcements of the worst sort. Among the resolutions unanimously adopted were the following, which the "independent press" has prudently ignored:—

2. That we see in Horce Greeley, not a fit presidential candidate of the reform party, as he has shown himself to be in affiliation with the centralization of power in Congress; a supporter of the Ku-Klux laws, and also a fanatic on protective tariff, which is in open defiance of the programme, as well of the liberal republican as the reunion and reform party, and a man of eccentric habits, fickle character and inconsistant conclusions, which do not guaranty that wise and solid administration which we are in need of in the present crisis.

3. That we see in the nomination of Greeley and Brown only the result of the secret and unprincipled workings of a ring of dangerous and professional politicians, who have taken part in the reform only to further their own designs.

5. That the Reunion and Reform Association of St. Louis expects and wishes that the democratic party in its national convention, in union with a convention of the Reunion and Reform societies, will adopt such a platform as does not ignore any interesting issues of the day, and nominate such presidential candidates as are in the fullest accord with the liberal platform and are worthy of the support of every independent citizen.

The Cincinnati Volksfreund of the 9th inst., has the following on this point:—

As was to be expected, several of the smaller and poorer papers, who are not supported by their readers, but are forced to speculate on the accidental gains that may turn up, have been won over to the support of Greeley and Brown, and these do the best they can in writing up the ticket of the wrecked convention. Already, on the day after the covention, it is said, contracts were made here in Cincinnati, among others, with a few German editors, whose purse up to the present time has been none of the best. Others who may lack the needful will follow this example; but for all this, the German element in America will never become enthusiastic for Greeley. This much is certain, that, with few exceptions, that portion of the German press which is in such a condition as to be under no necessity of bleeding candidates, or of begging official patronage, will not support Greeley.

The News.

Thomas Buchanan Read, the American painter and poet, is dead. He was born in Chester county, Penn., March 12, 1822. He was the author of "Sheridan's Ride."

The Havana students, sentenced to the chaingang for desecrating Caston's grave, have been granted full pardon.

In the United States Senate, on Saturday, an investigation into the election of Senators Pomeroy and Caldwell of Kansas was ordered.

The French commission of capitulations thinks that Jules Favre is responsible for the surrender of Paris and excalpates Trochu and Vinoy from all blame.

Spanish surveillance has been removed from the steamer Virginius, and she has left Aspinwall. This was brought about by a conference between the commander of the Kansas, which was sent there to watch her as a blockade runner, and the American consul at that port, at which it was decided to declare her an American ship, and to cause the American colors to be hoisted.

There is a formidable strike of miners at the Hecla, Calumet and Schoolcraft mines in Michigan. Fifteen hundred men are threatening the destruction of the property of the mining companies and committing outrages on fellow-laborers who refuse to join them. The civil authorities are unable to preserve the peace, and a company of infantry has been sent from Detroit to their assistance.

The House has passed the general amnesty bill. The total exceptions will only number three hundred.

Daniel Voorhees raised a breeze in the House, Monday, by denouncing Greeley. Daniel was repeatedly called to order, but wouldn't sit down. He has no fear that the Baltimore convention will nominate Greeley.

TAMMANY TACTICS were freely resorted to by the "beer" men in Lowell, Mass., to carry the city for their beverage. In one ward but 565 names were checked, 725 names having been voted upon according to the returns made. The ward clerk saw one man vote four times, each time having changed his hat; several bunches of "yes" tickets, one of them containing 90 votes, were found in the ballot box; many persons found their names already checked when they went to the polls, having been voted on by "substitutes;" persons absent from the city were represented in duplicate and triplicate; and one man who had been dead several weeks appeared and threw a vote two or three times. The Mayor and Aldermen, in view of the open and gross frauds proved to have been practised by the beer men, threw out the entire vote of the ward; this puts Lowell in the list of anti-beer cities, the votes of the other five wards footing up 1379 for beer, and 1470 against its sale or manufacture.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

CASTORIA—is a scientific vegetable preparation; a perfect substitute for and more effective than Castor Oil, and is pleasant to take. It cleanses the system in a most remarkable manner; does not distress or gripe, but operates when all other remedies have failed. It is certain to supersede Pills, Castor Oil, Narcotic Syrups, and all other purgative and exciting medicines. The Castoria contains neither Minerals, Morphine nor Alcohol. By its excellent, soothing effect, it assimilates the food and produces natural sleep particularly adapting it to crying and teething children. It cures Stomach Ache, Wind Colic, Constipation, Flatulency, Croup, and kills Worms. Make your Druggist send for it; he will always keep it, as every family must have it. It costs but fifty cents a bottle. J. B. Rose & Co., 53 Broadway, New York. m1 4w

A CORRESPONDENT, writing from Athens, curiously contrasts the mixtures to be found there, of ancient and modern civilizations. Railroads spin their trains amid the temples of three thousand years; steamers dash their swells upon the Pirens, and the scream of their whistles resounds from Athos, Pentelicus and Cytheron to Olympus and the heavens beyond their gods. Dr. Ayer's world-renowned medicines, those consummations of modern science, are posted on the Acropolis, the Parthenon, the Areopagus and the Thesion, while the modest cards of Cherry Pectoral, Ayer's Sarsaparilla, Ague Cure and Pills, look from the windows of the shops in the streets of Athens, where they are sold.—N. Y. Sunday Globe.

HOLLOWAY'S PILLS.—The most powerful existing medicine for the cure of female complaints. Fifty years experience, incontestably prove these remedies unrivalled for the disorders incidental to the softer sex. No family should be without them. They may be taken by young and old, as they will restore health when every other means prove unsuccessful. 25 cents per box or pot.

PILES.—The unceasing torture from internal bleeding, external and itching piles is fast wearing away the thousands of those who are afflicted and their hope and courage have long since given place to despair. Let those who see this cheer up, for a mild and sure cure may be had by using BRIGGS' PILE REMEDIES.

CORNS.—Since pride and fashion have had control of mankind, and shoemakers were compelled to make boots and shoes to fit fancy instead of the feet, the suffering from Corns, Bunions, Ingrowing Nails, Sore Insteps, Blistered Heels, Callosities on the bottom of the feet, &c., cannot be described. But Briggs' Corn and Bunion Remedies will cure all such torments, and proper fitting boots will prevent their reproduction. Sold by all druggists. a12

SPECIAL NOTICES.

False Theories Overthrown.

We live under a new medical dispensation, very different from that under which so many of our forefathers died. The sick are no longer bled till they faint, nor gorged with mercury, nor prostrated with violent cathartics, nor blistered on their shaven heads. Ever since the introduction of HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS, twenty years ago, renovation and restoration, not depletion and prostration, have been the watchwords of the judicious portion of the profession. The remarkable success of this famous vegetable preventive, invigorant and corrective has worked a complete revolution in the general treatment of disease. At first the dogmatic members of the faculty would not believe in it. "What!" they exclaimed, "cure liver complaint without mercury, chronic rheumatism without colchicum, fever and ague without quinine! Impossible!" But the most obstinate incredulity must yield in the end to practical demonstration. From that time to the present, dyspepsia, biliousness, intermittent fevers, muscular diseases, nervous complaints and constipation have vanished under the operation of the great specific, in at least ninety per cent. of the cases in which it has been used as a remedy for those ailments, while as a preventive of all maladies generated by change of climate, sudden revulsions of temperature, epidemic poison in the atmosphere, and unwholesome water, its beneficial effects have been so obvious and uniform as to secure the perfect confidence in its properties as an antidote, safeguard and cure.

LOCAL AFFAIRS.

The Funeral Services

Of the late Horton D. Walker were held at the Middle Street Church on Monday, and were impressive. Shortly after eleven o'clock, the casket containing the remains of the deceased Mayor was conveyed to the Church, and thousands of people passed in and took a last glance at the form of one who for so many years had weekly welcomed them at the house of worship. The remains were remarkable lifelike, appearing more like sleep than death. A continuous procession of those wishing to see poured into the church until the arrival of the relatives. The church was draped becomingly, the inscription "We miss him" being the only sentence displayed. Rev. Dr. Lamson, of Brookline, Mass., a former pastor and intimate friend of the deceased, conducted the services with Rev. Wm. H. Alden, the present pastor. Touching tributes were paid and the congregation mourned as if each one had lost the dearest friend.

Outside, thousands of people who were unable to obtain a footing in the church assembled to join in the procession, which was formed at the close of the services. Henry F. Wendell, Esq., officiated as Chief Marshal. Hon. W. HaY. Hackett, Hon. William Simes, Hon. John R. Reding, Hon. Marcellus Bufford, and Messrs. Samuel Adams, Frank W. Miller, Geo. W. Pendexter and J. C. Carr acted as pall bearers. Ex and present members of the city government followed the carriages, with the fire department and a long procession of citizens who desired to show their respect for the deceased by walking to the last resting place of their honored fellow citizen. Business was suspended and the public and many private buildings were draped in mourning.

Gen. Natt Head, Hon. Wm. C. Patten, Judge Fowler, Hon. E. A. Stevens, Hon. John D. Lyman and other distinguished gentlemen came to pay the last tribute of respect to their deceased friend; Mayor Cheney of Manchester telegraphed his regret at his inabilityto be present, from Peterboro'.

And so passes forever from our midst, the beloved husband, father and friend, first in council and first always in consolation. In putting away from sight this citizen, we have not committed to the dead past his remembrance, which is ever fresh in the hearts of the people. "We miss him," is inscribed on every heart, and we shall continue to miss him; but there is joy in Heaven over the reception of one who never failed to do his duty to God and mankind, whose every action was considered in the light of conscientious desire to live fully up to the Golden Rule. Knowing this, feeling that it is not given men to live more uprightly than he and that his eminent life was exemplary and almost faultless, that his words and deeds live after him, let the grief of the bereaved relatives for whom thousands of hearts are sorrowfully sympathizing, be lightened by the thought that in the time which comes once to all mortals, there shall our friend, happy beyond present conception, welcome to the better land those who but a brief period before so lamented the decree which took him from them and the people who loved him so well.

A Tribute.

Upon the coming in of the U. S. Circuit Court, Monday morning, Hon. W. H. Y. Hackett addressed the Court as follows:

May it please Your Honor:—Hon. Horton D. Walker, the Mayor of this city, died at his house on Elm Street on Friday last after a few hours' illness. By his death Portsmouth has lost one of its foremost men. Mr. Walker, by a life of purity, active benevolence, fidelity and kindness in all the relations of life, had endeared himself to our whole population, and his sudden death has overwhelmed the city as one family, with grief.

Mr. Walker has filled with marked distinction prominent positions in the State Government and in our State institutions. Into these positions he carried the same rectitude, kindness and ability, which at home made him a successful business man and a beloved townsman.

His funeral takes place at noon today, at which time, as a token of respect for his memory and character, the public offices, banks and places of business generally will be closed. I know it would gratify the people of Portsmouth if the Court should so far sympathize with their feelings and purpose as at that time to adjourn.

Judge Clark responded as follows:—

In obedience to its own feelings, as well as in regard to the proprieties of life, the Court will grant the motion which is now made.

When a man so high in position, so widely known and so much respected as Mr. Walker, suddenly drops out of life, the community is startled and individuals pause and consider. The question then comes to every one with unmistakable aim, "who next?" and all persons feel insecurity of life and deeply sympathize with the common grief.

Human courts sometimes issue their summons and expect them to be obeyed. But there is a Court above all earthly courts, whose wisdom is unerring and whose behests are absolute. No one may disregard them. They come alike to all,—to the high, the low, the rich, the poor, the man in public station and him of private life, to him who, weary with toil and labor and suffering, would gladly follow the messenger, and to him who expects him not. Meet it is that when such a summons come we stop and consider; be it one from our own profession, or from the larger circle of citizens.

Mr. Walker has been known to this Court for many years, but for the past two or three much more intimately, as a Trustee of the Reform School. Among its pupils, the purity of his thoughts, the warmth of his affections and the depth of his Christian principles continually manifested themselves. With them his heart was open, and his hand ready to assist. Year after year he solicited aid for its support, and continually offered prayer for its greatest good.

It is fitting that we drop a tear of love and respect beside the bier, of worth so conspicuous; and this Court will now adjourn to be present at the last sad rites of his burial.

Laconics.

On Monday afternoon six men, firemen and deck hands on board the steamer collier Santa Fe, lying at the Railroad Wharf, were arrested and taken before U. S. Commissioner William H. Hackett, for refusing to work. In defense they alleged that their food was insufficient in quantity and of inferior quality, but the statements were not sustained by proof. They were allowed the alternative of going quietly on board to their work or of being placed under recognizance of $500 to answer at the October term of the Court. After some hesitation the men went on board, having detained the steamer for a day.

Dr. Caleb Eastman, of York, Me., died on Sunday, aged 79 years. He had been deacon and treasurer of the First Congregational Church in York for thirty years, and was universally respected.

Edwin Booth is to make a professional tour through New England next fall, performing in this city October 3 and 4.

State News.

The State Historical Society, in order to get room for books, papers, etc., has given its large collection of minerals to the Agricultural College, whose cabinet has already reached extensive proportions.

The valedictory at the next commencement of Dartmouth College will be delivered by Edward D. Mason, of Passumpsic, Vermont. William A. Holman, of Deering, will deliver the Latin salutatory.

At the annual meeting of the Mount Washington Railroad Company the following directors were chosen:—Sylvester Marsh, J. E. Lyon, Onslow Stearns, W. A. Tower, E. Raymond, Walter Aiken and Nathaniel White.

THE ATTORNEY-GENERALSHIP.—Democratic commentators appear to differ over the act of Gov. Weston in nominating Hon. Geo. Y. Sawyer of this city for Attorney General. The Patriot commended the nomination, and justly remarked that Mr. Sawyer was not obnoxious as a partisan. The Littleton Republic is sorely grieved over the act of Gov. Weston, and vigorously takes him to task as follows:

"We are free to say, that, in our individual opinion, Gov. Weston has put a direct insult upon the party who made him the Chief Executive of the State, by this act. He may not have intended and probably did not intend anything of the kind, but the selection of a Radical for the important, honorable, and tolerably lucrative office of Attorney General is an act which certainly cannot be justified upon any reasonable grounds."

Perhaps the Republic will now give us its opinion of the "insult" which a certain Democratic paper published not a thousand miles from Littleton proposes to "put upon the party" by putting Horace Greeley, who is much less conservative than Judge Sawyer, into the White House. Don't be too hard on your governor, man. It's a dangerous time for Democrats to be shying stones. —Nashua Telegraph.

HALL'S VEGETABLE SICILIAN

HAIR RENEWER.

ITS EFFECT IS

MIRACULOUS.

It is a perfect and wonderful article. Cures baldness. Makes hair grow. A better dressing than any "oil" or "pomatum." Softens brash, dry and wiry hair into Beautiful Silken Tresses. But, above all, the great wonder is the rapidity with which it restores GRAY HAIR TO ITS ORIGINAL COLOR.

The whitest and worst looking hair resumes its youthful beauty by its use. It does not dye the hair, but strikes at the root and fills it with new life and coloring matter.

The first application will do good; you will see the NATURAL COLOR returning every day, and the old, gray, discolored appearance of the hair will be gone, giving place to lustrous, shining and beautiful locks.

Ask for Hall's Sicilian Hair Renewer; no other article is at all like it in effect.

See that each bottle has our private Government Stamp over the top of the bottle. All others are imitations.

Morning Chronicle.

REMEDY FOR HORSE-AIL.—One gill common tar and a piece of salt bitter the size of a turkey's egg, mixed and given warm. This remedy has been tried in several cases, in each of which it proved completely satisfactory. In one case it was given to a horse that had been afflicted with the disease for a week, and had eaten nothing for three days, and the next morning after the dose was given, the horse was eating, and in a few days was apparently well as ever. So simple and efficacious a remedy deserves to be remembered.

—Gardeners begin to assume a rakish appearance.—Maine Standard.

The most of them have a scaly appearance. One old fellow yesterday appeared to be getting ready to shovel off this mortal coil. He was singing hoe-sannah!—Augusta Journal.

We think we saw the same fellow, and freely corn-fess his app-ear-ance here anything we have seen in a long thyme. But, then, he "knows beans," and as be ax on the sage principle that hoe-nesty is the best pole-icy, he will be hen-abled to pick his future bed and abode where owl will be peace.—Standard.

—The New York Star calls the pianist S. B. Mills "the monumental bangist of the nineteenth century."

—A Nashville man proposes to propel railway trains at the rate of 100 miles an hour by electricity.

—There are said to have been 926 earthquakes since the year 1800, not counting the "Cincinnati Convulsion."

—A Cincinnati paper describes the pattern of a Dolly Varden as "red floss rhinoceroses rooting up a black satin morass."

—Grasshoppers grow to enormous size in Kansas, the engines on the narrow-gauge railroads frequently mistaking them for oxen.

—The Cleveland Leader is under the impression that it has enough poetry on hand to last till Fall, but if the Spring is backward, and the fires have to be kept up, it will probably need more.

—Noses are worn rather shorter than formerly, with an inclination to turn up. Ears are worn on both sides of the head—one on each side—and those of a pink color are preferred. Hair is again fashionable.

—Logic for ladies. It has been said by some wise person, and believed by many not otherwise, that it is in the power of any woman to make any man marry her if she pleases. Very well; then do away with actions for breach of promise of marriage.

—A man, equipped with a saw, an axe, and a bucket, leaped from a moving train at Oldtown, Me., and the excited imagination of the Bangor Whig reporter depicted him as "revolving through the air with the aforesaid implements sailing around him like the moons around Jupiter."

—It was reserved for Gotham to hit upon the extraordinary notion of putting into proxy, not the bridegroom nor yet the bride, but, of all persons in the world—the parson! The newspapers chronicle the happiness of a young couple joined in wedlock, as the notice ran, "by the Rev. S. H. Tyng, Jr., representing the Rev. S. H. Tyng, D. D."

—A gang of 150 lumbermen, who are getting a drive of logs down the Connecticut river, consume two thousand and fifty biscuit and eighty-four square feet of gingerbread daily. A barrel of beef answers for two meals, and three barrels of pork hold out four days. A bushel of beans disappear every twenty four hours, and a bushel and a half of potatoes at each meal.

—General Sherman is probably the most distinguished soldier who has visited the pyramids since the first Napoleon. Unlike Napoleon, however, he does not go into ecstacies over them, or talk about the forty centuries of time looking down their summits. He thinks they are big things for tombs; "but he never cared much about tombs, does not want to get into other people's, and intends to keep out of his own as long as he can."

—Rev. Mr. Talmage of Brooklyn has published a rather extraordinary book, written on the high-pressure principle. The following is a specimen paragraph: "It is astonishing how easy it is for a good soul to enter heaven. A prominent business man in Philadelphia went home one afternoon, lay down on the lounge, and said: 'It is time for me to go.' He was very aged. His daughter said to him: 'Are you sick?' He said, 'No; but it is time for me to go. Have John put it in two of the morning papers, that my friends may know that I am gone. Good bye;' and as quick as that, God had taken him."

—Eli Perkins saw some vitriol upset in Wall street recently, and thus describes its effect upon a luckless small dog who stepped into it: One little terrier came along tied to a string—accompanied by a woman. His fore paws struck the vitriol, and away went the dog and half the string, and then came a string of ki-iis, ki-iis, lamentable to listen to. The ki-iis reached clear to Fulton Market. That little dog was not happy, I could tell by the tone of his bark. I think that dog is discouraged. There are those who think he is still running. It is the opinion of Mr. Cecil, who has figured up this dog, that if nothing has happened to him, and if he has not stopped to rest, he is now running somewhere in the neighborhood of New London, Ct., or to some place where oil of vitriol don't exist.

A BLIND UNDERTAKING. — A near-sighted school teacher in the town of Center took a near-sighted Porter lady to church last Sunday night. He drove a blind horse. This unsightly combination was disastrous. The eyeless equine couldn't keep the road, and the close visioned couple knew not whither to guide the beast. After numerous mishaps they reached the scene of worship, with one of the tires missing, and the buggy box badly bruised, and drove triumphantly into the yard which surrounded the church. But unfortunately a clothes line was stretched across the lot, and under this the misguided brute took his course. There was a sudden emptying of the buggy, in a back somersault manner which would have done credit to a first class tumbler, and Center and Porter were heaped up promiscuously in the mud behind the vehicle. They did not go into church, but returned home, as solemn as a funeral procession, with the Porter lady in the buggy and the Center delegate leading the blind horse. It was a gloomy, cheerless trip, and the school teacher vowed, as he trudged along with the bridle rein over his shoulder that he would never be caught out again without his spectacles.—Janesville Gazet e.

—How doth the busy Horace G.
Improve each shining hour;
And look for office every day
In every party's power.
How skillfully he builds his sell,
How neat he spreads the soap,
And when pig-iron will not avail
Takes free trade as his hope.

—Base ball is against the law in Quincy, Ill.

—Brigham Young's family now numbers exactly a hundred besides himself—32 wives, 28 boys and forty girls.

—Some genius has discovered that the northwestern boundary line of Wisconsin reveals a fair profile of George Washington.

—A lady dressed in the height of fashion, whose husband earns the small pittance (?) of eighteen dollars a week, has applied to the city officials of Des Moines for aid, as the husband is unable to support his family!

—The first immigrant from Greenland ever known reached New York from Halifax last week. The climate being to him oppressive, he informed a Scandinavian acquaintance that he should go back at the first chance.

—Street costumes recently sent over from Paris are made short enough to clear the ground. Ladies just returned from abroad are surprised to find American ladies dragging handsome silk dresses over dirty sidewalks.

—Colonel George, of the 2d Minnesota regiment, now resides at Rochester, Minn. He it was who at Chickamauga, when Gen. Thomas asked him, "How long can you hold out?" answered, "Till the regiment is mustered out of service."

—Governor Warmoth said, in his eulogy of the wood-pecker ticket, that the white coated philosopher had a heart beneath his white coat as simple as the heart of a little child. That is just the difficulty; and the same thing can be said of every other good-natured old grandmother in the land. — Missouri Democrat.

—The Iowa boys like to play at hanging. Their young hopes of dying a public death and enjoying a first-class report in the local papers being put to flight by the late action of the State Legislature abolishing capital punishment, they try to find compensation in this little game. The other day they hung a boy till he was too dead, and all the parents have promised to whip their little boys if they do so any more. The boys are indignant, of course, and think that the fellow who died is better off.

—They were having a very solemn and pleasant funeral in Scituate a few years ago when the sole daughter of the house and hearth suddenly discovered that her particular enemy in school was sitting in her favorite chair. She bore it as long as she could, but her feelings gave way just as the minister arrived at a pathetic point in his prayer and the people heard this affecting prophecy as the joint production of the clergyman and the child: "And the Lord, as soon as our friend enters heaven will say unto her. Get out of my chair, Ella Briggs!"

—Two practical jokers in a Virginia town, who were left in charge of numerous babies on a social occasion while the mammas enjoyed a dance, changed the clothes of the little darlings, and arrayed each one in strange habiliments. The mothers, after an hour or so of devotion to Terpsichorean delights, took their baby vestments and the dear little forms therein contained, and retired to their respective and once happy homes. On preparing the little ones for the crib, sexes had changed—girls were boys and boys girls—and with one universal yell the outraged maternals set out on a baby hunt. At last account most all had succeeded in recovering the lost heirs; but the wags keep out of the way of those matrons as much as possible.

The Rotation Question.

Messrs. Editors:—The snake-waking process I have already alluded to, among other singular effects has proved to me, through the medium of the letter of "Justice"—published in last Saturday's Chronicle,—that he and "Right" sleep under the same canopy, and that both heads are decorated with the same night-cap. The fact, however, though plain is a very immaterial one, and only claiming notice as being the backing-up of a false pretence—that one other man besides "Right" endorses that gentleman's anti-rotation sentiments, which is a very ridiculous sort of an idea. It is said that a certain unmentionable character would sometimes pass for a human being were it not for his cloven foot: in the same way "Right" might assume the appearance of "Justice" were it not for certain ear-marks in the treatment and quality of his Saturday's communication which expose the co-identity beyond all speculation. I have only further to remark on this point that bolting from the use of one name to that of another is about as discreditable as is bolting from and defeating a party, and before the tears of reluctant repentance begin to flow, attempting to regulate the betrayed party's most vital interests. To do this latter thing is to go much farther than the most barefaced presumption can impel even the most unblushing presumer.

I waive all allusion to "Justice's" defence of "Right's" position and perogatives. I have also "sat with the elders in the gates" long before the Republican party was born, and plume myself on knowing just as much of its history, and its men in the State of New Hampshire as "Right" or "Justice" do. I am quite as well aware as either that there was a great weakness in the Republican party nominations in the State in 1871; but that weakness was not the cause of our defeat. The origin of the feebleness dates back to June, 1870, when the State legislature gave Senator Cragin a six years' extension of his previous ten years' Congressional office. This statement cannot be successfully denied. This, and not the "unwise nominations for various offices throughout the State in 1871," was the direct cause of the party failure of that year; the weak nominations were a mere consequence of the unpopular legislative preference of 1870, and of the inert feeling it engendered among Republicans throught the State.

We are now directly in front of a similar danger; for, although I do not discredit Senator Patterson's ability, I have not exactly made up my mind that he carries all the political wisdom of the State in his head, or that his energies and accomplishments as a statesman could not be parallelled or improved upon. On the contrary I believe (and two-thirds of the people of the State will agree with me in opinion,) that the thorough knowledge of our local wants possessed by Ex-Gov. Stearns, and his unquestioned executive ability, makes him preferable to Senator Patterson in every respect in which real usefulness undraped and unornamented, is considered. I think the records of Gen. Gilman Marston, Gen. Stevens, Col. Tappan, Ex-Gov. Smyth, Hon. E. H. Rollins or Jacob Benton, in war, politics or peace, stand quite as high, in the way of claims on State gratitude, as does the persistent demand for an unusually protracted term of office set up by Senator Patterson and his friends. I know that those gentlemen named—any one of them—has a stronger hold of popular feeling in the State than the retiring Senator—for I learned satisfactorily what the public impression regarding rotation was from delegates from all parts of the State who attended the delegate convention held here last week. It may be that the coming legislature may act independently of the general opinion; but, if it does, the advice of the New York Herald's correspondent may be immediately thereafter taken, and the grave of the Republican party be dug right away.

"Justice" says "there is no time, probably, when Mr. Patterson's services in the Senate will be of more value than in the next six years." What does he mean? In what relation are those services to be rendered peculiarly valuable? I have heard, time and time again, hints of Mr. Patterson's opposition to the present administration and must Republican dominance in New Hampshire be put down simply to give him opportunity to serve the enemy in other political shape? What is Senator Patterson's honest relation to the Republican party just now? The question is a pertinent and proper one; for we all recollect how he stumped the State not long ago and made speeches against the administration. Can "Rights" and "Justice" have forgotten this thing? Surely he cannot have let such remarkable conduct pass away from his thirty years' memories of the political affairs of New Hampshire.

I take no account of the bosh concerning Senator Patterson's deservings as a self-made man. I know hundreds of self-made men who are better and more useful men to-day by many degrees, who never did an hour's legislative work. If rising above early destitution is such an overwhelming virtue, Horace Greeley's nomination ought to be supported, because of his professing it, by both Senator Patterson and his friend with the two titles. And perhaps Horace has that honor. Who knows? RUMFORD.

Concord, May 13, 1872.

The Senatorship.

Editors Chronicle:—I see that you have opened your columns liberally to the discussion of the Senatorial-rotation question, and I solicit a corner in them to put a stop to a rumor which has been in circulation, during a week past, relative to the action of the Democrats on the question of the coming Senatorial election. The report is, that if Senator Patterson is beaten in the Republican caucus there will be a coalition between his friends and the Democrats chosen to the Legislature to elect him on the first ballot. Such proposal has been hinted at in a certain quarter, as I am well informed, but there is not a Democratic member who will encourage such a coalition or in any way give it his support. If there is any favor among the men of my party for any of the Republican candidates, Rollins would receive it, for he has always been a fair, open enemy, and has respect because of his party zeal,—exercised in a fair manner,—and does not wear two faces under one hood, as some people do. The Democrats will keep their votes for their own Senatorial candidate.

A DEMOCRAT.

CONCORD, May 13, 1872.

MAD AS MARCH HARES.—The Boston Globe's Cincinnati correspondent says the reform movement had its quarters there and the originators had matters taken out of their control. He goes on to say that "after the nomination of Mr. Greeley, Judge Stanley Matthews and Judge George Hoadly, of Cincinnati, and John W. Sohn, of Hamilton, Butler county, a German whose influence is felt all over southern and south-western Ohio, got up and left the convention—in short, bolted. The non-bolting part of the Ohio delegation, in respect to their feelings, ranged through the whole gamut of emotion, from mortification to rage. After the adjournment of the convention they met to vent their feelings. Three-fourths of the delegation were present and the rage of these ran high. Mr. Greeley, they believed, was honest, but that did not fit him for the Presidency. Poor Brown, he had no friends. For his head they reserved their hottest vials of wrath. They abused his head because it was Brown's and then they abused it because it was red. One would have thought that they would have been pleased just then to make a foot-ball of it. They rated Brown for his speech, and for the way he spoke it; and they abominated his relationship to the Blairs—to Frank especially.

The five anti-Grant papers, Democratic and Republican alike, have strenuously written up Charles Francis Adams and "some Western man" for the Presidency and Vice-Presidency. Southern Ohio has received the nominations as she received and treated the convention that put them up. No ratification meetings have been held. Republicans who have committed themselves to the reform movement say almost without exception that they will not support Greeley. The opposition to Grant however, are indulging 'two hopes,' one for each convention. They suggest Groesbeck or Thurman and John Q. Adams or Charles Francis Adams and Groesbeck for the Democracy. From the Republicans the almost improbable names of Sumner or Garfield, or even Patterson of New Hampshire would satisfy the Ohio Reform demands as to candidates, provided in each case the platform be a good one. Of the daily papers in the city the Enquirer and Commercial are the only supporters of Mr. Greeley. Whether he can hold both or either of these I think will depend upon the results of the two conventions yet to meet. He has the three German daily papers against him.

I have the opinion of a distinguished anti-Grant German expert of this city that Greeley has not the ghost of a chance for the German vote in Cincinnati, and for that matter in either Kentucky, Ohio or Indiana. The Turners, who poll about a thousand votes in this city, were so disappointed by the nominations, that they postponed a picnic which had been appointed for the Sunday following the convention.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

CASTORIA—is a scientific vegetable preparation; a perfect substitute for and more effective than Castor Oil, and is pleasant to take. It cleanses the system in a most remarkable manner; does not distress or gripe, but operates when all other remedies have failed. It is certain to supersede Pills, Castor Oil, Narcotic Syrups, and all other purgative and exciting medicines. The Castoria contains neither Minerals, Morphine nor Alcohol. By its excellent, soothing effect, it assimilates the food and produces natural sleep particularly adapting it to crying and teething children. It cures Stomach Ache, Wind Colic, Constipation, Flatulency, Croup, and kills Worms. Make your Druggist send for it; he will always keep it, as every family must have it. It costs but fifty cents a bottle. J. B. Rose & Co., 53 Broadway, New York. m1 4w

VEGETINE.—The great success of the VEGETINE as a cleanser and purifier of the blood is shown beyond a doubt by the great numbers who have taken it, and received immediate relief, with such remarkable cures. d

A CORRESPONDENT, writing from Athens, curiously contrasts the mixtures to be found there of ancient and modern civilizations. Railroads spin their trains amid the temples of three thousand years; steamers dash their swells upon the Pireus, and the scream of their whistles resounds from Athos, Pentelicus and Cytheron to Olympus and the heavens beyond their gods. Dr. Ayer's world-renowned medicines, those consummations of modern science, are posted on the Acropolis, the Parthenon, the Areopagus and the Theseion, while the modest cards of Cherry Pectoral, Ayer's Sarsaparilla, Ague Cure and Pills, look from the windows of the shops in the streets of Athens, where they are sold.—N. Y. Sunday Globe.

O! THAT I WERE BEAUTIFUL! is the unspoken wish of thousands of women to whom nature has denied the charm of a pure, fresh, transparent complexion. To gratifty this wish HAGAN'S MAGNOLIA BALM was introduced. The cosmetics of the day had been pronounced poisonous by the most distinguished chemists, and it was also found that their ultimate effect was to wither the skin as well as to paralize the external nerves. The ladies hailed with delight the advent of a healthful, herbal and floral preparation capable of imparting to their faces, necks and arms a porcelain smoothness and a tinge like that of the finest oriental pearl. They soon discovered that it was a "new thing under the sun," incomparable and unapproachable. Deservedly the MAGNOLIA BALM has been the great toilet success of the present century.

HOLLOWAY'S PILLS.—The most powerful existing medicine for the cure of female complaints. Fifty years experience, incontestably prove these remedies unrivalled for the disorders incidental to the softer sex. No family should be without them. They may be taken by young and old, as they will restore health when every other means prove unsuccessful. 25 cents per box or pot.

PILES.—The unceasing torture from internal bleeding, external and itching piles is fast wearing away the thousands of those who are afflicted and their hope and courage have long since given place to despair. Let those who see this cheer up, for a mild and sure cure may be had by using BRIGGS' PILE REMEDIES.

CORNS.—Since pride and fashion have had control of mankind, and shoemakers were compelled to make boots and shoes to fit fancy instead of the feet, the suffering from Corns, Bonions, Ingrowing Nails, Sore Insteps, Blistered Heels, Callousities on the bottom of the feet, &c., cannot be described. But Briggs' Corn and Bunion Remedies will cure all such torments, and proper fitting boots will prevent their reproduction. Sold by all druggists. a12

SPECIAL NOTICES.

How Not to Die.

Thousands fall a prey to disease, not because the maladies that affect them are necessarily fatal, but because they lack the requisite amount of active vitality to make a valiant resistance to the enemy. It is a wise precaution to keep the body always in a state of defence—always prepared to "fend off" the germs of epidemic and other disorders, and to baffle the evil influence of damp miasma and sudden thermometrical changes. There is no difficulty in doing this. It is a fact as well authenticated as that two and two make four, that HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS is specially adapted to this purpose, and for the simple reason that its invigorating and regulating properties are superior to those of any other medicine in the world. During the twenty years that it has been in general use, ample opportunities have been afforded to compare its medicinal properties with those of other preparations claiming to be of a similar class, and the result has been its adoption by the American people as the standard tonic of the age, its introduction into every civilized portion of the western hemisphere, and an annual sale which dwarfs into insignificance the demand for all its would-be competitors.

The record upon which its popularity rests is a curiosity in medical literature, for it includes an almost unlimited variety of human ailments and disabilities. In fact, no other remedy possesses such a variety of hygienic virtues, and it is to these characteristics that it owes its prestige as a household medicine.

The reputation of Marvin Bros. & Bartlett's cod liver oil extends itself quite as fast as the firm can extend their manufacturing facilities, and notwithstanding the large quantity they prepare for market they are never able to boast of having a very large stock on hand. They recently sent out one hundred boxes, one day, and one hundred and six boxes the next; and a druggist whose first order for one gross they filled one week, returned a draft in payment and an order for another gross of oil, the week following. Not a bottle of oil leaves the manufactory until it is purchased, and the firm have never failed to receive payment for any lot of oil sent out. We prefer lemonade to cod liver oil, for a regular beverage, but if we had to take cod liver oil we should prefer Marvin Bros. & Bartlett's manufacture to any other we have ever seen.

It is thought that the City Councils may elect a Mayor, Thursday evening. Messrs. Frank W. Miller and Thos. E. O. Marvin are mentioned by their friends for the position.

The House committee on Naval Affairs has agreed to postpone Congressman Lynch's joint resolution relative to the expediency of consolidating the Charlestown and Portsmouth Navy Yards.

When the Eastern Railroad was built, the travel between Lynn and Boston was seventeen in a day, and two stages would accommodate all passengers between Boston and Portsmouth; now the travel between Lynn and Boston is a million a year, and to carry all the passengers between Portsmouth and Boston would require a string of stages for the whole sixty miles.

Eastern Railroad.

The Boston Advertiser says: "Under its present energetic management the Eastern Railroad Company is beginning to meet the requirements of a great railroad. The requisite thirty days' notice of intention to take the strip of land twenty-nine feet wide has been served on the Boston & Maine Railroad and nothing preventing, the erection of the new station will begin early in June. Plans for the new station are now preparing. Work on the new station at the corner of Maverick and Bremen streets, East Boston, is progressing rapidly and the edifice will be completed in about a month. It will be one hundred and twenty feet long and twenty feet wide.

The second track to the Revere junction is being laid. When the passenger trains begin running over this branch a great saving of time will be effected by persons convenient to the ferries as well as by those in East Boston. The application of the Westinghaus air-brake is progressing rapidly, and by July 1 it will be attached to every train on the road. The Miller platform is coming into use as fast as possible. Another much-needed improvement is to be introduced; the running of trains by telegraph. The matter is now under consideration, and the road will establish a line of its own along its entire track. The Eastern will be the first road in New England to adopt the use of the telegraph in this manner. They have at last adopted the sensible plan of many other roads of obliging passengers to show their tickets at a gate which is closed previous to the starting of the train."

State News.

Richardson's portable steam sawmill, at Hampstead, was burned Friday evening, while the men were at supper. A spark from the engine was the cause. The loss is about $3000.

Lizzie Aikens of Dover, about twenty-four years of age, attempted suicide on Monday, by taking laudanum and then jumping into the river. A gentleman walking on the railroad bridge saw her and rescued her. Physicians administered the proper antidotes and she will probably recover. It was a case of unrequited love, as shown by letters found on her person. She left a short note on the river bank, giving her name and the name of the one she wished to marry.

The News.

The United States Senate has passed the bill increasing by twenty per cent. the pensions of totally-disabled soldiers.

The Spanish government asks the Cortes for 40,000 fresh troops.

Parry's dog sledge and raft expedition in search of the open polar sea, sails from San Francisco, via 'Alaska, this week.

Campaign Notes.

"Jones" wants to know how Cox (J. D., of Ohio,) and Cox (S. S., of N. Y.,) stand on this question of the Cincinnati nominations? The latter warmed Horace in New York city at the last Congressional election.

Does H. G-reeley expect to occupy the White House chair?

That first "Greeley victory," the choice of a Police Commissioner in Shenectady, over which the Tribune crowed so lustily, turns out to have been the election of the regular Democratic candidate over the Republican. His majority was thirty-four on a light vote.

Greeley's cause has been furthur weakened by the accession of James Brooks and Montgomery Blair.

The Cincinnati Commercial says that Greeley "has but one brother-in-law, no father, and his nephews were all nieces."

The Washington correspondent of the New York Evening Post says there is a decided change of opinions there as regards Greeley's prospects in the South. Letters from prominent representative men in that section assert Mr. Greeley's strength has been greatly over-estimated, and not one-third of the colored voters will support or vote for him; while the democrats who were rebels in the war will support the regular democratic nominee.

In the Connecticut Senate, Tuesday, Gen. Hawley had seven majority for Senator. In the House, Senator Ferry had sixteen majority. Senator Ferry will probably be elected by the Democrats and bolting Republicans to-day.

The N. Y. Times asserts that the court for the trial of Barnard has been deliberately packed. About all of the managers are men who have opposed impeachment and have fought for Barnard through thick and thin. It charges the Greeley republicans in the legislature with bringing about this result by selling out to the democrats for their support in the Presidential contest.

Bro. Post, of the Lynn Little Giant, has an editorial about the nomination of Greeley & Brown, headed "Neither of 'em our dog."

It is reported that a change is taking place in the vice-presidential question. Mr. Colfax's friends are lately more confident and claim the administration influence in his favor.

The Philadelphia republican city convention adopted the system of holding elections by which hereafter all nomination will be made by a popular vote, doing away with delegate conventions.

In Oregon the democrats are dissatisfied with the State ticket and there will probably be three tickets in the field.

Secretary Boutwell believes President Grant will receive a greater relative vote than any candidate since Munroe, and many more democratic votes than Greeley in the event of a direct contest between the two.

THE TREATY WITH ENGLAND is likely to be saved after all. An additional article is to be inserted, which provides for the settlement of the principle of liability of neutrals for damages from violation of ordinary duties of neutrals, and sets forth that beyond such settlement the United States expects no award.

Morning Chronicle.

JOHN ON HIS TRAVELS.—I left Chicago on the cars, and I felt an irrepressible desire to say something. The inevitable result followed. I says to a Boston drummer, who looked so emaciated and care-worn that you could have whittled up a shingle in two minutes with his nose—says I, in tones sweet as the accents of a rhinoceros;

"Why so pensive? Is it because your trip is so expensive?"

"No," he said; "I was thinking of a little sewing machine I left at home."

"Is it a Singer machine?" I asked.

"Yes," says he; "it sits and sings all day."

Then he said "she had a waist like a match, and wore No. 6 gloves and 2 shoes."

I bet him $5 that no grown-up woman ever wore 2 shoes.

Says he "I'll take the bet."

"How will you prove it? says I."

Then he informed me, in nearer a tenor tone than alto, "that she wore 2 shoes because she wore one on each foot."

It is hardly necessary for me to waste much of the English language trying to convince the general public that I lost the bet. I haven't paid it yet; there was a difference in regard to terms. I swore I bet on four months' time; he swore it was a cash transaction. Finally he agreed to take six off ten days, and I asked him "how he was going to take six off from a five?" Then he told me "to take all the time I wanted," so I'm going to.

In travelling one meets lots of lonely geniuses, as well as genus homos. He was one of 'em, and we chatted about cruelty to animals. He said his wife was very kind-hearted. He had known her to roll a barrel of flour over a drowned fly for a whole hour trying to resuscitate it, and one very hot day last summer she took pity on a litter of sixteen poor little kittens. She thought they were dry, so she put some nice brickbat lockets on their necks and put them asoak in a rain water hogshead, and they never cried with pain any more. Maltese, and two were tortoise shells.

"Why," said I, "Maltese and tortoise shell cats are worth $144 a gross;" and I told him his story might be true, but it was the first time I ever heard of anybody living in Boston throwing away things worth a dollar apiece. I told him that I guessed he took drops when a babe; that drops destroyed the intellect, and his appeared to be pretty well burst.

I further remarked that "I used soothing syrup once. We had a bird. It was the cussedest squealer on top of the earth. It wound itself up at daylight and run all day. I lay for that bird, and one day Mary Jane went out to get a dress cut. Thrones may totter, kingdoms may fall, worlds may be destroyed but nothing can stop a woman from going to get a dress cut when she once sets her mind on it, except an invitation to go and see another woman get her hat trimmed. As soon as Mary Jane went out I went for that canary. It was a short breed, and I made short work of it. I emptied its water dish and filled it with soothing syrup. Then it took some. Then it took some more; and I found out it takes exactly eight minutes to asphyxiate a canary with soothing syrup. I buried it in the ground to draw out the poison. It has been there six years, and it hasn't got well yet."

I think I made an impression on the Boston man, for he got up and left, and pretty soon we got to Milwaukee.

BRIGGS' ALLEVANTOR is composed of Ammonia, Chloroform, Spirits of Camphor, Tincture of Lupuline, Oil of Juniper, and Alcohol. This compound is unequalled in the annals of medicine for the cure of Nervous or Sick Headache, Neuralgia, Trembling or Twitching of the Nerves, and all Nervous Diseases. It will counteract all poisons, banish pimples, cure scaly eruptions, itching, humors, &c.; it equalizes the circulation, invigorates the system, increases the action of the heart, without exciting the brain, cures Heartburn, Palpitation and Fluttering of the Heart, Dyspepsia, &c. Briggs' Allevantor absolutely possesses more curative properties than any other preparation. Physicians, chemists, and others are requested to examine and test the remedy, and $1000 will be paid if found different from representation.

COUGHS, Much has been said and written, and many remedies have been offered for the relief and cure of throat and lung diseases; but nothing has been so eminently successful, or obtained such a wide celebrity, as Briggs' Throat and Lung Healer.

CORNS! The excruciating pain produced by Corns, the unceasing twinging from Bunions, the piercing, distressing pain from Ingrowing Nails, cannot be described. Thousands suffer, not knowing there is a cure. Briggs' Corn and Bunion Remedies are no acid or potash compounds, but are reliable, soothing, and effectual, and just merit the success they have earned from an appreciative public. The Curative is a healing ointment; immediate relief is obtained by its application, and it will positively cure the worst cases of Festered Corns, Inflamed and Ulcerated Bunions, the soreest instep, the largest and severest Blisters, the most extensive Callosities on the soles or heels of the feet, unequalled in the cure of Chilblains or Frosted Feet. The Allevantor for ordinary corns and preventing their formation is absolutely unexcelled by anything ever known.

PILES have been a terror to mankind for centuries, and almost every attempt to cure them has been baffled. By unceasing study and experimenting, Dr. Briggs has discovered an absolutely cure for internal, bleeding, external, and itching piles. Briggs' Pile Remedies are mild, safe and sure.

For sale by J. H. THACHER, WM. R. PRESTON, Portsmouth; JAMES O. TREFETHEN, Kittery; E. S. SAFFORD, Kittery Point; H. M. CURTIS, Newcastle, and dealers generally.

CORNS, Bunions, Bad Nails, and other diseases of the feet, Scrofulous and Cancerous Humors, Piles, etc., skillfully treated at the great central Chiropodical and Healing Institute, No. 766 Broadway, New York. DR. J. BRIGGS, President; DR. ALEXANDER WEBBER, Secretary. ap9

LONG LINE OF TRAVEL IN A SHORT TIME.—From a seaport in the west of England a steamer conveys passengers to Halifax, Nova Scotia, in eight or nine days. Then the cars may be taken to Vanceboro', 114 miles, (the name has been changed to Shawville;) this is on the boundary line between Nova Scotia and Maine. Continue on and 364 miles brings you to Bangor; then to Boston, 248 miles; to New York, 236 miles; to Chicago, 913 miles; to Omaha, 490 miles; to Ogden, 1032 miles; to Sacramento, 730 miles; and San Francisco, 120 miles. Total from Halifax to San Francisco, 4,247 miles; and this may be gone over in eight or nine days, add the voyage across the Atlantic to Halifax, say some 2500 miles, and we have about 6,700 miles, gone over in eighteen or nineteen days. The whole line is a wonder, as to distance and the short time required to go over it. Probably there is nothing like it in the world. J. F.

"PLEASE EXCHANGE."—The editor of a daily newspaper, shut up in his sanctum with a pile of exchange papers on his table, is not alone. He is in the best of company, feeling the invisible influence of persons many hundred miles away, hearing their voices, and is sometimes so conscious of their presence that he imagines he almost sits face to face in friendly communion with them. The very newspapers by his side seem tongued, animate, breathing words of cheer. If a man is known by the company he keeps, then, to a great extent, is the literary taste of a newspaper editor known by character of his exchange papers. There is something very suggestive in the pile of exchanges, still damp from the press, which burdens the table at which he sits. Those newspapers embody the concentrated thought which for the nonce occupies the mind of the whole country—nay, of the whole cizilized world. Each and all of them are sacred until they have been opened or perused.

Musty volumes speak of departed things, but no library, however rich, so teems with incentives to thought as the pile of newspapers, which images the world and speaks of it in the present. Important things and unimportant things are told with equal impartiality. One sheet photographs China and its progress in civilization, and another records the burning out of a chimney. San Francisco and Paris are unavoidably introduced to each other, and in the way of correspondence the continents of Europe, Asia and Africa are brought to the editors' feet, while the views and facts, political, religious, mercantile, social, mechanical, scientific and literary, which agitate millions of people, unfold to him a rich amount of mind; thus, if there are pleasures of editorial life, they are experienced during the time devoted to the perusal of the exchanges. But, after all, the hours thus employed are hours of toil. It is tiresome and monotonous to read the details of the world's pleasures and pains, its tragedies and its merry-makings, its funerals and shows, its hopes and fears, its triumphs and failures, its sublime and insignificant transactions.

Sitting in his chair, the editor visits, within an hour as it were, every considerable place in the four quarters of the globe. The personality of his friends is wholly unknown to the general reader. He opens his exchanges with a feeling akin to that which would be experienced could he grasp the hand of the one whose cast of mind is more or less reflected by the columns of the sheet before him. The telegraph and railroad, placing limitations upon time and space, are both here. If he is in Boston he need not visit New York, Chicago, Washington, San Francisco, or New Orleans, for in those papers whatever is of interest or concern in the cities where they are published is mirrored forth as it were, and as he reads what each editor has written, he sees each familiar face, and hears each well-known voice. And it is also true that an editor makes the same distinction with his exchanges as he does with the individuals who conduct them, for the paper is the reflex of its maker, often having all the eccentricities and foibles of the editor stamped upon it.

The editor whose paper is all fault-finding and gall and vinegar, is surrounded with exchanges of the same character. In our imagination we see him with his wonderful proboscis, that so searchingly smells out all the errors and follies of peoples and nations; he has piercing eyes which dart from beneath heavy, jagged brows; his mouth is firm set and determined, out of which proceed more cursings than blessings. He rapidly digs his words into the unoffending foolscap, and mechanically attempts to bite off each sentence as he closes it. "Please exchange," is the kind, spontaneous and fraternal way that one editor has for seeking the acquaintance of another, and as in other matters, sometimes, the appearance of his "dress" and the cloth it is made of has much to do with this very agreeable phase of journalistic acquaintance.—Boston Globe.

THURSDAY, MAY 16, 1872.

Voorhees vs. Greeley.

In the House of Representatives, Monday, Mr. Voorhees, rising to a personal explanation, sent to the clerk's desk a newspaper paragraph stating that he had been "strongly in favor of Judge Davis for President, but that since Greeley was put in nomination, he (Voorhees) had been halting and hesitating."

All the members of the House immediately flocked forward and gathered around Mr. Voorhees, who asked and obtained leave to occupy twenty minutes.

Mr. Voorhees said that in what he might have to say he would speak only for himself, and not for the Democratic party. He had never halted or hesitated as to his convictions or his course, and did not halt or hesitate as to Greeley. If he could have ever been tempted to halt or hesitate, it would have been when his party had presented not more than fifteen votes in this House. For his own part, he was not in favor of Greeley, who ever is in favor of high protective tariff.

Mr. Voorhees then declared that whoever was in favor of a high protective tariff, a system which had for years ground down the constituency which he (Voorhees) represented, would vote for the Cincinnati nominee. He denounced Greeley as the most clamorous advocate of Ku-Klux law, which now desolates the South. Greeley had been the earnest advocate of all the legislation that had paralyzed and impoverished the South. The administration had been charged with cruelty to the South, yet it simply executed the laws dictated by the Cincinnati nominee. Even at a recent date, Greeley had advocated an extension of time for the Ku-Klux law. He has also been an earnest advocate of the force of the bayonet election law, and he had roared and raged for placing the local elections of New York State under Congressional supervision. "Going back to the past," said Mr. Voorhees, "the Cincinnati nominee stands recorded, without reservation, in favor of the inalienable rights under the Declaration of Independence of any dissatisfied portion of this country to break off the Federal relation, and set up for themselves. Three years after, Greeley published a historical work, in which he reiterated the same sentiment. Was the man who stood committed to such doctrines worthy to be President? It was said that Greeley was kindly disposed toward the South. Men of the South had told him (Voorhees,) with tears in their eyes, that more than to any other one thing their error was due to the voice of a Republican speaking through their imperial organ, the New York Tribune. Having lured the South into rebellion, he next appears shouting, 'On to Richmond,' and after our disastrous repulse, he is compelled by force of public opinion to beg pardon, with bated breath. Soon after we find him urging confiscation and glorying in the prospect of it. It is said that Democrats desire success against this administration. So they do. But it is better to be right than to be President."

Mr. Roosevelt, interrupting, asked if Mr. Voorhees would support the Baltimore Convention nominees, whoever they might be.

Mr. Voorhees replied that it would be as difficult to answer that question for himself as for his interrogator, judging from Mr. Roosevelt's past course. (Laughter.) He would say he never would vote for a man who held such language as this (quoting from the Tribune):

"Nine-tenths of the master-spirits in every haunt of vice and debauchery in the land will be found supporting the party that calls itself Democratic."

Alluding to the claim that Greeley had hailed Jeff. Davis, Mr. Voorhees said he thought that was rather a poor plank to run on. (Laughter.) He remembered that, when Greeley clamored for the arrest of Gen. Lee and others, it was President Grant who interfered and prevented the arrest of men who were on soldier's parole. If he (Voorhees) should be compelled to stump for Greeley he was afraid he would be compelled to acknowledge that Grant had done more for the South than his own nominee. (Loud applause.)

Mr. Speer, of Penn.—"The applause comes from the other side."

Mr. Voorhees—"You have been voting for three weeks with the radical high protectionists of the other side!" (Laughter.)

Mr. Roosevelt—"The gentleman has recently been at the White House."

Mr. Voorhees—excitedly, "I have not crossed the threshold of the White House for three years; what you say is false."

Mr. Roosevelt said he had been reliably informed that Mr. Voorhees had had a recent interview with the President.

Mr. Voorhees—"Then you are keeping company with men who do not tell the truth." (Laughter.) He concluded by stating that although Judge Davis was a Republican, he had much in common with him. But Greeley had nothing in common with him. Three million Democratic voters could not be transferred into the camp of such a leader.

Campaign Notes.

The irreverent Germans of Cincinnati call Greeley, Die Grosmutter.

The New York Evening Post asks, "Will the Tribune inform us whether, in its opinion, it is worse to be a party organ or a personal trumpet?"

A Cincinnati African, venerable in years and wisdom, thus settles the Greeley question as far as he is concerned: "I mean have voted for Fremount if de liber'ls had put him on de ticket, but as foh dat man Greeley what went bail for Jeff Davis for $18,000, dere's danger in him." "This," says the Cincinnati Commercial "appears to be the common sentiment among the colored population here, and we begin to doubt whether he will be able to rally a very stong colored vote. The bailing of Jeff is what sticks them."

Bromley, of the Hartford Evening Post, one of the "independent" journalists who went to Cincinnati, says: "Certainly Gratz Brown is not a fit man for Vice-President," and adds, "if the ticket is elected, may the life of the good Horace be spared."

The Washington Republican says:—Four expeditions will be on their way to the North Pole this summer. Gratz Brown and Horace Greeley will feel like starting a fifth one before next November.

Theodore Tilton is in ecstacies over the nomination of Horace Greeley. He declares that he will take no summer vacation, will wear a white hat, multiply the eight-hour law by two, and work like a grain-cutter till November. Enthusiastic, is Theodore.

The Monitor newspaper, the Roman Catholic organ in San Francisco, editorially endorses the Cincinnati nominations. Sniggles says it is because they were made at a mass convention.

Jefferson Davis cheered the Greeley men in Jackson, Miss., by making them a brief visit last week.

Long John Wentworth, now for Greeley, is accused of having once denounced the philosopher as "a muck-minded slovenly cross between a yam and a cylinder press."

The Louisville Courier-Journal significantly remarks: The gray-jacket who is not for Greeley deserves a straitjacket.

A leading Democrat in the West is a little doubtful about going Greeley, and expresses himself thus: "I would stoop a great way to conquer; but to stoop so far and get licked after all wouldn't be agreeable."

The Indianapolis Journal defines Gratz Brown as "a man in the prime of life; but greatly in the decadence of intellect."

Alexander H. Stephens is getting impatient, and calls upon all his "heretofore Democratic contemporaries" (sic) to take sides at once for or against Greeley. As for himself, give him a straight Democratic ticket, or let him perish in the last ditch.

The New York Commercial is afraid that the "elevation of Mr. Greeley to the chief magistracy would be a blow to agriculture from which that important branch of American industry would take centuries to recover."

Newspapers in the South which support the Cincinnati nominations are felicitating themselves on the fact that Mr. Greeley is more than half a Southerner; that is, his better half is a native of North Carolina — Miss Cheney — to whom he was married in 1836.

Greeley's white coat and Brown's red head suggest to the St. Louis Democrat the "Woodpecker Ticket" as an appropriate name for the Cincinnati nomination.

The question of the "indirect claims" of Greeley upon the democrats is exciting interest in that party. The "consequential damages" are what they are afraid of.

An intelligent compositor or a reckless telegraphist gave the name of the chow-chow nominee for Vice President as "G. Rats Brown."

The Buffalo Courier is out frantically for Greeley. "Frank Blair goes for him," it says: "Hendricks goes for him. Children cry for him. As for ourselves, give us liberty or give us death!"

Mr. Edward Atkinson declares that if he did anything to promote the nomination of Horace Greeley for President he wishes to say that "I desire to atone for my want of sagacity and astuteness, by opposing his election in every possible way."

Of 25 State delegations chosen for the Philadelphia convention, 22 have been formally instructed to cast their votes for Grant, and three—from Connecticut, Missouri and South Carolina—while not pledged, favor the nomination. This gives Grant 412 of the 714 delegates, and of course assures his nomination.

Horace Greeley has issued a card announcing his withdrawal from the editorial control or supervision of the New York Tribune until further notice.

A careful review of one hundred and forty odd German papers published in the United States, shows that only two weeklies and four out of the fifty-dailies have thus far given in their adhesion to the Cincinnati ticket.

In Williamsport, Penn., the republican city ticket is elected by 170 majority, a republican gain.

As far as heard from the big guns of the California Democracy fight shy of the Cincinnati ticket, and favor the nomination of an out-and-out Democratic candidate.

The Cincinnati Commercial is weakening on the Liberal movement. It finds fault with Democratic indifference and Liberal torpor. "The caravan," it petulantly exclaims, "does not move with rapidity."

Hon. O. S. Ferry, Liberal, was re-elected Senator from Connecticut on the 15th, receiving 133 votes to 125 for Gen. Hawley, Republican.

The new rules for the government of the republican party in Philadelphia may be regarded as an honest attempt at reform. They make two important changes in the present political methods. They take from the conventions the authority to nominate candidates for the party, and permit the people to nominate them directly from the polls.

The Greeley fever instead of covering the entire country uniformly, breaks out in spots; for instance, the Democratic press of South Carolina, Tennessee and Missouri, is almost unanimously and enthusiastically for Greeley. The Democratic press of Georgia, North Carolina, Maryland, Delaware and Louisiana, is for a straight Democratic ticket. That of Virginia, Alabama and Kentucky is divided. The South Carolinians are quite as dogmatic about the necessity of indorsing Greeley as they used to be in upholding Calhoun. The Missourians are almost beside themselves with rage at the idea that any considerable body of Democrats can contemplate separate action. The Georgians are just as positive the other way.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

How Not to Die.

Thousands fall a prey to disease, not because the maladies that affect them are necessarily fatal, but because they lack the requisite amount of active vitality to make a valiant resistance to the enemy. It is a wise precaution to keep the body always in a state of defence—always prepared to "fend off" the germs of epidemic and other disorders, and to baffle the evil influence of damp miasma and sudden thermometrical changes. There is no difficulty in doing this. It is a fact as well authenticated as that two and two make four, that HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS is specially adapted to this purpose, and for the simple reason that its invigorating and regulating properties are superior to those of any other medicine in the world. During the twenty years that it has been in general use, ample opportunities have been afforded to compare its medicinal properties with those of other preparations claiming to be of a similar class, and the result has been its adoption by the American people as the standard tonic of the age, its introduction into every civilized portion of the western hemisphere, and an annual sale which dwarfs into insignificance the demand for all its would-be competitors.

The record upon which its popularity rests is a curiosity in medical literature, for it includes an almost unlimited variety of human ailments and disabilities. In fact, no other remedy possesses such a variety of hygeinic virtues, and it is to these characteristics that it owes its prestige as a household medicine.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

CASTORIA—is a scientific vegetable preparation; a perfect substitute for and more effective than Castor Oil, and is pleasant to take. It cleanses the system in a most remarkable manner; does not distress or gripe, but operates when all other remedies have failed. It is certain to supersede Pills, Castor Oil, Narcotic Syrups, and all other purgative and exciting medicines. The Castoria contains neither Minerals, Morphine nor Alcohol. By its emollient, soothing effect, it assimilates the food and produces natural sleep particularly adapting it to crying and teething children. It cures Stomach Ache, Wind Colic, Constipation, Flatulency, Croup, and kills Worms. Make your Druggist send for it; he will always keep it, as every family must have it. It costs but fifty cents a bottle. J. B. Rose & Co., 53 Broadway, New York. m1 4w

A CORRESPONDENT, writing from Athens, curiously contrasts the mixtures to be found there of ancient and modern civilizations. Railroads spin their trains amid the temples of three thousand years; steamers dash their swells upon the Pireus, and the scream of their whistles resounds from Athos, Pentelicus and Cytheron to Olympus and the heavens beyond their gods. Dr. Ayer's world-renowned medicines, those consummations of modern science, are posted on the Acropolis, the Parthenon, the Areopagus and the Theslon, while the modest cards of Cherry Pectoral, Ayer's Sarsaparilla, Ague Cure and Pills, look from the windows of the shops in the streets of Athens, where they are sold.—N. Y. Sunday Globe.

HOLLOWAY'S PILLS.—The most powerful existing medicine for the cure of female complaints. Fifty years experience, inconteotably proves these remedies unrivalled for the disorders incidental to the softer sex. No family should be without them. They may be taken by young and old, as they will restore health when every other means prove unsuccessful. 25 cents per box or pot.

PILES.—The unceasing torture from internal bleeding, external and itching piles is fast wearing away the thousands of those who are afflicted and their hope and courage have long since given place to despair. Let those who see this cheer up, for a mild and sure cure may be had by using BRIGGS' PILE REMEDIES.

CORNS.—Since pride and fashion have had control of mankind, and shoemakers were compelled to make boots and shoes to fit fancy instead of the feet, the suffering from Corns, Bunions, Ingrowing Nails, Sore Insteps, Blistered Heels, Callosities on the bottom of the feet, &c., cannot be described. But Briggs' Corn and Bunion Remedies will cure all such torments, and proper fitting boots will prevent their reproduction. Sold by all druggists. a12

LOCAL AFFAIRS.

Laconics.

An exchange says "A singular epidemic in the form of sore eyes is prevailing at Hopkinton. The disease attacks the person without a moment's warning, the eye suddenly feeling as if some foreign substance were in it. Inflammation, redness and tenderness to the light follow and last for days." The same epidemic is prevalent in this city. A gentleman of our acquaintance recently left his home in the morning before the rest of the family were up, and returned in the evening with such a looking pair of eyes as raised most injurious suspicions in the minds of the lady members of the family, who feared the red eyes indicated a tremendous fall from teetotal grace the night before. He was the happiest man in the city next day, when all the rest of the family were attacked by the same complaint. The epidemic seems to be more annoying than dangerous, as those whose eyes are affected suffer no permanent injury. Prompt bathing with water as hot as can be borne is the best remedy yet discovered.

Mount Sinai Encampment, I. O. O. F., propose visiting Merrimac Encampment at Newburyport on the evening of the 28th inst.

Andrew H. Young, Esq., the urbane Collector of this District, will be at the Custom House, on the 21st inst. from 11 o'clock, A. M., to 2 o'clock, P. M., for the purpose of receiving the annual taxes assessed. Failure to appear will subject the tax payers to 20 cents additional cost.

Pearson's Newburyport Pilot Bread is taking the lead, his sales being large and the quality of the P. B. placed on the market being the best. Mr. Pearson is a young man of great business capacity and is surely on the way towards a goodly fortune, because he knows that people want the best, and governs himself accordingly.

The vacancy in the office of Mayor will not be filled at present, there being no pressing need of such action.

It is probable that the summer travel to the several beaches will be much greater this summer than during any previous season.

Gen. Mark F. Wentworth of Kittery is the leading candidate in York county as successor to Hon. John Lynch, in Congress.

Superintendent Prescott came to this city on Tuesday for the purpose of testing the new Westinghaus brake which was in use on the Bangor express train for Boston. The brake worked successfully and Mr. Prescott, who is always looking after the interests of the road and its patrons, expresses himself well pleased.

Preparations are being made by Storer Encampment No. 1, G. A. R., of this city for the observance of Memorial Day. The return of this occasion when the loyal people lay aside their usual occupations and assemble at the last resting place of those who laid down their lives for their country, should, in our opinion, be encouraged by the closing of the stores and schools for at least half of the day.

And now discontented William is out of sorts because no one thinks his editorial columns of enough consequence to send him a communication in favor of street sprinkling. Sad!

Assistant Paymaster Stephen Rand, U. S. N., is ordered to special duty at New Orleans.

An Error.

Some of our cotemporaries are in error in saying that the vacancy in the representation of the 1st Ward caused by the death of Hon. Horton D. Walker cannot be filled, as there is no provision in the general statuets for filling such vacancies. Article 16 of the State Constitution, part 2d, reads as follows:

All intermediate vacancies in the House of Representatives may be filled, from time to time, in the same manner as annual elections are made.

The selectmen of the 1st Ward will in a day or two issue their warrant for the election of a Representative to fill the vacancy. We hear the names of Hon. William H. Y. Hackett, Hon. James W. Emery and Mr. C. Dwight Hanscom mentioned for the candidacy.

SOUTH SEABROOK.—Mr. John Christian has recently put up a two-story building here, and uses the upper story as a residence and the lower one for a grocery store. Mr. Bryant Eaton, who for many years carried on the grocery business, has leased his store to Amos R. Johnson of Seabrook village, who will continue the business.

Most of the work done by the shoemakers here, until lately, has been for parties in Lynn; but Mr. Albert S. Dow has recently commenced running an express between this place and Newburyport, and the latter place now supplies quite a number of shops with work.

B. R. Jewell, P. G. W. of the Massachusetts Sons of Temperance, gave a temperance lecture in the Congregational vestry on Sunday evening, under the auspices of Seaside Division, No. 12, of South Seabrook. A.

State News.

It is proposed that the Maine and New Hampshire editorial associations have a joint excursion in July. How will that suit?

Arthur L. Choate of Derry, 21 years of age, was instantly killed on the 13th by being thrown from a cart upon a stone wall.

George Nutter, the Farmington forger, has turned up in Florida.

The railroad station at Newmarket Junction is to be repaired, and will stand it bravely.

Manchester is putting up a telegraphic fire alarm.

The new steamboat has made the trip from Lowell to Nashua and back.

Corduroy bridging has been found in excavating for Farmington's aqueduct. It must be over a century old, and its presence was not suspected.

The man who attends to Dover's street lights reckons he traverses a distance of eleven miles in his nightly round.

Master Willie Bixby of Meredith carried home a young gray squirrel lately which an old cat has added to her family of three kittens. The squirrel gets the same usage as her own offspring.

Josiah Heath, aged eighty-two years and living in the family of David French of Chester, committed suicide on the 12th inst., by hanging himself to a stair-post.

The News.

President Grant has recommended legislation by Congress for the protection of immigrants.

The official correspondence between Great Britain and the United States has been sent to the U. S. Senate, the President desiring advice as to the probable action of that body on the proposed supplementary treaty.

Marshal Bazaine has been arrested in Paris, and his trial by court-martial will begin in a few days.

The New York legislature has adjourned.

Daniel Webster Appleton, a grandson of Daniel Webster, was nearly burned to death in a Boston police station where he was locked up, drunk, on Tuesday.

A HARD CASE.—Ex-Senator George C. Bestor of Illinois, who died in Washington May 12th, had been in that city ever since the war, endeavoring to collect pay for a monitor built at St. Louis for the government during the rebellion. A short time since Senator Cragin reported a bill for his relief, appropriating $125,000, but no action was taken upon it, and Mr. Bestor died of a broken heart and was buried by charity.

THE HOUSE NAVAL COMMITTEE will report on the first opportunity the bill introduced early in the session by General Banks authorizing the construction of ten sloops of war, and an effort will be made to pass the bill during the present session.

WARRINGTON says: "No man can tell what new confusion may occur in New Hampshire and Connecticut within a few weeks. A very well informed New Hampshire man tells me that Rollins will get the Senatorship in New Hampshire."

THE JUBILEE.—The Grand International Peace Jubilee ball will take place on the evening of Wednesday, the Second week of the festival.

The season tickets are selling very rapidly, and those who desire a choice of seats should secure their tickets soon. More season tickets have already been sold than were issued during the last jubilee. It is expected that the Jubilee will bring together the largest representation of newspaper men ever gathered in Boston, and complete arrangements for their accommodation will be made by Mr. Niles and his assistants.

The Singer

SEWING MACHINE

STILL LEADS THE MARKET.

The Success of the Company is far beyond that of any other similar concern; the Daily Manufacture

—OF—

400 OF THE SINGERS

Failing to Supply the Constant Demand.

All other machines call the public attention to some new loop or stitch or tension or finish, some advantage in running or needles or feed or prices—and many of these are as we have said very good points, and the agents selling them use them to divert entirely the would-be purchaser from fairly considering the facts in the case; but the

seems to unite the good qualities of all, and is never found wanting.

THE SINGER

IS THE

OLDEST

SEWING MACHINE

IN THE MARKET,

All others being copied from its first model. It does two-thirds the sewing done in this country and preserves its advantages over all others combined.

It is readily kept clean, and has THE BEST TENSION EVER INVENTED; it is higher speeded and requires but little power to run; it works equally well upon the finest and heaviest goods; it does all the varieties of work known to the art.

N. B. Those purchasing for cash, before the 1 of January next, will have a consideration allowed them.

Morning Chronicle.

—The Key West Advertiser having gone out a Republican paper, the Guardian man gets mad about it, and goes on at an awful rate. — Fernandina (Florida) Observer.

We dispose of the little fellow that makes this unprovoked thrust in the simplest manner; we crack him between our thumb-nails! — Key West Guardian.

The Guardian man appears to be posted in the matter, and knows just how to do it. Wonder if he is troubled with such things.—Pensacola Express.

—An archæological correspondent adduces as evidence of the antiquity of the game of euchre the passage in the New Testament which relates how the priest and the Levite "passed" and the good Samaritan "assisted."

—A Newport correspondent speaks of a loving couple in a railroad car:—"The presumption is they had 'tunnelled' before, but it had been in the daytime, when the darkness of the tunnel was advantageous. On this occasion it was after nightfall, and the car candles were burning. The male lover for miles had been talking tunnel, as if deeply interested in that underground passage, and his love evidently understood the allusions. At last the train thundered into the tunnel, and the lovers indulged in one of those hearty salutations that are made to be felt, but not to be seen by indifferent spectators. Of course the car load exploded, while the impulsive swain apologized to his Dulcinea with the unsatisfactory explanation, 'confound the lamps, I didn't think of them.'"

BOB O'LINKUM.—The rattling bobolink came yesterday. There was no mistaking his inimitable voice, like that of a dozen gay birds choking a single throat. He fluttered in an ecstacy of morning intoxication across the garden, filling the air with an overflow of melody. The waxen buds of the trees fairly quivered with delight at his coming. He brings the tropics back with him—colors, song, brilliancy, the whole South. His soberer lady will be here a few days later, having delayed to pack the family trunk and make the last repairs on her constitution before settling to the sober summer housekeeping. Robert will rattle around from garden to meadow until she makes her appearance, sipping the morning dews, waking the spirits of the boys, cheering up the rest of the feathered fraternity, and practising the confusing preludes of his June music. A livelier, jollier, brisker young fellow never made ready for a two months' life without care among the trees and in the grass. The gross little gourmet of September has once more become the rollicking songster of May, and he will earn his unbroken autumn festival by these early concerts, for which we pay him only in admiration.—Boston Post, 9th.

AYER'S

CHERRYPECTORAL

For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma and Consumption.

The few compositions, which have won the confidence of mankind and become household words among not only one but many nations, must have extraordinary virtues. Perhaps no medicine has acquired so wide a reputation or maintained it so long as AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL. It has been known to the public about forty years, and has conducted series of marvellous cures which have won for it a confidence in its virtues, never equalled by any other medicines. It still makes the most astonishing cures of Coughs, Colds, Consumption, that can be made by medical skill. Indeed the CHERRY PECTORAL has really robbed these dangerous diseases of their terrors, to a great extent, and given a feeling of immunity from their fatal effects, which is well founded, if the remedy be taken in season. Every family should have it in their closet for the ready and prompt relief of its members. Sickness, suffering, and even life is saved by this timely protection. The present should not neglect it, and the wise will not. Keep it by you for the protection it affords in sudden attacks, and by its timely use.

BRIGGS' ALLEVANTOR is composed of Ammonia, Chloroform, Spirits of Camphor, Tincture of Lupuline, Oil of Juniper, and Alcohol. This compound is unequalled in the annals of medicine for the cure of Nervous or Sick Headache, Neuralgia, Trembling or Twitching of the Nerves, and all Nervous Diseases. It will counteract all poisons, banish pimples, cure scaly eruptions, itching, humors, &c.; it equalizes the circulation, invigorates the system, increases the action of the heart, without exciting the brain, cures Heartburn, Palpitation and Fluttering of the Heart, Dyspepsia, &c. Briggs' Alleviator absolutely possesses more curative properties than any other preparation. Physicians, chemists, and others are requested to examine and test the remedy, and $1000 will be paid if found different from representation.

COUGHS. Much has been said and written, and many remedies have been offered for the relief and cure of throat and lung diseases; but nothing has been so eminently successful, or obtained such a wide celebrity, as Briggs' Throat and Lung Healer.

CORNS! The excruciating pain produced by Corns, the unceasing twinging from Bunions, the piercing distressing pain from Ingrowing Nails, cannot be described. Thousands suffer, not knowing there is a cure. Briggs' Corn and Bunion Remedies are no acid or potash compounds, but are reliable, soothing, and effectual, and just merit the success they have earned from an appreciative public. The Curative is a healing ointment; immediate relief is obtained by its application, and it will positively cure the worst cases of Festered Corns, Inflamed and Ulcerated Bunions, the sorest instep, the largest and severest Blisters, the most extensive Callosities on the soles or heels of the feet, unequalled in the cure of Chilblains or Frosted Feet. The Alleyantor for ordinary corns and preventing their formation is absolutely unexcelled by anything else extant.

PILES have been a terror to mankind for centuries, and almost every attempt to cure them has been baffled. By unceasing study and experimenting, Dr. Briggs has discovered an absolutely cure for internal, bleeding, external, and itching piles. Briggs' Pile Remedies are mild, safe and sure.

For sale by J. H. THACHER, WM. R. PRESTON, Portsmouth; JAMES O. TREPEHEN, Kittery; E. S. SAFFORD, Kittery Point; H. M. CURTIS, Newcastle, and dealers generally.

CORNS, Bunions, Bad Nails, and other diseases of the feet, Scrofulous and Cancerous Humors, Piles, etc., skillfully treated at the great central Chiropodical and Healing Institute, No. 766 Broadway, New York. DR. J. BRIGGS, President; DR. ALEXANDER WEBBER, Secretary. ap9

HALL'S VEGETABLE SICILIAN

HAIR RENEWER.

ITS EFFECT IS

MIRACULOUS.

It is a perfect and wonderful article. Cures baldness. Makes hair grow. A better dressing than any "oil" or "pomatum." Softens brush, dry and wiry hair into beautiful Silken Tresses. But, above all, the great wonder is the rapidity with which it restores GRAY HAIR TO ITS ORIGINAL COLOR.

The whitest and worst looking hair resumes its youthful beauty by its use. It does not dye the hair, but strikes at the root and fills it with new life and coloring matter.

The first application will do good; you will see the NATURAL COLOR returning every day, and the old, gray, discolored appearance of the hair will be gone, giving place to lustrous, shining and beautiful locks.

Ask for Hall's Sicilian Hair Renewer; no other article is at all like it in effect.

"DOLLY VARDEN."

"You want, what."

Yes, that is exactly what we said to the wife of our bosom, in response to what we considered a very revolutionary exclamation on her part. We had just got home to tea, had taken up the paper, and were nobly struggling with a very lucid editorial, which went on to show, in a remarkably thrilling manner, that if the duty on the raw material of cotton was reduced one-sixteenth per cent, that exactly 9,854 mechanics would be reduced to starvation, and the average duration of their existence depressed to the logarithm of 54,852. We laid down the paper, took our glasses off, rubbed them with our hankerchief, readjusted them upon the bridge of our Grecian nose, and looking straight at the partner of our joys, sorrow, and salary, said:

"You want what?"

"A Dolly Varden," the old lady exclaimed, somewhat excitedly, at the same time spilling some of the tea she was handing us upon the last-born's head. After the baby had been quieted, which took some time, she repeated:

"A Dolly Varden!"

With all the solemnity of which we are possessed, we arose in our seat, and with that celebrated wave of the hand of Henry Clay when he bade farewell to the Senate, said:

"Madam, you are well acquainted with the fact that my position as a reviewer of current literature, an honorable position, which, I may remark in parenthesis, supplies this tender brood with life-sustaining bread and keeps the wolf from the door, (here we gracefully waved toward the backyard, as if implying that the wolf was prowling among the gooseberry bushes,) entitles me to speak understandingly upon the characters of fiction. Now, as I take it, Dolly Varden was the lovely daughter of Gabriel Varden, the locksmith of London, as will be ascertained by a reference to "Barnaby Rudge," written by the late lamented Charles Dickens. In this, view of the case, if I, who am but in the prime of life, should have said "I would like to have a Dolly Varden—"

"You're a fool, old man; sit down. I'll show you what I mean. Matilda, bring your father the last number of Harper's Bazar."

Matilda is our eldest, the flower of our flock, her father's pride, her mother's joy. She arose, took position No. 3 of the dancing lessons taught in the very select academy of Prof. Hoppety-skippety, where she is a scholar, and glided like a sunbeam from the room. (We would not like to be qualified to the fact that we ever saw a sunbeam glide from the room, but that's the way the writers put it.)

She returned with the paper, and our wife proceeded at once to move upon our intrenchments with what she meant by "Dolly Varden." The wonders of this dress at last stole upon our mind. We were told that it was all the rage, that nothing else was fashionable, and that our position in society depended upon having at least one Dolly Varden in the family.

In an evil hour we consented. The Dolly Varden should be brought, and with many an inward groan we counted out the cash.

We had not as yet had our eyes gladdened with a sight of this wonderful creation of fashion. The description given us was vague and hazy but we waited patiently for the denouement. And we didn't wait in vain. We saw the Dolly Varden at last, and the shock in our nervous frame was tremendous.

Returning home one night we missed from the supper-table the presence of our wife. To Matilda we said:

"Where is your mother, child?"

"Her dress has just come home, and she wants to surprise you in it," answered our daughter.

Suddenly the door swung open, and a lady entered.

There was a sort of wild look in her eye, as we imagined, and she was attired in the most outlandish style, having on a dress with sunflowers and cabbages and pumpkins worked all over it, and a lot of snakes squirming around for a back-ground.

Rising, we said, "Madam, whom do you wish to see?" supposing, you know, that the girl had let her in.

She simply stared at us.

"Poor thing! she is crazy," we added, "Just look with what a grotesque fancy she has bedecked herself. Speak to her, Matilda, or call your mother;" and having said this we sighed compassionately, and shook our head in a mournful manner.

Suddenly that wierd female made a bolt at us.

"You don't known me? I'm crazy, am I? You don't know your wife?"

Our under jaw dropped in the cheerful manner appertaining to skeletons at the museum, and we could do no more than look with a sort of idiotic stare, first at the speaker and then at Matilda. That lovely child at last said: "Don't you know ma, father? That's her Dolly Varden she put on to show you."

After gasping awhile, and rolling our eyes around, and putting our hands to our head, and chuckling wildly to ourself, we came to ourself,—we came to

FRIDAY, MAY 17, 1872.

The Vice Presidency.

We regard the nomination of President Grant as a foregone conclusion. The nomination of a candidate for Vice President by the National Republican convention at Philadelphia next month is yet an unsettled matter, and if Republican delegates act wisely they will cast their ballots for a candidate who will add strength to the ticket. The State Convention held at Concord on the 8th inst., chose to recommend Hon. Henry Wilson for the position and no opposition was made to the presentation of his name, out of courtesy. Yet we believe it to be a fact that though Gen. Grant is the nearly unanimous choice of New Hampshire Republicans for President, but a small portion of the party really desire the nomination of Mr. Wilson for Vice President. It cannot be denied that in the present unsettled condition of national politics, no effort should be spared to strengthen the party by the nomination of a candidate for the position from one of the contested States.

We have none but kindly feelings for Senator Wilson, but Massachusetts is heavily Republican, and the nomination of Mr. Wilson is not needed to secure its electoral vote for Grant. And here we would say that the election of Senator Patterson to the Vice Presidency (or his appointment as Minister to Switzerland) and the consequent election of Hon. E. H. Rollins to the U. S. Senate, would result most favorably in healing dissensions now extending in this State, which if continued will render the coming campaign the closest ever known in New Hampshire. Then again, the Republicans of Connecticut have a true and tried man whom the Republicans of the nation would like to honor. We refer to Gen. Hawley, who has been so unscrupulously dealt with by a few men,—a very small minority of the Republican party of that State. Gen. Hawley's nomination for Vice President would ensure the electoral vote of Connecticut to the Republican party.

Again, we see no reason for setting aside Vice President Colfax, one of the most popular Republicans in the Union, who resides in Indiana, another closely contested State—for Senator Wilson. If the Vice President is not entitled to a renomination, there seem to be reasons equally cogent for the selection of a candidate who might strengthen the ticket in Pennsylvania. Minister Curtin might be the coming man, inasmuch as it is now declared that he was not engaged in the "liberal" movement. We cite the foregoing cases by way of illustration, having no wish other than that the choice of the National Convention be of a nature to inspire enthusiasm for the whole ticket and that a grand triumph of Republican principles may ensue in November. A failure to use the utmost means at hand to ensure such a victory can be but unwise. Let the members of the convention not forget that "success is a duty.

Campaign Notes.

The Boston Traveller thinks there is some foundation for the rumor that Ex-Gov. Onslow Stearns will be the compromise candidate for the Senate in this State.

The Philadelphia Press speaks of "brave, unselfish Henry Wilson, the knight of our modern politics, one of the purest and best of our present leaders." Forney always was a funny man, says the Boston Post.

The New York Republican State Convention has endorsed the administration.

The New York Democratic State Convention adopted resolutions endorsing the principles of the Cincinnati platform, and virtually instructing its delegates to Baltimore to vote for Mr. Greeley's nomination.

The Tennessee and Texas Republican State conventions were enthusiastic for President Grant.

The Missouri Caucassian, which advocated the assassination of President Grant, now advocates the Greeley-Brown ticket.

The Chicago Post says: "James Parton, who has taken more lives than any other bandit in America, is already at work on the unhappy Greeley. J. R. Osgood & Co., the Boston publishers, are accessories before the fact."

Gratz Brown says of Horace Greeley: "To write three columns a day six days in a week and be so little a fool is statesmanship." Gratz's ideas of statesmanship are a little peculiar, as for instance, his preference for buttered watermelon.

OLD TIME CHRONICLES, No. 52.

BY UNCLE JOSEPH.

Witchcraft in New Hampshire.—There was witchcraft in the times in which the Bible was written. It was then a juggling pretence of supernatural power, gained by entering into compact with inhabitants of the spirit world called "familiar spirits;" by the law of Moses, consulting them was forbidden, and witches were to be put to death. In modern times it has been supposed that witches could torment the absent, and in various ways cut up tricks to the injury of those on whom their power was exerted. Not more than half a century ago, credit was given to power of this kind in the most enlightened communities, and one or two centuries ago there were serious difficulties in consequence of the supposed operations of witches.

Portsmouth and vicinity was one place where there was special trouble in consequence of witchcraft in early times. The first date was in 1653, just 30 years after the town was settled. Jane Walford stated to John Puddington that her husband called her an old witch, and that when she came where his cattle were he would bid her begone as she bewitched them. Three years passed, and so far as is known cattle and human beings had no great annoyance from the power of witches, but in 1656 the aforesaid Jane Walford seemed to be making special trouble. The scene was at Little Harbor, where probably Jane resided. It was on March 30, in the evening, that Mrs. Susanna Trimmings was walking alone, when Jane Walford came to her and asked her to lend her a pound of cotton. Mrs. Trimmings declined. Jane told her she should have trouble, and left her. Susanna was immediately struck as with a "clap of fire," and she "saw something vanish in the shape of a cat." She went home, could not speak at first, even hardly breathe. Finally she told her husband, Oliver, that her back where she was struck was a flame of fire; her limbs were numb, and she said, "Jane Walford will kill me."

Mrs. Trimmings made oath to the particulars before the magistrates. In June others gave testimony in the case, among them Nicholas Rowe, who said that Jane Walford, after she was accused as above, came to him in bed in the evening, put her hand on his breast and then left. He could not speak and was in great pain till the next day. She repeated (as he alleged) the operation a week later. Jane was by the Court held in bonds. The record in June was, that she was bound to the next Court. Probably at the ensuing Court the case was dropped. Jane lived on and some called her a witch. But she finally thought to silence such accusations. In March, 1669, Robert Cutch having called her a witch, she brought an action of slander and the Court gave the verdict in her favor with five pounds lawful money as damages, and costs of Court.

The next case was in 1680. The place is not certain, but from the names of some concerned in it, probably it was in Hampton. The evidence given was in a court held in that town. A child about one year old, belonging to John Godfre (now spelt Godfrey,) died. It was suspected that it had been bewitched by Rachel, wife of John Fuller. July 13, a jury of inquest sat on the case. The foreman was Henry Roby, early at Exeter, afterwards in Hampton. On the jury were Henry Dearborn, Abraham Drake and others of Hampton. The verdict was that the child had been murdered by witchcraft. One reason given was, what they saw by the dead body; and another was, in what they saw and heard from the party suspected. The next day, July 14, John Fuller entered into bonds of one hundred pounds for the appearance of Rachel, his wife, at court, to answer to the charge of witchcraft. We have the testimony sworn to in the case. It was to the effect that Rachel Fuller visited Mr. Godfre's when the child was sick, took hold of the child, said it would be well, went out of doors, looked towards the house and beat her arms together; also that she told one that a doctor was pulled out of bed with an enchanted bridle and that it was intended to lead him a jaunt; also that she had been seen out, scrabbling on her hands and knees. We have no record of any decision of this case by the Court, and probably by some means it was dropped.

There was trouble again in Portsmouth, June 11, 1682. It was on the Island, now Newcastle. George Walton lived not far away from the bridge, on what is now the right hand street leading to the business part of the town. There was no street there then, and there is no house where Walton then lived. A gate was wrung off the hinges and showers of stone thrown at the house. Stones from within were thrown out through the windows, breaking the glass. Stones hit persons, but effecting no more than a soft touch. Stones were picked up, some of them as hot as if coming from a fire. Some were placed on a table, but they commenced flying about. No one was seen throwing stones. Some articles went up chimney, then down again, and then out of the window. Similar operations, and more than can be put down here, continued several days. We should name, however, that a cheese flew out of the press and ambled over the floor, and cocks of hay went up and hung on trees!

Those who read will ask for an explanation of these things. We may get off by saying that a historian is to give facts and not sit in judgment on them. Yet we will say that a disordered imagination has sometimes created strange fancies; and possibly mesmeric power and table moving, as now, might have existed then.

Only the principal operations called witchcraft in our State will be given, and we pass to one a hundred years later. It was in the time of the Revolutionary war. Clement March was keeper of the Portsmouth Almshouse, and Molly Bridget was an inmate; she was called a witch. In 1762 there was trouble with the pigs and it was said they were bewitched; the tips of their ears and tails were cut off as a remedy. It was a tradition that they must be burned, but they could not be found. Chips were collected, supposing the tips were among them; as they were put into the fire, Molly appeared frenzied, went to her room and died immediately.

The account of Goody Cole, the witch of Hampton, is found in the poems of J. G. Whittier. She lived in Colonial times and was twice imprisoned in Ipswich jail for alleged witchery. The particulars are omitted, enough having been given to show the troublous times of the delusion, and to make us rejoice that the light and wisdom of this age saves us from such distresses.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

A CORRESPONDENT, writing from Athens, curiously contrasts the mixtures to be found there of ancient and modern civilizations. Railroads spin their trains amid the temples of three thousand years; steamers dash their swells upon the Piræus, and the scream of their whistles resounds from Athos, Pentelicus and Cytheron to Olympus and the heavens beyond their gods. Dr. Ayer's world-renowned medicines, those consummations of modern science, are posted on the Acropolis, the Parthenon, the Areopagus and the Theseion, while the modest cards of Cherry Pectoral, Ayer's Sarsaparilla, Ague Cure and Pills, look from the windows of the shops in the streets of Athens, where they are sold.—N. Y. Sunday Globe.

PILES.—The unceasing torture from internal bleeding, external and itching piles is fast wearing away the thousands of those who are afflicted and their hope and courage have long since given place to despair. Let those who see this cheer up, for a mild and sure cure may be had by using BRIGGS' PILE REMEDIES.

CORNS.—Since pride and fashion have had control of mankind, and shoemakers were compelled to make boots and shoes to fit fancy instead of the feet, the suffering from Corns, Bunions, Ingrowing Nails, Sore Insteps, Blistered Heels, Callosities on the bottom of the feet, &c., cannot be described. But Briggs' Corn and Bunion Remedies will cure all such torments, and proper fitting boots will prevent their reproduction. Sold by all druggists. a12

SPECIAL NOTICES.

How Not to Die.

Thousands fall a prey to disease, not because the maladies that affect them are necessarily fatal, but because they lack the requisite amount of active vitality to make a valiant resistance to the enemy. It is a wise precaution to keep the body always in a state of defence—always prepared to "fend off" the germs of epidemic and other disorders, and to baffle the evil influence of damp miasma and sudden thermometrical changes. There is no difficulty in doing this. It is a fact as well authenticated as that two and two make four, that HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS is specially adapted to this purpose, and for the simple reason that its invigorating and regulating properties are superior to those of any other medicine in the world. During the twenty years that it has been in general use, ample opportunities have been afforded to compare its medicinal properties with those of other preparations claiming to be of a similar class, and the result has been its adoption by the American people as the standard tonic of the age, its introduction into every civilized portion of the western hemisphere, and an annual sale which dwarfs into insignificance the demand for all its would-be competitors.

The record upon which its popularity rests is a curiosity in medical literature, for it includes an almost unlimited variety of human ailments and disabilities. In fact, no other remedy possesses such a variety of hygienic virtues, and it is to these characteristics that it owes its prestige as a household medicine.

Gentlemen who smoke en route regret the omission to place a smoking car on the evening express trains between Portland and Boston over the Eastern Railroad.

G. F. Bailey & Co. are to exhibit their "Quadruple Combination" in Portsmouth, on Friday, May 24, afternoon and evening. The price of admission has been reduced to twenty-five cents, all told, to see everything advertised. The reduction in price and the great reputation of the combined troupes have succeeded in drawing out the masses wherever the big show has appeared. The crowd at Boston, where they exhibited last week, was so immense during the five days they remained, that the sale of tickets had to be stopped before the performances commenced, for want of room to accommodate the people. There have been many novelties added to the troupe the present season, both in the menagerie and circus departments. Besides retaining the noted Sebastian and his Italian riders and gymnasts; the company have engaged the great equestrienne, Lucille Watson, claimed to be the first lady rider of the age. The menagerie contains a full collection of wild beasts from every quarter of the globe. The encampment of the Bailey Show is said to cover nearly four acres of ground.

Hon. George M. Browne, late President of the Eastern Railroad has resigned the office of President and Director of the Portsmouth, Great Falls & Conway Railroad, and at a recent meeting of the Directors, J. K. Lothrop, Esq., of Boston, was elected to the office of President.

The stolen property was found on him, but he claims to have bought it of his companion, without the knowledge of its having been stolen. He gave his name as John Smith, of North Berwick. The examination will take place before Judge Page to-day.

The traveller on the Eastern Railroad sees at Salem, just beyond the city proper, extensive foundations being placed for the erection of the buildings for the Salem Car Co. The President of the Salem Board of Trade has been requested by the board to address the president of the Pullman Car Company and set forth the advantages offered by Salem for the establishment there of the factory for the manufacture of cars which they propose to build somewhere in New England.

The dark waiting room appropriated for gentlemen's use at the Eastern Railroad Station in Boston is being cleansed and whitewashed and various improvements are in contemplation at this point as well as at other Stations on the road.

LIBERALIZING.—A Washington telegram to the Boston Globe says: "Senator Ferry was congratulated on the receipt of the election despatch, first by Senator Schurz, and then by Trumbull, Tipton, Sprague and Mr. Sumner. It was noticeable that not a regular Republican went near him for a considerable time after the news was received. There is a general feeling of surprise, considering all the circumstances, that Mr. Ferry should have allowed himself to become the instrument for breaking the Republican organization. The Connecticut Representatives fear the effect in destroying the party organization. Greeley Democrats, who advised this action from here, point to it as a proof of their desire for co-operation. Predictions are freely made that similar results will occur in New Hampshire." Wonder what that means?

SOME INDIVIDUAL inclined to be toadyish writes the following nonsense from Portland to the Boston Globe:—

The great question in York county is, who is to be member of Congress from this district? Mr. Lynch positively declines to allow his name to be used, but there are so many York county men who feel called upon to serve their country in the lower house that we should not be surprised if the contest ended in urging Mr. Lynch to re-consider and accept.

When the Republican voters of the First Maine District urge Mr. Lynch to accept a fifth nomination for Congress, Democrats will strive to enter Heaven in balloons'.

CASTORIA—is a scientific vegetable preparation; a perfect substitute for and more effective than Castor Oil, and is pleasant to take. It cleanses the system in a most remarkable manner; does not distress or gripe, but operates when all other remedies have failed. It is certain to supersede Pills, Castor Oil, Narcotic Syrups, and all other purgative and exciting medicines. The Castoria contains neither Minerals, Morphine nor Alcohol. By its emolient, soothing effect, it assimilates the food and produces natural sleep particularly adapting it to crying and teething children. It cures Stomach Ache, Wind Colic, Constipation, Flatulency, Croup, and kills Worms. Make your Druggist send for it; he will always keep it, as every family must have it. It costs but fifty cents a bottle. J. B. Rose & Co., 53 Broadway, New York. m1 4w

The Singer

SEWING MACHINE

STILL LEADS THE MARKET.

The Success of the Company is far beyond that of any other similar concern; the Daily Manufacture

—OF—

400 OF THE SINGERS

Failing to Supply the Constant Demand.

All other machines call the public attention to some new loop or stitch or tension or finish, some advantage in running or needles or feed or prices—and many of these are as we have said very good points, and the agents selling them use them to divert entirely the would-be purchaser from fairly considering the facts in the case; but the

seems to unite the good qualities of all, and is never found wanting.

THE SINGER

IS THE

OLDEST

SEWING MACHINE

IN THE MARKET,

All others being copied from its first model. It does two-thirds the sewing done in this country and preserves its advantages over all others combined.

It is readily kept clean, and has THE BEST TENSION EVER INVENTED; it is lighter speeded and requires but little power to run; it works equally well upon the finest and heaviest goods; it does all the varieties of work known to the art.

Morning Chronicle.

Concluded from first page.

our senses, and the idea suddenly flashed upon us that this was the lady who loved, honored and disobeyed us, and the snakes, the flowers and the cabbages constituted the Dolly Vardeu.

Then we towered to the height of our indignation, and said in a calm, measured, and sepulchral tone:

"You can't blame, me, for supposing you are an insane woman; and now that I know that you are really the mother of these interesting children, will you have the kindness to retire to the sanctity of your chamber and dress yourself of that piece of furniture chintz, or window curtain, or whatever you call it?"

"Window curtain! chintz!" said our spouse; "why, it's you that is out of your head. That's a Dolly Vardeu, and a very pretty pattern too."

"Madame," we replied, "we may be out of our head, but if that is a Dolly Vardeu, we are most decidedly out of pocket. Why, it looks like a circus dress, and the idea of a woman at your time of life—"

"My time of life!"

"Yes; your time of life. The next thing, I suppose, you will be practising the trapeze act in the back yard—"

"See here, now—"

"Why, it is enough to give a man the delirium tremens to look at it. Who ever saw such a pattern? It's flash wall paper run mad."

"Samuel—"

"You look exactly like a Japanese tea-sign—"

"Will you—"

"I won't do anything of the kind. You just bounce out of here with that Feejee battle flag, or you'll scare the baby to death."

There was an ominous pause for a moment, and then Matilda said:

"Why, you ought to ashamed of yourself, father. It's all the style, and I am going to have one, too; there now!"

We felt our brain reeling.

"Yes, and I want one; all the girls have got them." Thus spoke Maria, our second eldest.

We felt it coming on—we knew we were going mad.

"Any more?" we gasped; "are there any more. Hadn't the baby better have one? I guess I'll get one myself. How do they make up for pantaloons. Ha! ha! ha! (demoniacally.) Let me have a Dolly Vardeu. Let me clutch it. Bring me a pattern of monkeys scaling lamp posts. How would a Chinese puzzle look, or a map of Fairmount Park?"

* * * * *

All the rest is blank. We have just been liberated from Kirkbride's and pronounced cured. But the only way they managed it was to dress up in a Dolly Vardeu, marked out with the ground plan of the streets of Boston. We are an humbled man, and our family wear Dolly Vardens.

TRUE.—In attempting to justify its opposition to Mr. Greeley to a correspondent who upbraids therefor, the New York World says:—

He does not seem to understand that Mr. Greeley has thrown away the great ascendency he once had over the republican party. His peace mission to Niagara, his advice to President Lincoln to offer $400,000,000 as a compensation to the southern slaveholders, and his subsequent signing the bail bond of Jefferson Davis, estranged so many of Greeley's republican friends that his hold on the party is reduced to nothing. The assumption, therefore, that Mr. Greeley will draw off a large republican vote is a mere flight of fancy. It overlooks the fact that Mr. Greeley has thrown away his republican influence by so often running counter to the prevailing sentiment of the party. Most republicans would as soon vote for an out-and-out "copperhead" democrat as for the foremost signer of Jefferson Davis's bail bond. The politicians who speculate on the republican following of Mr. Greeley misappreciate his recent standing in the republican party. Since the Union League Club forbore turning him out after his signature of Mr. Davis's bond, he has been rather tolerated than followed by his former political associates. It is a great and grave mistake to suppose that he has any considerable republican following in the northern States when he steps over the party traces.

THE NEW YORK TRIBUNE continues to publish congratulatory messages; and the Times, not to be out-done, gives several which it says were omitted by the Tribune editor. One of these "rejected manuscripts" reads as follows:

"WISCONSIN, May 1.

Old Horace: At last we are in the same party. Henry Clay Dean will stump the West for you. The LaCrosse Democrat will do its level best for you.

BRICK."

Another, signed "Committee Free Trade Party," reads after this style:

"Hon. Horace Greeley: We welcome your accession to the cause of free trade, as proposed in your letter to the Missouri revenue reformers, declaring in favor of a tariff for revenue only. Hurrah for Greeley and free trade! We have lots of British gold to spend for your election."

—An exchange describes a sable-clad missionary as looking as if he had been vaccinated for black clothes and had broken out all over.

—Rye grows well on the "Great American Desert."

HALL'S VEGETABLE SICILIAN

HAIR RENEWER.

ITS EFFECT IS

MIRACULOUS.

It is a perfect and wonderful article. Cures baldness. Makes hair grow. A better dressing than any "oil" or "pomatum." Softens brash, dry and wiry hair into Beautiful Silken Tresses. But, above all, the great wonder is the rapidity with which it restores GRAY HAIR TO ITS ORIGINAL COLOR.

The whitest and worst looking hair resumes its youthful beauty by its use. It does not dye the hair, but strikes at the root and fills it with new life and cloring matter.

The first application will do good; you will see the NATURAL COLOR returning every day, and the old, gray, discolored appearance of the hair will be gone, giving place to lustrous, shining and beautiful locks.

Ask for Hall's Sicilian Hair Renewer; no other article is at all like it in effect.

See that each bottle has our private Government Stamp over the top of the bottle. All others are imitations.

ADVICES TO FARMERS.—Last year the hay crop was a failure—but if you had only had some fodder corn, and some roots, and pieces of wet meadow to have fallen back on, you would have been all right. No one can tell what the present season will give us at its close; but if the farmer is active and energetic now, puts in all he can of fodder corn, of millet, of beets and turnips, and if he improves every spare day in trimming up the bushes on some low meadow land, now perhaps but little better than worthless—he has a greater number of chances in his favor. If one crop fails, another may succeed; if it proves a poor year for roots, it may be a better one for fodder corn or hay— so that his probabilities for success are largely increased. And now is the time to lay out for a patch of roots and a patch of fodder corn, as auxiliary feeding crops. After the fortunes of the season are decided, it will be too late to remedy your ill-luck, too late to give you suggestions of this kind. Put them in operation now.

It may be well for you to try what top dressing will do for some of your old fields. If you have not fine old manure that you can spare for this purpose, try some plaster or phosphate, or leached ashes. We say to all farmers, if you can get leached ashes for twenty cents a bushel, by hauling them from four to six miles, get all you can pay for, or—we had almost said—run in debt for. As a top dressing for old fields, every bushel has an actual money value of more than twice this sum.

The stock this spring will need much extra care and feeding. Animals have come out thin, and we learn of many cases of actual death, simply because with the approach of warm weather the allowance of food has been curtailed. Don't pursue so short sighted a policy. Now is the time, if ever, that cows and young creatures, in fact, all kinds of farm stock, need a little extra nursing. Continue to give meal and shorts and other provender—especially if you have been giving it through the winter. The full amount should be given until the cattle are well out to pasture, and even then discontinue its use gradually. The cost of keeping your animals all winter may be completely lost, if you attempt to discontinue their regular feed now—lost, because the animals, even if it is warm weather, cannot subsist on spring air, and will die.—Me. Farmer.

Major Muldoon sends the World the following:

She weighs 247 pounds avoirdupois, and there are not apothecary scales enough on this continent to fix the aggregate of her womanly sweetness.

She was riding up town in one of the Broadway stages, which was so full she had to stand.

A sneak, who sat opposite her, kept touching her foot and ankle with his boot.

She suffered him to go on with his manly occupation until he had pushed one of his feet directly under one of hers.

Then she located 247 pounds of woman on that sneak's hoof, and there was a cry as if some one was in distress.

He will not require the services of a chiropodist for that particular foot for the remainder of his natural and valuable existence.

He told one of his acquaintances who met him limping about on a crutch that a loaded coal cart passed over his foot, and he assured another that a horse car ran over it.

But for pedestrian purposes that foot will not be very useful to him hereafter, I fear.

BRIGGS' ALLEVANTOR is composed of Ammonia, Chloroform, Spirits of Camphor, Tincture of Lupuline, Oil of Juniper, and Alcohol. This compound is unequalled in the annals of medicine for the cure of Nervous or Sick Headache, Neuralgia, Trembling or Twitching of the Nerves, and all Nervous Diseases. It will counteract all poisons, banish pimples, cure scaly eruptions, itching, tumors, &c.; it equalizes the circulation, invigorates the system, increases the action of the heart, without exciting the brain. Prevents Palpitation and Fluttering of the Heart, Dyspepsia, &c. Briggs' Allevantor absolutely possesses more curative properties than any other preparation. Physicians, chemists, and others are requested to examine and test the remedy, and $1000 will be paid if found different from representation.

COUGHS. Much has been said and written, and many remedies have been offered for the relief and cure of throat and lung diseases; but nothing has been so eminently successful, or obtained such a wide celebrity, as Briggs' Throat and Lung Healer.

CORNS! The excruciating pain produced by Corns, the unceasing twinging from Bunions, the piercing, distressing pain from Ingrowing Nails, cannot be described. Thousands suffer, not knowing there is a cure. Briggs' Corn and Bunion Remedies are no acid or potash compounds, but are reliable, soothing, and effectual, and just merit the success they have earned from an appreciative public. The Curative is a healing ointment; immediate relief is obtained by its application, and it will positively cure the worst cases of Festered Corns, Inflamed and Ulcerated Bunions, the soreest instep, the largest and severest Blisters, the most extensive Callosities on the soles or heels of the feet, unequalled in the cure of Chilblains or Frosted Feet. The Allevantor for ordinary corns and preventing their formation is absolutely unexcelled by anything ever known.

PILES have been a terror to mankind for centuries, and almost every attempt to cure them has been baffled. By unceasing study and experimenting, Dr. Briggs has discovered an absolutely cure for internal, bleeding, external, and itching piles. Briggs' Pile Remedies are mild, safe and sure.

For sale by J. H. THACHER, Wm. R. PRESTON, Portsmouth; JAMES O. TREFETHEN, Kittery; E. S. SAFFORD, Kittery Point; H. M. CURTIS, Newcastle, and dealers generally.

Campaign Notes.

Before Gen. Hawley's defeat, he telegraphed to his friends: "Make no compromise in my name. Buy nobody; promise nothing but fidelity to Republican principles. I have no withdrawing or compromising to do for myself. The Republican party may do with me as it pleases."

Gen. Stanley Matthews, the temporary chairman at Cincinnati, stigmatizes that assembly as "a disgraced and disgraceful convention," and cordially regrets his own participation therein. He says that he finds in that convention the latest and best illustration of the corruption of political life.

The News.

Appearances now indicate that the Coliseum will be completed two weeks before the Peace Jubilee.

The Maine editors and publishers will go to Mt. Desert for their annual excursion on the 9th of July.

Congress will adjourn June 3d.

A fire in Yeddo, Japan, burned over an area of six square miles and destroyed an immense amount of property. Many lives were lost and persons were killed by officers for sake of saving them from a more terrible death by burning. Thirty thousand persons are houseless.

Governor Hoffman has vetoed the New York city charter.

The passage of the Baltimore and Potomac depot bill by the Senate completes all the legislation necessary to insure the entire completion and opening of the new through route between New York city and Richmond by the way of Washington. The entire line will be in operation in the fall, reducing the time between Washington and New York to seven hours.

In Washington county, Ky., a few days since, a man named Lovell placed a pistol in the hands of his little son, aged seven years, and ordered him to shoot his [Lovell's] step-daughter, who was an idiot, and caused much trouble. The boy fired and missed the idiot, but struck another sister, inflicting a mortal wound.

There will be a fine display at the inauguration of Hon. E. A. Straw, Governor elect, which will include eighteen companies of the State militia and the Amoskeag Veterans of Manchester.

Hon. Richard H. Messer, of New London, a prominent and widely known business man, died at Concord, on the 16th, after a short illness, at the age of nearly sixty-five years.

A Danville man has laid a wager that he will wheel a set of shoes on a wheelbarrow from his place, ten miles distant, to 128 Merrimack Street, Haverhill, Mass., without once stopping or releasing his hold on the wheelbarrow.

The house of Mr. S. S. Severance in Franklin was burned a few days ago; loss, $1000.

The valuation of Dover is $4,889,426.-16. Total tax for 1872, $96,081.14.

A farm house belonging to Henry Howe and occupied by O. P. Kinne, one mile southwest of Lebanon, was burned on the 16th, the fire taking from a defective chimney. Loss on house and furniture probably seven or eight hundred dollars each. Both insured. The fire also burned a large piece of woods.

The annual convocation of the council of Masonic high priests took place at Concord on the 14th. The following officers were elected: M. E. John J. Bell of Exeter, president; E. Edward Gustine of Keene, vice-president; E. Thomas J. Sanford of Concord, chaplain; E. Daniel R. Marshall of Nashua, treasurer; E. Oliver C. Fisher of Henniker, secretary; E. John A. Harris of Concord, master of ceremonies; E. John R. Holbrook of Portsmouth, conductor; E. Edward Savage of Lancaster, herald; E. Luther U. Nichols of Concord, guard. Grand officers were duly installed by Past Grand Master Holbrook of Portsmouth.

The Rotation Question.

In the CHRONICLE of Wednesday, "Romford" leaves the main question entirely and confines his attack to "Right" and "Justice" alone. It is not at all surprising that he should endeavor to draw attention away from Mr. Rollins as much as possible.

LOOKER ON.

It seems almost as though some of the writers on the Senatorial question in this State were drifting rather far from the ground, and launching into personal disputes. That sort of thing is utterly useless, and does not aid either of the candidates proposed.

The Eagle club of Exeter have beaten the Independents of Newmarket, 31 to 12. A game between the Exeter Eagles and the Portsmouth Athletics at Exeter is proposed for next Saturday.

Women and Oysters.

BALTIMORE, May 12.

For any one to write from Baltimore and say nothing about "Baltimore Beauties" and "Baltimore Oysters," would be like acting the play of Hamlet, with Hamlet left out. Baltimore does like to brag of its pretty women, and not a true Baltimorean but what honestly believes that the handsomest women in the world belong there. What there is about them to make them so much prettier than the women in other places, is hard for a stranger to see, and one who ought to know says that they do paint, and use liberally the bloom of youth, every mother's daughter of them. And then, it must be their faces alone that makes them pretty, for they never think of showing their ankles, under any circumstances, even though there is every opportunity for them to do so, and which most any sensible women would do, rather than make the bottom of their dresses do service as mops in absorbing dirty water from the kitchens, which cross the sidewalks in very shallow gutters at every rod. But they don't daintily raise their skirts, when crossing, but instead give themselves a sort of a quick jerk, which has the effect of making the dress describe a hay circle, or something like that, and the passage is accomplished without as much as giving a chance for a peep to see whether No. ones, or sixes, are the sizes worn. "Baltimore Beauties" sounds very pretty, and that is why, perhaps, it has become so familiar to everybody who speaks or thinks of Baltimore, and who, when they come here, wish to see for themselves these fascinating creatures, and on being taken out on Charles and Baltimore Streets to feast their eyes on the divine forms and faces of the bewitching darlings, find that their imagination was a little beyond the reality, and after a few hours' walking come to the conclusion that they have seen beauties in other places as well as in Baltimore.

But for oysters—big oysters, Baltimore can and does beat the world; and the people can eat them too. They are very fond of oysters here, and they eat them raw, steamed, fried, roast in shell, stewed and broiled on toast; and for each and every way they charge more than they do in Boston. But then oysters are so much larger, and they don't like small ones here. They don't open them here as they do north. If you want a dozen raw here, you go to a counter, get up on a high stool, and a greasy darkey takes a very dirty basket, goes down stairs and brings it up half full of big oysters. He then lays one side of an oyster on a small piece of iron which stands up from the bench, gives it a whack with the handle of his knife, which is of iron, breaks the shell, and while you are picking the pieces from your clean shirt bosom, he has tossed his knife into the right position to separate the two shells, and lays one of them with the oyster in it, before you. In the large packing establishments, where hundreds of hands are employed, at certain seasons, in "shucking," as they call opening oysters here, the sound experienced is similar to the caulking of a ship, and it is well worth a visit to see long rows of darkeys engaged in this occupation, each one striving to shuck the most, and often all hands joining in singing some familiar melody. The oyster business of Baltimore is immense and employs a large fleet of vessels and gives employment to thousands of persons.

Baltimore has one of the finest public parks in the country, and at this season it is really magnificent with its noble trees covered with their spring foliage. No one ought to visit Baltimore without taking a drive to and through Druid Hill Park.

B.

—Two New York sparrows were sacrificed by a New Jersey landlord who had heard that they would kill mosquitoes. He turned the poor birds loose in his house and next morning only a few feathers and bones remained of them, while the mosquitoes sang a cheery song of triumph.

—At a spiritual seance the other night the ghostly visitor was asked what was the most popular amusement in the spirit land. "Reading obituary notices," was the answer.

—Herr Bulow, the pianist, is to perform here in the autumn. All music critics are warned against saying, "man wants but little Herr Bulow, nor wants that little long," the joke being strictly the property of the New York World.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

A CORRESPONDENT, writing from Athens, curiously contrasts the mixtures to be found there of ancient and modern civilizations. Railroads spin their trains amid the temples of three thousand years; steamers dash their swells upon the Piræus, and the scream of their whistles resounds from Athos, Pentelicus and Cytheron to Olympus and the heavens beyond their gods. Dr. Ayer's world-renowned medicines, these consummations of modern science, are posted on the Acropolis, the Parthenon, the Areopagus and the Theseion, while the modest cards of Cherry Pectoral, Ayer's Sarsaparilla, Ague Cure and Pills, look from the windows of the shops in the streets of Athens, where they are sold.—N. Y. Sunday Globe.

PILES.—The unceasing torture from internal bleeding, external and itching piles is fast wasting away the thousands of those who are afflicted and their hope and courage have long since given place to despair. Let those who see this cheer up, for a mild and sure cure may be had by using BRIGGS' PILE REMEDIES.

TRUTH AND POETRY.—Milton puts into the mouth of Lucifer, in "Paradise Lost," these memorable words:—

"TO BE WEAK IS MISERABLE."

Never was a truer sentence written than this—supposed to be wrung from the Archfiend in his impotence and agony. Every victim of nervous debility, or of that depressing languor which is one of the accompaniments of dyspepsia and biliousness, can testify to the misery of mind and body which they involve. The motive power of the system is partially paralyzed; the mind is haunted by anxiety and fear; and the sufferer is as incapable of applying himself energetically to any kind of business as if he were under the benumbing influence of catalepsy. This terrible mental and physical condition need not, however, be endured for forty-eight hours by any human being. PLANTATION BITTERS is an absolute specific for all the torments which a deranged stomach, a disordered liver, and shattered nerves, superinduce.

SUCCESS BASED UPON MERIT.—It is a subject of general remark, among both wholesale and retail druggists, that no medicine introduced to the American public has ever gained such a popularity and met with so large a sale in all parts of the land, in the same length of time, as has Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. This cannot depend upon its having been more largely advertised than any other medicine, as such is not the case. The correct explanation, we think, is found in the fact that this medicine produces the most wonderful and perfect cures of very bad cases of bronchial, throat and lung diseases, is undoubtedly the most perfect and efficient remedy for all kinds of Coughs, that has ever been introduced to the public, and at the same time possesses the greatest of blood purifying and strengthening properties that medical science has been able to produce, thus rendering it a sovereign remedy, not only in the cure of Consumption, Bronchitis, Hoarseness and Coughs, but also for all diseases of the liver and blood, as scrofulous diseases, skin diseases, blotches, rough skin, pimples, black specks and discolorations. It has therefore a wide range of application and usefulness, and it not only gives the most perfect satisfaction to all who use it, but far exceeds the expectations of the most sanguine, thus eliciting the loudest praise and making permanent living advertising mediums of all who use it. For these reasons it is that there is not perhaps a druggist in all the vast domain of this continent, who tries to please his customers and supply their wants, that does not keep and sell large quantities of this most valuable medicine. 590.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

How Not to Die.

Thousands fall a prey to disease, not because the maladies that affect them are necessarily fatal, but because they lack the requisite amount of active vitality to make a valiant resistance to the enemy. It is a wise precaution to keep the body always in a state of defence—always prepared to "fend off" the germs of epidemic and other disorders, and to baffle the evil influence of damp miasma and sudden thermometrical changes. There is no difficulty in doing this. It is a fact as well authenticated as that two and two make four, that HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS is specially adapted to this purpose, and for the simple reason that its invigorating and regulating properties are superior to those of any other medicine in the world. During the twenty years that it has been in general use, ample opportunities have been afforded to compare its medicinal properties with those of other preparations claiming to be of a similar class, and the result has been its adoption by the American people as the standard tonic of the age, its introduction into every civilized portion of the western hemisphere, and an annual sale which dwarfs into insignificance the demand for all its would-be competitors.

The record upon which its popularity rests is a curiosity in medical literature, for it includes an almost unlimited variety of human ailments and disabilities. In fact, no other remedy possesses such a variety of hygienic virtues, and it is to these characteristics that it owes its prestige as a household medicine.

CASTORIA—is a scientific vegetable preparation and a perfect substitute for and more effective than Castor Oil, and is pleasant to take. It cleanses the system in a most remarkable manner; does not distress or gripe, but operates when all other remedies have failed. It is certain to supersede Pills, Castor Oil, Narcotic Syrups, and all other purgative and exciting medicines. The Castoria contains neither Minerals, Morphine nor Alcohol. It cures Stomach Ache, Wind Colic, Constipation, Flatulency, Croup, and kills Worms. Make your Druggist send for it; he will always keep it, as every family must have it. It costs but fifty cents a bottle. J. B. Rose & Co., 53 Broadway, New York. m1 4w

CORNS.—Since pride and fashion have had control of mankind, and shoemakers were compelled to make boots and shoes to fit fancy instead of the feet, the suffering from Corns, Bunions, Ingrowing Nails, Sore Insteps, Blistered Heels, Callosities on the bottom of the feet, &c., cannot be described. But Briggs' Corn and Bunion Remedies will cure all such torments, and proper fitting boots will prevent their reproduction. Sold by all druggists. a12

HOLLOWAY'S PILLS AND OINTMENT.—Scrofula was considered incurable until the great discovery of "Holloway's Pills and Ointment" flashed upon the world. Scurvy, Erysipelas, Saltrheum, Itch, and all cutaneous eruptions are curable by them. 25 cents per box or pot.

NO. 76 STATE ST., OPPOSITE KILBY ST., BOSTON,

After an extensive practice of upwards of thirty years, continues to secure patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Researches made to determine the validity and utility of Patents of inventions, and legal and other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. All necessity of a journey to Washington to procure a Patent and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents."

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office. EDMUND BURKE, Late Commissioner of Patents."

"MR. R. H. EDDY has made for me over THIRTY applications for Patents, having been successful in almost every case. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend ALL inventors to apply to him to procure their Patents; for they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges. LOCAL AFFAIRS.

City Councils.

In Board of Aldermen, Thursday evening, a communication from Mr. Henry C. Walker was ordered to be placed on file. Ordered that the proceedings in the U. S. Circuit Court, relative to the decease of the late Mayor, be entered on the records of the Board.

The Committee on Claims, to whom was referred the County's bill for board of prisoners, reported the following resolution:—

Resolved, That the bill of the County of Rockingham for the board of John Penman and others in jail be allowed when the time and particulars of their imprisonment shall be stated and ascertained; and that his Honor the Mayor be requested to ascertain the amount justly due the city for fines and costs received by the County, and that he request the allowance of the same.

The report was accepted and the resolution was passed.

The petition of Marcellus Eldredge, for himself and H. Eldredge & Son, for permission to lay a side track from the Railroad across Cate Street to his premises, was received.

Voted, That the petitioners have leave to lay a side track in such place and in such manner as may be directed by the Committee on Streets.

Petition of School Committee for repairs on Hanover Street School House was referred to Committee on School Houses, with power to act.

Voted, That the Committee on Fire Department be authorized to take such steps as they think necessary relative to a tree overhanging Engine House No. 2.

Leave was granted to Canon Walsh to encumber Chatham and Summer Streets for building purposes.

The invitation of Storer Encampment to join in Memorial Services on the 30th of May, was accepted.

Voted, That the Committee on Streets be authorized to establish the line of Middle Street between Union Street and Wibird Street.

Voted, That the repairing of Liberty Bridge and the abutments be referred to the Committee on Streets, with power to act.

Voted, That the Committee on Streets be authorized to put a stench trap prepared by G. W. Pendexter on the sewer opening corner of Congress and Vaughan Streets.

The subject of buying stone chippings of Mr. Treat at $1 per load was referred to Committee on Streets, with power to act.

Voted, That Alderman T. E. O. Marvin be Chairman of this Board until otherwise ordered, with all the power conferred by statute upon the Chairman, the office of Mayor having become vacant.

The Committee on Fire Department, who were directed to consider the expediency of building a reservoir near the Haven School House, reported recommending that a reservoir be constructed in that locality.

Voted, That the same Committee be authorized to prepare plan and estimates for the reservoir.

In Common Council, a communication from Mr. Henry C. Walker was accepted.

Notice was sent down by the Board of Aldermen that they adhered to their amendment to a joint resolution authorizing the construction of a reservoir near Union Street and asked a Committee of Conference. Councilmen Palfrey and Emery were appointed a Committee on the part of the Council.

The Committee on Bills on Second Reading asked for and received further time in which to prepare their report on the appropriation bill.

Laconics.

The Portsmouth Jubilee chorus are now rehearsing four evenings per week—Sunday, Monday, Wednesday and Friday. They will attend the mass rehearsal at Exeter, next Saturday, the 25th.

Charles Smith was arraigned before Judge Page on Friday for purloining a pistol from the shop of Mr. John F. Shillaber, and was found guilty. Failing to obtain bail in $200 he was sent to jail to await the October term of court.

We are desired to state that on account of the non-completion of the Wibird Street extension, and the illness of the city lot-layer preventing the finishing of the plan of the lots, the sale of house lots at the West end by auction is postponed for a few days, and until further notice.

A few weeks ago we published an item stating that a dead body was sent to this city from the County Farm without proper clothing. Afterwards, some one sent a denial, which we published. Now, the mild-mannered conductor of the Exeter News Letter asks if it would not have been more generous and just to have chronicled the item as "a statement maliciously false." The publisher of the News Letter need not go out of his own latitude to find petty malice, as his reply quoted above shows. The dead person referred to was Mr. George Randall, and our informant was Mr. Daniel L. Randall, whom we would believe as readily as we would the publisher of the News Letter. Furthermore, to be "generous and just," we do not believe Mr. Randall's statement was "maliciously false."

Trailing arbutus may be grown in a hanging basket, if care be exercised in selecting only such plants as are full of buds, planting them in leaf mould, and afterwards keeping the basket in the shade and giving it plenty of water.

Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Martyn will be assisted at their concert on the 28th by Master Albert Von Realty, violinist, 12 years of age, Mr. Arthur T. Hills, tenor, and Mr. J. C. Warren, accompanist.

Thanks to Senator Cragin for public documents.

The Journal favors the re-election of Senator Patterson, and Willie-beat of the Lyre suggests Messrs. Thomas S. Nowell and Aaron H. Hill for Mayor.

At a special meeting of Dearborn S. F. E. Co., No. 1, Friday evening, it was unanimously voted to take part in the ceremonies of Memorial Day.

A GREAT INVENTION.—Mr. Robert Spear, of Boston, has perfected an invention which by means of compressed air furnishes the simplest and cheapest motive power known. This invention consists of the wonderful discovery that while in tubes of uniform size fluids in their passage gradually lose their force and velocity, by making at short intervals peculiar contractions in the pipes, the original power is transmitted without loss. It is claimed that it is an exception to the law of physics that there is no motion without friction. By using colored fluids in glass tubes provided with Mr. Spear's invention, it is demonstrated that the propelled current is kept in the centre of the tube, without any friction at the sides. If by a diaphragm pierced with holes at the sides this current is forced to divide and seek passage next the inner surface of the pipe, it at once resumes its course in the centre after the obstruction is passed. Mr. Spear has also discovered that while any angle or bend in an ordinary pipe obstructs a fluid flowing through, by enlarging the pipes at angles, the friction and loss of power is overcome.

Should Mr. Spear's anticipation be realized, the invention will yet bring cheap power to every workshop and every household, as gas and water are now brought. Automatic machinery worked by tidal forces can supply any city on the seacoast. A waterfall can furnish the whole region about it with a cheap power for mills and workshops. The United States patent office sent its ablest examiners to Boston to test it, who granted all its claims after the fullest investigations. No one can detect a particle of loss in this system of transmitting power, and we have the concurrent testimony of the most eminent men of the country to that effect. And yet so startling was the idea that the commissioners thought the inventor crazy when he first applied for a patent.

THE ONLY STORE on Washington Street, Boston, without a sign, is that of Jordan, Marsh & Co. They need none.

—In one of the suburban schools of Dover the committee man put out the word "psalter" to a class in spelling. It was a poser to all till it reached the foot of the class, when a curly-headed little fellow spelled it correctly, and being asked to define it, shouted out "more salt."

—A cow belonging to a Redding farmer in attempting to cross the Danbury and Norwalk road Monday, became demoralized to such an extent by a passing train, that when the smoke cleared away all that remained of her was a couple of sirloin steaks and a pound of glue.

—A sportsman in Richmond, Va., recently mistook the red turban of a colored lady which he saw moving about through the branches for a robin and lodged a charge of shot in it. The supposed robin promptly retaliated with a brick.

—A Lockport mule refused to be shod the other day; he was thrown upon his back and tied with a log chain, but when his four shoes were fairly on it was found that repressed obstinacy had killed the beast.

—The Waterbury American plumes itself upon its devil, who is treasurer of the Y. M. C. A. It is to be hoped that his financial and diabolical responsibilities do not conflict.

—Stokes is now designated as the man who was present when Col. Fisk fell down stairs and killed himself.

—You can buy out your rival in Montana for $20.

Little Potter.

A short, little, square-built, dark-skinned, twinkling eyed young fellow, was known the regiment over as "Little Potter." The name came from his trade before war times and from the fact that he was always talking shop, and examining clays with all the enthusiasm of a geologist. He had the faculty of becoming interested in anything that any other man was doing. Standing near the picket-fire, though uncomfortable himself, he could always suggest a way in which to make the coffee boil, and would gather up little splinters and pile under or about the kettle with the keenest enjoyment, although the coffee belonged to the most taciturn man in the company. He showed this kindly interest in every man's affairs and of course was universally liked.

At Shiloh, in the midst of the second day's battle, Little Potter left the company to get water for himself and several of his companions. A quick change of position, a new line of battle formation, took place after his departure, and Little Potter no was seen more for several days. After the rebels retreated, he was acting as nurse at the brigade hospital. He couldn't find the regiment on his return but found the hospital, and the division surgeon ordered him on duty, and discovering his excellence as a nurse, would not let him return to the company.

There was a quarrel between the captain and the surgeon, the former seeing Little Potter as a skulker, and the latter seeing him as a useful man who had made a mistake through no fault of his own. The captain reported Potter absent without leave, and he was court-martialed. The sentence was that he should forfeit six months' pay. The men of the company were very indignant, but Potter said nothing.

The stoppage of six months' pay told sorely on him, but he weathered the storm, and came out as serene as though he had never been court-martialed. Much clothing was lost at Shiloh, and a list was made out of of the clothing lost in battle. The sergeant would ask: "Well, Blame, what did you lose at Shiloh?" Answer — "An overcoat and knapsack." "What did you lose at Shiloh, Potter?" With indescribable drollery, Potter said with a sort of lisp, that was characteristic: "I lotht thirty-eight dollars!"

This was the only reference he made to the court-martial and the six months' pay until the morning the terrible December 31, at Stone River. In the hurry of the company formation for battle, Little Potter was the first man in place, after the orderly, and though the shortest man in the company, he held his place there in the face of the rule to the contrary. There was a sweeping charge. That company left their dead further to the front than any other regiment in action that day. They were cruelly crushed, relentlessly driven.

Little Potter was a giant in doing. He kept his place next the orderly when the company was broken and scattered. With a precision that would under other circumstances have been droll, he formed on the orderly whenever a charge was made, while it was every man for himself. As he was ramming home a load, a ball struck him in the fleshy part of the leg, cutting a great gash and tearing his clothes. He was advised to go to the rear. The reply was: "I will show them who is a coward." A shot struck him in the shoulder and he became deadly pale. Still with teeth and right hand he managed to load his gun and fire. Another shot struck him in the thigh, and he fell. He was dragged to a stump and placed so that the raking fire should not touch him. He deliberately crawled round and placed himself so as to face the rebels, and as the company gave back in one of those hand-to-hand fights, Little Potter kissed his hand to the men nearest him, and nestled down with a sigh of relief.

Days afterward the sergeant found a pair of black eyes glistening from festoons of white sheets, in a hospital at Murfreesboro.

They belonged to Little Potter, broken-legged, broken-armed and bandaged. He could not move and could hardly speak. But as the tearful men bent over him, he lisped: "We wakthd them, didn't we?" The rebels found him braced against the stump punching at them with his gun held in one hand, as they ran by. He was taken to the hospital and here, day after day, went his old comrades to see him.

They did more, they wrote to Gen. Rosecrans, telling the simple story. They carried the letter along the red-tape line, from Brigade head-quarters to division, from division to corps, from corps to army headquarters, and returned with an order from Rosecrans himself, directing that the six months' pay be returned to Little Potter, that all charges on record be erased, and that an order complimenting his gallantry be read on dress parade, and that a copy be sent to the man who behaved so nobly.

The order was read on dress parade, and the document, with all its array of indorsements and old Rosey's letter were carried to Little Potter, by men who could scarcely speak. He seemed like one transfigured, as one of his old time friends read and re-read the order and letter. He had it held down to his eyes so he could see the red lines and official signatures. Then came his first tears. "Now, boys, I don't care to get well. Its all wiped out, sin't it? I was determined to get well, to wipe it out you know. But now torn up as I am, it is better to die."

And next morning, with the order and old Rosey's letter on his breast, Little Potter died. And still we can hear the grizzly old surgeon's words as he came to the cot, "Dead! Why,—God ess the boy."

AYER'S

CHERRY PECTORAL

For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma and Consumption.

The few compositions, which have won the confidence of mankind and become household words among not only one but many nations, must have extraordinary virtues. Perhaps no one ever secured so wide a reputation or maintained it so long as AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL. It has been known to the public about forty years, by a long continued series of marvellous cures, which have won for it a confidence in its virtues, never equalled by any other medicines. It still makes the most effectual cures of Coughs, Colds, Consumption, that can be made by medical skill. Indeed the CHERRY PECTORAL has really robbed these dangerous diseases of their terrors, to a great extent, and given a feeling of immunity from their fatal effects, which is well founded, if the remedy be taken in season. Every family should have it in their closet for the speedy and prompt relief of its members. Sickness, suffering, and even life is saved by this timely protection. The prudent should not neglect it, and the wise will not. Keep it by you for the protection it affords in sudden attacks, and by its timely use.

[OFFICIAL]

STATE OF NEW HAMPSHIRE.

House of Representatives, July 6, 1871.

Ordered, That the following bill entitled "An Act in amendment of an act incorporating the Winnepiseogee Lake Cotton and Woolen Manufacturing Company, and an act in amendment thereof" be published once in all newspapers in this State, authorized to publish the laws.

Attest JAMES R. JACKSON, Clerk.

STATE OF NEW HAMPSHIRE.

In the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and seventy-one.

AN ACT in amendment of the act incorporating the Winnepiseogee Lake Cotton and Woolen Manufacturing Company, and an act in amendment thereof.

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives, in General Court convened:

SEC. 1. Said corporation shall within ninety days from the passage of this act, file in the office of the Secretary of State an accurate survey of each and every reservoir, whether natural or artificial, that said corporation possesses or owns in this State, together with an accurate statement of the number of cubic feet of available water for manufacturing purposes each of said reservoirs can contain.

SEC. 2. Said corporation shall annually on the first day of May determine the number of cubic feet of water in each of its said reservoirs, that is then, or that may be made available for manufacturing purposes during the ensuing year, and shall annually on or before the tenth day of May file a correct statement thereof in the office of the Secretary of State, verified by the oath of the clerk of said corporation.

SEC. 3. Said corporation shall annually on the first day of May guage its gates at each and every one of its said reservoirs so that one three hundred and sixty-fifth part and no more, of said available water ascertained to exist in, the manner before provided in this act, shall escape through said gates every twenty-four hours in a constant and even flow thereof; provided that said corporation may during the months of July and August allow to escape through its said gates as much more than one three hundred and sixty-fifth of said available water as may be done and always keep in each of said reservoirs the quantity of available water ascertained to be therein on said first day of May, diminished only by said daily escape of one three hundred and sixty-fifth part thereof; and provided further that if at any time there exists such an excess of water as to endanger property, said corporation shall raise its said gates and keep them raised till said danger is passed, when they shall be again guaged as is before provided in this act.

SEC. 4. If said corporation shall fail to comply with the provisions of sections one, two and three of this act, the Chief Justice of the Supreme Judicial Court shall on the application of any person in writing aggrieved thereby appoint a competent and disinterested person who shall at once notify the parties to said application and said corporation and proceed to do what is required by said sections, that said corporation has not done, as nearly as the time and the circumstances will allow him to do, and shall make a report of his doings in regard thereto, and file the same in the office of the Secretary of State, which being done, his findings and doings as stated in said report shall be binding and conclusive between the parties till the first day of the then next May.

SEC. 5. Said corporation shall pay said appointee a reasonable sum for the services aforesaid, and if said corporation shall neglect or refuse to pay the same on demand, said appointee may sue for and recover the same of said corporation in action of assumpsit for work and labor done.

SEC. 6. All acts and parts of acts inconsistent with the provisions of this act are hereby repealed.

SEC. 7. This act shall take effect upon its passage.

The News.

Steamer Edgar Stewart, supposed to be a Cuban blockade runner, was in the harbor of Kingston, Jamaica, May 17, with an officer and crew from the U. S. S. Wyoming on board. She is to be sent to Key West. The Wyoming and the Spanish man-of-war Borgia were watching her and each other, and both had steam up ready to accompany her to sea. There was much excitement among the people of Kingston over the possibility of a collision.

Further particulars are received of the fierce fires in the woods along the line of the Delaware, Lackawanna & Western Railroad. The fires extend a distance of thirty-five miles, and threaten the destruction of all the lumber in those regions. Passing by them the engineers on the road cannot see more than ten feet ahead and have to drive slowly and cautiously. Passengers are almost suffocated by the smoke and suffer greatly from the heat. The town of Tobyhanna (Penn.) has been entirely surrounded by fire since May 14, and five hundred men are working heroically to save it from complete destruction, but the prospect is that they cannot succeed. Up to noon, Friday, fourteen houses had been destroyed. On the outskirts of the village and southward everything is being consumed. At Carbondale, on the Delaware & Hudson Railroad, the woods are all ablaze and the town is in extreme peril. The last accounts say Tobyhanna is destroyed.

The strikes in New York are increasing. Rioting has begun and more disturbances are expected. A mob of Irish strikers attacked a number of German laborers on the works of the Metropolitan Gas Company, Friday morning, when an exciting fight ensued, during which the Irish were driven off by the Germans. The police are now guarding the workmen from further interference.

A despatch from Yokohama, Japan, says by imperial decree the Mikado of Japan has abolished the edicts directed against Christianity, which have been in force over three centuries. This measure has been delayed by frequent embarrassments which the government encountered from the persistent interference of certain foreign missionaries, who systematically baptized criminals convicted of infamous crimes, and attempted to avert a just punishment by raising cries of Christian persecution and invoking foreign interference." It is hoped that nothing of the sort will occur again.

The late eruption of Vesuvius destroyed one hundred and fifty human lives.

A Cuban letter states that 200 Spaniards surprised a camp of 25 women, 6 children and 12 old men in the woods between Guantanomo and Anozso, and murdered all of them. The Spaniards were subsequently pursued by the Cuban revolutionists and many of them killed.

Campaign Notes.

The New Haven Palladium says: "Journals outside the State, in commenting upon the senatorial election, will save themselves a great deal of trouble by taking notice of one fact. Every Republican who voted for Mr. Ferry expects to vote in November for the candidates of the Philadelphia convention."

The New York Sun—good "liberal" authority—gives the following advice to the copperhead leaders; and we commend it to the consideration of any Republicans—if there are any such—in this section, who propose to swallow Greeley: "Let all Democratic statesmen join in supporting Horace Greeley, President for a single term, in 1872, and they will have a free field in 1876."

The Texas Republican State convention has selected delegates to Philadelphia, who are instructed to vote for General Grant for President and for Governor Davis of that State for Vice-President.

Of 26 States which have elected delegates to the Philadelphia convention, 23 have instructed them to vote for Grant. All the twaddle about "throwing Grant overboard" hasn't amounted to much; the politicians are too quick to discern the people's inclinations to think of any such foolish performance. Grant's cigar will burn a big hole in that old white hat, if its custodians don't take it out of his way.

State News.

Gilbert M. Houston, the first man in Plymouth to enlist during the late war, was buried there Friday with Masonic honors. He enlisted as a private, and was promoted to Quartermaster of the Sixth N. H. Volunteers. He entered the regiment at its organization, and continued with it till the close of the war.

In Warner, the dwelling-house of Chas. A. Annis and its contents were burned Friday morning. Loss about $1200; insured in the New Hampshire Insurance Company for $700.

Dea. Wm. Brown, agent of the N. H. Bible Society, in ten days visited 1330 families in Keene, and found 11 American families destitute of the Bible; sold $60 worth of Bibles and Testaments, and collected $173.07 for the cause.

The dry-house belonging to Appleyard & Hodgkins' hosiery mills, at Lake Village, was destroyed by fire Thursday. Loss $5,000.

Jonathan W. Russell of Sunapee has been held to bail, charged with outraging his daughter, aged 13 years.

John E. Osgood, of Suncook, went to Concord and got drunk, and then drew a pistol on a hackman named Wm. H. Bartlett. Bartlett thrashed him, took the pistol away and had Osgood arrested.

THE JUBILEE.—The doubt of the ability to complete the Coliseum in season for the World's Peace Jubilee had no foundation at first; it was simply "croaking." Already the building is more advanced than its most earnest friends dared to expect, and it will be ready ahead of time. The Boston press gave this information a few days since:

The opening of the great Festival is fixed for Monday, June 17; and although Bostonians, who have an opportunity to see with their own eyes what rapid progress is being made in the construction of the mammoth building, are beginning to regard the completion of the word within the stipulated time as a matter of certainty, there is a distrust in some quarters, especially since the downfall of a portion of the first structure, as to the ability of of the builders to perform their task. The following from His Honor Mayor Gaston, should set all such doubt at rest:

EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT, CITY HALL,
BOSTON, May 14, 1872.

As inquiries are frequently made at this office in regard to the completion of the building in which the International Musical Festival is to be held in this city in season for the opening on the seventeenth of June next, I desire to state that there is no doubt, whatever, that a substantial structure will be completed and ready for occupation before that date.

WILLIAM GASTON, Mayor.

BEECHER ON GREELEY.—Henry Ward Beecher gives no uncertain sound either from the pulpit or the editorial sanctom. He knows where he stands in politics as well as in religion, and is willing others should know it as well. In a late number of the Christian Union he says:

The defection of Mr. Greeley, and his nomination by the Cincinnati convention, has brought surprise and uncertainty, for the moment, upon the public mind; but it ought not for an instant to throw doubt upon the path of duty. The Philadelphia convention is now bound, even if it were not its duty before, to raise up the old republican banner under which have been gained such illustrious victories, and to print upon it the name of General Grant! It is not now a question whether General Grant has been little too firm or too lax, too fast or too slow. By the conduct of those who have abandoned the republican party, he has been placed in a position where order, public safety, and honor require his re-election. We believe the public peace, order and safety require the continued ascendancy of the republican party, and that no other man can bow so well lead the party as General Grant.

If the democratic party, in view of its past history and testimony, shall now indorse Mr. Greeley, their lifelong antagonist, it will not be by conversion nor by honorable surrender, but by an act of political immorality as shameful as ever was recorded! Mr. Greeley is in bad company. He is in a false position. He is abandoning his old friends and taking counsel with his enemies. He is on the wrong path. Possibly, but not probably, at the end of this new road to which his feet have been so honorably unaccustomed, he may find the Presidential chair. But it will be a dreary one. He may gain in eminence and lose in honor. It will be an illustrious career effulgently disgraced. We believe Mr. Greeley is under a Providence that has better things in store for him than honors gained at the hands of men who only use him to destroy his life-long friends. In such a day as this there should be no faint hearts at Philadelphia! Let a declaration of principles be framed worthy of the city from which was issued the old Declaration of Independence. Give to General Grant an enthusiastic renomination. Then, by every honorable means let republicans strive for victory over open enemies and insidious friends!

BUSINESS NOTICES.

A CORRESPONDENT, writing from Athens, curiously contrasts the mixtures to be found there of ancient and modern civilizations. Railroads spin their trains amid the temples of three thousand years; steamers dash their swells upon the Pireus, and the scream of their whistles resounds from Athos, Pentelicus and Cytheron to Olympus and the heavens beyond their gods. Dr. Ayer's world-renowned medicines, those consummates of modern science, are posted on the Acropolis, the Parthenon, the Areopagus and the Thesion, while the modest cards of Cherry Pectoral, Ayer's Sarsaparilla, Ague Cure and Pills, look from the windows of the shops in the streets of Athens, where they are sold.—N. Y. Sunday Globe.

PILES.—The unceasing torture from internal bleeding, external and itching piles is fast wearing away the thousands of those who are afflicted and their hope and courage have long since given place to despair. Let those who see this cheer up, for a mild and sure cure may be had by using BRIGGS' PILE REMEDIES.

CASTORIA—is a scientific vegetable preparation; a perfect substitute for and more effective than Castor Oil, and is pleasant to take. It cleanses the system in a most remarkable manner; does not distress or gripe, but operates as well as all other remedies have failed. It is certain to supersede Pills, Castor Oil, Narcotic Syrups, and all other purgative and exciting medicines. The Castoria contains neither Minerals, Morphine nor Alcohol. By its emolient, soothing effect, it assimilates the food and produces natural sleep particularly adapting it to crying and teething children. It cures Stomach Ache, Wind Colic, Constipation, Flatulency, Croup, and kills Worms. Make your Druggist send for it; he will always keep it, as every family must have it. It costs but fifty cents a bottle. J. B. Rose & Co., 53 Broadway, New York. m1 4w

HOLLOWAY'S PILLS AND OINTMENT.—Scrofula was considered incurable until the great discovery of "Holloway's Pills and Ointment" flashed upon the world. Diseases which baffle the skill of the medical schools, readily yield to these peerless remedies. Scurvy, Erysipelas, Saltrheum, Itch, and all cutaneous eruptions are curable by them. 25 cents per box or pot.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

How Not to Die.

Thousands fall a prey to disease, not because the maladies that affect them are necessarily fatal, but because they lack the requisite amount of active vitality to make a valiant resistance to the enemy. It is a wise precaution to keep the body always in a state of defence—always prepared to "fend off" the germs of epidemic and other disorders, and to baffle the evil influence of damp miasma and sudden thermometrical changes. There is no difficulty in doing this. It is a fact as well authenticated as that two and two make four, that HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS is specially adapted to this purpose, and for the simple reason that its invigorating and regulating properties are superior to those of any other medicine in the world. During the twenty years that it has been in general use, ample opportunities have been afforded to compare its medicinal properties with those of other preparations claiming to be of a similar class, and the result has been its adoption by the American people as the standard tonic of the age, its introduction into every civilized portion of the western hemisphere, and an annual sale which dwarfs into insignificance the demand for all its world-be competitors.

The record upon which its popularity rests is a curiosity in medical literature, for it includes an almost unlimited variety of human ailments and disabilities. In fact, no other remedy possesses such a variety of hygeinic virtues, and it is to these characteristics that it owes its prestige as a household medicine.

WORLD'S PEACE JUBILEE

AND

INTERNATIONAL Musical Festival,

AT BOSTON.

PRELIMINARY ANNOUNCEMENT.

The Executive Committee of the World's Peace Jubilee and International Musical Festival respectfully announce that the great undertaking to which the music-loving people of the country have been looking forward for many months, with such deep interest, will commence in Boston

On the Seventeenth Day of June,

And close on the Fourth of July Next.

It is hardly necessary to state that the preparations for this great event have required the constant application for months of the thousands who are to participate in it and have involved an enormous expenditure; but the committee feel confident that the time, labor and expense devoted to the successful development of so noble an enterprise must result in not only affording the highest gratification to all who may hear the glorious music to be produced upon a scale of grandeur never before attempted, and witness the magnificent spectacle which such an assemblage must present, but that it will also confer a lasting benefit upon art, the country, and the age.

While the programme of the first week of the Festival will embrace all the great features to be presented—including the CHORUS OF the most powerful organ ever built, together with many of most eminent American and European bands and artists, (among whom may be mentioned the great maestro, of fifty-six performers,) the concerts to be given from first to last will surpass any series of musical entertainments ever presented to the American public.

TWENTY THOUSAND VOICES,

THE

Orchestra of Two Thousand Performers,

SEASON TICKET, transferable, admitting to all the Concerts from June 17th to July 4th, inclusive, FIFTY DOLLARS EACH, incuding reserved seats, now ready; and Tickets for single admission to each entertainment, during the first week, FIVE DOLLARS, with reserved seats, will be ready for sale on and after June 1st, and may be had upon application, personally or by letter, to A. P. PECK, Music Hall, Boston.

SEWING MACHINE

The Success of the Company is far beyond that of any other similar concern; the

400 OF THE SINGERS

Failing to Supply the Constant Demand.

All other machines call the public attention to some new loop or stitch or tension or finish, some advantage in running or needles or feed or price—and many of these are as we have said very good points, and the agents selling them use them to divert entirely the world-be purchaser from fairly considering the facts in the case; but the

seems to unite the good qualities of all, and is never found wanting.

IN THE MARKET,

All others being copied from its first model. It does two-thirds the sewing done in this country and presents its advantages over all others combined.

It is readily kept clean, and has THE BEST TENSION EVER INVENTED; it is higher speeded and requires but little power to run; it works equally well upon the finest and heaviest goods; it does all the varieties of work known to the art.

A Nuisance.

Messrs. Editors:—Will you be so kind as to reprint the law of New Hampshire which follows? It is strange to see how the law is violated by those who are generally known as good and law-abiding citizens. One or two prosecutions under this statute would remind them at least of its existence, and rid the city of a nuisance. It is to be wished that such offenders could be convinced of the bad policy as well as the illegality of their proceedings; they probably lose more customers than they gain, by a practice so offensive to persons of taste and sense as this defacement of our public walks and drives. "I would not buy room papers at that store if my rooms were never papered!" was the indignant remark of a lady in passing by one of these advertisements, and her sentiment finds a response in many minds beside that of a PEDESTRIAN.

N. H. General Statutes, }
Chap. CCLXIII, Sect. 6. }

If any person shall paint the names of any wares or occupation on fences or other private property, or on any rock or natural object, without the leave of the owner, he shall be fined ten dollars, one half to the use of the prosecutor.

More "Outrage."

The local Democratic organ says: "A Kittery man by the name of Pinkham has been thrust into the place of foreman of riggers on the navy yard. To give him the position, the politicians caused Capt. J. C. Muchmore to be rated down. Mr. Muchmore was some time since appointed to the vacancy made by the removal of Mr. A. K. P. Deering. This game of football by the politicians of Maine and New Hampshire is very annoying to the officers of the yard, but they are helpless. They are compelled to obey the behests of the political fuglers." Why don't the copperhead growler get "Congressman Hibbard" to "take the matter in charge" and "send a note officially to the Secretary of the Navy?" He should do so, certainly, when "the politicians caused Capt. J. C. Muchmore to be rated down" that Mr. Pinkham might have his position, seeing that Muchmore—a copperhead of the most malignant stripe—has not been employed on the Yard for several years, and that Mr. Deering superceded him. Willie's official (officious, rather,) announcement that removals and appointments at "the behests of political fuglers" are "very annoying to the officers of the yard," also seems a little out of place in this connection, as no politician had a word to say in the matter and "the officers of the yard" acted precisely as they thought best; but the whole story as told by Willie exhibits his willingness and ability to give all the "facts" concerning any subject on which he is totally ignorant, in a very favorable light.

Laconics.

Jack Frost paid this vicinity a visit on Thursday and Friday nights, but the farmers treat him with derision, as there is out little for him to injure save rocks and ploughed fields. The seasons have got disarranged, and the present month is either last April or next November.

A boy named Charles Waterman broke his arm on Friday evening, while swinging on the derrick at the Eastern Railroad bridge over the Creek road.

The Pepperell Hotel at Kittery Point, (advertised in another column,) kept by Mr. E. T. Safford, is well worth a visit from those who desire to secure a pleasant country residence for the summer without going too far into the country for it. The quaint old town is as quiet and orderly as it is picturesque and beautiful, and its proximity to the sea insures exemption from excessive heat during the hottest weather. The hotel and furniture are new, and there are ample facilities for boating, bathing and fishing close at hand.

Terhune & Berry have opened a large bankrupt stock of hats, caps and gentlemen's furnishing goods which they fortunately secured in Boston last week. They are enabled to offer their patrons the best, most stylish and latest models out, at prices defying competition. The young gentlemen comprising the firm have built up a large trade in a few months.

The city authorities of Dover have instructed the City Marshal to strictly enforce the statute laws and city ordinances against liquor selling, and the dealers shut down on the sale Saturday morning. Mr. Joshua L. Foster, editor of the Dover Democrat, having apparently undergone a change of heart concerning the liquor traffic since he left the management of the Democratic sheet in this city, is now one of the most determined advocates of the rigid execution of the anti-liquor laws that we know of. The Dover Democrat takes advanced ground on this question, and we shouldn't wonder to find it going in strong for that life-long abolitionist, Horace Greeley, before a great while, though we cannot detect many symptoms of the Greeley fever as yet.

The police were sent for, late Sunday afternoon, to arrest one Ellen Harrington, who was drunk and annoying her neighbors on Atkinson Street. On reaching the place the officers found the woman in bed in a second-story chamber, dead drunk, another woman, Mrs. Cahill, only less drunk than Harrington, being in the room with her. Requesting Mrs. Cahill to dress her drunken companion, the police stepped outside the door, and Mrs. Cahill took advantage of their absence to leave the room by way of the window, which is a long way from the ground. Both women were taken to the lockup, where it was found that Mrs. Cahill's wrist was broken, and it is supposed she is seriously if not fatally injured.

Schooner Elizabeth Segar, Capt. Grogan, owned by Messrs. Rider, Odion, Dixon and others of this city, was wrecked near Stamford, Conn., Friday night. All hands were saved. The vessel was coal laden, and valued at about $6,000.

Small boxes of strawberries, the fruit being even smaller than the boxes, have appeared in this market. The prices asked are larger than the berries,—60 to 75 cents per box.

A game of base ball between two picked nines came off at the Plains on Saturday, one nine selecting a swift pitcher and the other nine a slow one. The swifts won by a score of 30 to 26.

Mr. Frederick Hein, in a card in our advertising columns, denies the correctness of a statement published by the local Democratic paper last week, regarding the cruel over-driving of a horse by him.

The much needed rain—some of it—came on Sunday, brightening the grass and laying the dust, which latter has been unusually abundant and lively in our streets for a week past.

LOSS OF A CUNARD LINER.—The Cunard steamship Tripoli, Captain Barr, which left Liverpool for Boston, May 15, has been totally lost, with her cargo, on the Tuskar rocks off the coast of Ireland. The passengers were saved. The Tripoli was a first-class iron steamship of 2058 tons, built in 1865 at Glasgow, and has run to Boston since early in 1868, previous to which she sailed in the Mediterranean service of the company. The Cunard Company has been peculiarly fortunate, and this is said to be the second steamship it has ever lost. The line was established in 1840, the first steamer, the Britannia, arriving in Boston harbor on July 18 of that year. During the thirty-two years its steamers have been running not a passenger has been lost. So great is the confidence reposed in this line that many shippers never insure their goods, and the rates of insurance are considerably lower than by other lines. This long immunity from disaster is by no means due to "luck" but to the unsparing use of money in securing the best possible ships and keeping them in perfect condition, and to the employment of only the most trusty and experienced captains and officers and first-class seamen.

RAISE THE CALVES.—As might have been expected, selectmen and assessors in taking the annual inventory have found a great falling off in live stock. Farmers were obliged to reduce their stock last fall so as to have it correspond with their short crop of hay, and to-day there are many thousand cattle less in the State than at the corresponding periods of one and two years ago. By-and-by this depreciation in numbers will be likely to rule considerably higher, especially if the coming hay crop shall be a fair one.

Under these circumstances there can hardly be a doubt but that it will pay to raise calves this year. It will pay to raise them to keep, and we think it will pay to raise them to sell next fall. Concord People.

POULTRY REMEDY. — The chicken cholera has proved very fatal in many sections, and a great variety of remedies have been recommended. But as in the case of Asiatic cholera with the human family, what appears to cure in one case fails in another. One teaspoonful of pulverized alum to a quart of meal, fed twice a day; an ounce of bi-sulphate of soda in a gallon of water; a piece of assafœtida of the size of a large pea put into a pint of water in a bottle and soaked over night, then crushed in the morning, well shaken and mixed with the food of a large flock, are among the remedies that have proved in some cases beneficial. We judge from the reports we have seen that alum has proved more generally beneficial than any other remedy.—N. E. Farmer.

CLOVER SEED. — We believe, says the Rural New Yorker, that a crop of clover seed taken from the land exhausts the soil more than the crop, which is cut for hay. Any seed crop, it is well known, is more exhaustive than a mere fodder crop. One strong reason for cutting timothy for hay early, is to remove it from the soil before it has abstracted those elements which form the seed. It impoverishes the soil much less than if cut later. The first growth of clover is not generally disposed to seed much; hence it is not so exhaustive as other grasses if cut late. But the second crop, which bears the seed, is injurious to the land—at least the taking it away is. Unless remuneration is paid to the soil, it will pay better to let the second growth of clover rot on the land, or feed it off.

STARTING CUTTINGS.—Now is a good time to start slips, or cuttings from house plants. Those who have hot-beds, can place the cuttings in, close together, no matter how close, just leaving room enough between to take them up without breaking the roots, keep them moist, and be sure to shade them during the hottest part of the day, as the hot sun would scald them. They will root in a short time, and can then be removed and placed in pots for the next winter's window garden. Outdoor roses can be rooted in the same manner; cut rose slips with three buds; at the lower end, cut a quarter of an inch from the bud, on the top, one inch. Place in the dirt about an inch over the bud. The treatment is the same as for other cuttings. Speaking of roses, all dead and decayed wood should be cut from them immediately; they will bear pretty severe pruning.

ANOTHER FEARNAUGHT.—We learn from our correspondent at Portsmouth, N. H., that Old Jenny, the bay mother of Fearnaught, brought another stallion colt to young Morrill, on Sunday, 5th inst., at the Stratham Hill Stock Farm, ten miles from Portsmouth. The mare and colt are doing well, and Messrs. Brown the owners, and the originators of the Fearnaught stock, regard the youngster as very promising. He is dark brown or black in color. Besides this full brother to Fearnaught, Messrs. Brown have also two others, full brothers, one called Fearnaught Second, black, coming 4 years old, and a bay of two years, called Fearnaught Third. Whether the new one will be numbered the Fourth, we are not yet advised. The old dam of all is twenty-four years old, but her eye is nothing dimmed, nor is her strength or speed much abated. She is, indeed, a fine animal, of great intelligence and docility, but still very spirited and impatient of the whip.—Turf, Field and Farm.

—The Chicago Post touches up the salient features of the Cincinnati platform, in the following travesty:

Whereas, All public evils must be cured by legislation; and

Whereas, Legislation is the business of the people and not the work of the President; and,

Whereas, We differ so radically concerning the means of cure that we are unable to agree on any prescription; therefore,

Resolved, That all questions be referred to the Congressional districts.

In this case, the watchword of the contest would have been, as it now is, the simple and impressive legend "We want office."

Is a Powerful Tonic, specially adapted for use in Spring, when the LANGUID and DEBILITATED system needs strength and vitality; it will give vigor to the feeble, strength to the weak, animation to the dejected, activity to the sluggish, joy to the weary, quiet to the nervous, and health to the infirm.

It is a South American plant, which, according to the medical and scientific periodicals of London and Paris, possesses the MOST POWERFUL tonic properties known to Materia Medica, and is well known in its native country as having wonderful curative qualities, and has been long used as a SPECIFIC in all cases of Impurities of the Blood, Derangement of the Liver and Spleen, Tumors, Dropsy, Poverty of the Blood, Debility, Weakness of the Intestines, Uterine or Urinary Organs.

DR. WELLS' EXTRACT OF JURUBEBA

Is strengthening and nourishing. Like nutritious food taken into the stomach, it assimilates and diffuses itself through the circulation, giving vigor and health.

It regulates the bowels, quiets the nerves, acts directly on the secretive organs, and by its powerful TONIC and restoring effects, produces healthy and vigorous action to the whole system.

AYER'S HAIR VIGOR

FOR RESTORING GRAY HAIR

TO ITS NATURAL VITALITY AND COLOR.

Advancing years, sickness, care, disappointment, and hereditary predisposition, all turn the hair gray; either of them disposes to fall off prematurely, and either effect is unsightly and unpleasant to behold. DR. AYER'S consummate skill has produced an antidote for these deformities, which has won gratitude for him from multitudes of men and women. His HAIR VIGOR sometimes reproduces lost hair; and always restores to faded and gray hair its natural color, with the glossy and freshness of youth. The comparatively few bald and gray heads, that we now see, are those who have not yet discovered the virtues of AYER'S HAIR VIGOR for renewing the hair. The fresh and youthful hair we see on older heads is often the product of his art. If you are disfigured, or made old, austere and ugly, by gray hair, restore its youthful color, and with it your features to their original softness and agreeable expression.

As an elegant dressing for beautifying the Hair, it has no superior.

CURING

Costiveness, Jaundice, Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Dysentery, Foul Stomach, Erysipelas, Headache, Piles, Rheumatism, Eruptions and Skin Diseases, Biliousness, Liver Complaint, Dropsy, Tetter, Tumors and Salt Rheum, Worms, Gout, Neuralgia, as a Dinner Pill, and Purifying the Blood,

Are the most congenial purgative yet perfected. Their effects abundantly show how much they excel all other Pills. They are safe and pleasant to take, but powerful to cure. They purge out the foul humors of the blood; they stimulate the sluggish or disordered organ into action, and they impart health and tone to the whole being. They cure not only the every day complaints of every body, but formidable and dangerous diseases. Most eminent clergymen, most skillful physicians, and our best citizens send certificates of cures performed, and of great benefits they have derived from these Pills. They are the safest and best physic for children, because mild as well as effectual. Being sugar coated, they are easy to take, and being purely vegetable, they are entirely harmless.

Campaign Notes.

Senator Ferry of Connecticut has written a letter to a personal friend of his own State, in which he defines his political views and general intentions. The letter will give no comfort to the Liberal Republicans who claim Mr. Ferry's re-election as an indication that Providence is on their side.

George W. Murdock, election register, Anne Arundel county, Md., has been found guilty of violating the enforcement act, designed to secure the right of voting to colored men. He appealed. Other similar cases are pending in court.

Another reason why Grant should not be re-elected—Miss Nellie Grant and her brother have been treated with ordinary civility in Europe. Down with the usurper! Will free Americans stand it to have for their chief magistrate a man whose daughter receives ladylike treatment from ladies? Perish the unworthy thought.

Private letters from prominent Democrats in Kentucky say that the party in that State will certainly endorse Greeley at Baltimore, and that they are ready to do so without any convention.

The origin of of the word candidate is candidus, white, referring to the color of the toga which the old Romans used to prescribe for aspirants for office. The Louisville Journal adds to this definition: Candidatus is a white-coated applicant for popular suffrage—Dr. Greeley, for instance. Here's to our first genuine classical candidate for the presidency—the first who did the thing by evident instinct in "the high old Roman way."

The News.

The Spanish Cortes has passed a bill to increase the effective army to 80,000. The whereabouts of Don Carlos remains a mystery, but that he has escaped from Spain is certain.

Mr. Samuel M. Way of Boston has paid in the full amount of $100,000 on his bond forfeited to the United States, and the information in a case involving a forfeiture of $300,000 has been sent to Washington.

Edwin Wallace died at Saco, Me., on Saturday from the effects of injuries received in Hobson's saw mill on the previous day.

The Randall's Island boys arrested for revolt state that the excessive brutality of the keepers caused the trouble.

The storm in Kansas on Thursday night was one of great severity. The town of Easton was flooded to a depth of four feet, and four persons were drowned. No trains have run on the Leavenworth branch of the Kansas Pacific Railroad since then. The Missouri Pacific Railroad trains are also delayed.

The forest fires in adjoining counties in the States of Pennsylvania, New York and New Jersey have done frightful damage and created great suffering to the people of the villages which were damaged or threatened by the flames. The rain Sunday subdued the fires somewhat, but to what extent is not yet definitely reported.

The Canadian government proposes to devote half a million dollars to the canal to connect the Bay of Fundy with Cumberland straits, which is to be begun this season.

Mrs. Sarah Colt, who established the first Sunday school in the United States, in 1793, for the instruction of factory children in reading and writing, died at Patterson, New Jersey, on Saturday.

During a terrific rain storm which passed over northwestern Iowa and Dakotah on the night of the 15th instant, a large waterspout descended to the earth, striking a few miles from White Swan, Dakotah, covering the earth for a great distance around with water from eight to thirty feet. Fortunately it did not strike in the vicinity of any settlement and no person was injured, but considerable stock was lost. The Mississippi telegraph line was demolished for a great distance and covered with earth and uprooted trees.

The House of Representatives has passed a bill making appropriations for the payment of claims allowed by the Southern Claims Commission to the amount of $349,894.

The brigantine Huntsman, of Harbor Grace, was lost in the vicinity of Cape Charles, Labrador, on the 20th of April. Out of a crew of sixty-two persons only seventeen were saved. Just before the vessel struck on Fish Rock three of the crew were knocked overboard and instantly killed by the drifting ice. The remaining fifty-nine took to the rigging, but were not there many minutes when both the masts went overboard. A scene of intense horror followed. In five minutes only seventeen of the crew were alive. Those saved had arms, legs and ribs broken. Two boats that left Green Bay on the 24th, sealing, were driven off and the crews perished.

The House passed Mr. Dawes' tariff bill on Monday, 147 to 62. Both Houses have voted to adjourn May 29.

At a meeting of Sagamore S. F. Engine Co., No. 2, Monday evening, it was unanimously voted to take part in the services on Memorial Day.

State News.

The steam mill belonging to Wallace and Dunlap of Manchester, situated in Deerfield, near the shore of Pleasant Pond, was burned Friday. It was insured for $1,000.

Hon. W. N. Blair, ex-State Senator and formerly secretary of Belknap county, and a prominent Republican politician, died at Compton, Saturday, of consumption.

THE ALABAMA TREATY.—The supplemental treaty was given the Senate for ratification on Saturday, the foreign relations committee, with but one member dissenting, recommending that course. Before it was submitted some immaterial changes were made in it. The Senate in executive session took up the matter but made no disposition of it. Mr. Sumner began a speech arraigning the administration for what he considers its undiplomatic course in the case. The Senate probably will not take up the matter again until Wednesday, and there is believed to be little doubt that the two-thirds vote necessary to the ratification of the protocol will be obtained when the question is taken.

BACK DOORS.—A man staggered into our sanctum last Monday morning who bore the marks of having been badly used. His hat was gone, his clothes soiled, and his face dirty and disfigured with wounds. Dropping promiscuously into a chair, he hoarsely murmured:

"Back doors!"

"What is the matter with you, old fellow?" we inquired.

"Back doors, I tell ye (hic) tha's wha's er ma'er."

"Explain yourself."

"Read Mayor's or'er closing fron' door s'loons Sun'y, didn't ye?"

"Yes."

"So'm I! Took gran' tour' vestigation yes'day t' see 't law's 'beyed."

"Well, what was the result?"

"This is er' sult. Ha! ha! (hic) he! drunk'rn biles owl."

"Yes, anybody can see that; but did you find the front doors closed?"

"O yes, the fron' doors were closed; but lordy! how many back doors I found open. Didn't know there was 's many back doors in the city. They mus' have sent away and got some doors somewhere. S'loons closed in front, but they were as open be (hic) behind as a fanning mill. I tried 'em all. Some had one back door, others had two'r three ex'r's ones cut inspecially, and one s'loon up town had (hic) 'hole back end taken out to accommodate the crowd. I ought to be on the Board of Health, he continued after a pause, know more 'bout condition of 'er alleys and back yards than any man in the city. There's one thing bout it, this thing of closing fron' doors Sunday keeps on they'll have to widen 'er alleys. Alleys wasn't half big enough yes'day to com'date the crowd."

"Was the rush for drinks as bad as that?"

"Was! S'loon full 'er time, that and alley full of thirsty men waitin' their time to get in. Had to take turns same's barber shop Sun'y morn'in'."

"Didn't any saloons have their front doors open?"

'A few; but they didn't have any cus'mers to mention. Fact is folks rather like to sneakin' through alleys and into back doors for a drink. Hain't been drunk 'fore in dog's age m'self. I can walk bol'ly by a s'loon with 'er fron' door wide open, but shut it and hint mure. It's human natur, sure's ye live."

"The new regulations appear to have affected you rather disastrously."

'You're mighty right. I am suffering from too many back doors. The absence of fron' blinds has 'fected my (hic) contusion. 'Sider myself a martyr to er May'rs d——d old procermation 'bolishing fron' doors, and I want mon'strate gainst it through er press. 'Nother Sund'y with them cussed back doors an' yer uncle's gone. Alleys is too many for me. Back doors is my ruin!" And with this he departed.

—A touching incident is reported from Chattanooga. An utter stranger called on a respectable farmer, last week, and asked him if his house had not been robbed during the war. The farmer replied that it had. "I," said the stranger, "was one of a marauding party that did it. I took a little silver locket." "That locket," said the farmer, bursting into tears, "had been worn by my dear, dead child." "Here it is," replied the stranger, visibly affected; "I am rich; let me make restitution; here are $20 for your little son." He gave the farmer a $50 bill and received $30 in change. He then wrung the farmer's hand warmly and left. The farmer has since dried his tears and loaded his shot-gun. The $50 bill was bad.

—Horace Greeley wrote: "Women now manage most of the public libraries in Massachusetts," and the compositor read it: "Women now worry most of the public babies by mastication."

—Elizabethtown, Ind., is called "Betsey," for short.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

A CORRESPONDENT, writing from Athens, curiously contrasts the mixtures to be found there of ancient and modern civilizations. Railroads spin their trains amid the temples of three thousand years; steamers dash their swells upon the Piræus, and the scream of their whistles resounds from Athos, Pentelicus and Cytheron, to Olympus and the heavens beyond their gode. Dr. Ayer's world-renowned medicines, those consummations of modern science, are posted on the Acropolis, the Parthenon, the Areopagus and the Thesion, while the modest cards of Cherry Pectoral, Ayer's Sarsaparilla, Ague Cure and Pills, look from the windows of the shops in the streets of Athens, where they are sold.—N. Y. Sunday Globe.

PILES.—The unceasing torture from internal bleeding, external and itching piles is fast wearing away the thousands of those who are afflicted and their hope and courage have long since given place to despair. Let those who see this cheer up, for a mild and sure cure may be had by using BRIGGS' PILE REMEDIES.

CASTORIA—is a scientific vegetable preparation; a perfect substitute for and more effective than Castor Oil, and is pleasant to take. It cleanses the system in a most remarkable manner; does not distress or gripe, but operates when all other remedies have failed. It is certain to supersede Pills, Castor Oil, Narcotic Syrups, and all other purgative and exciting medicines. The Castoria contains neither Minerals, Morphine nor Alcohol. By its emollient, soothing effect, it assimilates the food and produces natural sleep particularly adapting it to crying and teething children. It cures Stomach Ache, Wind Colic, Constipation, Flatulency, Croup, and kills Worms. Make your Druggist send for it; he will always keep it, as every family must have it. It costs but fifty cents a bottle. J. B. Rose & Co., 53 Broadway, New York. m1 4w

CORNS.—Since pride and fashion have had control of mankind, and shoemakers were compelled to make boots and shoes to fit fancy instead of the feet, the suffering from Corns, Bunions, Ingrowing Nails, Sore Insteps, Blistered Heels, Callosities on the bottom of the feet, &c., cannot be described. But Briggs' Corn and Bunion Remedies will cure all such torments, and proper fitting boots will prevent their reproduction. Sold by all druggists. al2

"TO BE WEAK IS MISERABLE."

Never was a truer sentence written than this—supposed to be wrung from the Archfiend in his impotence and agony. Every victim of nervous debility, or of that depressing languor which is one of the accompaniments of dyspepsia and biliousness, can testify to the misery of mind and body which they involve. The motive power of the system is partially paralyzed; the mind is haunted by anxiety and fear; and the sufferer is as incapable of applying himself energetically to any kind of business as if he were under the benumbing influence of catalepsy. This terrible mental and physical condition need not, however, be endured for forty-eight hours by any human being. PLANTATION BITTERS is an absolute specific for all the torments which a deranged stomach, a disordered liver, and shattered nerves, superinduce.

HOLLOWAY'S PILLS AND OINTMENT.—Scrofula was considered incurable until the great discovery of "Holloway's Pills and Ointment" flashed upon the world. Diseases which baffle the skill of the medical schools, readily yield to these peerless remedies. Scurvy, Erysipelas, Saltrheum, Itch, and all cutaneous eruptions are curable by them. 25 cents per box or pot.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

How Not to Die.

Thousands fall a prey to disease, not because the maladies that afflict them are necessarily fatal, but because they lack the requisite amount of active vitality to make a valiant resistance to the enemy. It is a wise precaution to keep the body always in a state of defence—always prepared to "fend off" the germs of epidemic and other disorders, and to baffle the evil influence of damp miasma and sudden thermometrical changes. There is no difficulty in doing this. It is a fact as well authenticated as that two and two make four, that HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS is specially adapted to this purpose, and for the simple reason that its invigorating and regulating properties are superior to those of any other medicine in the world. During the twenty years that it has been in general use, ample opportunities have been afforded to compare its medicinal properties with those of other preparations claiming to be of a similar class, and the result has been its adoption by the American people as the standard tonic of the age, its introduction into every civilized portion of the western hemisphere, and an annual sale which dwarfs into insignificance the demand for all its would-be competitors.

The record upon which its popularity rests is a curiosity in medical literature, for it includes an almost unlimited variety of human ailments and disabilities. In fact, no other remedy possesses such a variety of hygeinic virtues, and it is to these characteristics that it owes its prestige as a household medicine.

The Singer

SEWING MACHINE

STILL LEADS THE MARKET.

The Success of the Company is far beyond that of any other similar concern; the

Daily Manufacture

OF

400 OF THE SINGERS

Failing to Supply the Constant Demand.

All other machines call the public attention to some new loop or stitch or tension or finish, some advantage in running or needles or feed or prices—and many of these are as we have said very good points, and the agents selling them use them to divert entirely the would-be purchaser from fairly considering the facts in the case; but the

seems to unite the good qualities of all, and is never found wanting.

THE SINGER

IS THE

OLDEST

SEWING MACHINE

IN THE MARKET,

All others being copied from its first model. It does two-thirds the sewing done in this country and preserves its advantages over all others combined.

It is readily kept clean, and has THE BEST TENSION EVER INVENTED; it is lighter speeded and requires but little power to run; it works equally well upon the finest and heaviest goods; it does all the varieties of work known to the art.

N. B. Those purchasing for cash, before the 1 of January next, will have a consideration allowed them.

A Card.

Messrs. Editors:—I noticed in your paper of the 18th that the Exeter News Letter denies the statement made by you in regard to the body of Mr. George Randall, which was sent to Portsmouth at my request. It came promptly as requested, but the state it came in was as you represented. I think it must have been unknown to Mr. Pollard or he would not have permitted it to have come as it did. I did not intend to make any newspaper talk on the subject, but I think the News Letter should not accuse any one of falsehood until it knows the truth of the matter. I am prepared to prove whatever statements I make in regard to the case.

DANIEL L. RANDALL.

Has Antichrist Risen?

Messrs. Editors:—I ask the use of your columns to enable me to lay a few lines before the good citizens of Portsmouth. Last Sabbath I happened to be in a Christian Church, not over one hundred miles from that house of renown called the Temple, thinking of course to hear the word of God dispensed to God's children; but alas! instead of hearing that we should have heard,—words as if coming from the lips of our divine Savior, part of that blessed Sermon on the Mount, "Blessed are the poor in spirit, for they are the kingdom of Heaven," "Blessed are the meek, for they shall possess the earth,"—it was no such doctrine, but the "curse of the reprobate and demon," flung from the lips of a proud Pharisee.

The curse it seems was on some man who has a son far from home, and though no names were used those who heard it could well distinguish for whom it (the curse) was meant. The speaker hoped the father might not live to see his son alive; and secondly, that the son might not live to see his home again. Such, Messrs. Editors, was the language used by a minister of God, on the Lord's day, wearing as he was the robes of sanctity and religion; but what cause he had for using it is unknown to your humble servant, unless like Saul of old he was under the influence of some infernal "spirit." Could such wishes and hopes have come from the lips of a true follower of the meek and gentle Jesus? But the man whom it was likely meant for, fears no "big gun" nor small one either; for he is a man of principle, and to whoever he has owed a bill he has paid it.

To those whom it concerns I say, organize your efforts; organize immediately, making the writer a member; and oh, powers! give me authority, and if I don't use it over some of those Antichrists — for there are many of the same stamp — call me anything you please. Organize, have all your friends sign your petitions, and have removed from your midst one whose presence infects the very air you breathe. Next week I shall have my budget ready, but am not quite prepared yet, as I have many letters and petitions to be sent over this County and many others. The name of the writer of this can be found at the CHRONICLE Office. A MAN.

Laconics.

The newspapers are holding up their hands in astonishment over a nap taken by a girl in Winterport, Me., she having slept for five days in spite of shakings, shoutings and shower baths. That is pretty well for Maine, but would excite no remark in this city, which can boast of plenty of men who have been asleep all their lives, and couldn't be roused by an earthquake, a deluge or the last trump.

Mass rehearsals of societies who are to form part of the chorus for the great World's Peace Jubilee, are becoming frequent and popular. This pleasant intercourse of the musical portion of adjacent towns cannot but be as productive of good from the social fellowship it engenders, as it is advantageous to the cause of music, from the laudable rivalry which incites every society to be prepared to appear and sing well on such occasions.

The Boston News says "Blackmailing is in fashion in Portsmouth, N. H." Nobody around here seems to know anything about it, unless our Democratic contemporary may.

Capt. E. T. Nichols has been detached from duty as Chief of Staff of Asiatic Station and ordered to return home.

AN ACROBATIC EDITOR.—The Indianapolis Journal informs us that the acrobatic profession met with an irreparable loss when McCullagh of the St. Louis Democrat attached himself to the profession of journalism. Mr. McCullagh is possessed of great natural strength, inherited from his Scotch forefathers, and while developing his active mind has not neglected his magnificent muscle. He is the best amateur performer on the trapeze in the world, and can put most of the professional tumblers to shame. When his editorial labors for the day are over Mr. McCullagh sees the forms to press and then, dressed in a simple costume of red flannel, indulges in a half hour's circus relaxation, exciting the envy and admiration of his subordinates. Turning a rapid succession of flipflaps two or three times around the room, his lightning-like evolutions destroy all show of head, arms or legs, and he presents the appearance of a gigantic rapidity. His enthusiastic devotion to base ball is manifested even in his journalism, and he has established a department which he felicitously calls "Local Short Stops." McCullagh's latest feat was walking down four flights of stairs on his hands and carrying a wash-basin midway between his head and heels without spilling a drop.

—Some of the Iowa editors are astonished at the extravagance of a proposal to spend $75 dollars on a suggested editorial trip to Salt Lake! One offers to trade his whole office for a $75 mule.

—All he could do, a Lafayette man couldn't light the lamp, though he used every tooth in his wife's hair comb for matches. But there was an explosion next morning that the kerosene was not responsible for.

—A Western paper predicts that one of its State Senators "will live and be honored and be loved by the State when the tall prairie grass refuses to sigh a sad and plaintive requiem over the graves of some of his defamers."

—Several of the most eminent and virtuous of the liquor dealers of New York city are of the opinion that it is a desecration of the blessed Sabbath and a shame for the Mercantile reading room to be thrown open on Sunday.

—A little boy accosted his political papa, one of the grave Senate, last week, thus: "Papa, are you growing still?" "No, dear, what makes you think so?" "Because the top of your head is coming through your hair." The politician is getting bald.

—Three little boys were disputing as to whose father said the shortest grace. "My father says, 'Lord, we thank Thee for these provisions.'" Second—"And mine says, 'Father bless this food to us.'" Third boy—"Ah, but mine's the best of all. He shoves his plate up to mamma and says, 'Darn ye, fill up.'"

—An old bachelor was introduced to a beautiful widow, of the same name as himself. The introduction was in this wise: "Mr. Evans, permit me to introduce you to Mrs. Evans." "Mrs. Evans!" exclaimed the spirited bachelor, "the very lady I have been in search of for the last forty years!"

—A chemist's apprentice, during the performance of the last scene in "Romeo and Juliet," became so excited by the apparent reality of the stage business that he jumped from his seat, dashed his hat over his forehead, and shouting, "Hold him up, Juliet, while I run for the stomach pump!" rushed out of the theatre.

—There is nothing so affecting in a child as a certain sweet inborn spirit of self-abnegation. Sammy was a little boy, at school in a village far from his home. One day his father came to see him, and they took a walk together. Meeting the principal of the school, Sammy performed the ceremony of introduction. "Mr. S.," said he, "this is a father of mine."

—The tangled mystery of the Niblo's Garden fire is beginning to unravel, and the Ravel family seem to have been at the bottom of it. Some old properties which they used, and no successor could, were packed in a rubbish heap in the dome of the theatre. To these enter fire, in true Ravel style, from the flue of a hotel chimney, and the scene closes with stage fires, and a tableau finale of firemen.

—The Peoria Gazette says that the practice of boys standing in front of the Opera House entrance at the close of an entertainment, with their umbrellas raised and their trousers rolled up is very wrong. It is provoking indeed for a young lady, observing these indications of prevailing rain, to stop in the lobby, fix her things, cover her head with something and muffle herself up generally and then step out under a starlit, cloudless sky and hear the wicked boys giggle. It is all very wrong.

Morning Chronicle.

TRUTHFUL JAMES.—There was a little flag raising in Portland the other evening, (the flag it was Greeley and Gratz) at which little gathering Mr. Wm. H. Clifford rose to explain. So did Mr. Bion Bradbury. Both explanatories were impromptu, especially that of Mr. Clifford, although the enterprise of the Argus, with no phonographic reporter on the spot, enabled them to give the same in full a few hours after; but that has no business to be mentioned here. The object of this epistle is not so much to find fault with our friend Clifford, as to advise with him.

Let us see: He is a candidate for the Democratic Representative nomination in this District. He may not be aware of it, but up to Monday he had no opposition, and notwithstanding his very indiscreet speech, we think he will get it, because nobody wants it. If he is elected, the Democratic party must elect him. Now, in the face and eyes of the fact that the Greeley tidal wave has not yet reached this end of the line, and by the time it does reach here it will be played out at the other end; in the face and eyes of the fact that the party which must elect him, have not gone into the agricultural business, but give unmistakable signs that they don't intend to go in, our William comes out web footed for him, and steps his foot into it. Wouldn't it have been better, William, to have waited until the budding trees had put forth their little yellow pumpkin blossoms, and the green-eyed lobsters had got high enough to bite; or, at least, until the experiment had been fully tried whether squash vines, suitably cut, were fit for fence posts? We think so. What can we think of a man who makes such haste to proclaim that his party has disbanded, "potered out," vamoosed, "got up and dusted," and all that sort of playful things.

It is all very well for the Argus to do it, because it can swear afterwards that it didn't do it; but William isn't an Argus. We can pardon this unseemly and indiscreet haste on the part of our young friend, and so can other Republicans, because we know how restive the yeasty men in the Democratic party have become; how tired they are of jumping inside the ropes time and again only to get licked. It is rather hard. There's our friend Brown of the Augusta Standard, who never voted a successful ticket in his life; he has a south wind longing, (whatever that is). He, like our friend Clifford, and thousands of others who came into the Democratic stage just as the people left it, wants to quit the business of politics, puts on an old hat and goes to farming. In other words, these men are tired lying. They sprouted and grew just in season to see the mill-pond drained, and they are the Democratic pond-lilies lying prone at the bottom. They want (this is what they want) some agriculturist to irrigate them, let in water enough to raise them; and it does credit to their feelings.

But this not the way to do it, boys. If you want to go to Cuba you must go when the boat sails, and it is no use to compromise the matter and attempt to walk. There is no objection to your walking, of course, but you won't get there any quicker. What is worth doing at all is worth doing well, and in your disgust of the Democratic party (which a large majority of the people feel in common with you) don't try to save yourselves and that too, because it can't be done. When Greeley said, "Take all the haunts of debauchery in the land, and you will find nine tenths of their master spirits the active partisans of that same Democracy," he did not, perhaps, mean these same uneasy men we are speaking of; but if he is right now he was right then, and we feel assured he was right then. While you are in the Democratic party, don't try to slay it in the house of its friends, like H. G.; but when you make up your minds to go, go at once and stand not upon the order of your going.—Biddeford Journal.

GREELEY'S FIRST VETO.—The Chicago Post has obtained the following advance copy of the first veto message of President Greeley:—

"An Act to raise revenue by imposing a tax of ten cents a ton on guano."

COMMENTS BY THE PRESIDENT.

I return this obnoxious measure without my approval. The man who introduced it is an ass; the men who voted for it are scheming British agents, and the men who say this is not the case are liars and horse thieves. I judge that, on an average, every man, woman and child in America uses a ton of guano a year in some shape or other; whether as the farmer in New York, Louisiana, Colorado, Podunk, etc., in agriculture; or as Charles A. Dana, for editorial articles. We thus consume, in round figures, 40,000 tons of guano annually. The arbitrary and revolutionary act which I veto to-day would thus impose a tax of four millions of dollars a year on our people. With what effect? It would not stimulate the production of American guano. American birds could not compete with the pauper labor of birds in debauched and priest-ridden Central America. I am not quite sure as to what I mean or why it is not so, or what is which, but the man who speaks to the contrary is a hell-bound and bribed by British gold.

(Signed) H. G.

—An ingenuous burglar who was arrested in New Haven, for trying people's back-doors, professed to be walking in his sleep; and when asked to give an account of himself, said he was a "stranger in the village."

—A Topeka paper says a venerable "Lo" stalked into Marysville the other day, with a greasy placard attached to his breast, on which was inscribed, "A poor widow with eight small children."

BRIGGS' ALLEVANTOR is composed of Ammonia, Chloroform, Spirits of Camphor, Tincture of Lupuline, Oil of Juniper, and Alcohol. This compound is unequalled in the annals of medicine for the cure of Nervous or Sick Headache, Neuralgia, Trembling or Twitching of the Nerves, and all Nervous Diseases. It will counteract all poisons, banish pimples, cure scaly eruptions, itching, humors, &c.; it equalizes the circulation, invigorates the system, increases the action of the heart, without exciting the brain, cures Heartburn, Palpitation and Fluttering of the Heart, Dyspepsia, &c. Briggs' Allevantor absolutely possesses more curative properties than any other preparation. Physicians, chemists, and others are requested to examine and test the remedy, and $1000 will be paid if found different from representation.

COUGHS, Much has been said and written, and many remedies have been offered for the relief and cure of throat and lung diseases; but nothing has been so eminently successful, or obtained such a wide celebrity, as Briggs' Throat and Lung Healer.

CORNS! The excruciating pain produced by Corns, the unceasing twinging from Bunions, the piercing, distressing pain from Ingrowing Nails, cannot be described. Thousands suffer, not knowing there is a cure. Briggs' Corn and Bunion Remedies are no acid or potash compounds, but are reliable, soothing, and effectual, and just merit the success they have earned from an appreciative public. The Corn Salve is a healing ointment; immediate relief is obtained by its application, and it will positively cure the worst cases of Festered Corns, inflamed and ulcerated Bunions, the acutest instep, the largest and severest Blisters, the most extensive Callosities on the soles or heels of the feet, unequalled in the cure of Chilblains or Frosted Feet. The Allevantor for ordinary corns and preventing their formation is absolutely unexcelled by anything ever known.

PILES for centuries, and almost every attempt to cure them has been baffled. By unceasing study and experimenting, Dr. Briggs has discovered an absolutely cure for internal, bleeding, external, and itching piles. Briggs' Pile Remedies are mild, safe and sure.

NOTHING HALF SO SWEET IN LIFE.—The following extract from a New York girl's diary is given by Eli Perkins in the Commercial Advertiser. The young lady is supposed to have reached her twentieth birthday:—

"Nineteen to-day—and I'm too happy to live! How lovely the park looked this morning. How gracefully the swans swarm on the lake, and how the yellow dandelions lifted up their yellow faces—all smiles!

Albert—dear Albert, passed mamma and I, and bowed so gracefully! Mamma frowned at him. O, dear! I am not quite happy.

Last night my first ball, and Albert was there. Four times he came and I let him put his name on my card—then mamma frowned savagely. She said I ought to be ashamed to waste my time with a poor fellow like Albert Sinclair. Then she brought up old Thompson, that horrid rich old widower, and I had to scratch Albert's name off. When Albert saw me dancing with Thompson the color came to his cheeks and he only just touched the ends of my fingers in the grand chain. O, dear, one of Albert's little fingers is worth more then old Thompson's right arm. How stupidly old Thompson talked, but mamma smiled all the time.

Once she tipped me on the shoulder and said in a low, harsh voice, "be agreeable Lizzie, for Thompson is a great catch." Then Thompson, the stupid old fool, tried to talk like the young fellows. He told me I looked "stunning," said the ball was a "swell" affair, and then asked me to ride up to the park in his four-horse drag. Bah! Mother says I must go, but O, dear, I'd rather walk two blocks with Albert than ride in a chariot with the old dyed whiskers.

After supper such an event took place. Albert joined me, and after a lovely waltz we wandered into the conservatory and had a nice confidential chat together. It is wonderful how we both like the same things. He admires the beautiful moon—so do I. I love the stars, and so does he! We both like to be near each other—that is I know I do. Albert dotes on Longfellow, and O, don't I! I like Poe, and so does Albert, and the little tears fairly started (but Albert didn't see them) when he repeated softly in my ear:

"For the moon never beams without bringing me dreams.
Of my beautiful Annabel Lee;
And the stars never rise, but I feel the bright eyes
Of my beautiful Annabel Lee,"

—and a good deal more besides, about love and the sounding sea.

What a nice, sensible talk Albert and I had. First, we began talking about the soul—how destiny sometimes bound two souls together by an invisible chain. Then we considered the mission of man and woman upon the earth—how they ought to comfort and support each other in sickness and in health.

And then he startled me by asking me if I had ever cared for any one? And when I said "Yes, papa and mamma," he laughed and said he did not mean them, and then I felt quite hurt, and the tears would come into my eyes, for I do love mamma, even if she does make me dance with that horrid old Thompson, with his dyed whiskers. Then Albert leaned his face toward mine. I felt his mustache almost touch me as he whispered such nice words in my ear. He told me how he had longed for an opportunity to speak to me alone—how—and then I was so happy, for I knew he was going to say something very nice indeed—when Ma, with that dreadful old widower, came along and interrupted us. Come, Lizzie, you go with Mr. Thompson, for I want to present Mr. Sinclair to Miss Brown," and then Ma—O, dear, she took Albert and presented him to the girl that I hate worst of anybody in school. I didn't see Albert again, for when he came around, Ma said, "Lizzie, it looks horrible to be seen dancing with Albert Sinclair all the evening. You ought to be ashamed of yourself."

O, dear, I look like a fright—I know I do, but I do hope I shall look better when I see Albert on the avenue tomorrow. Let's see. I wonder if he won't write to me? But I'll see him when he walks up from business tonight—maybe.

—The trees in Providence are said to be much farther advanced than those on Boston Common, and a Providence paper says that this is doubtless owing to the fact that Boston is putting all her energy into the Coliseum to the neglect of everything else. We own it; we are keeping those trees for the Jubilee. If Rhode Island were big enough for a Coliseum now, she would rush those trees along and by the seventeenth of June they would have have lost all their spring freshness. We know better.—Globe.

—A philosophical Kentuckian, who was the envied possessor of one shirt, while lying in bed awaiting its return from the line where it was flapping in solitary grandeur, was startled by an exclamation from the better half of his bosom, to the effect that "the calf has eaten it." To this he replied with an equanimity worthy of better a cause, "Then who has must lose!"

The Singer

SEWING MACHINE

STILL LEADS THE MARKET.

The Success of the Company is far beyond that of any other similar concern; the Daily Manufacture

—OF—

400 OF THE SINGERS

Failing to Supply the Constant Demand.

All other machines call the public attention to some new loop or stitch or tension or finish, some advantage in running or needles or feed or prices —and many of these are as we have said very good points, and the agents selling them use them to divert entirely the would-be purchaser from fairly considering the facts in the case; but the

seems to unite the good qualities of all, and is never found wanting.

THE SINGER

IS THE

OLDEST

SEWING MACHINE

IN THE MARKET,

All others being copied from its first model. It does two-thirds the sewing done in this country and preserves its advantages over all others combined.

It is readily kept clean, and has THE BEST TENSION EVER INVENTED; it is higher speeded and requires but little power to run; it works equally well upon the finest and heaviest goods; it does all the varieties of work known to the art.

The News.

The cholera is raging in Akyab, the presidency of Bengal.

The Imperial Army Band of Prussia is shortly to sail for America to take part in the Peace Jubilee.

Extensive freshets are now prevailing in Utah vicinity, caused by the melting of the snow in the mountains.

The strike in New York is practically at an end. The "boss" carpenters and master-masons decided to yield to the demands of their workmen, giving them nine and ten hours' pay for eight hours' work. The concession was not a willing one on their part, but they were driven to it by existing contracts which must be fulfilled. The other trades which are already represented in the strike and those about to join in it will probably be generally successful.

It is said that the enforcement of the liquor law costs the city of Portland one thousand dollars per day.

A little son of J. C. Bell of Portland, only eighteen months old, was drowned in a hogshead of water, while attempting to drown a puppy.

The frame work of the Coliseum is all up and the structure is partially boarded.

Gen. Butler made a speech against the supplementary treaty in the House on Tuesday.

Senators Cragin and Patterson have secured the passage of a bill for adjusting the claims of New Hampshire for money advanced to volunteers.

Speaker Blaines has received a fifth renomination for Congress from the 6th Maine district.

State News.

B. F. Prescott, secretary of the Republican State committee, has consented to allow his name to be used as a candidate for the office of Secretary of State.

John Greeley, uncle to Horace Greeley, died in Londonderry last Thursday aged eighty-eight.

Horatio N. Lewis of Claremont, a man over seventy years of age, committed suicide Monday morning about four o'clock by hanging himself in a swing.

A Sunday train commenced running on the North Weare Road, the 19th.

Mrs. R. W. L. Pike of Rochester has made a wall satchel from apple seeds and is offered $50 for it.

Mr. Milo Blodgett of Colebrook has persuaded his eleven hens to lay 600 eggs since Jan. 1.

The Faculty of Dartmouth have designated Messrs. Amin M. Payson, William H. Hackett and J. W. P. Carter of Portsmouth as Committee of Award for the present year on the pieces offered by members of the Senior class in competition for the Grimes prizes.

The White Mountain trains on the Great Falls and Conway Road, commence running June 10th, each having palace and smoking cars. They will run independent of other trains, stopping only at a few principal stations.

On the 13th, in Acworth, Mrs. Robert Finley dropped dead, after working during the morning as usual.

A revival of ship building in Exeter is noticed in the shape of a hundred ton gondola to carry freight between Exeter and Portsmouth.

Capt. J. Smith has built, owns and runs a twelve-foot long steamer on the river at Exeter.

Campaign Notes.

Forney's Philadelphia Press declares emphatically for Grant and Colfax, claiming that Colfax will have two hundred and thirty votes, enough for nomination, on the first ballot in the Philadelphia convention. One hundred and ten delegates have already been instructed for Colfax, and as to Pennsylvania Forney says there is no doubt that he is her first choice.

A New York rough gives his views as follows:—"I'm a delegate from the 19th ward democratic association, and a democratto the backbone. We're goin' for Greeley because he's better'n Grant, and because its Hopkinson's choice"—perhaps he meant Hobson's—"and because of two evils we want to chose the greatest."

Senator Logan, who has been doubtful heretofore as to the result of the political situation in Illinois, is now confident of carrying it for the Philadelphia nominees. No republican journal outside Chicago has declared for Greeley.

ANOTHER CHANCE.—The bill to increase the compensation to railroads for the transportation of troops and supplies during the war by paying them full tariff rates, introduced a few weeks since and withdrawn the next day by General Negley, in the United States House of Representatives, made its appearance again expanded to include all the railroads and transportation companies in the country. Mr. Bell of New Hampshire now assumes the credit and responsibility of the measure, which is designed to take several hundred millions of dollars out of the Treasury. The reference of the bill to the committee on claims is, however, a practical guarantee that it will never again be heard of. This offers another superb chance for the copperhead press of this State to "blow" about "Radical stealing" and "Democratic opposition to jobs of all kinds." When Gen. Negley first introduced the bill it was quite moderate compared to its dimensions as introduced by Mr. Bell, but it furnished a text for numerous loud editorials on the part of the Democratic press. If we are not much mistaken, our local cotemporary of that faith displayed his usual zeal by attacking Gen. Negley and his bill, and the whole Republican party; now, no doubt, all the Democratic puritans who were so shocked at Negley's assurance will "go for" Bell. We shall see.

THE WIFE who shot at her husband while fitting a shawl on a lay figure would have a good field for pistol practice in the establishment of Jordan, Marsh & Co., Boston, where "dummies" are used by the hundreds for the exhibition of elegant suits, and ladies' garments of all kinds.

GIFT CONCERT IN KENTUCKY. — In another column will be found an advertisement of the second Gift Concert in aid of the Public Library of Kentucky. The first one was fairly conducted,—at least we never heard otherwise; and the name of Ex-Gov. Bramlette of Kentucky is a guaranty that the advertised details of the second one will be faithfully carried out. While we cannot but regard the "Gift Concert" scheme as a very thin mask for a lottery, the object of this one is commendable; and the certainty of getting a prize if it is won will doubtless influence many to contribute towards the Kentucky State Library.

WATER FAMINE!—The intelligence which reaches us from various parts of the world seems to invest this question with present and paramount importance. In a recent article we commented on the exceptional and phenomenal cold of the past winter, and showed that it might, perhaps, be attributable to the periodic return of what eminent meterorologists have called "the cold wave" through which our planet is supposed to pass once in every ten or fifteen years. The Astronomer Royal of Scotland, in common with other able and cautious physicists, predicted last year such an event, and sought to explain it on broad cosmical principles. Whether correct or not in their reasonings there can be no doubt now that the prediction was verified in fact.

The diminution of our annual heat supply derived from solar radiation, it is easy to see, will be marked by a diminution in the amount of water evaporated from the billows of the ocean and delivered to the winds to be transported over the great continental masses of the globe for their irrigation and refreshment. The rain-fall statistics and returns for the present year, so far as received, appear to bear out the natural inference from the above facts, and give us timely warning to be prepared for great scarcity of water during the coming summer. We already know, by experience, that the rains of the season have fallen short of their usual abundance this spring in the United States, although the condensation of this past week has been considerable.

The returns from England, carefully collated by Mr. Glaisher, give a general average of only twenty-two inches for the past year, year, while the proper mean rainfall of England is thirty inches. The deficiency of eight inches of the usual fall may be roughly estimated at over a million gallons of water for every square mile of British territory, and should be carefully noted. In the tropics, where the atmospheric machinery takes up the greatest amount of moisture from the sea for terrestrial distribution, we find similar results. From the return of the Windward West Indies the official figures for last December show a deficiency greater than has been known in the twenty-four years preceding; and the average of the year 1871 was twenty-eight per cent., or more than one-fourth below that of the preceding twenty-four years. For the month of January, 1872, the returns are still more discouraging, the average falling short of that for the same month of the twenty-five preceding years by thirty-five per cent., or more than one-third.

Taking these facts in connection with the widespread and terrible ravages of the great Northwestern fires and forest conflagrations, which denuded so many districts of country last fall, and remembering the climatic deterioration usually observed to follow the clearing of the soil and felling of trees, we see good reason for calling the attention of the whole country to the most frugal husbanding of the precious water supply distilled from the clouds. It may not now be too late to warn agriculturists to prepare for any emergency by the construction of ponds and reservoirs for the irrigation of the soil. But the warning is certainly opportune and of vital importance in all the cities and towns of the land to economize the water, that in case of blighting droughts and epidemic diseases the terror of famine may not have to be endured.

The proposed action of Congress in providing for or encouraging the planting and preservation of trees on the public lands is a step in the right direction. The danger now apprehended by this means, by the early sinking of artesian wells and other precautions may be materially averted and lessened.—New York Herald.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

A CORRESPONDENT, writing from Athens, curiously contrasts the mixtures to be found there of ancient and modern civilizations. Railroads spin their trains amid the temples of three thousand years; steamers dash their swells upon the Pireus, and the scream of their whistles resounds from Athos, Pentelicus and Cytheron to Olympus and Ossa heavens beyond their gods. Dr. Ayer's world-renowned medicines, those consummations of modern science, are posted on the Acropolis, the Parthenon, the Areopagus and the Thesion, while the modest cards of Cherry Pectoral, Ayer's Sarsaparilla, Ague Cure and Pills, look from the windows of the shops in the streets of Athens, where they are sold.—N. Y. Sunday Globe.

PILES.—The unceasing torture from internal bleeding, external and itching piles is fast wearing away the thousands of those who are afflicted and their hope and courage have long since given place to despair. Let those who see this cheer up, for a mild and sure cure may be had by using BRIGGS' PILE REMEDIES.

CASTORIA—is a scientific vegetable preparation; a perfect substitute for and more effective than Castor Oil, and is pleasant to take. It cleanses the system in a most remarkable manner; does not distress or gripe, but operates when all other remedies have failed. It is certain to supersede Pills, Castor Oil, Narcotic Syrups, and all other purgative and exciting medicines. The Castoria contains neither Minerals, Morphine nor Alcohol. By its emollient, soothing effect, it assimilates the food and produces natural sleep particularly adapting it to crying and teething children. It cures Stomach Ache, Wind Colic, Constipation, Flatulency, Croup, and kills Worms. Make your Druggist send for it; he will always keep it, as every family must have it. It costs but fifty cents a bottle. J. B. Rose & Co., 53 Broadway, New York. m1 4w

CORNS.—Since pride and fashion have had control of mankind, and shoemakers were compelled to make boots and shoes to fit fashion instead of the feet, the suffering from Corns, Bunions, Ingrowing Nails, Sore Insteps, Blistered Heels, Callosities on the bottom of the feet, &c., cannot be described. But Briggs' Corn and Bunion Remedies will cure all such torments, and proper fitting boots will prevent their reproduction. Sold by all druggists. a12

HOLLOWAY'S PILLS AND OINTMENT.—Scrofula was considered incurable until the great discovery of "Holloway's Pills and Ointment" flashed upon the world. Diseases which baffle the skill of the medical schools, readily yield to these peerless remedies. Scurvy, Erysipelas, Saltrheum, Itch, and all cutaneous eruptions are curable by them. 25 cents per box or pot.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

Provide Against Danger.

At this season all the great lines of travel begin to swarm with human beings intent on business or pleasure. Are these moving multitudes aware of the danger which ensues from drinking different varieties of water and breathing atmospheres to which their lungs are unaccustomed? Do they realize how important it is to be pre-armed with an antidote that will defend their systems from the evil consequences of such changes and from all ailments and disturbances which arise from the miasma so plentifully envolved from the soil at this period of the year? Such an antidote—certain in its protective operation and free from everything objectionable in its composition and flavor—has been for twenty years before the world. No instance can be adduced, during that period, in which HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS has failed as an acclimating medicine, or as a preventive of the healthy ills to which the undefended system is liable in unhealthy localities.

A good appetite, perfect digestion, a vigorous condition of the nervous system, functional regularity, and a pure and active circulation, are the elements of health, and these signal blessings may be secured and perpetuated by the use of this powerful, yet harmless, vegetable tonic. Such is the experience of all who have ever taken it as a safeguard against the diseases which debility, irregularity and a morbid condition of the solids and fluids of the body are sure to invite.

SECOND GIFT CONCERT

In the great hall of the Public Library building in Louisville, Ky., on Saturday, September 28, '72.

This manificent hall, known as Weisiger Hall, is the largest, most centrally located, and best arranged for large and fashionable audiences of any in Louisville and is fitted up in superb style. The building has a front of 163 feet on Fourth St., by a depth of 200 feet, four stories in height, and was recently purchased for the Public Library at a cost of $210,000. These large rooms are now fitted up for a library, and contain about 20,000 volumes and a museum of 100,000 specimens, now donated free to the gratuitous use and enjoyment of all citizens of every State in the Union. It is the purpose of the Trustees, by the GRAND GIFT CONCERT now announced, to raise the money with which to pay the balance of the purchase money due upon the Public Library building, to enlarge the library, and to so endow it by contribution as to make it self sustaining and forever beyond the necessity of calling upon any individual who uses the books for the contribution of a single cent toward its support.

100,000 TICKETS OF ADMISSION will be issued at $10 each; half tickets $5; quarter tickets $2.50; 11 whole tickets for $100; 28 for $255; 56 for $500; 113 for $1000; 285 for $2,500; 575 for $5,000. No discount on less than $100 worth of tickets at a time.

Tickets will be sent, when requested, by registered letter. The money for them may be sent by Adams' Express Co. and its connections, P. O. money order, registered letter, or bank draft.

The holder of each ticket, or fraction of a ticket (a half or a quarter,) is entitled to admission to the concert and to the gift awarded to it. During the concert the sum of will be given to the holders of tickets by distribution by lot of ONE THOUSAND GIFTS, as follows:

This Concert, like the first of the 16th of December last, (which was so decidedly successful, and at which the first grand gift was drawn by and paid to Mr. John R. Duff, of Memphis, Tenn.,) is for the benefit of the Public Library of Kentucky.

The Farmers' and Drovers' Bank is Treasurer, and the corporators and supervisors are all representative men, and are among the most respectable and distinguished citizens of the State. Should any tickets be left unsold on the day of the drawing, they will be destroyed, and the one thousand gifts offered will all be drawn and paid, but diminished in value in proportion to the percentage of unsold tickets. For instance, if only three-fourths of the tickets are sold, the capital gift will be reduced to $75,000, and all the others in proportion.

The Hon. Thos. E. Bramlette, late Governor of Kentucky, has consented to represent the Trustees in the management of this second Grand Gift Concert, and he will personally see that the money from the sale of Tickets is deposited with the Treasurer, that the drawing is fairly conducted, and the gifts justly awarded and promptly paid.

The drawing will take place in public, in full view of the audience, and under the immediate supervision and direction of the following named Trustees of the Public Library of Kentucky and the following named eminent and disinterested citizens, who have consented to be present and see that all is fairly done:

WORLD'S PEACE JUBILEE

AND

INTERNATIONAL Musical Festival,

AT BOSTON.

PRELIMINARY ANNOUNCEMENT.

The Executive Committee of the World's Peace Jubilee and International Musical Festival respectfully announce that the great undertaking to which the music-loving people of the country have been looking forward for many months, with such deep interest, will commence in Boston

On the Seventeenth Day of June,

And close on the Fourth of July Next.

It is hardly necessary to state that the preparations for this great event have required the constant application for months of the thousands who are to participate in it, and have involved an enormous expenditure; but the committee feel confident that the time, labor and expense devoted to the successful development of so noble an enterprise must result in not only affording the highest gratification to all who may hear the glorious music to be rendered upon a scale of grandeur never before attempted, and witness the magnificent spectacle which such an assemblage must present, but that it will also confer a lasting benefit upon art, the country, and the age.

While the programme of the first week of the Festival will embrace all the great features to be presented—including the CHORUS OF

TWENTY THOUSAND VOICES,

—THE—

Orchestra of Two Thousand Performers,

the most powerful organ ever built, together with many of most eminent American and European bands and artists, (among whom may be mentioned the great maestro, of fifty-six performers,) the concerts to be given from first to last will surpass any series of musical entertainments ever presented to the American public.

Laconics.

On Tuesday, John Dewire was mulcted in the sum of $7.90, before Judge Page, for an assault on "Capt. Bob" Shillaber. The assault grew out of a rescue of cows from the custody of Mr. Shillaber, who is the city Pound-keeper. The assault only was brought before Judge Page, but Mr. Shillaber we believe intends to carry the rescue of the cows before the grand jury.

The Boston Globe has this dispatch from Worcester, Mass.; "The Church of the Unity, at a parish meeting extended a unanimous call to Rev. James DeNormandie of Portsmouth, N. H., to become their pastor. It is understood he will accept. He succeeds Rev. R. R. Shippen, who resigned in July last to become secretary of the American Unitarian Association." We hope the report is untrue. Portsmouth cannot spare Rev. Mr. DeNormandie.

Rev. W. H. Alden will deliver the address on decoration day. A new feature will be a memorial service at the cemetery by comrades of the Post.

The Ocean House at Rye Beach, which under the management of Messrs. Job Jenness & Son has secured in the past an extended reputation as one of the best kept and most attractive summer resorts on the New England coast, is advertised to open for the coming season on the 25th of June, under the sole management of Job Jenness, Esq. Mr. Jenness' thorough qualification as a landlord and his quick appreciation of and attention to the wants of his guests, joined to the excellent location of the hotel, have over-filled the establishment in years past; and judging from the number of applications for accommodation—more numerous this year than ever before so early in the season—received at the watering places in this vicinity, we should think those intending to secure rooms at the Ocean House would do well not to delay.

The Newburyport Mutuals will play a game here with the Kearsarges of this city on Memorial Day.

A LIVELY SCENE.—The Danbury News gives the following free-and-easy account of a late disaster in that town: There was a trifling affair in Branchville lately. Philos W. Bates has a quarry about a quarter of a mile east of the village. He is also the owner of a blacksmith's shop near by, where he employs two or three men to sharpen the tools used in quarrying the stone for the Shepaug road at Bethel. In accordance with a good old New England custom, the powder used is kept in the blacksmith shop. There were two kegs partially filled, and one keg unbroken in the shop at the time our story opens. It was a pleasant day. There was no bright sunshine, but the general appearance of things out of doors was mellow and comfortable like. One of the men was employed at the anvil, hammering the sultry end of a crowbar. A few grains of powder had fallen upon the floor while replenishing the quarry from the open kegs. We came near forgetting to state this, which is a more important matter than at first seems probable. The other employes were busily engaged, as the sons of toil are apt to be when employed by the day. A balsamic perfume filled the atmosphere of the shop. Suddenly a flake of streaming hot iron shot from the anvil down among the grains of powder which held their slumbering fires to the floor. There were a few unnoticed pops and flashes, then came a hiss, as the flame shot over into the open kegs. The man who held the crowbar mechanically passed out of doors. Another son of toil who, with his back to the danger, was looking through a window, turned around in time to detect one end of the shop in the act of moving off, followed by a comrade whose shirt had gone up in a flame. The two partially filled kegs had exploded with the customary violence and the full keg was on fire. At this juncture was displayed an act of heroism seldom exhibited in Fairfield county. Mr. Bates seized the burning keg and hurled it into the snow, in time to quench the flames, save the balance of his shop and the lives of himself and men. Two of the men were badly burned, a portion of the shop was wrecked, and two roosters who had been fighting near by at once buried all animosities engendered by the fray and immediately started over the hill for home, with the rapid and graceful gait peculiar to those feathered Mormons.

—Norwalk has a four-legged chicken which is dead. The Danbury News says it was designed to preserve it in alcohol, but no one felt as if the alcohol could be spared.

THE SUPPLEMENTAL TREATY.—In an interview with a Herald reporter ex-Secretary Seward is reported as saying that persons who are dissatisfied with the proposed amendments to the Washington treaty should urge the government to bring up the Johnson-Clarendon treaty, which was little understood, and have it ratified by the Senate. He said:—

That was a fair and honorable settlement, honorable to both nations. Its ratification would have ended all this trouble and brought about a lasting peace. It was the clamor for consequential damages, a term I never heard before, by the way, or the ruinous demands on Great Britain that defeated that treaty. Johnson and I went out of office, and there the matter stood. I never expected to get any better terms, and no better terms will ever be obtained. When the Washington treaty was perfected I was told that we had gained all we wanted, and that the English had conceded everything. I said: "Well, you have done better than I succeeded in doing. I am pleased with your success; but wait and see."

Well, sir, we see now consequential damages would be no reparation for the conduct of Great Britain. No man who insults and wounds my honor can compensate me with money, no matter how large the amount. Great Britain inflicted great injury upon us, and insulted us when we dared not resent her conduct. It was the settled purpose of the English, in the earlier stages of the war, to compel us to go to war with them. Then with Canada on the north of us and the Southerners in revolt against us, what would have been the result? Dismemberment and ruin.

Had we been in a condition to resent the insults offered us, there would have been little diplomatic correspondence; we should have punished them. The United States would have gone to war with England and perhaps with France, which was as deserving of punishment by us as England. The Mexican occupation by Napoleon, and the attempt to establish an empire there, was an affront to us and a blow aimed at republican institutions on this continent. I would have liked, at the time, to have demanded "consequential damages" with armies and fleets, but the nation was sick, very sick, sick unto death. Our national family was at war, and we were surrounded by dangers. It was our policy to pocket the affronts we could not resent. We had to do it in the Mason-Slidell affair, and we had to do it many times after. It is no blot on our honor if, while paralyzed as I am, and helpless, I decline to engage in a fight with any ruffian who may come along and strike me on the head. No money payment would compensate me for the injury to my honor in that case.

Nations cannot pick up old quarrels and make them the pretext for war. If this nation insisted on engaging in hostilities, on account of old forgotten insults, we would be in constant embroilment. We got out of the great peril that menaced us ten years ago and there is no use in worrying ourselves over the dead fact. The Johnson treaty would have secured the payment of our merchant ship-owners for their losses by rebel privateers, and if this new treaty will accomplish as much, I, for one, will be glad. I am in favor of the adoption of the amendment to the Washington treaty and the abandonment of our claims for indirect damages, though such a course should be considered a blot on our national honor. It would be more dishonorable in us to insist on getting what we don't expect, and have repeatedly said we don't want, than to frankly say we were wrong. I said that when the English outrages were committed we plainly said and kept saying that for every cent of loss incurred by our ship-owners, merchants and insurance companies by the English cruisers, we should ultimately have compensation. Our bill was disregarded. They said they never would pay it. Afterwards they considered the matter and finally offered to pay.

"Consequential damages" were never mentioned until after the English consented to pay our bill. I think we are wrong in demanding them now. Our country, as I said, was very sick when the privateers began preying upon our commerce, but it would have died before I would have consented to pay any nation the "consequential damages" the English are now asked to pay. There will be no war. Why, even those who are clamoring for the rejection by the Senate of the amended Washington treaty insist that they don't mean war, and if they don't mean that, what, I would like to know, do they mean? I think that the treaty, as amended, will be approved by the Senate.

—Dogs, whose idle teeth have nothing to do, drive sheep over the cliffs into the sea at Cape Elizabeth, Me. The sheep generally drown.

—Cause and effect. They are planting cork trees with considerable success in many parts of California. The vine was introduced several years ago.

—The weather out West is not yet regarded as perfectly satisfactory. An irate journalist, who is also an agriculturist, remarks: "This is a fine time to set out flowers and have them frozen as stiff as an iceberg in less than an hour. In planting seeds put each one in a pill-box and wrap the box up in cotton batting. In setting out onions put an overcoat on each onion and place a layer of hot bricks under the bed."

New Publications.

Oliver Optic's Magazine for June contains the conclusion of "Sea and Shore, or the Tramps of a Traveller." A new story from the same source will be commenced in the July number, entitled "Little Bobtail, or The Wreck of the Penobscot." Elijah Kellogg winds up his story, "The Whispering Pine," and promises a new one for the July number, "Winning his Spurs, or Harry Morton's First Trial." The story of "Sally Williams," by Miss E. D. Cheney, is brought to a happy ending. The Great Jubilee is remembered in a poem, "What the Winds and Waves, the Sky and Sea will do for the World's Great Jubilee," and a full page illustration of the building. There's a story by B. P. Shillaber, an Operatissimo by Mrs. M. T. Calder, Sketches, Stories, &c., in great variety, while the illustrations are particularly fine. Terms $2.50 per year. Lee & Shepard, Boston, Publishers.

The June number of Old and New is ready. The editor discusses the merits of the controversy over the treaty of Washington. The story by six hands is completed, all its interest being sublimated in the Chicago conflagration. Francis Tiffany gives some useful information to people who contemplate living in Germany for purpose of study. "Our Pilgrimage" is continued to Hebron, the Dead Sea and Jericho. Hackett Stevenson discourses of "Churning" specifically and generally. "The Bramo Somaj," its founder and its philosophy or theology are described by George I. Chaney.

Our Young Folks for June contains the story of "The Great Woodchuck Society," by Elizabeth Stuart Phelps, and contributions by J. T. Trowbridge, Mary Carleton, George Cooper, Mary E. Mapes Dodge, C. A. Stephens, Lucy Larcom and other writers whom all the young people know. There is also a dramatic piece by Marian Douglass, entitled "The Chosen Prince."

The Lady's Friend for June leads off with a picture of the heroine of the day, Delly Varden. On the opposite page, a picturesque scene in Switzerland greets us. Mrs. Henry Wood's novel, "Within the Maze," grows more interesting with every number. $2 a year. Published by Deacon & Peterson, Philadelphia.

The Westminster Review for April, (Am. rep.,) contains: Trial by Judge and Trial by Jury; The Political Reconstruction of Germany; The University College of Wales; India—the Mausoleum Panic; Christian Theology and Modern Scepticism; Napoleon the First—the Man; The Migration of Labor; The Question of Race in France; Spiritualism and its Evidences; The Distribution of Representation; and Contemporary Literature. Leonard Scott Pub. Co., 140 Fulton Street, N. Y.; $4 per year.

We have received from Chas.C. Chatfield & Co., New Haven, Conn., a copy of a publication by Prof. C. A. Young, of Dartmouth College, entitled "The Sun and the Phenomena of its Atmosphere." For sale by J. H. Foster.

Harpers' Magazine for June, is the first number of the forty-fifth volume. The German Gambling Spas, with 24 illustrations; The Mountains, by Porte Crayon, 12 illustrations; The Hebrew Exodus, 12 illustrations; The Republican Movement in Europe, by Emilio Castelar; California, with 19 illustrations, and many other articles, with the valuable Literary and Scientific Records, make up a number fitted to sustain the high reputation long ago won by this excellent magazine.

—The jolly Norwich Bulletin tells of an aged pilgrim, who had looked on the logwood when it was of various colors, and walked into the Thames on Friday. On being rescued he observed that he "wasn't quite sure at first whether it was the river or the railroad, but he recognized it at once." They couldn't fool him on water.

—Buffalo has a little boy, ten years of age, who peddles papers, supports his mother and gives 21 cents every week to the Grace Methodist Sabbath School. The Buffalo Express, which publishes this information, does not say that the managers of Grace Methodist Sabbath School ought to be ashamed to take the little fellow's money.

—No wonder the people of Boston get somewhat excited on the subject of adulterated milk. One of their wise men has discovered that milk as furnished by the cow has 87 per cent. of water, and that the milkmen add 33 per cent. more. This he says makes 120 per cent. water, or produces a fluid 20 per cent. weaker than that which comes from the aqueduct.

—H. T. Helmbold and family when last heard from were in Dresden, where the doctor was reported as having a good time in his way. It is thought he left this country with about $60,000 and an uncontrolable appetite for whiskey. How few the men who can stand prosperity. When Helmbold was a young man, poor, attended to his business, furnished a good article of so-called medicine and advertised liberally he reaped a rich reward. As money came in upon him, more than he knew what to do with, preferring to be called a good fellow rather than a man of substantiality and worth, he took to the road, fast horses, champagne dinners, cocktail breakfasts and such dissipations, on the principle that a short life and a merry one was better than a long and useful one. Of Helmbold it can be truly said: Printer's ink and newspapers made him; whiskey and fast living destroyed him. Well it would be if the examples of such men prove useful lessons to others.

A FUNERAL IN NEVADA.

BY MARK TWAIN.

There was a grand time over Buck Fanshaw when he died. He was a representative citizen. He had "killed his man"—not in his own quarrel, it is true, but in defence of a stranger beset by numbers. He had kept a sumptuous saloon. He had been the proprietor of a dashing helpmate whom he could have discarded without the formality of a divorce. He had a high position in the fire department, and was a very Warwick in politics. When he died there was a great lamentation throughout the town, but especially in the vast bottom stratum of society.

On the inquest it was shown that Buck Fanshaw, in the delirium of a wasting typhoid fever, had taken arsenic, shot himself through the body, cut his throat, and jumped out of a four story window and broken his neck; and after due deliberation the jury, sad, tearful, but with intelligence unblinded by its sorrow, brought in a verdict of death "by the visitation of God." What could the world do without juries?

Prodigious preparations were made for the funeral. All the vehicles in town were hired, all the saloons were put in mourning, all the municipal and fire company flags were hung at half mast, and all firemen ordered to muster in uniform and bring their machines duly draped in black.

Regretful resolutions were passed and various committees appointed; among others, a committee of one was appointed to call on a minister—a fragile, gentle, spiritual new fledging from an Eastern theological seminary and as yet unacquainted with the ways of the mines. The committee man, "Scotty" Briggs, made his visit.

Being admitted to his presence, he sat down before the clergyman, placed his fire hat on an unfinished manuscript sermon under the minister's nose, took from it a red silk handkerchief, wiped his brow, and heaved a sigh of dismal impressiveness explanatory of his business. He choked and even shed tears, but with an effort he mastered his voice, and said, in lugubrious tones:

"Are you the duck that runs the gospel mill next door?"

"Am I the—pardon me, I believe I do not understand?"

With another sigh and a half sob Scotty rejoined:

"Why, you see, we are in a bit of trouble, and the boys thought may-be you'd give us a lift, if we'd tackle you—that is, if I've got the rights of it and you are the head clerk of the doxology works next door."

"I am the shepherd in charge of the flocks whose fold is next door."

"The which?"

"The spiritual advisor of the little company of believers whose sanctuary adjoins these premises."

Scotty scratched his head, reflected a moment, and then said:

"You rather hold over me, pard. I reckon I can't call that hand. Ante and pass the buck."

"How? I beg your pardon. What did I understand you to say?"

"Well, you've rather got the bulge on me. Or may-be we've both got the bulge, somehow. You don't smoke me and I don't smoke you. You see, one of the boys has passed in his checks, and we want you to give him a good send-off, and so the thing I'm on now is to roust out somebody to jerk a little chin-music for us, and waltz him through handsome."

"My friend, I seem to grow more and more bewildered. Your observations are wholly incomprehensible to me. Cannot you simplify them some way? At first I thought perhaps I understood you, but now I grope. Would it not expedite matters if you restricted yourself to categorical statements of fact unencumbered with obstructing accumulation of metaphor and allegory?"

Another pause, and more reflection. Then Scotty said:

"I'll have to pass, I judge."

"How?"

"You've raised me out, pard."

"I still fail to catch your meaning."

"Why, that last lead of yourn is too many for me—that's the idea. I can't neither trump or follow suit."

The clergyman sank back in his chair perplexed. Scotty leaned his head on his hand, and gave himself up to reflection. Presently his face came up sorrowful but confident.

"I've got it now, so's you can savvy," said he. "What we want is a gospel sharp. See?"

"A what?"

"Gospel sharp, parson."

"Oh! Why did you not say so before? I am a clergyman—a parson."

"Now you talk! You see my blind, and straddle it like a man. Put it there!"—extending a brawny paw, which closed over the minister's small hand and gave it a shake indicative of fraternal sympathy and fervent gratification.

"Now we're all right, pard. Let's start fresh. Don't you mind me snuffling a little—becuz we're in a power of trouble. You see one of the boys has gone up the flume—"

"Gone where?"

"Up the flume—threwed up the sponge, you know."

JURUBEBA

Is a Powerful Tonic, specially adapted for use in Spring, when the LANGUID and DEBILITATED system needs strength and vitality; it will give vigor to the feeble, strength to the weak, animation to the dejected, activity to the sluggish, rest to the weary, quiet to the nervous, and health to the infirm.

It is a South American plant, which, according to the medical and scientific periodicals of London and Paris, possesses the most powerful tonic properties known to Materia Medica, and is well known in its native country as having wonderful curative qualities, and has been long used as a specific in all cases of Impurities of the Blood, Derangement of the Liver and Spleen, Tumors, Dropsy, Poverty of the Blood, Debility, Weakness of the Intestines, Uterine or Urinary Organs.

DR. WELLS' EXTRACT OF JURUBEBA

Is strengthening and nourishing. Like nutritious food taken into the stomach, it assimilates and diffuses itself through the circulation, giving vigor and health.

It regulates the bowels, quiets the nerves, acts directly on the secretive organs, and by its powerful TONIC and restoring effects, produces healthy and vigorous action to the whole system.

The Singer

SEWING MACHINE

STILL LEADS THE MARKET.

The Success of the Company is far beyond that of any other similar concern; the Daily Manufacture

—OF—

400 OF THE SINGERS

Failing to Supply the Constant Demand.

All other machines call the public attention to some new loop or stitch or tension or finish, some advantage in running or needles or feed or price—and many of these are as we have said very good points, and the agents selling them use them to divert entirely the would-be purchaser from fairly considering the facts in the case; but the

SINGER

seems to unite the good qualities of all, and is never found wanting.

THE SINGER

IS THE

OLDEST

SEWING MACHINE

IN THE MARKET,

All others being copied from its first model. It does two-thirds the sewing done in this country and preserves its advantages over all others combined.

It is readily kept clean, and has THE BEST TENSION EVER INVENTED; it is higher speeded and requires but little power to run; it works equally well upon the finest and heaviest goods; it does all the varieties of work known to the art.

THURSDAY, MAY 23, 1872.

AN ALL-NIGHT SESSION.—The Senate was in session twenty-three hours and forty minutes, May 21—22. The Ku-Klux act was extended, by a vote of 21 to 15. Senator Carpenter's civil rights bill was passed, 27 to 14. The amnesty bill was passed, 38 to 2, Sumner and Nye being the only ones to vote in the negative.

Campaign Notes.

The Philadelphia Age is strongly opposed to the nomination of Mr. Greeley at Baltimore. It says: Some of our exchanges from other States urge the adoption of Mr. Greeley as the democratic candidate for the presidency. We don't see that they urge any reason for it, except that it would insure success. But such success is always open to any party. It may haul down its colors, and join the enemy, and thus make success certain. We might nominate Hartranft for governor and Grant for President; with no opponent each of them would be sure to prevail. But we see no gain in a nominal success at the cost of all that makes success valuable, in the sacrifice of every principle, tradition and antecedent of a party. To call this "success" is what in Ireland is called "a boll." It defies prophecy to say what would be the result of the election of Greeley by Democratic votes. Principles and parties would alike be "knocked into pi." But what hope is there, or what encouragement from a defeat of Grant, if in his place we put a man who aided, abetted, counseled and furthered every public act we condemn? No public measure ever put unconstitutional power in Grant's hands that was not espoused and advocated by the New York Tribune.

The following is from the New Orleans Picayune—a Greeley paper: Collector Casey has arrived in this city from Washington, which latter place he left Friday evening. Colonel Casey seems to think that the despatch on Monday, announcing that the President had requested him to resign his office, was a little premature. At least nothing had been said on the matter up to the time of his departure. In this connection it might be stated that a petition is in circulation among the merchants, who ask the retention of Colonel Casey on purely business grounds, his administration of the custom-house affairs having so far given entire satisfaction, and any change at the present time would be considered detrimental to the interests of commerce. The petition is already signed by a majority of the heaviest importers of the city.

Horace Greeley has formally accepted the "Liberal" nomination — a needless formality.

The News.

John Reichardt has killed the well-known Indian chief Yellow Leaf, and Reichardt himself has since been killed. The death of Reichardt, who has rendered valuable assistance to the government, is much regretted by the officials of the War department.

Indian agent Simmons telegraphs from Fort Benton, Montana, that the reports of the Sioux war and general outbreak is totally unfounded. The best of good feeling and disposition toward the government and citizens prevail.

Henry Peck of Norwick, N. Y., has recovered $5000 from the New York Central Railroad, for being put off a palace car for refusing to pay extra fare for the drawing-room car when the ordinary car of the train was full.

More than ten thousand immigrants arrived at Castle Garden, New York, May 20th, the largest number landed in one day since the establishment of the institution.

The band of the Garde Republique, one of the best in the French army, is promised for the Peace Jubilee.

Despatches from Biscay, Spain, report that the Carlist organization in that province has been completely annihilated. Five thousand of the insurgents surrendered to the loyal forces on Sunday last. Order is now restored throughout the entire province.

The spring meeting at Fleetwood Park opened May 21. The first race, for three-minute horses, was won by Abdallah in 2:36 1-4, 2:37 and 2:38 1-2. The second race, for 2:31 horses, was won by Honest Dutchman in 2:30, 2:29 and 2:28 1-2.

The cases of the people against Tweed, Ingersoll, Fields, the Mayor of New York and R. B. Connolly, have been postponed.

An additional appropriation of half a million to the Pacific Mail went through the House of Representatives, May 21, by a majority of twenty, the only New England members voting against it being Buffington, Willard and Strong. Butler opposed it, but paired off.

Stokes, the murderer, is to be brought into court to-day—for another postponement, probably.

At a fire in New Britain, Conn., May 21, four men were buried by a falling building, and one of them, James F. Calvin, was suffocated. The others escaped.

State News.

Dr. R. J. P. Goodwin of Manchester has been appointed an examining surgeon of pensioners, in place of Dr. Buck, deceased.

The State Unitarian Association will hold its annual meeting at Peterborough, on the 25th and 26th of next month.

Mr. Oliver Fernald of Great Falls fractured his right foot in the machine-shop where he was employed on Saturday.

The plank road at Salisbury is to be rebuilt.

A reunion of the twelfth New Hampshire regiment will take place at Alton Bay, June 26.

A company has been formed at Lebanon for the manufacture of cabinet-organs, under the style of the "Shepard Organ Company."

A valuable horse belonging to John J. Scammon ran away with a meat wagon on Exeter on the evening of the 21st, and no trace of him could be found until next morning, when the entire team was discovered in the river, having run off the bank at the end of Franklin street.

Enoch F. Fernald of Madbury, while ploughing on his farm, struck with the plough a petrified body, which on being exhumed appeared to be that of an Indian completely petrified. It measures 7 feet and 7 inches in length, the arm being 3 feet long. The head measures 12 inches through from forehead to back part. A root of a pine tree near which it was found was growing across the neck and another across the arm. From the shape of the head it was judged to be an Indian, having a retreating forehead and high cheek-bones. Considerable excitement was caused by the discovery, and parties are already negotiating for it to be put on exhibition. The petrification appears to be fiedspar granite, and will weigh about 800 pounds.

Steamer Lady of the Lake was safely launched, May 21, and will soon be running upon the route between Weirs and Centre Harbor and Wolfeboro', in connection with the Boston, Concord & Montreal Railroad.

A GREAT POPULAR CONDEMNATION. One of our coppery exchanges, (which has been blowing hot one day and cold the next ever since the Cincinnati "crowd" assembled, not knowing exactly how the old thing is going to work in the Baltimore convention,) says that whether the ex-slaveholders conclude to throw up their hats for an abolitionist or not, "The meeting at Cincinnati was a great popular condemnation of the administration and its followers." We know that the self-appointed "delegates" composing the Cincinnati crowd condemned the administration vigorously, as was expected would be done by a convention one half of which was made up of disappointed office-seekers and the other half of still more disappointed ex-office holders; but the "popular" feature of the Cincinnati bubbub, in at least so far as this State is concerned, is well shown by the enthusiasm its nominations have awakened, and the character of the great body of immaculate "reformers" is equally well shown in the record of "Hon." Wm. H. Gove, one of the two or three "delegates" from New Hampshire and a Vice President at Cincinnati. The enthusiasm seems to have culminated at Lancaster, where a dozen boys and two men followed a bass drum and fife in procession, while the copperheads fired a salute near the grave-yard, probably hoping to rouse the dead men to act with their party. Vice President Gove was once a Republican—or pretended to be—went over to the Labor Reformers because the Republicans didn't give him as much office as he fancied he deserved, then sold out the Labor Reformers to the Democrats for a position in the State government, and now goes in for anything in the shape of "reform in politics" which will give him a chance for what he knows he will never again receive from Democrats, Labor Reformers or Republicans—a nice fat office. Whatever strength the Cincinnati hash ticket may have in other States, no "popular" movement ever fell quite so flat in New Hampshire as the one represented here by Hon. Wm. H. Gove.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

A CORRESPONDENT, writing from Athens, curiously contrasts the mixtures to be found there of ancient and modern civilizations. Railroads spin their trains amid the temples of three thousand years; steamers dash their swells upon the Pireus, and the scream of their whistles resounds from Athos, Pentelicus and Cytheron to Olympus and the heavens beyond their gods. Dr. Ayer's world-renowned medicines, those consummations of modern science, are posted on the Acropolis, the Parthenon, the Areopagus and the Thesion, while the modest cards of Cherry Pectoral, Ayer's Sarsaparilla, Ague Cure and Pills, look from the windows of the shops in the streets of Athens, where they are sold.—N. Y. Sunday Globe.

PILES.—The accessing torture from internal bleeding, external and itching piles is fast wearing away the thousands of those who are afflicted and their hope and courage have long since given place to despair. Let those who see this cheer up, for a mild and sure cure may be had by using BRIGGS' PILE REMEDIES.

CASTORIA—is a scientific vegetable preparation; a perfect substitute for and more effective than Castor Oil, and is pleasant to take. It cleanses the system in a most remarkable manner; does not distress or gripe, but operates when all other remedies have failed. It is certain to supersede Pills, Castor Oil, Narcotic Syrups, and all other purgative and exciting medicines. The Castoria contains neither Minerals, Morphine nor Alcohol. By its emolient, soothing effect, it assimilates the food and produces natural sleep particularly adapting it to crying and teething children. It cures Stomach Ache, Wind Colic, Constipation, Flatulency, Croup, and kills Worms. Make your Druggist send for it; he will always keep it, as every family must have it. It costs but fifty cents a bottle. J. B. Rose & Co., 53 Broadway, New York. m1 4w

CORNS.—Since pride and fashion have had control of mankind, and shoemakers were compelled to make boots and shoes to fit fancy instead of the feet, the suffering from Corns, Bunions, Ingrowing Nails, Sore Insteps, Blistered Heels, Callosities on the bottom of the feet, &c., cannot be described. But Briggs' Corn and Bunion Remedies will cure all such torments, and proper fitting boots will prevent their reproduction. Sold by all druggists. a12

VEGETINE does not deceive invalids into false hopes by purging and creating a fictitious appetite, but assists nature in clearing and purifying the whole system, leading the patient gradually to perfect health. d

HOLLOWAY'S PILLS AND OINTMENT.—Scrofula was considered incurable until the recent discovery of "Holloway's Pills and Ointment" flashed upon the world. Diseases which baffle the skill of the medical schools, readily yield to these peerless remedies. Scurvy, Erysipelas, Saltrheum, Itch, and all cutaneous eruptions are curable by them. 25 cents per box or pot.

TRUTH AND POETRY. — Milton puts into the mouth of Lucifer, in "Paradise Lost," these memorable words—

"TO BE WEAK IS MISERABLE."

Never was a truer sentence written than this—supposed to be wrung from the Archfiend in his impotence and agony. Every victim of nervous debility, or of that depressing languor which is one of the accompaniments of dyspepsia and biliousness, can testify to the misery of mind and body which they involve. The motive power of the system is partially paralyzed; the mind is haunted by anxiety and fear; and the sufferer is as incapable of applying himself energetically to any kind of business as if he were under the benumbing influence of catalepsy. This terrible mental and physical condition need not, however, be endured for forty-eight hours by any human being. PLANTATION BITTERS is an absolute specific for all the torments which a deranged stomach, a disordered liver, and shattered nerves, superinduce.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

Provide Against Danger.

At this season all the great lines of travel begin to swarm with human beings intent on business or pleasure. Are these moving multitudes aware of the danger which ensues from drinking different varieties of water and breathing atmospheres to which their lungs are unaccustomed? Do they realize how important it is to be pre-armed with an antidote that will defend their systems from the evil consequences of such changes and from all ailments and disturbances which arise from the miasma so plentifully envolved from the soil at this period of the year? Such an antidote—certain in its protective operation and free from everything objectionable in its composition and flavor—has been for twenty years before the world. No instance can be adduced, during that period, in which HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS has failed as an acclimating medicine, or as a preventive of the bodily ills to which the undefended system is liable in unhealthy localities.

A good appetite, perfect digestion, a vigorous condition of the nervous system, functional regularity, and a pure and active circulation, are the elements of health, and these signal blessings may be secured and perpetuated by the use of this powerful, yet harmless, vegetable tonic. Such is the experience of all who have ever taken it as a safeguard against the diseases which debility, irregularity and a morbid condition of the solids and fluids of the body are sure to invite.

The Brutal Police.

Messrs. Editors:—I noticed in the Portsmouth Democratic paper of Tuesday evening a characteristic thrust at the police of this city, in a local item a portion of which is claimed to emanate from the brain of a "well known railway official," who, by the way, is probably as mythical a personage as the "prominent Republican" so frequently trotted out and made to do duty for the Democratic editor when he is disinclined to personally assume the responsibility of his untruthful attacks. I do not propose to undertake a defence of our policemen; I only wish to call your attention and that of your readers to a few points involved in the item above alluded to; prior to which, however, I will state very briefly the facts of the case in question, as I learn them. A man recently went into the gun store of Mr. Shillaber on Bow Street and pretended to want to purchase a pistol, Mr. Shillaber being absent at the time and his wife in charge of the shop. After the stranger had inspected a few of the pistols he bought one, paid for it and left. Shortly after, Mrs. Shillaber discovered that two pistols had disappeared with the man, and communicating the fact to the City Marshal, the latter set himself and assistants at work to find the whereabouts of the thief. One officer went to the Eastern Depot to watch the train which leaves this city for the East about half past 2 o'clock, P. M. With a good description of the style and general appearance of the offender, as given by Mrs. Shillaber, the policeman was well prepared to discover among the few who congregate at the depot at that hour of the day the party whom he was pursuing, should he show himself. When the train arrived from Boston he observed a stranger—who had hitherto been walking back and forth at a considerable distance from the depot—suddenly step forward and climb upon the rear platform of the smoking car. The train had already commenced to move. The officer was sure in regard to the identification of the man, leaped upon the platform, seized the supposed pistol thief and jumped from the rapidly moving train at the risk of his own life and that of his prisoner. Bad business, to be sure, to leap from a railroad train that has attained a speed of perhaps ten miles an hour; and many lives have been lost by such foolhardiness. But it rather goes to demonstrate the courage and determination of the policeman, than to illustrate his brutality or roughness as charged in the paper referred to. Let me quote a line or two from the "well known railway," &c.: "A few days since one of your officers came near being crushed beneath the cars in the Eastern depot as he dragged a quiet and unresisting man from the cars with as much fuss and bluster as though he had taken him in the act of committing a murder."

Nevertheless, this same quiet, unresisting, meek and inoffensive gentlemen went about stealing whatever he could lay his hands upon, and now lies in jail awaiting trial, the evidence against him having been considered sufficient by Judge Page to warrant him in holding the quiet pistol stealer for examination before the next Grand Jury. Now to the points. The Democratic editor endeavors to draw public sympathy towards a sneak thief, and intimates that it would have been better for the officer to have let the culprit escape than to thus rudely snatch him from the cars while he (the offender) was so quiet and unresisting! Again, the editor tries to prejudice an uninformed public against our police force generally by failing to give an honest and truthful statement of the case. And again, it seems a little singular (although to me it is perfectly clear) that the same editor almost always defends the law-breaker and is usually very severe on the executors of the statutes. The public generally are beginning to see through this, and to conclude that the old saying "no rogue e'er felt the halter draw, with good opinion of the law," applies with peculiar emphasis to the editor aforesaid. A CITIZEN.

Laconics.

The Jubilee singers of Rockingham and Strafford Counties and elsewhere, to the number of probably 1000, are to hold a grand mass rehearsal at Exeter on Saturday, under direction of Carl Zerrahn. Tickets for singers or others, to Exeter and return on this occasion, may be had at the Concord Depot in this city, for 50cts. Cars leave Portsmouth at 5 minutes before 8 in the morning, and return here at 10 minutes before 7. Harlow's Orchestra will probably accompany the Portsmouth chorus.

Master Herbert Atwood, three years old, knows of no particular reason why he should not be mentioned in the list of children whose precocity delights the multitude. Herb. is fond of chickens and is a decided worm diggist. Sometimes the hens are greedy and peck at the little fellow's fingers. Last week one pecked with "too much emphaticness" and sorely wounded Herb's feelings. So he betook himself to his mother for consolation. Being informed that the hen was naughty in illustrating female character so unhappily and that his finger would soon cease aching, Herb. responded, smiling through his tears, "I dess—I dess 'e old hen didn't know who I was!"

The frost is not all out of the ground in this vicinity yet. On the 21st some workmen at the Rockingham House came across a solid place while digging a hole, and had to use a pickaxe vigorously to smash through.

That the past winter killed a large proportion of the evergreen shrubs in New England and further west has been mentioned several times; but the largest tree we have heard of as being winter-killed is a fir-balsam on the farm of Chas. Hayes & Son of this city, which was a thrifty tree last Fall but is now as dead as a herring. The trunk of this tree is more than a foot in diameter. It is now reported that strawberry vines have suffered as badly as evergreens, and that but a small crop may be expected.

The election to fill the vacancy in Ward One, caused by the death of Hon. Horton D. Walker, will take place June 3d.

Advocates of the re-election of Senator Patterson who affirm that those persons who favor rotation are being "spotted," make no headway by such ridiculous talk. That kind of "coercion" kicks.

A Republican newspaper man and a prominent and popular hotel keeper of Democratic proclivities, of this city, have each promised to give the other twenty dollars under certain conditions, viz.: if Horace Greeley becomes the next President of the United States, the newspaper man is to present the landlord with the sum mentioned; but if Horace does not become the next President then the landlord is to "donate" the twenty dollars to the newspaper man. The newspaper man proposes to take high rank among the monied men of the profession after the 5th of November next, being confident that he will then be possessed of a fortune of forty dollars—twenty dollars which he won't have to pay his Democratic friend, and twenty dollars which the latter will contribute to the press fund. Cheer up, brethren of the quill; the pecuniary prospects of the profession are brightening.

THE ROBESON REPORTS.—The Robeson investigating committee has agreed on its reports. Messrs. Sargent, Peters and Warren unite in the majority report exonerating and approving all the official acts of the Secretary. Mr. Blair, chairman of the committee, reports that the law has been violated in the payment of the Secor and Grosvenor claims, in the construction of the torpedo boats and sale of the Tennessee's engines, leaving open but not stating the inference of personal corruption in their transactions. To both of these reports is appended a statement by Mr. Archer, agreeing with Governor Blair in his conclusions, but expressly stating that he finds no reason to suspect or accuse the Secretary of personal dereliction of any kind.

—Horace Greeley's father was a poor farmer. So is Horace.

—The Mexican bread-fruit tree is to be introduced in Florida.

—Young ladies now distinguish their two kinds of handkerchiefs as "blower" and "shower."

—The new Dolly Varden tipple is defined as being composed of Greeley gruel and Brown stout.

—A boy of fourteen runs a $5,000 tea and coffee business at Fort Wayne, Ind., which he built up himself.

—Holmes says: "I should like to see any man's biography, with corrections and emendations by his ghost."

—The people of Wyoming, Penn., don't know whether to call their female judge a justicess of the peace or a justice of the peacess.

—A musical monthly publishes "The Kiss she gave me at the Gate" as among the latest productions. It is nothing new, however.

—The Indianapolis Journal states that the potato bugs will poll a heavy vote in Indiana this Fall, and sweep the State by irresistible majorities.

—The Grand Duke Alexis is now at Shanghai, China. He intends to return home by way of the Sandwich Islands and San Francisco and expects to reach that city some time next September.

Morning Chronicle.

Concluded from first page.

"Thrown up the sponge?"

"Yes—kicked the bucket——"

"Ah—has departed to that mysterious country from whose bourne no traveler returns."

"Return? well, I reckon not. Why, pard, he's dead!"

"Yes—I understand."

"Oh, you do? Well, I thought maybe you might be getting tangled again. Yes, you see he's dead again——"

"Again! Why, has he ever been dead before?"

"Dead before? No! Do you reckon a man has got as many lives as a cat? But you bet he's awful dead now, poor old boy, and I wish I'd never seen this day. I don't know no better friend than Buck Fanshaw. I know'd him by the back; and when I know a man like him I freeze to him—you hear me. Take him all round, pard, there never was a bullier man in the mines. No man ever know'd Buck Fanshaw to go back on a friend. But it's all up, you know; it's all up. It ain't no use. They've scooped him!"

"Scooped him?"

"Yes—death has. Well, well, well, we've got to give him up. Yes, indeed. It's a kind of hard world, after all, ain't it? But, pard, he was a rustler! You ought to see him get started once. He was a bully boy with a glass eye. Just spit in his face and give him room according to his strength, and it was just beautiful to see him peel and go in. He was the worst son of a thief that ever draw'd breath. Pard, he was on it. He was on it bigger than an Injun!"

"On it. On what?"

"On the shoot. On the shoulder. On the fight. Understand? He didn't give a continental—for any body. Beg your pardon, friend, for coming so near saying a cuss word—but you see I'm on an awful strain in this palaver, on account of having to cram down and draw everything so mild. But we've got to give him up. There ain't any getting around that, I don't reckon. Now, if we can't get you to help plant him—

"Preach the funeral discourse? Assist at the obsequies?"

"Obs'quies is good. Yes. That's it; that's our little game. We are going to get up the thing regardless, you know. He was always nifty himself, and so you bet his funeral ain't going to be no slouch, solid silver door-plate on his coffin, six plumes on the hearse, and a nigger on the box with a biled shirt and a plug hat—how's that for high? And we'll take care of you, pard. We'll fix you all right. There will be a kerridge for you; and whatever you want you just 'scape out and we'll tend to it. We've got a shebang fixed up for you to stand behind in No. 1's house, and don't you be afraid. Just go in and toot your horn, if you don't sell a clam. Pat Buckboy, that know'd him, will tell you that he was the whitest man that was ever in the mines. You can't draw it too strong. He never could stand it to see things going wrong. He's done more to make this town peacable than any man in it. I've seen him lick four Greasers in eleven minutes, myself. If a thing wanted regulating, he war'n't a man to go browsing around after somebody to do it, but he would prance in and regulate it himself. He war'n't a Catholic; but it didn't make no difference about that when it came down to what a man's right was—and so, when some roughs jumped the Catholic bone yard and started in to stake out town lots in it he went for 'em! And he cleaned 'em too! I was there, and seen it myself."

"That was very well, indeed—at least the impulse was—whether the act was strictly feasible or not. Had deceased any religious convictions? That is to say, did he feel a dependence upon, or acknowledge allegiance to a higher power?"

More reflection.

"I reckon you've stumped me again, pard. Could you say it over once more and say it slow?"

"Well, to simplify it somewhat, was he, or rather had he ever been connected with any organization sequestered from secular concerns and devoted to self-sacrifice in the interests of morality?"

"All down but nine—set 'em up on the other alley, pard."

"What did I understand you to say?"

"Why, you're most too many for me, you know. When you get in with your left, I hunt grass every time. Every time you draw, you fill; but I don't seem to have much luck. Let's have a new deal?"

"How? Begin again?"

"That's it."

"Very well. Was he a good man, and—"

"There—I see that; don't put up another chip till I look at my hand. A good man, says you? Pard, it ain't no name for it. He was the best man that ever—pard, you would have doted on that man. He could lam any galoot of his inches in America. It was him that put down the riot last election before it got a start; and everybody said he was the only man that could have done it. He waltzed in with a trumpet in one hand and a spanner in the other, sent fourteen men home on a shutter in less than three minutes. He had that riot all broken up and prevented nice before any one had a chance to strike a blow. He was always for peace and he would have peace, he could not stand disturbances. Pard, he was a great loss to this town. It would please the boys if you could chip in something like and do him justice. Here, once, when the Micks got to throwing stones through the Methodis' Sunday-school windows, Buck Fanshaw, all his own notion, shut up his saloon and took a couple of six-shooters and mounted guard over the Sunday-school. Says he, "No Irish need apply!" And they didn't. He was the bulliest man in the mountains, pard; he could run faster, jump higher, hit harder, and hold more tangle-foot whisky without spilling than any other man in seventeen counties. Put that in pard; it'll please the boys more than anything you could say. And you can say, pard, that he never shook his mother."

"Never shook his mother!"

"That's it, say of the boys will tell you so?"

"Well, but why should he shake her?"

"That's what I say—but some people does."

"Not people of any repute?"

"Well, some that averages pretty so-so."

"In my opinion, a man that would offer personal violence to his mother, ought to—"

"Cheese it, pard; you've banked your ball clean outside the string. What I was a drivin' at was, that he never throwed off on his mother—don't you see? No, indeed. He gave her a house to live in, and town lots, and plenty of money; and he looked after her all the time; and when she was down with small-pox, I'm damned if he didn't sit up nights and nuss her himself! Beg your pardon for saying it, but it hopped out too quick for yours truly. You've treated me like a gentleman and I ain't the man to hurt your feelings intectional. I think you are white. I think you are a square man, pard. I like you and I'll lick any man that don't. I'll lick him till he can't tell himself from a last year's corpse! Put it there?" [Another fraternal handshake—and exit].

The obsequies were all that the boys could desire.

CURING

Costiveness, Jaundice, Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Dysentery, Foul Stomach, Erysipelas, Headache, Piles, Rheumatism, Eruptions and Skin Diseases, Biliousness, Liver Complaint, Dropsy, Tetter, Tumors and Salt Rheum, Worms, Gout, Neuralgia, as a Dinner Pill, and Purifying the Blood.

Are the most congenial purgative yet perfected. Their effects abundantly show how much they excel all other Pills. They are safe and pleasant to take, but powerful to cure. They purge out the foul humors of the blood; they stimulate the sluggish or disordered organ into action, and they impart health and tone to the whole being. They cure not only the every day complaints of every body, but formidable and dangerous diseases. Most eminent clergymen, most skillful physicians, and our best citizens send certificates of cures performed, and of great benefits they have derived from these Pills. They are the safest and best physic for children, because mild as well as effectual. Being sugar coated, they are easy to take; and being purely vegetable, they are entirely harmless.

THE BOARD OF HEALTH of the City of Portsmouth call the attention of the public to the following sections of City Ordinances Sec. 4 and No. 100, and invite all interested in the preservation of health in the City to aid them in the execution of their duty.

ORDINANCE NO. 4.

Sec. 3.—All waste water of houses, yards, cellars, sinks, pumps, &c. shall be conveyed by their owners or occupiers to the common sewers, or to such places as the Health Officers may direct.

Sec. 4. No person shall be allowed to throw any vegetable or dead animal substance, or any other matter capable of producing infection, into any street, lane, river or dock, or upon any wharf, but shall bury them or throw them into the river below low-water mark.

AYER'S HAIR VIGOR

FOR RESTORING GRAY HAIR

TO ITS NATURAL VITALITY AND COLOR.

Advancing years, sickness, care, disappointment, and hereditary predisposition, all turn the hair gray; either of them disposes to fall off prematurely, and either effect is unpleasant and undesirable. It should be. Dr. Ayer's consummate skill has produced an antidote for these deformities, which has won gratitude for him from multitudes of men and women. His Hair Vigor sometimes reproduces lost hair; and always restores to faded and gray hair its natural color, with the glossy and fruitness of youth. The comparatively few bald and gray heads, that we now see, are those who have not yet discovered the virtues of Ayer's Hair Vigor for renewing the hair. The fresh and youthful hair we see on older heads is often the product of his art. If you are disfigured, or made old, austere and ugly, by gray hair, restore its youthful color, and with it your features to their original softness and agreeable expression.

As an elegant dressing for beautifying the Hair, it has no superior.

The Chronicle.

TO USE BONES.—First method—Take 100 pounds bone powder in some tight box—a shallow trough answers well—and add 62 1-2 pounds commercial sulphuric acid, or oil vitriol as it is called, diluted with an equal bulk of water. It will be better for the farmer to add the water first—say forty pounds—to the bones, and then the acid slowly, stirring thoroughly with a hoe. After standing a few hours this will appear a pasty mass, somewhat slow to dry. Spread thinly in the sun, and if necessary work in with the hoe a little fine loam.

Second Method — Mix thoroughly equal parts of fine ground bone and good wood ashes, then moisten with water till of the consistency of stiff mortar. Let stand five or six days, then dry as in first process, only more ashes can be added for an absorbent.

Whole raw bones may be treated by this second process, only it takes from two to three months to disintegrate them, when they may be pounded or crushed fine. We believe this second process to be both convenient and valuable to the farmer, and know it will give good results.—Mirror and Farmer.

IMPROVEMENTS OF LAND.—There are two ways in which land may be ameliorated and brought into good tilth and condition for grain crops, and then seeded down to grass. The first is by growing roots with the help of manure, to restore fertility and get rid of weeds, which can be done to most advantage on fields already well worked and smoothed down by the action of the plough. The other is by summer fallowing. The latter is often objected to as entailing a loss of one year's crop, but this is more in theory than in practice, for there are fields on many farms that have remained in a state of rough pasturage, yielding but little grass for years, full of old stump roots, craddle holes, wild grasses and weeds of every description, that can be got rid of and the land brought into a proper system of rotation, by first giving them a thorough summer fallowing, followed by fall wheat or barley, as the crop on which to seed down with clover or grass.—Canada Farmer.

ALSIKE CLOVER. — As I have had some experience in raising this valuable variety of clover, I thought perhaps a few statements of facts concerning it might be of benefit to the farmers of Maine; especially now, when all other grasses are in so poor condition and there is so much more ground to seed this spring than common. I have thirty acres seeded to Alsike, and have cut it for hay, saved it for seed, and pastured it for five years. I commenced with one-half acre the first year, sowed on a moist piece of land bordering on a cedar swale. It raised one hundred and twenty-five pounds of seed the first year; the second year I cut one and one-half tons of hay on the same ground and had one hundred and sixty-five pounds of seed. I have saved the seed four years in succession from this one-half acre, and last season the clover was as thick on the ground as it was at the first. For hay, all kinds of stock prefer it to any other. My neat stock, which are all thoroughbred Durhams, (and I don't starve them) have eaten a large part of the straw this winter, after the seed was threshed off, preferring it to good red clover and timothy hay well cured. The stalk remains green after the seed is ripe, and does not lose so much as other grasses, if it is not cut in season. It grows quicker, and comes to maturity earlier; consequently is not so much affected by the drouth. I have ten acres of pasture; one acre I consider worth as much as one and a half of any other pasture ground I ever had. My stock last season would leave good feed in the other part of my pasture and graze on the Alsike as long as they could get a bite. It grows nearly as long as our Aroostook or Pea-vine clover, but much finer; having more branches on the stalk, more leaves and heads, and the leaves and heads do not break off and lose in curing as much as red clover. The roots run very deep in the ground, which prevents the frost throwing them out and winter killing. The difference in expense of seeding with Alsike is but a trifle; as one pound will seed as much as two and a half of red clover, the seed being much finer. It wants to be sown after the grain is harrowed in, and then the ground rolled or bushed, as the seeds will not germinate if they are put in too deep. I once used twelve and a half pounds of red clover, and four quarts of timothy to the acre. I now sow five pounds of Alsike and four quarts of timothy and get a thicker set of grass. There will be large quantities of seed sown this spring in this vicinity, by farmers who have seen my success in raising it. There is no humbug about it, and farmers need not be afraid of it. It is a success as far as I can learn, wherever it has been cultivated both North and South.—Cor. Me. Farmer.

—The harshest thing that has been said of Mr. Greeley is the remark of a Welsh paper in Scranton, which actually asserts that "Blp ginly ll Greeley mlfin drmpl tamppl nypunt scrllgg gy Prlintyl ot gmshx drullizmt pegply in wrlit wemniz dr gunnozlt."

It is a South American plant, which, according to the medical and scientific periodicals of London and Paris, possesses the MOST POWERFUL tonic properties known to Materia Medica, and is well known in its native country as having wonderful curative qualities, and has been long used as a SPECIFIC in all cases of Impurities of the Blood, Derangement of the Liver and Spleen, Tumors, Dropsy, Poverty of the Blood, Debility, Weakness of the Intestines, Uterine or Urinary Organs.

DR. WELLS' EXTRACT OF JURUBEBA

The Singer

SEWING MACHINE

STILL LEADS THE MARKET.

The Success of the Company is far beyond that of any other similar concern; the Daily Manufacture

—OF—

400 OF THE SINGERS

Failing to Supply the Constant Demand.

All other machines call the public attention to some new loop or stitch or tension or finish, some advantage in running or needles or feed or prices—and many of these are as we have said very good points, and the agents selling them use them to divert entirely the would-be purchaser from fairly considering the facts in the case; but the

SINGER

seems to unite the good qualities of all, and is never found wanting.

THE SINGER

IS THE

OLDEST

SEWING MACHINE

IN THE MARKET,

All others being copied from its first model. It does two-thirds the sewing done in this country and preserves its advantages over all others combined.

It is readily kept clean, and has THE BEST TENSION EVER INVENTED; it is higher speeded and requires but little power to run; it works equally well upon the finest and heaviest goods; it does all the varieties of work known to the art.

The News.

The Cunard steamships Hecla and Tarifa sailed from Liverpool for Boston, Thursday, May 23d. The friends of passengers by the wrecked "Tripoli" will be gratified to learn that they have been forwarded at once, on the above named steamships.

By the terms of the amnesty bill which has passed the U. S. Senate, the only persons excepted from its provisions are the Senators and Representatives of the thirty sixth and thirty-seventh Congresses, and officers in the judicial, military and naval service of the United States, heads of departments and foreign ministers, at the time the rebellion was organized.

The supplemental apportionment bill has passed Congress. New Hampshire will continue to choose three Representatives to Congress.

The New York senate, as a court of impeachment for the trial of corrupt judges, has adjourned to meet in Saratoga July 17.

Gen. Richard Oglesby has been nominated for Governor by the Illinois Republicans.

Twin children of Mrs. Ball of Portland, ten months old, were left by their mother a few moments alone, when a cat attacked one of them lying on the floor, tearing and biting her about the face in a horrible manner, large pieces from the cheek having been torn out and devoured.

Small-pox is increasing in Boston.

The Philadelphia union league has indorsed Grant.

The municipal reform party of Philadelphia have nominated a full city and county ticket, composed equally of Democrats and Republicans.

Miss Jane Parker, of Pittsfield, Mass., died last week from the effects of pricking a finger with a pin while washing the week before. Her arm began to swell rapidly, and before anything could be done to check it, gangrene commenced its deadly work, eating the flesh so fast that before she died her arm as far as the elbow had mortified and dropped off. The doctors think the poison was in the soap.

Mrs. Charles Coates of Washington, Mass., fifty-six years old, became insane about two months ago and refused to eat anything, saying that her food was poisoned. All efforts to induce her to take nourishment since that time have been almost fruitless, and she died on Saturday of last week from actual starvation. Mrs. Coates has had a great deal of trouble, having lost three children who had nearly reached maturity, besides a brother and his wife, who were drowned at Claremont during the great October freshet, two and a half years ago. These afflictions doubtless caused her insanity.

The Congressional House committee on naval affairs has agreed to the Senate amendments to the naval appropriation bill, giving Mrs. Farragut $2000 a year during her life as a pension, in lieu of the amount to which she was entitled under previous laws.

An illicit distillery has been discovered in Monroe county, Mo., nearly four hundred yards under the ground. The cavern had two openings, one leading into the side of a hill, and the other running straight down from the top. The distillery is supposed to have been in operation for years.

The President has signed the amnesty bill.

The Imperial Army Band, which is to take part in the World's Peace Jubilee at Boston, will leave Berlin for the United States the 31st inst. The members of the band will wear the Prussian uniform.

The leaves in the streets of West Waterville, Me., took fire from sparks from an engine one day last week, and the people had work for two hours in preventing the burning of the village. Everything was so dry that the fire ran with great rapidity.

Campaign Notes.

The Lewiston (Me.) Journal says the Democracy of that section of the Pine Tree State are a unit for Greeley, and this is their reasoning: "We go for Greeley because it is the only chance we have of getting into power; and we believe that when elected by us, he will change his course and become practically a Democrat, as we have noticed that men are usually molded by those who elect them to office; and our votes must elect him, if he is elected at all."

The New York Evening Post keeps a faithful record of "the tone of the canvass." These are among its last observations:—We are glad to see that the Tribune denies today the accusation brought against it by the World, to the effect that the former paper has entered into a corrupt agreement with the editor of the Brooklyn Eagle for the purchase of his support during the canvass. We called attention to the matter on Saturday, not because we believe the story, but because we were interested in the anticipated reply, as illustrating the tone of discussion which the nomination of Mr. Greeley is fostering. The editor of the Brooklyn Eagle was chairman of the late democratic State convention at Rochester, and the Eagle is now supporting Mr. Greeley for the presidency. In order to show the manner in which these journals see fit to conduct the campaign, and the kind of language we may expect to see introduced into political life if Mr. Greeley is elected, we make two short extracts from the Brooklyn Eagle and from the Tribune. The Eagle says: "We have only to say in this column that every charge made by the World, of which the Eagle is alleged to have any knowledge, is false—false in insinuation, false in detail, false in gross: and to add that in our opinion the publication of these falsehoods is paid for by Grant's official stipendiaries, and in Grant's interest." The Tribune goes a step farther: "The editor of the Tribune honors Mr. Kinsella for his patriotic course, and for the courage and sagacity he displays, but has never had any communication with him, does not know him, never saw him, would not today, meeting him on Broadway, be able to distinguish him from the editor of the World or the owner of any other place of prostitution." Have not these extracts something of the flavor of the good old party-organ times, before the Tribune had taught the people the meaning of independent journalism?

Gen. Winn, president of the Mechanics' State Council of California, and recognized leader of all the trades organizations in the Golden State, and an ultra Democrat withal, has informed the San Francisco Bulletin that he shall oppose Greeley, preferring Grant to all others, if a Republican must be had.

Beauregard is a Greeleyite.

Horace Greeley has ordered five thousand photographs of himself for campaign purposes.

State News.

Mr C. P. Chase, tutor in Greek at Dartmouth Collage, has been appointed professor of mathematics in Orient Collage, Michigan.

On May 21st, in Derry, the body of a schoolboy named C. W. Andrews was found in the woods not far from the village, with marks as if of violence on his person. It is said that a male relative called for him at school on the 18th and that the two went into the woods together. Nothing more was seen of the boy till his body was found. The lad is said to have been heir to considerable property.

Jubilee Notes.

Members of chorus societies are now being assigned boarding places.

Young Ketchum is working in Wall street again with all his accustomed energy and vim.

Spiritualism rages at Salt Lake.

Two new gas companies want charters in Chicago.

It is reported that mortality among the chickens from cholera is very large.

Immense white sunshades are the correct thing for the seaside.

A gentleman in the vicinity of Terre Haute, Ind., reports $740 net profit from one acre of grapes last season.

The Plymouth (Iowa) Sentinel says that 40,000 acres, at least, of prairie land will be this year broken in that country.

Flour is steadily advancing in price and will continue to do so until the wheat crop looks more promising than at present.

Niagara river from Lake Erie to Ontario is almost gorged with ice moving downward with the current of the stream.

A Mississippi town well was lately explored to see what gave the water its Saratoga taste. Eighteen dead dogs were elimated.

—A Missouri legislator clinched an argument against dogs, the other day, by swearing that the money expended in supporting 21,000,000 dogs in the United States, would buy 1,344,000,000 whiskey cocktails every year.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

A CORRESPONDENT, writing from Athens, curiously contrasts the mixtures to be found there of ancient and modern civilizations. Railroads spin their trains amid the temples of three thousand years; steamers dash their swells upon the Piræus, and the scream of their whistles resounds from Athos, Pentelicus and Cytheron to Olympus and the heavens beyond their gods. Dr. Ayer's world-renowned medicines, those consummations of modern science, are posted on the Acropolis, the Parthenon, the Areopagus and the Thesion, while the modest cards of Cherry Pectoral, Ayer's Sarsaparilla, Ague Cure and Pills, look from the windows of the shops in the streets of Athens, where they are sold.—N. Y. Sunday Globe.

PILES.—The unceasing torture from internal bleeding, external and itching piles is fast wearing away the thousands of those who are afflicted and their hope and courage have long since given place to despair. Let those who see this cheer up, for a mild and sure cure may be had by using BRIGGS' PILE REMEDIES.

CASTORIA—is a scientific vegetable preparetion; a perfect substitute for and more effective than Castor Oil, and is pleasant to take. It cleanses the system in a most remarkable manner; does not distress or gripe, but operates when all other remedies have failed. It is certain to supersede Pills, Castor Oil, Narcotic Syrups, and all other purgative and exciting medicines. The Castoria contains neither Minerals, Morphine nor Alcohol. By its emolient, soothing effect, it assimilates the food and produces natural sleep particularly adapting it to crying and teething children. It cures Stomach Ache, Wind Colic, Constipation, Flatulency, Dropsy, and kills Worms. Make your Druggist send for it; he will always keep it, as every family must have it. It costs but fifty cents a bottle. J. B. Rose & Co., 53 Broadway, New York. m1 4w

CORNS.—Since pride and fashion have had control of mankind, and shoemakers were compelled to make boots and shoes to fit fancy instead of the feet, the suffering from Corns, Bunions, Ingrowing Nails, Sore Insteps, Blistered Heels, Callosities on the bottom of the feet, &c., cannot be described. But Briggs' Corn and Bunion Remedies will cure all such torments, and prevent driving boots will prevent their reproduction. Sold by all druggists. a12

VEGETINE does not deceive invalids into false hopes by purging and creating a fictitious appetite, but assists nature in clearing and purifying the whole system, leading the patient gradually to perfect health. d

HOLLOWAY'S PILLS AND OINTMENT.—Scrofula was considered incurable until the great discovery of "Holloway's Pills and Ointment" flashed upon the world. Diseases which baffle the skill of the medical schools, readily yield to these peerless remedies. Scurvy, Erysipelas, Saltrheum, Itch, and all cutaneous eruptions are curable by them. 25 cents per box or pot.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

Provide Against Danger.

At this season all the great lines of travel begin to swarm with human beings intent on business or pleasure. Are these moving multitudes aware of the danger which ensues from drinking different varieties of water and breathing atmospheres to which their lungs are unaccustomed? Do they realize how important it is to be pre-armed with an antidote that will defend their systems from the evil consequences of such changes and from all ailments and disturbances which arise from the miasma so plentifully envolved from the soil at this period of the year? Such an antidote—certain in its protective operation and free from everything objectionable in its composition and flavor—has been for twenty years before the world. No instance can be adduced, during that period, in which HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS has failed as an acclimating medicine, or as a preventive of the bodily ills to which the undefended system is liable in unhealthy localities.

A good appetite, perfect digestion, a vigorous condition of the nervous system, functional regularity, and a pure and active circulation, are the elements of health, and these signal blessings may be secured and perpetuated by the use of this powerful, yet harmless, vegetable tonic. Such is the experience of all who have ever taken it as a safeguard against the diseases which debility, irregularity and a morbid condition of the solids and fluids of the body are sure to invite.

WORLD'S PEACE JUBILEE

AND

INTERNATIONAL Musical Festival,

AT BOSTON.

PRELIMINARY ANNOUNCEMENT.

The Executive Committee of the World's Peace Jubilee and International Musical Festival respectfully announce that the great undertaking to which the music-loving people of the country have been looking forward for many months, with such deep interest, will commence in Boston

On the Seventeenth Day of June,

And close on the Fourth of July Next.

It is hardly necessary to state that the preparations for this great event have required the constant application for months of the thousands who are to participate in it, and have involved an enormous expenditure; but the committee feel confident that the time, labor and expense devoted to the successful development of so noble an enterprise must result in not only affording the highest gratification to all who may hear the glorious music to be rendered upon a scale of grandeur never before attempted, and witness the magnificent spectacle which such an assemblage must present, but that it will also confer a lasting benefit upon art, the country, and the age.

While the programme of the first week of the Festival will embrace all the great features to be presented—including the CHRUS OF

TWENTY THOUSAND VOICES,

THE

Orchestra of Two Thousand Performers,

the most powerful organ ever built, together with many of most eminent American and European bands and artists, (among whom may be mentioned the great maestro, of fifty-six performers,) the concerts to be given from first to last will surpass any series of musical entertainments ever presented to the American public.

SEASON TICKET, transferable, admitting to all the Concerts from June 17th to July 4th, inclusive, FIFTY DOLLARS EACH, including reserved seats, now ready; and Tickets for single admission to each entertainment, during the first week, FIVE DOLLARS, with reserved seats, will be ready for sale on and after June 1st, and may be had upon application, personally or by letter, to A. P. PICK, Music Hall, Boston.

Per order of the Executive Committee.

NEW MUSICAL CARD.

THOS. P. MOSES, Practical MUSICIAN and TEACHER, would most respectfully remind his personal friends and the musical public that he continues to give MUSIC LESSONS—in playing and singing, sacred and secular,—with undiminished taste and ability, in a style inferior to no teacher whether at home or abroad, and solicits a reasonable share of home patronage.

Having reluctantly relinquished the sister art of PAINTING for several reasons, and recovered his health, MR. MOSES will continue in the active field of Music with a zeal and vivid perceptibility fully equal to all rational and substantial improvements of the times. Industrious scholars of some natural ability can learn from Mr. M. the essential elements of MUSIC, truest TIME, and the most perfect TOUCH of the Piano, also, how to unite sentiment with sound in a pure style of SINGING, at his Music Room, at twelve dollars per Quarter of twenty-four lessons. Piano and vocalizing—both together or separately, the same price.

A handsome and substantial flagstaff is now being constructed at the mast-yard of Wm. R. Martin in this city, to be raised at Straw's Point, Rye Beach, the Governor's summer residence, for the Fourth of July, by his friends resident at the Point, and others. The good old Union banner, now spangled by thirty-seven stars, will float from its peak at an altitude of one hundred and ten feet, and will be a very conspicuous object from that prominent position.

Conductor Wes. Abbott, one of the most genial and popular officials of the Portsmouth, Great Falls & Conway R. R., had a surprise at Great Falls last week, in the shape of a $250 gold watch. He deserved it.

We are pleased to receive a call from Mr. George F. Evans, formerly of this city, now chief clerk to Col. Macomb, engineer U. S. A., with headquarters at Rock Island, Ill. Mr. Evans has been with Col. Macomb for nine years past, first commencing with him in this city. The Colonel now has charge of the improvements on the Uppper Mississippi, the Rock Island Rapids, the Des Moines Rapids, the Illinois River, and for the preservation of the St. Anthony Falls. He has just completeted a substantial bridge across the Mississippi river at Rock Island. Mr. Evans left for the West on Thursday, where we wish him continued success and prosperity.

Bailey & Co.'s Circus and Menagerie will exhibit this (Friday) afternoon and evening, at the usual place on Middle Street. It was at Nashua recently, and the Telegraph says that "although a 25 cent show, it is pronounced by those who never miss going to exhibitions of the kind to be the best as a whole that has visited Nashua for many years. The animals were numerous and all of the best specimens, clean, in good condition and very attractive. The performing was artistic and entertaining throughout; in fact so easily were all the difficult feats accomplished that no part was painful to witness because of the fear that generally prevails in an audience that there is a probability of an accident. Signor Sebastian's bareback riding, with his infant son, was the most perfect and wonderful feat of horsemanship ever attempted in this city. The lady equestrians were among the best artists of the ring, and the gymnasts were fully equal to any we have seen and the clowns quite as funny. It is estimated that fully five thousand persons witnessed the afternoon and evening performances. If this estimate is correct there is no reason why the managers should not 'put money in their purse,' or why other showmen should not furnish an equally good entertainment at the same price." The establishment will enter the city this forenoon in a full-dress procession. The manager would remind those who intend taking ladies or children to the show that the afternoon performance is precisely like that in the evening, in addition to which the wild beasts are fed in the afternoon and more time can be spent in observing their habits, while the great crowd present in the evening—which our exchange say necessitated the turning away of hundreds in other places for want of room—will be in a great measure avoided. The show will open for visitors at 1 o'clock P. M., and 25 cents will give "the youngsters" a treat.

The great sale of House Lots in the neighborhood of Lincoln Hill is appointed for Thursday next, May 30. The sale will be on the premises. The advertisement may be found in another column.

—They are growing a new variety of grape in Waterbury, Conn., and the editor of the American says that the skins are useful for umbrella covers.

—In Whitley County, Ind., there is a new fangled corndropper. It drops two rows and hunts ground squirrels at the same time. All the operator has to do is to lean up against the tree and perspire—until the horn blows.

How it Was Done.—Theodore Tilton of the Golden Age, who was the "inventor" of Mr. Greeley as a candidate for a Presidential nomination and an earnest worker for him at Cincinnati, gives the following account of the "sinful game" by which a half-dozen editorial opposers of trickery squelched the "sinful game" of Judge Davis in aspiring to a nomination by the "Liberals:"

The newspaper men—once a somewhat despised class—exerted a prodigious power at Cincinnati. Thus, when the Davis movement was at its height, and its managers confidently predicted the success of their candidate, five or six gentlemen of the press met at midnight over a snipe lunch, and resolved to kill the ambitious project the next day. The patriotic conspirators were Horace White of the Chicago Tribune, Samuel Bowles of the Springfield Republican, Henry Watterson of the Louisville Courier-Journal, Murat Halstead of the Cincinnati Commercial, and a few other well known writers, all of whom agreed in believing that the Davis interest was pressed by the Judge's money, and that the scheme of nominating a political judge because he was pecuniarily able to purchase for himself such a distinction, ought at all hazards to be balked, or as Carlyle would say, "squelched." How far this accusation was true, the present deponent saith not. As he does not positively know the facts, he feels unwilling to join in the indictment. But other journalists believed it to the point of rage and wrath, and struck their blows accordingly. Each editor, on the midnight question, telegraphed an editorial to his journal bearing heavily against Judge Davis, and copies of all these articles were given to Mr. Halstead of the Commercial, in whose journal they simultaneously appeared the next morning. The effect was damaging in the extreme on Davis' prospects. It was impossible for his champions from that moment to win any new recruits for their hero. It was his death-blow.

So! From Mr. Tilton's account of the means employed to switch Davis from the track, the shirking by the convention of the consideration of the issues which the convention was called expressly to consider, the notorious office-seeking propensities of many of its leaders, and that the eminent political commission merchant, Reuben E. Fenton, was the agent in closing the bargain between the supporters of Greeley and Brown, we should judge that the assertions of Messrs. Bowles, Matthews, Atkinson and other disgruntled "reformers," to the effect that trickery, trading and wire-pulling were more glaringly open at Cincinnati than at any regular convention for years, were well founded. The new disorganization may be destined to beat the field, but for a party which proposes to throw aside all the corrupt and underhand practices of the old parties their start at Cincinnati seems rather unpromising.

The Palestine Exploration Society.—An association has just been formed in New York, organized similarly to the English "Palestine Exploration Fund," which has for its aim the thorough exploration of the Holy Land, for the purpose of setting at rest doubtful questions of locality in Scripture history, and, if possible, of discovering any remains of ancient cities, wells or tombs which may still exist. The district to which the special efforts of the American explorers will be devoted is east of the Jordan, embracing Edom, Moab, Gilead and Bashan. The recent discovery of a Moabite inscription of great archæological interest gives promise of further success.

War with Spain isn't among the improbabilities. The Edgar Stewart, Wyoming and the Spanish man-of-war Borgia steamed out of the harbor of Kingston on the morning of May 17. The Stewart was determined to escape. The Borgia and Wyoming were ready for action. The Borgia carries the same number of guns as the Wyoming. Capt. Davis is fully authorized to pour a broadside into the Borgia upon the slightest intimation of any interference with the Stewart. It will thus be seen how critical our relations are with the Spanish authorities.

—A Danbury, Conn., gentleman came home late one night. His wife, who was in bed, heard an unusual noise below, and going down, found her lord on his knees to her best set of furs. He had a gun in his hand, and a look of intense anxiety upon his face. The instant the door opened he hastily exclaimed: "Sh-Sh, ole woman, don't scare 'em." "Scare what, you old fool?" murmured his wife. "Moths!" he hysterically whispered; "I'm goin' for 'em, old woman; the first moth what shows his head out of them furs will get his limbs shattered, or I'm——." Sick at heart and humiliated beyond description, the miserable woman dragged herself back to bed.

—A beautiful instance of undying affection was shown by the lately deceased bishop of St. Asaph, in Wales, who for twenty years, every day, storm or sunshine, strewed flowers on his wife's grave.

—Poor Stokes announces that he is willing to submit to the decision of the law after all the facts in his case are known. Glad to hear it: we were afraid he wouldn't.

HELP THE BEST PLANTS. — Every meadow, every pasture is a battlefield where plants of different kinds are fighting for their chances. Supply your true friends with what they want freely, and they will overpower their opponents without further assistance. The washing down by rain from hilly, stony pastures of soluble mineral substances takes subsistence from the plants we desire to encourage. Spread rich soil, guano, wood ashes upon a peaty, swampy turf, where you never before saw white clover or useful grasses, and suddenly they will make their appearance without even being sown. They have been there before, waiting only for a better chance, but you could not see them, for they were overrun by coarser plants and powerless from starvation.

ADULTERATION OF LARD.—A writer in the Pharmaceutical Journal says that he lately obtained a quantity of lard from a respectable pork dealer. It was beautifully white; indeed he had never seen an article that looked better. His first trial of it was in preparing ointment of nitrate of mercury. The color, when the mercurial solution was added, was the reverse of citrine, indeed decidedly sanative, developing in a short time to a slate color. Surprised at this unprecedented result, the usual precautions having been taken as to temperature, &c., the lard was inspected and on examination was found to contain a large proportion of lime. Some time after, being in conversation with a lard renderer, a hint was dropped as to the relation of lime to color, when the information was confidentially imparted that a common practice among lard dealers was to mix from two to five per cent. of milk of lime with melted lard. A saponaceous compound is formed, which is not only pearly white, but will allow the stirring in during cooling, of twenty-five per cent. of water. So much for appearances.

A PLEASANT REMEDY. — From an article in the Hartford Times we make the following extract concerning Mr. Sharpe, the well-known inventor of Sharpe's rifle:

"Mr. Sharpe, by the way, is in greatly improved health. Two months ago he thought his earthly career was about ended. He suffered from a throat trouble which was leading to bronchial consumption. After trying, for two years, all the doctors from Philadelphia to Boston, he had lately started on a new tack—the result of his own cogitations. After every meal he eats a quantity of pure white sugar. The effect is surprising. He looks ten years younger, and has regained his strength and spirits. The same treatment has been tried by another gentleman similarly afflicted, and with almost as good results—only the latter person moistens his sugar with rum! We should be afraid to commend this latter method—it might become too popular; and folks might get their sugar too moist."

HUNGARIAN GRASS.—Having read something about this most valuable crop in the Farmer, I thought I might say a few words which would be of some advantage to your readers. This grass has been gaining in favor with our Western farmers for quite a number of years past. Having spent some five years in the State of Illinois, I can give you some facts as gleaned from farmers there concerning it. It is sown there principally for horses, and farmers say that it is quite equal to common English hay with grain. As one goes through the country there he quite frequently sees large fields of it, and when it is at its full height, and thrown into billows by a gentle wind, it presents an appearance which is indeed beautiful. On their rich soil it grows from three to four feet high, and rarely comes short of two tons to the acre, and often over three. The head is often five inches in length, yielding much seed, which makes it quite heavy. The farmers rarely have barns in which to stow their fodder, and it is no uncommon sight to see ricks of hay from five to ten rods in length, which contain from ten to thirty tons. The Hungarian keeps in the stack when well put up. I cannot say how it will grow here, but I have no doubt but that it will prove a most valuable crop for our farmers, especially on lands where grass seed has failed to catch. The Hungarian can be put in in spring, and a crop of excellent hay cut from it the same season.—Cor. Maine Farmer.

THE STRENGTH OF THE LAW.—You have thousands of readers (writes a correspondent at Nashville, Tennessee) who appreciate a good thing at the expense even of that "bulwark of our liberties," the trial by jury. The Hon. N——B——, for many years before the war, and at present, our highly respected circuit judge, while perhaps as good a nisi prius judge as ever wore the judicial ermine, is at the same time one of the most genial of men. No one enjoys or can tell a good story better than he. This one I think well worthy preservation in your treasury of good things, the Editor's Drawer. Not many years ago, the judge says, a man was on trial at Waynesborough, in this State, on a charge of murder. The evidence for the State in—of itself fatally defective—the defendent on his part, by the testimony of several unimpeachable witnesses, established a perfect "alibi."

The judge and every one else supposed the prosecuting attorney would thereby give up the case. But no; he was an obstinate fellow, whom the defendant's counsel had made mad, and moreover, he "had no use for" the defendent any way, and argue the case he would. Court adjourned till the next morning.

Meanwhile our attorney-general spent a good portion of the night in the ransacking the books for "bloody cases," more especially those in which the judges had indulged in a vast deal of rhetoric in their descriptions of the horrible nature of the crime of murder. These extracts he read to the jury in his speech the next morning, quoting also freeley from the Old Testament as to the proper disposition to be made of the murderer, and closed up in a perfect conflagation of English adjectives in giving his own notions as to the indescribable heinousness of the crime of murder. The Court then charged the jury briefly, who, after a few moments' retirement, brought in a verdict of "Guilty of murder in the first degree!"

Of course a new trial was at once granted. Defendent's counsel, however, was naturally curious to know how the jury could have found that verdict, and so, walking up to one of the most intelligent of the twelve, he said to him, "How on earth did you find that verdict? on what evidence did you base it?"

"Oh!" said the juryman; "thar wa'n't nothing in the evidence that teched him; but, you see, the law was so——strong!"
—Editor's Drawer, in Harpers' Mag.

—The Courier-Journal gives Rev. George Harding of Illinois a column and a half of affectionate reproof and closes by urging him to die, promising to drape its columns in black on that sad occasion. It closes thus: Will not Mr. Harding oblige us? Will he, that is to say, can he, refuse to curl up and quit? He will never get a better opportunity. The world is weary of Harding. The grave smiles with "open lips" to receive his noble form. And there are about seventeen expectant editors ranged round the church door, every mother's son of whom will not only take sugar in theirs, but sing and swing their feet like four and twenty Sunday schools all in a row! We are dying to write the late Harding!

—"If I were in California," said a young fop in company, "Instead of working in the mines, I would waylay some miner with a bag of gold, knock out his brains, gather up the gold, and run." "I think you would do better to gather up the brains," quietly responded a young lady.

—The Minnesota State officers celebrated the thirteenth anniversary of the admission of the State to the Union on the 11th ult., by consuming a three-gallon keg of ale.

SATURDAY, MAY 25, 1872.

The News.

Spain now has a ministerial crisis. The government troops in Gerona have had an engagement with the Carlists and completely defeated them.

Efforts are making in Paterson, N. J. to have the sentence of Libbie Garrabant, sentenced to death for the murder of her paramour, commuted to imprisonment for life.

A storm passed over Fortress Monroe May 22, unroofing houses and knocking down trees. No life was lost. A tornado visited the country near Cincinnati on the same day, and several houses and barns were demolished. The house of George McMullen, a farmer, was taken up and carried several rods with the members of the family in it, all of whom were injured but not fatally. The tornado was a quarter of a mile in width.

Stokes was taken into court, May 23. After the learned counsel on both sides had stigmatized each other as tools of the Tammany ring, the proceedings were adjourned.

Another ocean steamship has been lost. The North German Lloyds' steamship Baltimore, from Baltimore to Bremen, was in collision with an unknown steamer off Hastings, England, and went ashore. All on board were saved but the vessel will probably go to pieces.

By the wreck of the seal-fishing brig Huntsman, amid the ice on the coast of Labrador, thirty-four wives were made widows and more than a hundred children orphans. All the men lost belonged to one little fishing village in Newfoundland, named Bay Roberts. The gale which destroyed the Huntsman also wrecked two steamers, the Bloodhound and Retriever, near the same place, but no lives were lost with the latter vessels. The Monticello, also a steamer, sank 130 miles from land, and two other vessels with sixty-five men are missing and it is feared lost.

Daniel Webster Appleton, who was badly burned in a Boston station where he had been locked up, drunk, some days ago, died on Thursday.

During a fire at Ithaca, N. Y., May 24, a bridge on which several hundred persons were standing broke down, and let them into the river twenty feet below. Fifteen persons were hurt, some it is feared fatally.

Campaign Notes.

The Republican convention of New Jersey assembled May 23d, and endorsed the administration.

The West Virginia Republican convention elected Grant and Colfax delegates to the National convention.

The New York World is more troubled than all the administration-supporting Republican papers put together, lest Baltimore should endorse Cincinnati. It says: "It is not now and will never hereafter be to a choice between Grant and Greeley that the voter is shut up. No endorsement can elect Greeley. Only Democratic endorsement of Greeley can certainly elect Grant. Greeley's friends have not one Republican vote in their hands to show for every ten Democratic votes which all Baltimore itself can never get cast for him. They are astutely conciliating Democratic votes by charging venality upon all whose hatred of Grant has not swelled and blossomed into a conjugal passion for Greeley." The World also asserts that the only road to Democratic success is a straight Democratic nomination ;claims the Cincinnati muddle as the work of the copperheads, and exalts the "Liberal" mudflat into a big mountain, as follows: "It [the Baltimore convention,] will refuse to paralyze, split, defeat and destroy a noble party whose steadfast faith and indomitable will, surviving every disaster, have now at last lodged division and death in the heart of its long victorious foe. Not upon the threshold of a future all its own will the Democratic party lodge division and death in its own heart."

State News.

A mass convention of all friends of temperance, irrespective of party or clique, is called by the Grand Division of the Sons of Temperance in this State, to meet at Phenix Hall, Concord, at half-past 10 o'clock, A. M., June 19. "All who love temperance, without regard to religious creeds or party predilections," are invited to take part in the deliberations upon "the means best adapted to redeem our State from the curse of intemperance."

Memorial services in honor of the late Paran Stevens are to be held in Claremont, June 21, at the close of the spring term of the Stevens high school, at the town hall. Colonel John S. Walker is to deliver the eulogy.

Mr. Stephen Holt of West Epping figures up the profit of four acres of corn raised by him last year to $157.75. He does the hoeing with a cultivator.

The reported discovery of the dead body of a boy in the woods near Derry, with indications of murder having been committed, turns out to be a canard, with no foundation whatever.

Mr. Jesse Cass, a well-known and prominent citizen of Grafton, died on Wednesday night, aged 83 years. He has several times represented his town in the legislature, and was a cousin of Hon. Lewis Cass.

There has been recently added $5000 worth of the most approved patterns of English and German instruments in the departments of light, heat and electricity, at Dartmouth College.

The tobacco-house of Mr. George Hooker, in Hinsdale, was blown down in a gale May 20, and damaged to the amount of $600.

New county buildings are to be immediately erected at Laconia.

The following statistics of the graduating class at Dartmouth are of interest: Whole number connected with the class, 93; number at present 69. Intended occupation—Law, 18; ministry and medicine, 8 each; business and teaching, 7 each; engineering, 4; journalism, 3; farmer and naturalist, 1 each; undecided, 10. The portrait of Hon. George Bancroft is to be placed in Phillips Academy, at Exeter. Dr. D. W. Gotham, one of the trustees of the academy, has resigned, to take effect in December next.

Jubilee Notes.

Japanese music will be evolved during the Jubilee.

The Coliseum is up.

The dial face of the clocks in the Coliseum will bear the letters "Peace Jubilee" instead of the Roman numerals.

The Boston city government will soon throw three or four foot-passenger bridges over the Providence railroad from streets leading from Columbus avenue.

Manager Field offers free passes to the Museum to the members of the press, from June 17 to July 4, and a special entertainment some evening during the Jubilee. Good ad!

Mr. W. V. Hutchings will have charge of the Jubilee ball.

The Irish constabulary band is expected.

Immensities.

A Lynchburg (Va.) negro has announced himself as the "coming Messiah."

In Council Bluffs it is illegal to throw scraps of paper in the streets.

One firm at Quincy, Ill., is prepared to contract for 20,000 bushels of tomatoes and 150 acres of cucumbers, to be delivered this year, which quantity they intend to pickle.

It is estimated that the State of Delaware contains about 5,000,000 peach trees, three-fifths in bearing, and that a million and a quarter of baskets may be expected this season.

The familiar chirp of the volatile currant worm is heard from the suburban fences.

The ladies of Danbury, Conn., do not throw away their jute switches for fear of insects. They fumigate them with sawdust and red pepper.

In Milwaukee no citizen wastes powder on stray dogs. When a street is fairly blockaded by them, and not before, they erect a sausage factory.

In tearing up the roof of the Court House at Edwardsville, Ill., recently, the workmen discovered the skeletons of pigeons piled up by the hundreds. A defect in the cornice enabled the pigeons to get in, but they were unable to get out again.

Moonlight rows are popular on Cayuga Lake.

—A boarding-house in Hartford was lately the scene of a little tea-table performance, which was attended with results of a disagreeable nature. A discussion arose between three of the boarders, and was broken off by the flight of a tea-cup, which struck one of the conversationalists and threw him back in his chair so far that his legs flew up and struck the table, whose legs flew up also. No formal announcement was made that supper was over, but the family understood it to be a fact from personal observation. Subsequently three individuals retired to the station-house for lodgings.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

A CORRESPONDENT, writing from Athens, curiously contrasts the mixtures to be found there of ancient and modern civilizations: Railroads spin their trains amid the temples of three thousand years; steamers dash their swells upon the Piræus, and the scream of their whistles resounds from Athos, Pentelicus and Cytheron to Olympus and the heavens beyond their gods. Dr. Ayer's world-renowned medicines, those consummations of modern science, are posted on the Acropolis, the Parthenon, the Areopagus and the Thesion, while the modest cards of Cherry Pectoral, Ayer's Sarsaparilla, Ague Cure and Pills, look from the windows of the shops in the streets of Athens, where they are sold.—N. Y. Sunday Globe.

CASTORIA—is a scientific vegetable preparation; a perfect substitute for and more effective than Castor Oil, and is pleasant to take. It cleanses the system in a most remarkable manner; does not distress or gripe, but operates when all other remedies have failed. It is certain to supersede Pills, Castor Oil, Narcotic Syrups, and all other purgative and exciting medicines. The Castoria contains neither Minerals, Morphine nor Alcohol. By its emollient, soothing effect, it assimilates the food and produces natural sleep particularly adapting it to crying and teething children. It cures Stomach Ache, Wind Colic, Constipation, Flatulency, Croup, and kills Worms. Make your Druggist send for it; he will always keep it, as every family must have it. It costs but fifty cents a bottle. J. B. Rose & Co., 53 Broadway, New York. m1 4w

ONE OF THE PRETTIEST SIGHTS in Boston is the room devoted to French Flowers, in JORDON, MARSH & CO.'S great store. It is a conservatory where the shape and brilliancy of the blossoms are undying. It needs only their varied perfume to transport one to the tropics.

The only scientific, rational and successful mode of treating Catarrh in the head, that has been devised, consists in applying Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy with Dr. Pierce's Nasal Douche (the only method of reaching the upper chambers of the nose) and taking Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery as Constitutional treatment. To this through course of treatment the disease yields as surely as fire is extinguished by water. The Douche and two medicines for $2 by all druggists.

TRUTH AND POETRY.—Milton puts into the mouth of Lucifer, in "Paradise Lost," these memorable words—

"TO BE WEAK IS MISERABLE."

Never was a truer sentence written than this—supposed to be wrung from the Archfiend in his impotence and agony. Every victim of nervous debility, or of that depressing languor which is one of the accompaniments of dyspepsia and biliousness, can testify to the misery of mind and body which they involve. The motive power of the system is partially paralyzed; the mind is haunted by anxiety and fear; and the sufferer is as incapable of applying himself energetically to any kind of business as if he were under the benumbing influence of catalepsy. This terrible mental and physical condition need not, however, be endured for forty-eight hours by any human being. PLANTATION BITTERS is an absolute specific for all the torments which a deranged stomach, a disordered liver, and shattered nerves, superinduce.

VEGETINE does not deceive invalids into false hopes by purging and creating a fictitious appetite, but assists nature in clearing and purifying the whole system, leading the patient gradually to perfect health. d

HOLLOWAY'S PILLS AND OINTMENT.—Scrofula was considered incurable until the great discovery of "Holloway's Pills and Ointment" flashed upon the world. Diseases which baffle the skill of the medical schools, readily yield to these peerless remedies. Scurvy, Erysipelas, Saltrheum, Itch, and all cutaneous eruptions are curable by them. 25 cents per box or pot.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

Provide Against Danger.

At this season all the great lines of travel begin to swarm with human beings intent on business or pleasure. Are these moving multitudes aware of the danger which ensues from drinking different varieties of water and breathing atmospheres to which their lungs are unaccustomed? Do they realize how important it is to be pre-armed with an antidote that will defend their systems from the evil consequences of such changes and from all ailments and disturbances which arise from the miasms so plentifully envolved from the soil at this period of the year? Such an antidote—one on its protective operation and free from everything objectionable in its composition and flavor—has been for twenty years before the world. No instance can be adduced, during that period, in which HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS has failed as an acclimating medicine, or as a preventive of the bodily ills to which the undefended system is liable in unhealthy localities.

A good appetite, perfect digestion, a vigorous condition of the nervous system, functional regularity, and a pure and active circulation, are the elements of health, and these signal blessings may be secured and perpetuated by the use of this powerful, yet harmless, vegetable tonic. Such is the experience of all who have ever taken it as a safeguard against the diseases which debility, irregularity and a morbid condition of the solids and fluids of the body are sure to invite.

CLEAR YOUR THROAT!

Relieve Your Lungs.

For the terrible diseases engendered by the lung-trying climate of New England,

DR. BUCHMAN'S

Pulmocine Cordial!

Is a speedy and reliable Preventive and Remedy. EVERY FAMILY should have a bottle at hand to check the sudden growth of all Pulmonary Diseases. For the Asthma, Coughs, Croups, Laryngitis, or Inflammation of the larynx, Diphtheria, and all kindred THROAT DISEASES at all times prevalent, it is the ounce of PREVENTION. Children attacked with Whooping Cough or Croup should be immediately cared for. These painful attacks come with scarcely a moment's warning, when a physician may be out of immediate reach. A dose of Pulmocine Cordial gives speedy relief, and the little ones are spared hours of pain and agony. As "a stitch in time saves nine," so does the possession of this FAMILY MEDICINE prevent the spread of disease. Parents seeing their children gasping with pain, friends and relatives beholding each other in peril from suffocation by the choking pain in the throat, paralyzed with fear and not knowing the best course to pursue, are liable to apply the wrong remedial agents. There is no safety in delay, no time to waste in such cases. CONSUMPTION, that fearful scourge of the human races, lies at the door of all thus afflicted. Buchman's Pulmocine CORDIAL arrests it (unless in its advanced stage at which time there is no local cure) relieves the pressing suffocating feeling at the lungs, and the patient's danger is past.

Buchman's Pulmocine Cordial

is no new discovery. Twenty-three years ago it was used by one of New England's most famous physicians as the best PULMONARY CURATIVE he could prescribe, after a dozen years spent in experimenting with it before he was satisfied that the Materia Medica could add nothing in its favor.

BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL

is the ultima thule of medical discovery. Among its many valuable ingredients are WILD CHERRY BARK, SQUILL ROOT, LIQUORICE ROOT, BLOOD ROOT, &c. It is a BLOOD PURIFIER, gently stimulating. It increases expectoration and is diuretic. It is sudorific and alterative. It is a necessary family medicine. It is a Tonic, and a powerful aid to the digestive organs. It is a gentle sedative, and relieves nervousness. It is aromatic and agreeable to the taste.

For Coughs, Croup, Diphtheria, Asthma, &c.

USE BUCHMAN'S

PULMOCINE CORDIAL.

The Pulmocine Cordial is not a quack medicine, is not an experiment, is not composed of any ingredients "discovered" by "walking in pastures" in South America or anywhere else, nor by one who discovered a weed and thereby cured himself. Most of the ingredients are such as our best educated physicians daily use for the complaints specified, in some form or other. The recipe is that perfected by one of New England's most learned and famous physicians, who used it entirely in his daily practice until his death. It is offered to the profession and to the public absolutely pure and unadulterated.

Having reluctantly relinquished the sister art of PAINTING for several reasons, and recovered his health, MR. Giddings, Mendum and Wilson were appointed said committee.

A joint resolution appropriating $100 for the observance of Memorial Day by the G. A. R., was received from the Common Council, read once, and the rules being suspended was read a second time and passed: Ayes, Ald. Annable, Waldron, Wilson, Marvin, Mendum,—5; Nays, Ald. Hatch and Wendell,—2.

The following resolution was passed:

Ald. Hatch, Annable and Wilson were appointed said Committee.

A message was received from the Common Council, that it had by vote declared the office of Mayor of the City of Portsmouth vacant by reason of the death of the late incumbent, Hon. Horton D. Walker. Said message was laid on the table.

In Common Council, the Committee of Conference on the joint resolution authorizing the construction of a reservoir at or near the junction of Middle and Union Streets, reported recommending the postponement of action on that resolution, and the appointment of a joint Committee to cause careful plans for a water pipe from the North Millpond to the intersection of Hanover and Bridge Streets to be made, with estimates of the cost of same, and also of a reservoir. The report was accepted and the recommendation adopted, and Messrs. Wendell, Emery and the President were appointed a Committee on the part of the Council.

A joint resolution appropriating $100 towards defraying the expenses of Memorial Day ceremonies was passed under suspension of the rules.

The announcement in another column that Mr. and Mrs. Frank L. Martyn,—assisted by other eminent talent,—will give one more of their popular entertainments on Tuesday evening, the 28th, at the Temple, will give much pleasure to the large number of their friends and admirers in this city. Prof. Martyn's playing and Mrs. Martyn's singing are sufficient of themselves—as has been repeatedly shown—to fill the Temple with a delighted audience; in addition to which we are promised a visit from Master Van Raalte and Messrs. Hills and Warren of Boston. See adv't.

Mt. Sinai Encampment of Odd Fellows of this city will visit Newburyport on Monday next, in response to an invitation of Merrimac Encampment of that city. It is understood that Eagle Encampment of Haverhill have accepted the hospitalities of the encampment at Newburyport, and the three organizations will doubtless have a good time.

The first regular sale of House Lots by auction ever made in this city, we think, (though they are common elsewhere,) is that announced by Frank W. Miller, Esq., for Thursday morning next, at the West End, the new and growing section of Portsmouth. And as the thirty or more lots offered are in every way desirable for residences, doubtless all those who intend to have a home of their own, or who desire good investment in city lots, will give this sale their attention.

MEMORIAL DAY.

The annual anniversary of "Tribute Day" occurs Thursday next, May 30., and will be appropriately remembered here by Storer Encampment, Post No 1, G. A. R., and citizens generally. The most beautiful and touching part of the exercises will be the adorning of the soldiers graves with evergreens, for thus is the day carefully observed with each returning spring, in the city, in the village, wherever a hero sleeps. Let us each lend our aid to the living "boys in blue" by contributing of our means and by our presence to this memorial season. Let these offerings from "nature's green-leaved book," never cease to be made, so emblematic of those pure and holy principles to perpetuate which our battles were fought and patriots died, believing,

There is no holier spot of ground,
Than where victorious valor lies,
By mourning beauty crowned.

Storer Encampment have arranged for the following

MANIACTIONS.—On the arrival of the Boston steamer at Bangor, recently, a woman was observed hastening ashore with a big bundle, apparently an infant in her arms, when the wind blew her shawl aside, disclosing a large demijohn.

The Bangor Whig says a thirsty fellow entered a meat shop and approaching one of the proprietors in a mysterious manner, asked him if he could get something to drink there. He answered in the affirmative, and told him the firm had some splendid ale on tap. The stranger's eyes glistened, and his mouth watered when he of the cleaver, after a trip to the back shop, returned with a clear, amber-colored fluid. "Drink quick; the police may be in at any moment," cautioned the meat man, and the stranger hastily following his advice, swallowed a couple of mouthfuls of the liquid. "The scene that ensued" can best be imagined when we state that the "ale" was old beef pickle, as salt as the Dead Sea, with a body unequalled by XXX.

RETRIBUTION.—It is said the publication of the La Crosse Democrat will soon cease, unless a purchaser can be found for it, as "Brick" Pomeroy is supposed to have lost money in it very rapidly for some months past. The New York Democrat, owned by Pomeroy, is also in the death-struggle since its deprivation of Tammany patronage. This difficulty, added to "Brick's" divorce affair and his suit for breach of promise of marriage and certain other delicate entanglements, are enough to account for the editor's condition of "red hot" exasperation and tergiversation.

—An Indiana paper has this: Owensburg, Green county, shipped 120 barrels of whiskey to Kentucky, last week, to be manufactured into seventy year old Bourbon. The process will occupy about forty-eight hours.

Base Ball.

The game between the Bostons and Forest Citys of Cleveland, at Boston on Thursday, was called during the first half of the fifth inning, when the score stood 11 to 2 in favor of the Bostons, with one run earned in that inning, and one hand out on the Boston side. On even innings the score was 10 to 2.

WINE AND WOOL.—It is estimated that there are now thirty million bearing grape vines in California, and the estimate for wine in 1872 is put down at about six million gallons. The vineyard product of the present year can hardly fall below $5,000,000. The total amount of capital invested in the wine producing business is believed to be about thirty millions, and the returns afford an income of nearly twenty per cent. The soil and climate of the State are peculiarly adapted to grape culture. The wool interest bids fair to rival wine, the seasons being peculiarly favorable to the increase of flocks and growth of wool. The sheep upon the many verdant hills are now numbered by millions. The absence of snow, and mild winters, render it an easy matter to rear and care for flocks. Instead of one clip per year, as in this climate, two clips are taken. The success that sometimes attends this enterprise on the California coast is illustrated in the snug fortunes realized in the business in a short time. It is the same also in the vinicultural business.

TOMATOES.—If people are fond of tomatoes, they may eat them in small quantities—say one or two teaspoonfuls of cooked tomatoes at a meal, as a sauce; but I believe that if a person is already in good health, tomatoes are not likely to improve his health; on the contrary, that the tomato is medicinal and should never be used in any considerable quantity by healthy people. I believe that finally they will be put in the category of medicines and prescribed when necessary by a medical man.—Dio Lewis.

—A little girl in a New York orphan asylum quarrelled with another girl and scratched her face. For this she was punished and required to learn and repeat a verse from the Bible, being allowed to make her own selection. She chose the first verse of Psalm 144, which runs as follows: "Blessed be the Lord my strength which teacheth my hands to war and my fingers to fight."

—An organization having been formed in New York for the purpose of locating denominational colonies at or near Puget Sound, the Alaska Herald trusts that the advantages possessed by Alaska will not be overlooked, and suggests Mt. Fairweather as an initial point, its apex being some 15,000 feet nearer Heaven than the locality of Puget Sound.

—The Philadelphia Post has found out what ails us. It has discovered that the politics of the country are in a state of "preliminary transitoriness.

—Horace Greeley and James K. Polk slept together in a New Orleans station-house the other night—both vagabonds.

—A pocket bootjack has been invented. You put your foot in your pocket, give a spring into the air, and off comes your boot.

A COLORADO CHARACTER.—Here is the case of Jim Whitlatch, who used to be called the "Quartz King" of Montana. Jim was among the fifty miners who halted by the holy waters of Cherry creek. He was then not out of teens. Like many others who had the advantage of being older and stronger, he traveled a hard road from the Missouri hither, though he fought the privations manfully. Other men prospered, and scores got riches, but Jim plodded on in poverty. He seemed to take naturally to a vicissitudinous life. Finally his star of luck got into the ascendency, and a sand and gravel claim up by Idaho, yielded him a bushel of nuggets, and he bought a stage ticket to Nevada.

Jim's bark ran on the high tide of luck over there. He prospected and mined, and like old King Midias, or Midias of old, everything he handled turned to gold. It was he who discovered the "Yankee Blade," the "Whitlatch Union," and half a dozen other equally celebrated mines. Some how or other, though honorably, he amassed a fortune of $60,000. But alas, it takes a strong man to hold a small fortune and Jim's grasp wasn't equal to the emergency. At any rate he saw his last dollar—never so highly prized as first one—vanish from his clutch.

Then Jim betook himself, by bull-team express, to Montana, and gradually gravitated to Helena, whence he started on a prospecting tour. Luck was with him again. He discovered and christened the Whitlatch lode—by all means the richest gold lead in the territory. Thenceforward he travelled no uphill road to fortune. He visited Wall street, banqueted the Wall street capitalists, organized a company with a million or two of funds, and returned home, a wiser and happier, as well as a wealthier man. Jim was subtantially, not superficially, successful, and he was commonly regarded as a millionare. But in a year or two his fortune began to go to pieces. The rest is easily told. Perhaps it was with him as Josh Billings thinks it always is with men on the downward road. Perhaps every one took special delight in giving him a kick.

Last week—it may have been the week before—Jim plodded out of Salt Lake in a southward direction on a prospecting march. He is poorer, if anything now than the poorest of us. Jim is an estimable, amiable and faithful man. Modest and retiring in habits, warm and affectionate in his feelings, just and honorable in all his relations, he has managed, in most localities where he resided, to "bind to him with hooks of steel" all who knew him.—Exchange.

A COOL RELATION.—How touching was the grief displayed in B——— at a funeral a little out of town! The undertaker, who was directing matters in a very professional and proper way, noticed a man giving orders, and, as he thought, rather encroaching upon the duties and privileges of his own office. "And who are you, my friend, that are so busy about here?" "Oh! you don't know me?" "No, I don't." "Well, I'm the corpse's brother."—Editor's Drawer, in Harper's Magazine.

The Singer

SEWING MACHINE

STILL LEADS THE MARKET.

The Success of the Company is far beyond that of any other similar concern; the Daily Manufacture

— OF —

400 OF THE SINGERS

Failing to Supply the Constant Demand.

All other machines call the public attention to some new loop or stitch or tension or finish, some advantage in running or needles or feed or prices—and many of these are as we have said very good points, and the agents selling them use them to divert entirely the would-be purchaser from fairly considering the facts in the case; but the

SINGER

seems to unite the good qualities of all, and is never found wanting.

THE SINGER IS THE

OLDEST

SEWING MACHINE

IN THE MARKET,

All others being copied from its first model. It does two-thirds the sewing done in this country and preserves its advantages over all others combined.

It is readily kept clean, and has THE BEST TENSION EVER INVENTED; it is higher speeded and requires but little power to run; it works equally well upon the finest and heaviest goods; it does all the varieties of work known to the art.

N. B. Those purchasing for cash, before the 1 of January next, will have a consideration allowed them.

MIRACULOUS.

It is a perfect and wonderful article. Cures baldness. Makes hair grow. A better dressing than any "oil" or "pomatum." Softens brash, dry and wiry hair into Beautiful Silken Tresses. But, above all, the great wonder is the rapidity with which it restores GRAY HAIR TO ITS ORIGINAL COLOR.

The whitest and worst looking hair resumes its youthful beauty by its use. It does not dye the hair, but strikes at the root and fills it with new life and coloring matter.

The application will do good; you will see the NATURAL COLOR returning every day, and the old, gray, discolored appearance of the hair will be gone, giving place to lustrous, shining and beautiful locks.

BEFORE YOU KNOW IT,

AYER'S

SARSAPARILLA,

FOR PURIFYING THE BLOOD.

A medicine that cures is a real public blessing. AYER'S SARSAPARILLA makes positive cure of a series of complaints, which are always afflicting and too often fatal. It purifies the blood, purges out the lurking humors in the system, which undermine health and settle into troublesome disorders. Eruptions of the skin are the appearance on the surface of humors that should be expelled from the blood. Internal derangements are the accumulation of these same humors to some internal organ, or organs, whose action they derange, and whose substance they disease and destroy. AYER'S SARSAPARILLA expels these humors from the blood. When they are gone, the disorders they produce disappear, such as Ulcerations of the Liver, Stomach, Kidneys, Lungs, Eruptions and Eruptive Diseases of the skin, St. Anthony's Fire, Rose or Erysipelas, Pimples, Pustules, Blotches, Boils, Tumors, Tetter and Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Ringworm, Ulcers and Sores, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Pain in the Bones, Side, and Head, Female Weakness, Sterility, Leucorrhea arising from internal ulceration and uterine disease, Dropsy, Dyspepsia, Emaciation, and General Debility. With their departure health returns.

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office. EDMUND BURKE, Late Commissioner of Patents."

"MR. R. H. EDDY has made for me over THIRTY applications for Patents, having been successful in almost every case. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend ALL inventors to apply to him to procure their Patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges.

Campaign Notes.

Andrew Johnson is willing to become a candidate for Congress for the State at large, under the law giving Tennessee an additional Representative.

The Democrats now spell Dan Voorhees' front name with an m.

The Richmond papers are inclined to withdraw from the support of the Greeley and Brown ticket.

The Lion (Mo.) Unterrified Democrat nominates a straight-out Democratic Presidential ticket, and marks it "not transferable."

"That" said a wag, pointing to one of Stone & Murray's circus bills, which represented an actor balancing an elephant aloft on his chin, "must be Horace Greeley and the Democratic party." "Which is Horace and which the party?" said a bystander.

The working men's national convention in New York nominated General Grant for reelection as President, and Senator Wilson for Vice-President. In taking the ballot Grant had 204 votes to 5 for Greely.

The News.

A letter to the N. Y. Herald from Khartoum states that Sir Samuel Baker, in charge of the Nile expedition, on his passage from Khartoum to Gondokoro lost one-half of his command of 800 men, near Gondokoro. Sir Samuel had a five days' fight with the Bori savages, who proved treacherous, and instead of supplying provisions as they agreed, removed every thing from the reach of the expeditionists and assaulted them.

At Taunton, Mass., the jury in the case of Hourigan vs. Nowell, to recover damages for the death of plaintiff's wife, through an explosion of kerosene oil bought of the defendant, brought a verdict of $2150 in favor of the plaintiff.

There vessels have within a few days arrived at New York from Bremen with the small-pox prevailing to a great extent among the steerage passengers. Twenty-seven deaths occurred upon one of them and thirteen upon the other. Both vessels are now in quarantine.

Stokes' case was up again, Friday. He refused to plead, and the court ordered the plea of not guilty to be entered. His counsel made an effort to secure a long delay by moving for a commission to go to England to examine an important witness for the defence. The long plea filed on Thursday was overruled, and the court adjourned the case until the June 16.

The national centennial commission has fixed upon April 19, 1876, as the time for the opening of the exhibition. It will remain open six months.

State News.

The council has unanimously confirmed the nomination of Lewis W. Clark of Manchester for attorney-general of New Hampshire, which was made by the Governor some time ago.

The delegates of the fifty-five savings banks in the State met at Manchester on Wednesday, and took action to induce the next legislature to change the present usury laws, which provide that not more than six per cent. shall be taken for the use of money, so that they could pay as high a rate of interest to their depositors as is paid by savings banks elsewhere.

Jonas Flint, a man about 74 years of age, who has been suffering from gangrene erysipelas, by which disease he lost a foot,—it being amputated a few weeks since—left Great Falls in charge of his nephew, to go to his home in Hancock, on Thursday morning last. That night a dispatch was received by his son-in-law, John Lord, of Great Falls, stating that Mr. Flint died in Boston depot. No particulars were received. When he left he was in good spirits, and appeared in good health, aside from his lameness.

A Great Falls boatman who was capsized in a race and half drowned, on reaching the shore and blowing the surplus water from his mouth expressed his sentiments in the following touching style: "By gorry! I guess I've spoiled my watch."

The wonderful giant, or petrified Indian, exhumed at Modbury, turns out to be a lineal descendant of John Henry Cardiff, Esq., famous in history, and was brought down from Boston on a freight train and buried in the ground, and a farmer hired to plow it up. The railroad men "divulged" and the City Marshal of Dover "cramped" the whole thing. Not a few have been sold; but it will be as difficult to find anyone who believed or saw it, as to find the man who struck the classical Wm. Patterson Esq.

At the late term of the S. J. Court at Nashua, eleven persons were indicted for liquor selling and disposed of as follows: S. S. Dolloff, Nashua, $50 and costs on three indictments. Wm. Coombs, Manchester, forfeited bail, $300. DeWitt C. Parker, David Labouty, Geo. Fletcher, Horace D. Corliss, Elijah Perry, Albert Parker, G. Rochette and Nancy Roby, all of Manchester, were fined fifty dollars and costs, each. Albert B. Morrison of Manchester stood trial and the jury disagreed. Some question of law arising in the case tried, the other indictments marked for trial, some six in number, were continued.

Liquor selling in Great Falls is getting to be a poor paying business. Every man the police find drunk is arrested and locked up. The prisoner gets released by compelling the man who sold him the "ardent" to pay all costs. The dealers complain bitterly, but they have to "come down with the stamps." They threaten to leave the business, and some of them have already closed up. There is now only one liquor shop in "Smoky Hollow."—Journal.

The hotel at Dixville Notch, recently burned, will be rebuilt immediately, so it will be ready to occupy soon.

Mount Vernon has voted to exempt from taxation any hotel structure which may be erected to replace the hotel lately burned there, or to give the insurance companies $2000 to rebuild it.

Samuel Grant's store in Great Falls was entered Wednesday night, May 22, and about $350 in money stolen. The most of the money was paid Mr. Grant the day before. No clue to the robber.

The jocular E. O. Foss, editor and proprietor of the Dover Local Record, endorses Ex-Gov. Stearns as the coming Senator.

Jubilee Notes.

Twenty seven military bands have been selected, mostly from New England. Besides these, other selections will be made from the large number of applicants.

The anvils, one hundred in number, will rest on timbers passing through the floor of the stage and standing upon the solid earth below.

Base Ball.

The Lowell (Mass.) and Nashua nines played a sharply contested game on the Nashua Fair Grounds, May 22d. The Lowell club won by a score of 4 to 0, in one hour and ten minutes. The winners made two runs in the third innings and two in the fourth.

Troys 12, Clevelands 4.

SMOTHERED.—The Boston Advertiser's special says the bill for the construction of ten steam sloops of war is likely to fail after all, through the skillful use of party prejudice, developed and stimulated by the democrats. The democrats have circulated the story that the bill covered a grand scheme for turning the navy yards into manufactories of republican votes, which, coupled with the natural antipathy of western members to anything pertaining to salt water, made the prospect of the bill so dubious that its friends concluded not to risk its failure, and will not attempt to bring it up again this session. In point of fact, the Navy department had not contemplated beginning work on more than two or three of the vessels during the present season, and to build only four of them at the government yards—one at Portsmouth, two at Charlestown, and one at Brooklyn. Six of the steamers were to have been built in private yards.

HOW IT POURS.—O. B. Raine, leader of the Greeley movement in Virginia and delegate to Cincinnati, was last week defeated for mayor of Petersburg by a Republican candidate by double the usual majority—1000—on the direct issue, the colored men voting solid against Raine.

William N. Berkley, the Republican nominee, has been elected Mayor of Alexandria, Va., over Hugh Latham, the present incumbent and nominee of the Democratic party. Mr. Berkley was one of the foremost Union men during the war.

NAPOLEON has written a letter, saying:

I am responsible for Sedan. The army fought heroically with an army double its strength. After 14,000 had been killed or wounded, I saw the contest was merely of desperation. The army's honor having been saved, I exercised my sovereign right and unfurled the flag of truce. It was impossible that the immolation of 60,000 men could save France. I obeyed a cruel, inexorable necessity. My heart was broken, but my conscience was tranquil.

—The Chicago Post keeps up its interesting accident items. Here is the last: Base ball. No. 2. Sheboygan, Wis., aged 16. Hot liner on third base, beautifully stopped by the baseman's right temple. Died in 36 hours.

—The Patterham, Ponica Meadow, Pilfershire and Moonshire Farm Railroad is the title of a projected scheme to benefit Boston by bringing certain of its suburbs in closer communication.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

A CORRESPONDENT, writing from Athens, curiously contrasts the mixtures to be found there of ancient and modern civilizations. Railroads spin their trains amid the temples of three thousand years; steamers dash their swells upon the Pireus, and the scream of their whistles resounds from Athos, Pentelicus and Cytheron to Olympus and the heavens beyond their gods. Dr. Ayer's world-renowned medicines, those consummations of modern science, are posted on the Acropolis, the Parthenon, the Areopagus and the Theseion, while the modest cards of Cherry Pectoral, Ayer's Sarsaparilla, Ague Cure and Pills, look from the windows of the shops in the streets of Athens, where they are sold.—*N. USE BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL for all throat diseases.

CASTORIA—is a scientific vegetable preparation; a perfect substitute for and more effective than Castor Oil, and is pleasant to take. It cleanses the system in a most remarkable manner; does not distress or gripe, but operates when all other remedies have failed. It is certain to supersede Pills, Castor Oil, Narcotic Syrups, and all other purgative and exciting medicines. The Castoria contains neither Minerals, Morphine nor Alcohol. By its emolient, soothing effect, it assimilates the food and produces natural sleep particularly adapting it to crying and teething children. It cures Stomach Ache, Wind Colic, Constipation, Flatulency, Croup, and kills Worms. Make your Druggist send for it; he will always keep it, as every family must have it. It costs but fifty cents a bottle. J. B. Rose & Co., 53 Broadway, New York. m1 4w

PILES.—The unceasing torture from internal bleeding, external and itching piles is fast wearing away the thousands of those who are afflicted and their hope and courage have long since given place to despair. Let those who see this cheer up, for a mild and sure cure may be had by using BRIGGS' PILE REMEDIES.

USE BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL for all throat diseases.

The only scientific, rational and successful mode of treating Catarrh in the head, that has been devised, consists in applying Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy with Dr. Pierce's Nasal Douche (the only method of reaching the upper chambers of the nose) and taking Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery as Constitutional treatment. To this through course of treatment the disease yields as surely as fire is extinguished by water. The Douche and two medicines for $2 by all druggists.

CORNS.—Since pride and fashion have had control of mankind, and shoemakers were compelled to make boots and shoes to fit fancy instead of the feet, the suffering from Corns, Bunions, Ingrowing Nails, Sore Insteps, Blistered Heels, Callosities on the bottom of the feet, &c., cannot be described. But Briggs' Corn and Bunion Remedies will cure all such torments, and proper fitting boots will prevent their reproduction. Sold by all druggists. al2

HOLLOWAY'S PILLS AND OINTMENT.—Scrofula was considered incurable until the great discovery of "Holloway's Pills and Ointment" flashed upon the world. Diseases which baffle the skill of the medical schools, readily yield to these peerless remedies. Scurvy, Erysipelas, Salt-rheum, Itch, and all cutaneous eruptions are curable by them. 25 cents per box or pot.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

Provide Against Danger.

At this season all the great lines of travel begin to swarm with human beings intent on business or pleasure. Are these moving multitudes aware of the danger which ensues from drinking different varieties of water and breathing atmospheres to which their lungs are unaccustomed? Do they realize how important it is to be pre-armed with an antidote that will defend their systems from the miasma so plentifully envolved from the soil at this period of the year? Such an antidote—certain in its protective operation and free from everything objectionable in its composition and flavor—has been for twenty years before the world. No instance can be adduced, during that period, in which HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS has failed as an acclimating medicine, or as a preventive of the bodily ills to which the undefended system is liable in unhealthy localities.

A good appetite, perfect digestion, a vigorous condition of the nervous system, functional regularity, and a pure and active circulation, are the elements of health, and these signal blessings may be secured and perpetuated by the use of this powerful, yet harmless, vegetable tonic. Such is the experience of all who have ever taken it as a safeguard against the diseases which debility, irregularity and a morbid condition of the solids and fluids of the body are sure to invite.

The Big Show.

Bailey & Co.'s Circus and Menagerie was recently "set up steep" by the Nashua Telegraph, in a notice which we copied in the CHRONICLE of Friday morning. At the time we had vague misgivings that the Telegraph's local editor might have "laid it on rather thick," but the general verdict of those who attended the show here—and their name is legion—seems to be that our Nashua cotemporary was not at all extravagant in its praise. Every animal advertised to be exhibited, was exhibited, including a most magnificent lion with a benevolent countenance, who looked as if he could eat a dozen of the very toughest men without losing his temper; Miss Watson's "horsemanship" was admirable, and Signor Sebastian and his little son astonishing, as well as brilliant and graceful; the trained pony was "worth the price of admission" to see, and Mr. George M. Clarke, as clown, was witty, original and entertaining, without being in the least degree coarse or indelicate in his allusions. Circus exhibitions too often prove to be schools of vulgarity; but this one is not open to such a charge. The managers' handbills say: "The Quadruple Combination claim no special morality in the exhibition, beyond doing justice to visitors by giving them their money's worth of amusement, adhering strictly to the truth in their representations of the Great Show, and by the absence of everything in their entertainments approaching to licentiousness;" and these claims are fully sustained by the quantity and quality of the amusements offered.

They Belched.

Some 600 singers attended the mass rehearsal at Exeter on Saturday, about 50 being present from this city. The Portsmouthians howled in chorus and the Exeter people yelled back again. Dover iterated and reiterated "All we like sheep," and N. Hampton vociferated "See what love hath the Father." Plaistow cleared away the clouds with the "Angel of Peace" and the roof of the Town Hall was rent in twain by the Haverhill choruisans. The day's performance was voted a success, tho' Carl Zerrahn barely passed a critical examination, being accepted as a Jubilant, so's not to hurt his feelings. A heavy noise, as of thunder, was heard here once during the day and the report gained credence that it was only the reverberation of a note uttered by Bro. Hoyt of the Haverhill Bulletin, who grew hoarse in his attempt to reach two sharps on the 4th added line below and reversed his lever too suddenly, amid the applause of Major Blake and other assembled audiences. It is calculated that the 600 got through 4253 notes each, making the grand total of harmony realized at this period of crystalized vocalization just 2551800—no dollars, no cents. Harlow's Band did themselves proud.

A "Travelled" Bore.

At the circus exhibition, Friday evening, was an elderly gent who at some period of his life had seen New York. There could be no objection to the elderly gent's having seen New York; but he was so anxious to let everybody in his immediate vicinity know that he had seen New York, and repeated the name "New York" so many times, that many of his afflicted neighbors at last caught themselves fervently wishing New York and the man who had been there were both together in that tropical locality of which New York is popularly supposed to be the best representative in this world, and to which it is believed every person who ever lived in New York will go at some future date. To keep within bounds, we estimate that the old gent said "New York" about two thousand five hundred times within the space of three hours; everything which was done in the ring was endorsed with "That's just the way they do it in New York;" he could always tell what was coming next, as he had "seen it done just so always, in New York;" and when he wished to be particularly eulogistic of any feat, it was "as good as it could be done in New York." One unfortunate being—a young lady—at first seemed much amused at the persistence with which the elderly gent lugged in New York, but as he waxed enthusiastic the expression of her face successively denoted annoyance, disgust, torture, and finally gloomy despair. As the vast audience rose to leave at the close of the performances, the young lady drew a long breath as though relieved from some hideous nightmare, and addressed her companion with, "Well, Aunt, thank Providence that old demon—" "Why, C——," broke in the astonished old lady; "what an expression!" "I don't care," retorted the martyr; "I hate him; but please fortune he won't think to say this audience is going out 'just like they do in New York!'" But the persecuted one had reckoned without the host in thinking the elderly gent had used up his entire stock of New York, for in a moment he turned to another man and said, "This is a good circus; you wouldn't see a better circus than this in New York." We have not heard of any suicide or justifiable homicide being committed in this city by any young woman since Friday night, but we think the one above mentioned would have as much pleasure in writing the New York traveller's obituary as we would in writing that of the miserable old New York woman who made life a burden to us during a two-hundred-mile railroad ride last year. We are by no means vindictive, but we should be quite resigned should the entire bottom of New York fall out.

Laconics.

The sale of House Lots at the West End on Thursday morning will in no way interfere with the services of Memorial Day, as the hour appointed for the auction is 10 o'clock. A catalogue of the thirty-four lots to be sold may be found in the advertisement, and a plan of the same may be seen at the Post Office.

To-morrow evening, Mrs. F. L. Martyn will reappear on the Temple stage with able assistants and give some of her popular selections which caused such enthusiasm on her first appearance here. Secure your tickets in advance.

Four large lions—iron ones, very fierce looking but perfectly gentle,—were placed in position at the Rockingham House on Saturday, one on each side of each entrance. Intending patrons of the Rockingham need not regard these "lions in the way" as warnings that they will be devoured if they enter, but rather as indications that danger and annoyances are kept entirely from under the hospitable roof which shelters mine hosts Peirce and their guests.

Mount Sinai Encampment, I. O. O. F., go to Newburyport to-day, in a special train at 1.30 P. M., with the Cornet Band.

British barque Stormy Petrel, Dix, arrived at this port from Troon, Scotland, on the 25th, in 29 days—a very quick passage.

The auction sale of French China, stone ware, room paper, cutlery, etc., commenced on Saturday by Mr. J. P. Morse, will not be continued to-day as advertised, but will be resumed to-morrow (Tuesday) forenoon.

The Great Falls Journal says the Wolfeborough branch of the Portsmouth, Great Falls & Conway road is being built as rapidly as possible. The only delay is occasioned by a scarcity of laborers. About one hundred Canadians were transported there on the 18th, and three hundred more on the 21st. These men are brought direct from the Provinces. It is intended to have the branch completed in July.

CONCORD RAILROAD.—The thirty-first annual report of the Concord Railroad, for the year ending March 31, states the receipts for the year at $996,224.33, including $16,860.51 received from the George Clough suit. The expenditures have been $668,160.99; leaving a balance of $328,063.34, from which $126,415.65 has been paid in taxes, and to Northern, Portsmouth and Manchester and Lawrence Roads, $150,000 for two 5 per cent. dividends, and $50,800 for new cars and rails, leaving a balance of $847.69 carried to Contingent Fund. That fund amounts to $62,917.04.

During the year $96,801.97 has been paid for engines and cars, but more are needed. Four new passenger cars have been put on the road and two more ordered, one working car has been put on and ninety-five freight cars, fifty-eight of which were built by the Road, and fifty more are being built. Two locomotives have been put on and another is to be built.

The conductor suits are to be dismissed and the claims of detectives and attorneys' services in connection with them, are to be contested.

In closing their report the Directors pay a very high compliment to Horace E. Chamberlain, Esq., the efficient and competent Superintendent, and the other employes of the road under him, of which Assistant Superintendent J. W. Hildreth of this city deserves a goodly share.

The annual meeting of the stockholders will be held at Phenix Hall, in Concord, Tuesday, May 28, at 11 o'clock A. M.

CLEAR YOUR THROAT!
Relieve Your Lungs.
For the terrible diseases engendered by the lung-trying climate of New England,
DR. BUCHMAN'S
Pulmocine Cordial
Is a speedy and reliable Preventive and Remedy. EVERY FAMILY should have a bottle at hand to check the sudden growth of all Pulmonary Diseases. For the Asthma, Coughs, Croups, Laryngitis, or Inflammation of the larynx, Diphtheria, and all kindred THROAT DISEASES at all times prevalent, it is the sure PREVENTION. Children attacked with Whooping Cough or Croup should be immediately cared for. These painful attacks come with scarcely a moment's warning, when a physician may be out of immediate reach. A dose of PULMOCINE CORDIAL gives speedy relief, and the little ones are spared hours of pain and agony. As "a stitch in time saves nine," so does the possession of this FAMILY MEDICINE prevent the spread of disease. Parents seeing their children gasping with pain, friends and relatives beholding each other in peril from suffocation by the choking pain in the throat, paralyzed with fear and not knowing the best course to pursue, are liable to apply the wrong remedial agents. There is no safety in delay, no time to waste in such cases. CONSUMPTION, that fearful scourge of the human race, lies at the door of all thus afflicted. BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL arrests it (unless in the last stage at which time there is no local cure) relieves the pressing, suffocating feeling at the lungs, and the patient's danger is past.
Buchman's Pulmocine Cordial is a new discovery. Twenty-three years ago it was used by one of New England's most famous physicians as the best PULMONARY CURATIVE he could prescribe, after a dozen years spent in experimenting with it before he was satisfied that the Materia Medica could add nothing in its favor.
BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL
Is the ultima thule of Medical Discovery.
Among its many ingredients are WILD CHERRY BARK, SQUILL ROOT, LIQUORICE ROOT, BLOOD ROOT, &c. It is a BLOOD PURIFIER, gently stimulating. It increases expectoration and is diuretic. It is sudorific and alterative. It is a necessary family medicine. It is a Tonic, and a powerful aid to the digestive organs. It is a gentle sedative, and relieves nervousness. It is aromatic and agreeable to the taste.
For Coughs,
Croup,
Diphtheria,
Asthma, &c.
USE BUCHMAN'S
PULMOCINE CORDIAL.
The Pulmocine Cordial is not a quack medicine, is not an experiment, is not composed of any ingredients "discovered" by "walking in pastures" in South America or anywhere else, nor by one who discovered a weed and thereby cured himself. Most of the ingredients are such as our best educated physicians daily use for the complaints specified, in some form or other. The recipe is that perfected by one of New England's most learned and famous physicians, who used it entirely in his daily practice until his death. It is offered to the profession and to the public, absolutely pure and unadulterated.

Morning Chronicle.

Correspondence.

KITTERY POINT, May 23.

At a court held here, May 20, Mark Dennett, Justice, presiding, three rather fast young Americans were fined one dollar and costs each for disturbing a prayer-meeting of the Freewill Baptists, in their church. The counsel for the prosecution, Moses A. Safford, Esq., truthfully said that ever since the organization of that society it has been almost constantly annoyed, and often very aggravatingly so, by these "lewd fellows of the baser sort;" and they are a nuisance that every good citizen should discountenance and use every lawful means to abate.

Other unlawful annoyances and rudeness here should also be at once abated. The rolling of heavy trucks and checking them with heavy clubs, on our public roads, is a pastime practiced by rude boys and rough, uncouth young men, endangering the lives and limbs of peaceable citizens; and young urchins in swarms run at almost every carriage which passes along the roads, climbing on or into them, unwelcomed and annoyingly, and when civilly requested to desist, these seemingly half civilized little vagrants will salute the quiet traveller with some rude reply, showing the urgent necessity of mainlaining more home missons instead of so many foreign ones.

Bad roads, and in some respects and cases an inefficient ministry, a low state of and regard for education, political and religious bigotry and low, petty jealousy on account of the superior enterprise and success of the sober, industrious, law-abiding, more intelligent, liberal and progressive portion of our citizens, need here a thorough rooting out; otherwise, ere long we shall sink in the mire of degeneracy deeper than was ever known or dreamed of in regard to Seabrook, so noted of late as the abode of rowdyism and kindred evils—from which, good Lord, henceforth please totally deliver us.

As the story goes, a while since some Spiritualists held a series of meetings in this region, which drew towards them many from the different religious societies near, who went from idle curiosity, or to hear some new thing, or for other objects best known to themselves. This so exasperated one of our "evangelical" clergymen that at a sparse assemblage of his congregation, at a prayer meeting, he remarked that these people with itching ears were bound to perdition unless they repented and turned to the Lord, and further, if matters continued in their then existing course, prayers would be so far below par that he would sell his for ten cents apiece. This reminds me of a down east story:—In a certain town in Washington County, Me., where cheap and illiterate preachers are in demand, one was employed who took his salary in hay, corn and stubble or aught else he could get, and who had as hearer and patron an old fellow who gave towards the support of the elder half a ton of hay. Soon after hauling it to his minister, the latter met brother Strout and said, "That hay you hauled to my barn was terrible poor stuff." "Well," replied brother Strout, "'tis terrible poor stuff I get for it!" Old Strout was probably right and the aforesaid prayers at ten cents apiece would doubtless prove as unsatisfactory spiritual fodder.

For want of something better I send you the following which I just received from Jacob's own lips. Every body in Kittery knows Jacob Witham, and perhaps you do, by reputation, at least. Jake informs me that he and his boys "have always voted the Dimmecratical ticket," but now he and his boys, and the Democracy, are at loggerheads; that recently he told one of the leading unterrified so, and that "why he and the boys won't go any longer with the Dimcratic party is, that they ain't the poor man's friends." Jake's version (and undoubtedly a true one) of his talk was plain and pungent. As usual, intimidation was resorted to, to bring Jake back into the Democratic fold. "Jacob," queried the unterrified pietist, "Suppose the Democratic party gets into power again; where will you then get employment?" Jake's reply crushed him. "Sir, before the Dimmecratic party ever gets into power again I shall be in ——!" A groan of the "lost cause" tone was all Mr. P. could return, and Jake departed for his home. Verily, Jake, though apparently having got a long life lease this side of the distant locality he mentioned, is indeed a sincere and I believe true political prophet,—albeit his plain talk in this case, as often, is a little profane. E. P. F.

A HINT TO NEGLECTED WIVES.—Writing to the Advocate of Green Bay, Wis., a lady describes what she has witnessed of modern "witchcraft," and confesses her mystification thereby. Adjoining her home property was the humble house and garden-plot of a poor English family. Becoming interested in this family, upon whom the surrounding farmer folks were inclined to look down, a daughter of the same, who had imprudently contracted a union with some rough fellow of the baser sort, and been virtually abandoned by him after the birth of a child, attracted her particular attention and sympathy.

Making overtures for acquaintance with the girl, who walked much in the garden plot with her infant, the lady was presently the confidant of her story; learning that her worthless husband, while under command of the law to provide a certain monthly allowance of money for mother and child, really yielded obedience in the matter only under compulsion of a "magic spell."

The man worked as gardener to an infirmary some two miles away, and when the girl wished to compel a visit from him it was her custom to pin a large living toad to the ground by means of an iron skewer, repeating over it a rhymed incantation to the effect that the cruelly tortured reptile, at the price of its own deliverance, must give the recreant husband "neither rest nor sleep" until he should "come and speak" to the utterer of the spell. The horrified lady's discovery of the poor, impaled toad, wriggling under an inverted flower-pot, was what particularly induced the young wife's explanation. "It's four weeks since he came last, and I have to do this to bring him again at all," said the girl. "The toad has been here two days and nights now, and tonight Tom will have to come, in spite of himself. If you don't believe it, keep me with you in your own house until he does come, and then listen in the garden to what he says to me."

Her hearer was curious enough to accept this proposition, and tells the results as follows: A few minutes after 10 o'clock in the night a neighbor's dog began barking violently, whereat the younger woman said quietly: "There he is," and went out of the house and across the lawn to her father's gate. The narrator, listening, heard her say: "I've brought you, Tom, because I must have some money to keep the child. If you'd keep it paid, as you ought, I'd never trouble you."

The man, whose voice indicated both rage and fear, cursed her for bewitching him. "What is it you do, you shefiend?" he exclaimed. "I hav't been able to sleep a wink for two nights for your infernal witchcraft, and had to climb over the infirmary walls to come here to-night. Something seems to drag me, and I know you've been practising some of your accursed witcheries on me." His wife told him that it was no matter what she had done, she needed and must have the money, and he would not be able to resist or sleep again until he payed it. And pay it he did, though with many bitter oaths; and upon his departure the girl liberated the tortured reptile.

The Singer

SEWING MACHINE

STILL LEADS THE MARKET.

The Success of the Company is far beyond that of any other similar concern; the Daily Manufacture

— OF —

400 OF THE SINGERS

Failing to Supply the Constant Demand.

All other machines call the public attention to some new loop or stitch or tension or finish, some advantage in running or needles or feed or prices —and many of these are as we have said very good points, and the agents selling them use them to divert entirely the would-be purchaser from fairly considering the facts in the case; but the

SINGER

seems to unite the good qualities of all, and is never found wanting.

THE SINGER

IS THE

OLDEST

SEWING MACHINE

IN THE MARKET,

All others being copied from its first model. It does two-thirds the sewing done in this country and preserves its advantages over all others combined.

It is readily kept clean, and has THE BESTTENSION EVER INVENTED; it is higher speeded and requires but little power to run; it works equally well upon the finest and heaviest goods; it does all the varieties of work known to the art.

Campaign Notes.

The Richmond (Va.) Whig is enthusiastic over "Uncle Horace." "In our judgment," it remarks, "the election of Mr. Greeley, under existing circumstances, would be a thousand fold better, both for south and for north, than that of Mr. Jefferson Davis himself."

Gov. Oglesby, of Illinois, brought down his audience in Springfield, in roars of laughter, by speaking of "the poor old Democracy tottering to its grave wearing an old greasy white hat."

The New York World is not satisfied with Mr. Greeley's letter. It regards it as a bid for the Democratic vote, which "stamps him as a demagogue."

Senator Ferry, just re-elected by the votes of Connecticut Democrats and a few Republican bolters, declares that the election of Greeley to the Presidency would be "mere midsummer madness." Now let Gen. Ferry do another manly act; resign his seat in the U. S. Senate and give place to Gen. Hawley, who deserves the position and was nominated for it at the desire of the Republican party of Connecticut.

Jefferson Davis' bail-bond, with the names of the signers in full, has been lithographed by a Richmond publishing house, and will be distributed in the South as a Greeley campaign document.

A fortune-teller, the seventh daughter of a seventh daughter, says "Horace will never be President. He was not born under the right Horace-cope; so how can Horace cope with Grant." This is the best in the profession—this fortune-teller.

The Newark Advertiser publishes the following extract from a private letter written by Gen. J. R. Hawley since the Senatorial election in Connecticut: "Yes, I do care for letters and the expression I get from them, and the Republican journals show me that there is something worth more than office—the esteem and respect of friends. I shall try to deserve the latter. The man who sets his heart upon office in this country is a fool. I never felt that I had much luck in that direction. But I love a good hearty fight, and as I reckon we shall have it this fall, count me in." It is pretty evident that Gen. Hawley does not intend to sully his past bright record by enrolling himself among the "liberal" supporters of Jeff. Davis & Co.

—One of our exchanges speaks of Horace Greeley as the "Dolly Varden Candidate." This is capital; and it is euphonious and suggestive, withal. Dolly "takes like hot cakes," and so does Horace.—Charlestown Advertiser.

People drop "hot cakes" usually.

State News.

At Concord, Mark Smart, ten years old, while running after cows with a stick in his hand, fell, running a piece four inches long into his right hand and wrist.

The third annual reunion of the Fifth Regiment will be held in Concord, June 11. Col. C. E. Hapgood will read a history of the regiment's first year of service. Half fare has been arranged for.

There are sixty starch mills in this State, in Grafton and Coos counties, which produced last year over three thousand tons.

Mr. Henry Jackson of Loudon lately attempted suicide by hanging, was cut down by a son, took the rope, went for and "whaled" with it every member of the family.

The Manchester barbers have put up the price of a shave to fifteen cents. The banks charge the old price, which is as high as their customers can bear.

George W. Weston, Esq., elected Register of Deeds for Rockingham County last March, has removed to Exeter and entered upon the duties of his new office. Mr. Weston is a competent man for the position and will doubtless ere long be as well posted in the affairs of his office as his immdiate predecessor has been.

Prof. Tourjee examined about twelve hundred singers last week and but twenty five were rejected.

If time would permit, the building committee would increase the size of the auditorium, by adding a hundred feet to the building, large as it is, for it has become apparent already that the accommodations will be insufficient to meet the demand for seats. But it is impossible.

It will take about one and a half million of spruce shingles to cover the roof of the Coliseum. This is almost the entire stock in Boston at the present time.

Alonzo C. Johnson of Great Falls, a brakeman on the Great Falls and Conway railroad, was instantly killed on Saturday, while shackling freight cars near Rochester.

The News.

A malignant type of the brain disease prevails at Newburyport and vicinity.

Lynchburg, Va., has elected a Republican Mayor by 243 majority, for the first time since the war.

The Senate on Saturday evening, after a continuous executive session of more than nine hours, by a vote of forty-two to nine, advised the President to negotiate an additional article to the treaty of Washington on the basis proposed by the British government, although in a somewhat altered form. Minister Schenck was notified by telegraph. Assurances that the modifications will not be objected to by the English government have been received, and it is now hoped that the treaty troubles are at an end. A Washington special states that a telegram has been received from London, stating that the verbal changes made by the Senate in the Supplemental Article of the Treaty of Washington, will not affect its ratification, and that every proposition is accepted.

Mr. Milton Daggett, 70 years old, for 25 years the sexton of the Bromfield street church in Boston, was found dead early Saturday forenoon at the house of his son on Bunker Hill street, Charlestown, where he had been boarding. From the evidence of those in the house it appears that Mr. Daggett came home somewhat late Friday evening and went to the pantry, in which a quantity of rat poison was placed for mice, to get a lunch. He got a piece of pie, which by some means had become impregnated with poison, and ate it.

Jubilee Notes.

Hardly has the announcement been fairly published of the engagement of Madame Peschka-Leutner, who is now delighting the people of Switzerland with her singing in "Dinorah," when we are informed that Madame Arabella Goddard, one of the greatest living pianists, is to make her debut in America at the Coliseum. The mails on Saturday brought Mr. Gilmore the copy of the 150th psalm, which Alberto Randegger of the Royal Adademy of Music has composed especially for the jubilee, to be sung by Mme. Rudersdorff with full chorus, organ and orchestral accompaniment.

The Nashua fan company has received an order for fifty thousand fans for the Jubilee.

Several choruses from places on the line of the Eastern railroad, including those of Chelsea, Salem and Malden, numbering in all twelve hundred persons, are considering the question of having an open-air rehearsal at the Hamilton camp-meeting ground, on the twelfth of June. The Eastern railroad offers to carry them at camp-meeting rates, if they decide to go.

It is the intention of the musicians of Boston to give Strauss a grand serenade upon his arrival in that city.

When the Jubilee was first talked of it was deemed an impossibility to secure so large a chorus as was proposed. Had the chorus galleries of the Coliseum been made of twice the proposed capacity, they could have readily enough been filled.

The greatest activity prevails in all the departments of preparation. Never before was such a vast enterprise brought near completion in so short a time.

A perusal of the programme of the Jubilee awakens feelings of the liveliest emotion.

NORTHERN RAILROAD.—The twenty-seventh annual report of the Northern Railroad shows the earnings for the year ending March 31 to have been $722,774.65, while the expenses have amounted to $535,033.30, leaving $187,741.35 as the net earnings of the year. The number of passengers carried in the past year was 181,109; number of tons of merchandise carried 445,210; number of tons carried one mile, 27,752,968; number of tons upward, 96,765; number of tons carried downward, 348,345; number of miles run by passenger trains, 180,122; by freights, 336,956, making a total of 523,592.

During the year 2,516 tons of new rails and 66,177 new sleepers have been placed on the track; and 2,200 tons of rails have been taken up, repaired, and relaid. These are much more than the average repairs in former years; and place the road-way in good condition. A new freight locomotive and three merchandise cars have been built; also, one mail and smoking car and twenty-one merchandise cars to replace old ones; and the road and furniture in other respects have been kept in good order.

The road equipment now consists of 11 passenger locomotives, 15 freight locomotives, 408 long merchandise cars, 15 passenger cars, 5 baggage cars, 108 short merchandise cars, 20 gravel cars.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

A CORRESPONDENT, writing from Athens, curiously contrasts the mixtures to be found there of ancient and modern civilization. Railroads spin their trains amid the temples of three thousand years; steamers dash their swells upon the Pireus, and the scream of their whistles resounds from Athos, Pentelicus and Cytheron to Olympus and the heavens beyond their gods. Dr. Ayer's world-renowned medicines, those consummations of modern science, are posted on the Acropolis, the Parthenon, the Areopagus and the Theseum, while the modest cards of Cherry Pectoral, Ayer's Sarsaparilla, Ague Cure and Pills, look from the windows of the shops in the streets of Athens, where they are sold.—N. Y. Sunday Globe.

USE BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL for all throat diseases.

CASTORIA—is a scientific vegetable preparation; a perfect substitute for and more effective than Castor Oil, and is pleasant to take. It cleanses the system in a most remarkable manner; does not distress or gripe, but operates when all other remedies have failed. It is certain to supersede Pills, Castor Oil, Narcotic Syrups, and all other purgatives and exciting medicines. The Castoria contains neither Minerals, Morphine nor Alcohol. By its emollient, soothing effect, it assimilates the food and produces natural sleep particularly adapting it to crying and teething children. It cures Stomach Ache, Wind Colic, Constipation, Flatulency, Croup, and kills Worms. Make your Druggist send for it; he will always keep it, as every family must have it. It costs but fifty cents a bottle. J. B. Rose & Co., 53 Broadway, New York. m1 4w

USE BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL for all throat diseases.

PILES.—The unceasing torture from internal bleeding, external and itching piles is fast wearing away the thousands of those who are afflicted and their hope and courage have long since given place to despair. Let those who see this cheer up, for a mild and sure cure may be had by using BRIGGS' PILE REMEDIES.

TALK AT THE TOILET.—Every lady's maid knows that the bewitching beings who pave their triumphant way with conquering hearts, regard a splendid head of hair the most effective of all womanly fascinations. They believe, and they are right, that they can lasso as many beaux with the luxuriant ringlets and glossy braids as they can "kill at sight" with their beaming eyes. Hence in their "toilet talk" among themselves and with their attendants, the merits of preparations for the hair are freely canvassed, and the latest result of this discussion seems to be the almost universal adoption of LYON'S KATHAIRON as an article better adapted to promote the growth and beauty of the "Chief Glory of Woman" than any other at present before the world. They say that without irritating the skin of the head it eradicates dandruff, and that it penetrates below the surface to the roots of the hair, endowing them with new life and vigor.

CORNS.—Since pride and fashion have had control of mankind, and shoemakers were compelled to make boots and shoes to fit fancy instead of the feet, the suffering from Corns, Bunions, Ingrowing Nails, Sore Insteps, Blistered Heels, Callosities on the bottom of the feet, &c., cannot be described. But Briggs' Corn and Bunion Remedies will cure all such torments, and proper fitting boots will prevent their reproduction. Sold by all druggists. a12

HOLLOWAY'S PILLS AND OINTMENT.—Scrofula was considered incurable until the great discovery of "Holloway's Pills and Ointment" flashed upon the world. Diseases which baffle the skill of the medical schools, readily yield to these peerless remedies. Scurvy, Erysipelas, Saltrheum, Itch, and all cutaneous eruptions are curable by them. 25 cents per box or pot.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

A Wholesale Stimulant, That is Absolutely Pure.

Physicians throughout the world agree as to the necessity for diffusive stimulants in medical practice, but complain, and with good reason, of the impossibility of obtaining them pure. The difficulty here presented would be a serious one indeed, if the class of agents was limited to the adulterated liquors and wines of trade. It vanished, however, when the absolute purity and extraordinary restorative properties of HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS are taken into consideration. As a stimulant the article is absolutely free from everything objectionable; but this is only one of its recommendations. If it were nothing more than an excitant its effects would be fleeting. It might refresh and revive the system for a few minutes, but could produce no permanent benefit. The stimulating elements of the Bitters is a means, not an end. The tonic, anti-bilious, depurative and aperient vegetable juices combined in the preparation are the agents that impart vigor and regularity to the weakened and disordered organization, the spirituous principle being chiefly useful in diffusing their influence through the system and otherwise facilitating their operation. Alcohol, even in its purest form, is not so much a medicine as a motive power, by which the specifics of the vegetable kingdom may be brought to bear upon the debilitating and disordered organs that require renovating and regulating; and it is to this way that the pure essence of rye incorporated in Hostetter's Bitters increases the efficiency of the purely medical ingredients.

The backwardness of the season is bad for Posts of the Grand Army which observe decoration day. Flowers will be much scarcer this year than is usual at this season, and whoever can spare a bouquet or basket of flowers from their gardens or conservatories should feel it a privilege to contribute them to the memory of the departed brave. Let there be a generous response to the call of the Grand Army for wreaths and flowers.

Messrs. John Neal & Co. are repairing a three masted schooner on their railway at Kittery.

The usual quiet of Sabbath morning was disturbed at the West End on Sunday, when a veteran nag attached to a milk wagon became suddenly frightened, and regardless of the proprieties of the day overturned the wagon, spilled a large quantity of milk, landing most of the cans against a public pump, and ran around a square, making his fastest time on record before being caught. It was a refreshing sight to see the streams of pure milk come down the gutters, and many customers would have gone without their Sunday fluid had not the milkman been enabled to supply the deficiency by drawing from that inexhaustible source which is ever ready to make up deficiencies, or borrowing from his fellow milkmen, several of whom quickly congregated around the scene of disaster.

Mr. Martyn's concert this evening will doubtless attract a large and fashionable audience. Mr. Arthur T. Hills has two songs on the programme, and Mrs. Martyn is to sing the "Wood Nymph's Call;" a duett, "On Mossy Banks," with Mr. Hills; and "Beloved Eye." Mr. Martyn and Master Van Raalte, violinist, will also favor the audience with choice selections. Mr. J. C. Warren is the accompanist. Tickets may be had at Preston's drug store.

An account of the tomahawking and scalping of an organ-grinder by an Indian chief has been going the rounds of the papers recently. If that "big Injun" would only emigrate to this city he would find a superior opening for business.

Schooner Boston, Rich, from Elizabethport for this port, arrived in the lower harbor on Sunday. When five days out she sprung a leak of 800 strokes an hour, and on arriving in the lower harbor the pilot ran her on the mud flats to fill her seams. She came up to town on Monday.

The pension bureau at Washington seems to delight in causing delay in giving the old ladies of 1812, their pensions. One of them was married in 1805 and her marriage notice only printed in a journal at that date, but the officiating clergyman, who has been under ground for about half a century, is requested to swear that he married her, and if he cannot be found some of the people who stood around at the time are required to prove it.

Some time ago a prodigal son of the discreet age of two years, having been sharply reproved by his father for putting the match-box and its contents in the coffee pot, took into his head a notion to leave his boarding place, and did so. After a long search along the docks and around the railroad stations, the lost heir was found at his aunt's (where he had fared sumptuously) and ignominiously lugged home. Paterfamilias, strap in hand, sternly demanded, "Well, sir; what was your object in running away from home?" Memories of snubbings at home and mince pie at his aunt's at once prompted the answer: "'Cause I wanted to go somewhere where I'd be better treated and better feeded than I am here." He got off that time.

Assistant Marshal Thos. Entwistle, a faithful and efficient officer, has been appointed U. S. Deputy Marshal.

The crew of barque Stormy Petrel, lying at Railroad Wharf, were arrested on Monday for refusing to do duty, and were brought before U. S. Commissioner W. H. Y. Hackett, who remanded them to jail until the sailing of the vessel.

Steamer Appledore is to be taken on the Railway on Friday, and her engine and machinery cleaned. She will be put on the route to the Shoals, June 15th, under command of the popular Capt. E. M. Baker. A Philadelphia delegation of families have notified Messrs. Laighton of their intention to take the first trip of the season in the Appledore.

For those who intend to purchase building lots to construct residences, the only locality open seems to be the new streets at the West End; while as regards investments, a leading business man, in this city who has watched real estate closely for half a century, says he has never known a venture in land here to turn out poorly although Portsmouth has been all the while described as a very slow place. The auction announced for Thursday morning is well worthy attention.

Among the localities in the city which are being improved, is Newcastle Street where the city authorities, and Mr. Thomas O. Varrell and other residents, are making various attractions for the better.

The chantes of the crew of insubordinate "matelots" in the lockup, Monday afternoon, although perhaps not quite up to the jubilee standard, were a vast improvement on the maniacal yells which sometimes come from sojourners in that institution. "O, Shanadore, I love your daughter," was especially touching, and affected our devil to that extent that he ceased work and leaned pensively from the back window for a full hour.

Willie, of the local copperhead organ, loves policeman Wallace as little as he does the truth,—policeman Wallace having incurred Willie's enmity by shooting a nice rough who was engaged in committing a felony, some weeks ago. In a late issue of his sheet, Willie says a young man whom policeman Wallace was attempting to arrest, "turned upon him and drove him from the field." This is much better than usual for Willie, for one-half of his story is true; the young man did turn upon the officer; but that the officer ran away is false, for he kept his hold until the assailant was locked up.

Probable Disaster.

Capt. Samuel Dick, of barque Stormy Petrel, reports having spoken May 2d a Norwegian ship bound for Quebec in lat. 56 10 north, lon. 23 40 west. She had quite a number of passengers on board, had lost main and mizzen topgallant masts and royal mast. Her main-top mast was sprung and mizzen-top-mast head carried away, the disaster having occurred in a gale, three days before. On May 11th, encountered a terrific gale from the south, of ten hours' duration, followed by a twelve hours' hurricane from the north, with a frightful sea. On May 19th, passed ship's deck planks, bulwarks and water casks, with a bale of cotton, 40 miles south-east of Canseau.

LOOK OUT.—Sir Charles Lyell computes that all North America will be washed away into the ocean, by processes now actually in operation, within the space of four and a half millions of years.

CLEAR YOUR THROAT!
Relieve Your Lungs.
For the terrible diseases engendered by the lung-trying climate of New England,
DR. BUCHMAN'S
Pulmocine Cordial
Is a speedy and reliable Preventive and Remedy. EVERY FAMILY should have a bottle at hand to check the sudden growth of all Pulmonary Diseases. For the Asthma, Coughs, Croups, Laryngitis, or inflammation of the larynx, Diphtheria, and all kindred THROAT DISEASES at all times prevalent, it is the ounce of PREVENTION. Children attacked with Whooping Cough or Croup should be immediately cared for. These painful attacks come with scarcely a moment's warning, when a physician may be out of immediate reach. A dose of PULMOCINE CORDIAL gives speedy relief, and the little ones are spared hours of pain and agony. As a stitch in time saves nine, so does the possession of this FAMILY MEDICINE prevent the spread of disease. Parents seeing their children gasping with pain, friends and relatives beholding each other in peril from suffocation by the choking pain in the throat, paralyzed with fear and not knowing the best course to pursue, are liable to apply the wrong remedial agents. There is no safety in delay, no time to waste in such cases. CONSUMPTION, that fearful scourge of the human race, lies at the door of all thus afflicted. BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL arrests it (unless in its advanced stage at which time there is no local cure) relieves the pressing, suffocating feeling at the lungs, and the patient's danger is past.
Buchman's Pulmocine Cordial is no new discovery. Twenty-three years ago it was introduced by one of New England's most famous physicians as the best PULMONARY CURATIVE he could prescribe, after a dozen years spent in experimenting with it before he was satisfied that the Materia Medica could add nothing in its favor.
BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL
Is the ultima thule of Medical Discovery.
Among its many ingredients are WILD CHERRY BARK, QUILL ROOT, LIQUORICE ROOT, BLOOD ROOT, &c. It is a BLOOD PURIFIER, gently stimulating. It increases expectoration and is diuretic. It is sudorific and alterative. It is a necessary family medicine. It is a Tonic, and a powerful aid to the digestive organs. It is a gentle sedative, and relieves nervousness. It is aromatic and agreeable to the taste.
For Coughs,
Croup,
Diphtheria,
Asthma, &c.
USE BUCHMAN'S
PULMOCINE CORDIAL.
The Pulmocine Cordial is not a quack medicine, is not an experiment, is not composed of any ingredients "discovered" by "walking in pastures" in South America or anywhere else, nor by one who discovered a weed and thereby cured himself. Most of the ingredients are such as our best educated physicians daily use for the complaints specified, in some form or other. The recipe is that perfected by one of New England's most learned and famous physicians, who used it entirely in his daily practice until his death. It is offered to the profession and to the public, absolutely pure and unadulterated.

Morning Chronicle.

PHILLIPS ON GREELEY.—Wendell Phillips is not so enthusiastic in supporting Horace Greeley as is Col. Patrick Donan, the ex-rebel editor of the Missouri Caucasian, who a few months since advocated the assassination of President Grant. This is the way Mr. Phillips looks at the old white hat:

You know I am neither a Republican nor a Grant man. Whom I shall vote for, or whether I shall vote at all, I do not know. But certainly as against Greeley I am for Grant. We have had one Andy Johnson; I will not run the risk of getting another in Horace Greeley. I want a man with some decided principles. Greeley never had any. Besides, I consider Greeley a secession candidate. I believe the plot to nominate him was hatched by Southern white rebels more than a year ago, and has been mainly nursed by them. I advise any one who means to vote for him to find out first what agreements have been made by Mr. Greeley's friends with Jeff Davis and his staff as to office and patronage. I am perfectly certain that there is a distinct mutual understanding, if not a positive contract, between them. If Horace Greeley enters the White House, Jeff Davis will be as truly part of the administration as Seward was in Lincoln's day. No negro can vote for Greeley who values his life of property, or cares for his race. If by a freak of Providence he is elected, I shall advise every southern loyalist to load the revolvers that Grant's arrest of North Carolina Ku-Klux has allowed to be laid aside. If he is elected, let the negroes live in squads of fifty, whom no coward will dare shoot down, and have no property after sunset. Lonely men will be shot, and no black will own a mule forty-eight hours if any rebel knows of the fact. For a loyal administration to protect the negro, awe the rebel and give the working man a chance, Grant's little finger is worth a baker's dozen of Greeleys.

—Rev. Mr. H——bad a large family of unruly boys, and one of them did something very wrong, but as none of them would confess it, he declared he would whip them all, and then he would be sure to punish the real culprit. Lisping Jimmy, the youngest, retired to a corner and grumbled. "What is that you say?" asked his father. "I thaid," whimpered Jimmy, "that tha'th jutht the way old Herod did. He killed all the children tho that he would be there to kill Jethuth."

With downcast eyes and modest smile
Our simple peasant hears their choice;
Stands positive at his plow a while,
And frankly thus gives voice:

"Do I accept? Dear friends and kind,
Your timely zeal sustains me yet;
Office I never have declin'd,
And never will, you bet."

—Commercial Advertiser.

AMUSING STREET CAR INCIDENT.—The Washington Star relates the following:

"The passengers on one of the Riker street cars laughed some a few days since, at a scene between the conductor and a well dressed young man from Georgetown. As the car was passing down the avenue, the young man at the time standing on the platform taking it easy, with one foot on a trunk, he was approached by the conductor and his fare demanded. He quietly passed over his five cents.

Conductor—I demand twenty-five cents for that trunk.

Young man, (hesitating)—Twenty-five cents. Well, I think I will not pay it.

C—Then I shall put the trunk off.

Y. M.—You had better not, or you may be sorry for it.

Conductor pulls strap, stops car, dumps trunk on the avenue, starts car, and after going some two squares, approaches the young man, who was still as calm as a summer morning, and in an angry mood says: Now I have put your trunk off, what are you going to do about it?

Y. M. (coolly)—Well, I don't propose to do anything about it; it's no concern of mine; it wasn't my trunk.

C. (fiercely)—Then why did you not tell me so?"

Y. M.—Because you did not ask me, and I told you you'd be sorry for it.

C. (furiously)—Then go inside the car.

Y. M.—Oh, no, you're good enough company for me out here.

At this juncture a portly German emerges from the car, and angrily says: Mine Gott, you feller, where is mine drunk?

Y. M.—My friend, I think that is your trunk down on the avenue there.

German—Who puts him off? I habe the monish to pay him. I will see about dot.

The car was stopped, and shortly afterward the conductor was seen to come up perspiring with the trunk on his back—a part of the performance he did not enjoy half as well as did the passengers.

—An exchange says: "A Milwaukee lover, dying lately, left his sweet-heart, a poor maiden, a fortune of $20,000. There are few such lovers to be found." True, and the girls complain that when they are found it is very difficult to get them to die.

—They do not know much about farming in Hartford and a smart Bridgeport boy has been selling them snuff beans for flower seeds.

Failing to Supply the Constant Demand.

All other machines call the public attention to some new loop or stitch or tension or finish, some advantage in running or needles or feed or prices—and many of these are as we have said very good points, and the agents selling them use them to divert entirely the would-be purchaser from fairly considering the facts in the case; but the

HALL'S VEGETABLE SICILIAN

HAIR RENEWER.

ITS EFFECT IS

MIRACULOUS.

It is a perfect and wonderful article. Cures baldness. Makes hair grow. A better dressing than any "oil" or "pomatum." Softens brash, dry and wiry hair into Beautiful Silken Tresses. But, above all, the great wonder is the rapidity with which it restores GRAY HAIR TO ITS ORIGINAL COLOR.

The whitest and worst looking hair resumes its youthful beauty by its use. It does not dye the hair, but strikes at the root and fills it with new life and colring matter.

The first application will do good; you will see the NATURAL COLOR returning every day, and the old, gray, discolored appearance of the hair will be gone, giving place to lustrous, shining and beautiful locks.

BEFORE YOU KNOW IT,

AYER'S

SARSAPARILLA,

FOR PURIFYING THE BLOOD.

A medicine that cures is a real public blessing. AYER'S SARSAPARILLA makes positive cure of a series of complaints, which are always afflicting and too often fatal. It purifies the blood, purges out the lurking humors in the system, which undermine health and settle into troublesome disorders. Eruptions of the skin are the appearance on the surface of humors that should be expelled from the blood. Internal derangements are the determination of these same humors to some internal organ, or organs, whose action they derange, and whose substance they disease and destroy. AYER'S SARSAPARILLA expels these humors from the blood. When they are gone, the disorders they produce disappear, such as Ulcerations of the Liver, Stomach, Kidneys, Lungs, Eruptions and Eruptive Diseases of the skin, St. Anthony's Fire, Rose or Erysipelas, Pimples, Pustules, Blotches, Boils, Tumors, Tetter and Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Ringworm, Ulcers and Sores, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Pain in the bones, Side, and Head, Female Weakness, Sterility, Leucorrhœa arising from internal ulceration and uterine disease, Dropsy, Dyspepsia, Emaciation, and General Debility. With their departure health returns.

State News.

At the annual meeting of the Boston, Concord and Montreal Railroad, the old board of directors were re-elected. It was voted to unite with the White Mountains Railroad and to increase the capital stock $2,000,000. The question of the lease of the Meredith and Conway Railroad was referred to the directors with full power.

At the annual meeting of the Concord Railroad, Tuesday, last year's Board of Directors, viz: Messrs. Wm. A. Tower of Boston, Frederick Smyth of Manchester, John H. Pearson of Concord, James W. Johnson of Enfield, Edson Hill of Manchester, Wm. R. Spalding of Lawrence, and John A. Spalding of Nashua, were unanimously re-elected.

Jubilee Notes.

The presence of President Grant and his Cabinet will give national importance to the Peace Jubilee. Quarters have been engaged for them at the Revere House.

The general rehearsals of the country chorus societies who are preparing for the World's Jubilee,—that is, where the societies of the neighboring towns, or whole sections, unite together for a grand "sing,"— are seasons of great enjoyment, and the different organizations contend eagerly for the opportunity to extend the hospitalities to their brethren.

All the leading bakers are preparing rolls for the drums.

Skilled navigators have been sent out to bring Cape Horn, and George Francis Train has been engaged to blow it.

Campaign Notes.

H. G. would be a good man to keep the old Ship of State afloat — he has tried his hand at bailing.

The New York Tribune recently gave the names of four Republican papers in that State beside itself which support Mr. Greeley. Since that beggarly exhibit, one of the four has given up the ghost for want of support.

It is evident that the Democratic drift towards Greeley in the Northern States is on the wane, and a change of tide is imminent. The Chicago Times, the leading Democratic paper of the Northwest, in a double-leaded editorial article, takes decided ground against Greeley, who, it asserts, has utterly failed to unite the opposition to Grant.

The Rochester Beobachter, a German Republican paper, expresses the opinion that "the man who conquered Jefferson Davis will be our next President, and not the man who bailed him."

Bromley, who is a Greeley man, writes in his paper, the Hartford Post: We have all laughed consumedly over the fact of the nomination; but when that honest old face comes up at the end of three weeks' waiting to tell us—no he don't tell us in so many words but he intimates it pretty clearly—that he has been all this time considering the question of accepting it, he imparts so much humor to the situation that it takes the character of grotesqueness. No, Horace; don't begin so; you have been nominated because you are so eternally innocent, and childlike, and honest, and we all know that it pleases you—and that you wanted it—and that you've no more idea of declining than of flying, and never had—there's no contingency in which you wouldn't accept, and that though you may have been curious to know how "the mass of our fellow citizens" felt about it, it was not in the pies for "the mass of our fellow citizens" to induce you to do anything but accept. And now for you to come up in this solemn way and say you've been "waiting till you could learn," etc., — no, you mustn't — that won't do—it's too thin. Don't do so any more.

The Philadelphia Press does not grant Mr. Greeley much success. It says that out of one hundred and sixty-two weekly republican journals published in Pennsylvania, only five advocate the election of Greeley and Brown. Of the democratic papers, it says it has seen but one that hoists the Greeley and Brown standard. Four-fifths of the weeklies, following the lead of the Philadelphia Age and Pittsburgh Post, favor the nomination of a straight-out candidate at Baltimore, and very nearly all urge this action upon the party.

NEW HAMPSHIRE SENATOR. — The New Hampshire Legislature meets next month, and will choose a U. S. Senator in place of Hon. Mr. Patterson. While we do not wish to interfere in Senatorial elections outside of our own State we cannot refrain from expressing an ardent desire that the Legislature of that State will send Hon. E. H. Rollins to the Senate. He is an able, honest and eloquent man and would do the State and the party great service in the Senate Chamber. It is but justice to say that he has done the Republicans of New Hampshire more service since the formation of the party than any man in it. The party in the State and Nation owe him a debt of gratitude, as the efficient Chairman of the State Central Committee, in keeping the State in the Republican column, and cannot better reward him than to send him to the Senate. We all know how when the nation was looking to New Hampshire to pronounce her verdict at the ballot box, we felt sure it would be on the side of loyalty and good government because Rollins was at the helm. Now send him to Washington and an act of pure and simple justice will be done. He would adorn the station, and make the influence of the Granite State felt in the Senatorial family.—New London (Conn.) Star.

SISTERLY AFFECTION.—A few weeks since an elderly gentleman died and was placed in a tomb. Six weeks after his sister determined to obtain his photograph. Procuring a Pittsfield photographer, she went to the tomb and had the corpse placed upright against it. The picture was duly taken, but it is said to be hideous.

GRABBING SEATS.—The New York Times notes the disposition of many selfish people on railroad trains to grab all the seats they can, as a serious nuisance. It admits, of course, the right of any individual to look out for his own interests, but—selfishness is too mild a term for this practice—in a multitude of cases (the editor says) it is downright dishonesty. For a man and his wife, when other passengers are going from car to car looking for accommodations, to turn the back of a seat and put a couple of valises in such a position as to give the idea that they belong to persons who have taken the places, and will be back in a few minutes, is without any figure of speech, a fraud, of which respectable people ought to be ashamed. It is suggested that something might be done by railroad companies towards mitigating, if they cannot entirely prevent, the evil. A man should be appointed, whose duty it should be to superintend the seating of passengers at the starting of each train. Such an individual should make it his business to prevent the turning of seat-backs whenever it was likely to interfere with the rights of passengers, and should especially see to it that actual passengers should not be crowded out of places by bogus ones.

—Several volumes of the Congressional Globe on a book-stall in Cornhill, Boston, bear the scathing sarcasm, "Excellent scrap-book; 50 cents."

—Dan Shumway, a Western desperado, was buried face downward with a pack of cards in his hand. His friends said they had to contrive Shumway to keep him down.

—New York papers speak of the uncommon activity of building operations in that city. Whole blocks are going up to the new streets very far up town, while many of the old buildings in the lower part of the city are being replaced by more imposing structures.

—The editor of the Davenport Gazette, Iowa, advertised that he would publish marriage notices for one dollar each or a kiss from the bride. A "lady of color" handed him her marriage notice, recently, at the same time tendering a smack from the lips of the bride. George Ballou, the editor of the Gazette, published that notice as he alleges free though some think he took the kiss; and now he has changed his rates for marriage notices.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

A Wholesale Stimulant, That is Absolutely Pure.

Physicians throughout the world agree as to the necessity for diffusive stimulants in medical practice, but complain, and with good reason, of the impossibility of obtaining them pure. The difficulty here presented would be a serious one indeed, if the class of agents was limited to the adulterated liquors and wines of trade. It vanished, however, when the absolute purity and extraordinary restorative properties of HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS are taken into consideration. As a stimulant the article is absolutely free from everything objectionable; but this is only one of its recommendations. If it were nothing more than an excitant its effects would be fleeting. It might refresh and revive the system for a few minutes, but could produce no permanent benefit. The stimulating elements of the Bitters is a means, not an end. The tonic, anti-bilious, dapurative and aperient vegetable juices combined in the preparation are the agents that impart vigor and regularity to the weakened and disordered organization, the spirituous principle being chiefly useful in diffusing their influence through the system and otherwise facilitating their operation. Alcohol, even in its purest form, is not so much a medicine as a motive power, by which the specifics of the vegetable kingdom may be brought to bear upon the debilitating and disordered organs that require renovating and regulating; and it is in this way that the pure essence of rye incorporated in Hostetter's Bitters increases the efficiency of the purely medical ingredients.

On the Seventeenth Day of June,

And close on the Fourth of July Next.

It is hardly necessary to state that the preparations for this great event have required the constant application for months of the thousands who are to participate in it, and have involved an enormous expenditure; but the committee feel confident that the time, labor and expense devoted to the successful developement of so noble an enterprise must result in not only affording the highest gratification to all who may hear the glorious music to be rendered upon a scale of grandeur never before attempted, and witness the magnificent spectacle which such an assemblage must present, but that it will also confer a lasting benefit upon art, the country, and the age.

While the programme of the first week of the Festival will embrace all the great features to be presented—including the CHORUS OF

TWENTY THOUSAND VOICES,

—THE—

Orchestra of Two Thousand Performers, of fifty-six performers,) the concerts to be given from first to last will surpass any series of musical entertainments ever presented to the American public.

Laconics.

The most successful hen-ist in this city is Mr. Walter A. Hoyt.

A small boy from the Isles of Shoals created some amusement among the audience in his immediate vicinity at Bailey & Co.'s menagerie, by pointing to the ears of the elephant and exclaiming, "O, Jerusalem! Dad, look at his fins!"

Mr. Joseph Proctor will appear at the Temple this (Wednesday) evening in his great original character of "The Jibbenainosay," in the dramatized version of the wild story of frontier life, "Nick of the Woods,"—which story, wild as it is, is largely founded on fact. Mr. Proctor has won a high reputation by his impersonation of the strange being who was for many years a terror to the savages of the Kentucky and Tennessee regions, having appeared in the character more than three thousand times, in this country and in Europe. A large and well selected company is announced to support him, and doubtless the attractions offered will draw an audience which will fill the Temple. See advertisement.

Much concern is felt here for the fate of the bark Niobe of this port, now more than 220 days out from Portland, Oregon, for Queenstown, with wheat. She is owned by Captain Daniel Marcy and others, mainly in this city, is commanded by Capt. Henry L. Marcy, and has not been spoken since leaving port.

Among thirty "Yankee" girls who are studying music abroad, Miss Sarah W. Barton and Miss Annie Bernard are reported to be making great progress.

Old Church Records.

We clip the following concerning the first record book of the Old North Church, from the Chicago Advance:

So brown and old it is, with its worn leather covers and little brass clasps! In one place is quite a water-stain as if the book had been carelessly left near an open window in the parson's study, and in the night an easterly rain had swept in from the Atlantic leaving this foottrace behind. The leaves were wrinkled like an old man's face. Here and there the words look out of the pages, distinct and black. Then they are dim, as if trying to shrink away into that great past behind us. The volume tells its own story on the title page: "A Book Containing ye Account of the Gathering and Carrying on ye Church of Christ in Portsmouth, Anno 1671." This, then, is the valuable old record-book of a New Hampshire church. It is like an East India vessel coming in from a hard voyage, on the outside rough and worn, but carrying teas and spices within. There are many important things in these records—customs, ordinances, names of pastors, "messengers of the churches," and, like a row of shining lamps, is the list of men and women making up this old church. Some of the entries made are decidedly curious. Here is one in the handwriting of Dr. Ezra Stiles (afterwards President of Yale College): "April 18, 1778. I went into the hospital and was inoculated for the small pox. May 13. —I baptized Patty, daughter of Wm. Davison and Sarah his wife, the infant being dangerously ill with the small pox."

Very particular was this church to keep the ordinance of infant baptism and bring the children up for God, "under ye Instruction and Discipline of His House." It was a people that found it good, like the sparrow, to build their nests around these alters of consecration, and here their young were reared in safety.

In looking at the various lists found in this book, one can but notice that of funerals during Dr. Putnam's pastorate. The very disease was specified, reminding one of the fullness of an undertaker's document.

As these records carry along their history, one is reminded that this church had its share of trials. Not all the members were shining lamps. Far back in 1696, it is put down how a certain "Sara" was called before "ye church," and was very "saucy and peremptory." Here, certainly, was a dim and smoky light.

Only after many "serious endeavors," was the church fairly established. Again, it rocked like a ship in a gale during the Unitarian controversy, but came out into smooth waters under Dr. Putnam's wise pastorate.

As we close this reference to "an old book," we can but think how important is the office of church clerk. It is too often carelessly filled. The clerk is to gather up and preserve history as the church makes it. There is an opportunity to incorporate many useful facts. The church should see that something beside the dry skeleton of its business life is preserved. Fill up and make the record as useful as possible. There are many little waves of interest that go through a church, and they should leave some ripple behind in a clerk's book. What a dim mark of a revival is sometimes to be found here! Let the church see that, through its careful direction, the book not only be a record of business but of life as far as possible.

E. A. R.

A Big Job.—The Advertiser says that the East Boston Improvement Company having bought a large territory, including the flats lying east of the Eastern Railroad, between Merrimack Street and Breed's Island, has contracted with Messrs. Albert Blaisdell & Co. to fill 127 acres with gravel, and the work will be begun at once. Mr. Blaisdell last year built a bridge over the Merrimack River at Groveland, and is at present engaged upon a similar work at Tyngsborough. He has purchased a steam excavator and the iron for a railroad two miles long, to extend from Breed's Island to and connect with the Eastern Railroad. The work of filling will be begun on a lot of forty acres, bounded by Maverick St., the Eastern Railroad, Putnam Street and a sea wall which is already built. It is estimated that two million cubic yards of gravel, or the entire body of the hill known as Breed's Island, will be required to fill the flats, and the grade of the island will be reduced to a level two feet above the track of the Eastern road, beside which the digging will be begun.

The Persian Famine.—Accounts still continue to arrive of the distressing famine in Persia, and it is evident that a universal movement of the different nations of the world must be made this summer or the empire will be nearly depopulated. Scarce any business is transacted in the cities of Persia, and the people lack medicines as well as food. The latest advices state that not enough vegetables and cereals will be grown this season in all Persia to supply one-twentieth part of the inhabitants that remain; and that even those who have money in plenty find it difficult to get sufficient to eat. England proposes to send a ship-load of provisions the first of the coming month; France, Russia and Germany are moving in the matter. The United States should not be the last upon the list.

Sunstroke.—According to a late writer sunstroke is due to the action of light upon the brain, exerted through the eye, and not, as generally believed, to an elevation of temperature; and it is asserted that if the eye be properly shaded from the glare of the sun, any extra or unusual precaution in the way of protecting the head and back of the neck may be dispensed with.

A Fair Exchange.—A faithless Leavenworth, Kan., doctor lately eloped with the frail wife of a druggist in a neighboring village. Whereupon, instead of taking cold poison, the lovelorn druggist is paying assiduous court to the forsaken wife of the doctor, with good prospects of an early marriage.

—The original Dolly Varden—Joseph's coat.

—A negro in Jacksonville, Fla., lately escaped from the dentist's hands and jumped into the river.

—French code for kissing: Give your hand to a gentleman to kiss, your cheek to a friend, but keep your lips for your lover.

—An assault case was recently tried in France in consequence of a fight which two divers indulged in fifty or sixty feet below the surface of the sea.

—To grow rich, earn money fairly, spend less than you earn, and hold on to the difference. The first takes muscle, the second self-control, the third brains.

—The pun fiend is again on the war path. Here is his latest effort: "Why is an egg produced this month like a native of Malacca? Because it is a May-lay."

—An elevator is being placed in the Merchants Bank building in Boston. It is said it will be used to carry up the rate of interest and bring down the proceeds of notes.

—The Chicago Post says: "The mother of Henry Berry Lowrey, the North Carolina outlaw, was bought by his father in 1835 for an old musket. It is to be wished that he hadn't parted with that gun."

CLEAR YOUR THROAT!
Relieve Your Lungs.
For the terrible diseases engendered by the lung-trying climate of New England,
DR. BUCHMAN'S
Pulmocine Cordial
Is a speedy and reliable Preventive and Remedy. Every Family should have a bottle at hand to check the sudden growth of all Pulmonary Diseases. For the Asthma, Coughs, Croups, Laryngitis, or inflammation of the larynx, Diphtheria, and all kindred Throat Diseases at all times prevalent, it is the ounce of Prevention. Children attacked with Whooping Cough or Croup should be immediately cared for. These painful attacks come with scarcely a moment's warning, when a physician may be out of immediate reach. A dose of Pulmocine Cordial gives speedy relief, and the little ones are spared hours of pain and agony. As "a stitch in time saves nine," so does the possession of this Family Medicine prevent the spread of disease. Parents rearing their children gasping with pain, friends and relatives beholding each other in peril from suffocation by the choking pain in the throat, paralyzed with fear and not knowing the best course to pursue, are liable to apply the wrong remedial agents. There is no safety in delay, no time to waste in such cases. CONSUMPTION, that fearful scourge of the human race, lies at the door of all thus afflicted. Buchman's Pulmocine Cordial arrests it (unless in its advanced stages, in which time there is no cure) relieves the pressing, suffocating feeling at the lungs, and the patient's danger is past.
Buchman's Pulmocine Cordial
is no new discovery. Twenty-three years ago it was used by one of New England's most famous physicians as the best Pulmonary Curative he could prescribe, after a dozen years spent in experimenting with it before he was satisfied that the Materia Medica could add nothing in its favor.
BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL
Is the ultima thule of Medical Discovery.
Among its many ingredients are Wild Cherry Bark, Quill Root, Liquorice Root, Blood Root, &c. It is a Blood Purifier, gently stimulating. It increases expectoration and is diuretic. It is antiseptic and alterative. It is a necessary family medicine. It is a Tonic, and a powerful aid to the digestive organs. It is a gentle sedative, and relieves nervousness. It is aromatic and agreeable to the taste.
For Coughs,
Croup,
Diphtheria,
Asthma, &c.
USE BUCHMAN'S
PULMOCINE CORDIAL.
The Pulmocine Cordial is not a quack medicine, is not an experiment, is not composed of any ingredients "discovered" by "walking in pastures" in South America or anywhere else, nor by one who discovered a weed and thereby cured himself. Most of the ingredients are such as our best educated physicians daily use for the complaints specified, in some form or other. The recipe is that perfected by one of New England's most learned and famous physicians, who used it entirely in his daily practice until his death. It is offered to the profession and to the public, absolutely pure and unadulterated.

Morning Chronicle.

New Publications.

Scribner's June number is unusually interesting. The second part of "Travelling by Telegraph, Northward to Niagara," is presented with a profusion of excellent engravings. An illustrated article, "The City of Warwick," by H. S. Digby, is very entertaining and timely, owing to the recent destruction of the fine old castle by fire. Mr. Whitelaw Reid contributes an able paper called "Schools of Journalism." Mrs. Oliphant's story "At His Gates," is continued. The editorial portion contains the usual quantity of attractive reading matter.

Dr. Hall's Journal of Health for June has a dozen articles or so, all written by the indefatigable doctor, who hangs out his motto on the cover of his magazine, "Health is a Duty," and certainly does his duty to his readers month by month with shrewd, sensible, and often witty counsel. The present number has an article on "Fruit, Berries and Melons," and one on "Revaccination." "Children's Sleeping" is a short, pointed article; and the leading article of the number is on the grave subject of "Alcohol as a Medicine." The Journal is cheap.—only $1.50 a year,—is published by Hurd & Houghton, and is for sale at all news depots.

The Science of Health, first number, is published. It is devoted to an exposition of all those agencies so vitally related to Health and to the treatment of Disease, such as Air, Light, Temperature, Diet, Clothing, Bathing, Exercise, Sleep, Electricity, and all normal agents and hygienic materials. This first number contains many articles of general interest. The senses of sight, hearing, taste, smell, etc., are illustrated and explained. The cause and cure of Backache; the proper position on Horseback; Water treatment of Fevers; Sprains and Bruises; Pneumonia; Clergyman's Sore Throat; Chronic Catarrh; How to Sleep, etc. The department of Talks with Correspondents contains valuable information. The new magazine is issued from the office of The Phrenological Journal, and published at $2 a year. S. R. Wells, publisher, Broadway, N. Y.

The Phrenological Journal for June closes the fifty-fourth volume of that most excellent family magazine. Terms $3 a year. 30 cents a number. S. R. Wells, publisher, New York.

Home and Health for June is a very valuable number. Its departments of Health Culture, and Home Entertainment, Humorous Incidents and Current Events, make it most valuable. De Puy, Lyon & Co., publishers. No. 52 Fourth Avenue, New York. 50 cts. per annum.

We are indebted to General Francis A. Walker for advance sheets of the third volume of the census, containing The Statistics of Agriculture. This is soon to be followed by the statistics of manufactures and the tables of occupation, which are already nearly completed. Massachusetts does not stand high as an agricultural State, although it ranks about with Connecticut. It has 1,736,221 acres of improved land in farms, while Maine has 2,917,793, New Hampshire 2,334,457 and Vermont 3 073,257. Illinois stands at the head with 19,329 952 acres of cultivated farm land, while New York follows with 15,627,206, and Ohio with 14,469,133 The amount of unimproved land in the Southern farms is a striking, but natural fact. The unimproved land on Southern farms ranges from one to five million acres, and of woodland from four to twelve millions. The Western States range in this respect between New England and the South. It also appears that the twenty-two million acres farming and woodland in New York is worth $1,272,857,766, while the twenty-six million in Illinois is worth only $920,506,346 in cash.

TRUE'S POTATO PLANTER.—This is a Maine invention, and so far as we are acquainted is the only machine in use that makes the furrow, cuts and drops the potatoes, drops a fertilizer and covers them at the same operation. The machine was first presented to the public some eight years ago, but has been constantly improved, so that now it is in every respect a different and superior machine to what it was when originally placed in the market. It is guaranteed to save the labor of eighteen men and one team, and to do its work in as perfect a manner as can be done by hand. Two sizes are manufactured, one of which drops a fertilizer, weighs 190 pounds, sells for $40; and one of which has no fertilizer attachment, weighs 160 pounds, and sells for $30. Gauges are furnished to regulate the quantity of seed and amount of phosphate, ashes or plaster dropped, and the covering shares can be adjusted so as to cover deep or shallow. The machines are mostly iron, are strong, durable and simple, and with fair usage. will last for many years. Mr. J. L. True of Benton, Kennebec county, Me., is the inventor and manufacturer. In regard to the work which this machine will do, and the satisfaction it gives, we are permitted to make use of the following letter from Asher H. Barton, Esq., Sheriff of this county. He writes: "Last year I planted an acre of potatoes with one of your new No. 2 Potato Planters, with the most satisfactory results; my potatoes were never planted any better by any other method. Two men and one horse planted the piece in about two hours, bringing the potatoes out of the cellar in the meantime, and the machine made the furrow, cut the potatoes, dropped them and the plaster, and covered them, all at the same operation. The ground was old pasture never plowed before, and was very rocky, but the potatoes came up very even and grew finely and were far ahead of my neighbor's that were planted by hand on an adjoining lot, and at digging I got more potatoes than he did on the same amount of ground. At first he was incredulous about the planting, but now he says that the difference between machine and hand planted potoes is in favor of the machine. The fact that your Planter will do the same work in two hours that would require at least two days to do in the usual way, and do it as well, is one that every farmer should think about seriously."—Maine Farmer.

The Senatorial Question.

Editors Chronicle:—Your correspondent "Pro-Rotation" represents the "common opinion" of Dover to be favorable to the retirement of Mr. Patterson in favor of Mr. Rollins. On the contrary I think there is no question that a large majority of the Republicans of Dover are in favor of the re-election of Mr. Patterson. "Pro-Rotation" appears to be well informed as to the secret purposes of the "working leaders," and he affirms that in the last March campaign they "acted unitedly in the understanding" that Mr. Patterson was to be displaced in the event of success. Let me ask this correspondent a few questions. Did not not Mr. Rollins pledge himself on assuming duties of chairman of the State Committee that the Senatorial question should be held in abeyance? Was not Judge Fowler and Col. Hall associated with these "working leaders" who nevertheless "acted unitedly in the understanding" to the contrary as you have stated?

"Pro-Rotation" thinks it would be a "major ingratitude if the result should be otherwise" than the election of Mr. Rollins, and talks of his self-sacrificing abor. Has Mr. Rollins received no reward at the hands of the Republican party? Has he not been elected three times to Congress? Was he not thereby enabled to secure an appointment which he now holds as an officer of the Pacific Railroad at a salary of $6,000 per annum? This is very creditable to Mr. Rollins' energy and ability, but how much self-sacrifice is there in it? When will the interest now due the U. S., from the Pacific Railroad, amounting now to more than $11,000,000 and constantly increasing, ever be paid, if officials of the railroad are to occupy seats in Congress? Many more questions occur to me but I forbear till an answer shall have been given to those already propounded. ANTI-ROTATION.

The News.

The trial of Charles A. Hobbs of Boston for murder came to an abrupt termination by the discharge of the prisoner on his own recognizance. He was taken with an epileptic fit during the trial. It is evident that a verdict of acquittal would have been rendered.

The recent report of the loss of 3000 lives in the seal fishery is pronounced untrue.

Charles Rettiker, a California boy, attempted to ride two hundred miles on horseback at Dexter Park at Chicago, and completed 172 3-8 miles in nine hours and twenty minutes, when the horse jumped a fence, throwing the rider with such force that there are but slight hopes of recovery.

Nilsson is to be married in July.

Vice-President Colfax leads the column for renomination.

The Greeleyites will hold a ratification meeting in New York Monday evening—Gratz Brown will speak.

Jubilee Notes.

Fifty thousand dollars have already been received from the sale of season tickets. There were but ten thousand dollars' worth of season tickets sold prior to the opening of the first Jubilee.

Jubilee choruses of Portsmouth, Exeter, Stratham, North Hampton, Plaistow, Northwood, Newmarket, Wolfeboro', Farmington, Biddeford, etc., are invited to hold a mass rehearsal with the Dover Choral Union at the City Hall on Wednesday, June 11, with Mr. Zerrahn for conductor.

The programme for each day of the first week will be ready to issue to the public in a few days.

Political.

Of the one hundred and seven Republican members of the Illinois House of Representatives, only two are for Greeley.

Hon Fred Smyth's friends are urging him to enter the Senatorial contest. The Ex-Governor has hosts of friends and would make an excellent Senator.

The Republican convention for the nomination of a candidate for Congress in the First Maine District, will be held at Portland on the 26th June. Gen. M. F. Wentworth is the leading candidate.

Base Ball.

The 3d game between the Mutuals of New York and the Bostons will come off at Boston this afternoon on the Union grounds.

—The support under a Troy painter gave way at a height of 100 feet from the sidewalk. Painter and platform went whirling down together, but the former, coming within reach of a cornice, grasped for it, and hung by his finger tips till a rope was lowered.

A WELL DESERVED COMPLIMENT.—The Washington correspondent of the Boston Globe pays an unintentional compliment to Hon. E. H. Rollins in reviewing the results achieved through Republican Committees. He says:—

In some States this organization is made complete by township clubs or committees. The most effective State, in this wise, is New Hampshire, and the Republican committees there are the most efficient. Of the larger States, Ohio has had for several years past the best working machinery. I speak, of course, for the Republican party. Indiana in thoroughness will come next, even if it does not surpass Ohio. Connecticut nearly equals New Hampshire, but the proximity of Tammany has always prevented the accuracy of the Granite State Republican canvass.

SHIPWRECKS.—Communication with the Magdalen Islands, which has been closed since last November, has been opened. Advices received give accounts of terrible shipwrecks. On the 29th of November a barque, lumber laden, with the mate and three men, was lost. A brig, wheat laden, with eleven men, was lost, only the mate being saved. Schooner Peribexhaur, from England, was wrecked. The crew endured horrible suffering. It was the severest winter ever known on the Islands.

—The New Orleans Republican says that a man lately died in one of their hospitals of a strange disease, and a post-mortem examination revealed the fact that his stomach was coated nearly an inch thick with marble dust. The Republican adds that the man was an excessive drinker of soda water. The New York Commercial thinks that no one in that city need refrain from soda water for fear of dying from a mysterious disease, since the person who can survive the "Pure Orange County milk" can endure anything.

—A laywoman in Providence, a milliner by trade, but nevertheless a favorite exhorter at the evening meetings of the elect, thus gave her reasons for her belief in the existence of a Supreme Being: "Sisters, I am just as confident that there is a God as I am that bonnets are in Paris; and that I know for certain, as I yesterday received from there a choice assortment of the most fashionable styles, which I will trim with more taste and sell lower than any milliner in the city."

—The Danbury News thinks that the cherry sets are numerous and healthy. There is every indication of a good crop, unless some unforeseen circumstances with eight hundred legs apiece get hold of the youthful fruit, and lame it.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

USE BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL for all throat diseases.

CASTORIA—is a scientific vegetable preparation; a perfect substitute for and more effective than Castor Oil, and is pleasant to take. It cleanses the system in a most remarkable manner; does not distress or gripe, but operates when all other remedies have failed. It is certain to supersede Pills, Castor Oil, Narcotic Syrups, and all other purgative and exciting medicines. The Castoria contains neither Minerals, Morphine nor Alcohol. By its emollient, soothing effect, it assimilates the food and produces natural sleep particularly adapting it to crying and teething children. It cures Stomach Ache, Wind Colic, Constipation, Flatulency, Croup, and kills Worms. Make your Druggist send for it; he will always keep it, as every family must have it. It costs but fifty cents a bottle. J. B. Rose & Co., 53 Broadway, New York. m1 4w

TALK AT THE TOILET.—Every lady's maid knows that the bewitching beings who pave their triumphant way with conquering hearts, regard a splendid head of hair the most effective of all womanly fascinations. They believe, and they are right, that they can lasso as many beaux with the luxuriant ringlets and glossy braids as they can "kill at sight" with their beaming eyes. Hence in their "toilet talk" among themselves and with their attendants, the merits of preparations for the hair are freely canvassed, and the latest result of this discussion seems to be the almost universal adoption of LYON'S KATHAIRON as an article better adapted to promote the growth and beauty of the "Chief Glory of Woman" than any other at present before the world. They say that without irritating the skin of the head it eradicates dandruff, and that it penetrates below the surface to the roots of the hair, endowing them with new life and vigor.

THE BAR ROOM REMEDY for weakness of the stomach is a dose of Rum Bitters. They are saturated with Fusel Oil, a deadly element, which is rendered more active by the pungent astringents with which it is combined. If your stomach is weak, or your liver or bowels disordered, tone, strengthen and regulate them with VINEGAR BITTERS, a pure VEGETABLE STOMACHIC, CORRECTIVE AND APERIENT, free of alcohol, and capable of infusing new vatility into your exhausted and disordered system. M29 4w

HOLLOWAY'S PILLS AND OINTMENT.—Scrofula was considered incurable until the great discovery of "Holloway's Pills and Ointment" flashed upon the world. Diseases which baffle the skill of the medical schools, readily yield to these peerless remedies. Scurvy, Erysipelas, Saltrheum, Itch, and all cutaneous eruptions are curable by them. 25 cents per box or pot.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

A Wholesale Stimulant, That is Absolutely Pure.

Physicians throughout the world agree as to the necessity for diffusive stimulants in medical practice, but complain, and with good reason, of the impossibility of obtaining them pure. The difficulty here presented would be a serious one indeed, if the class of agents was limited to the adulterated liquors and wines of trade. It vanished, however, when the absolute purity and extraordinary restorative properties of HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS are taken into consideration. As a stimulant the article is absolutely free from everything objectionable; but this is only one of its recommendations. If it were nothing more than an excitant its effects would be fleeting. It might invigorate the system for a few minutes, but could produce no permanent benefit. The stimulating elements of the Bitters is a means, not an end. The tonic, anti-bilious, depurative and aperient vegetable juices combined in the preparation are the agents that impart vigor and regularity to the weakened and disordered organization, the spiritous principle being chiefly useful in diffusing their influence through the system and otherwise facilitating their operation. Alcohol, even in its purest form, is not so much a medicine as a motive power, by which the specifics of the vegetable kingdom may be brought to bear upon the debilitating and disordered organs that require renovating and regulating; and it is in this way that the pure essence of rye incorporated in Hostetter's Bitters increases the efficiency of the purely medical ingredients.

The Singer

SEWING MACHINE

The Success of the Company is far beyond that of any other similar concern; the

Daily Manufacture

—OF—

400 OF THE SINGERS

Failing to Supply the Constant Demand.

All other machines call the public attention to some new loop or stitch or tension or finish, some advantage in running or needles or feed or prices—and many of these are as we have said very good points, and the agents selling them use them to divert entirely the would-be purchaser from fairly considering the facts in the case; but the

seems to unite the good qualities of all, and is never found wanting.

IN THE MARKET,

All others being copied from its first model. It does two-thirds the sewing done in this country and preserves its advantages over all others combined.

It is readily kept clean, and has THE BEST TENSION EVER INVENTED; it is higher speeded and requires but little power to run; it works equally well upon the finest and heaviest goods; it does all the varieties of work known to the art.

Real Estate.

It was in 1865, only seven years ago, that Mr. Miller purchased of the Hale heirs the estate he named Lincoln Hill; yet in this short time, his movements there have caused that whole region, between Middle, Wibird and South Streets and Richards Avenue, which had lain unimproved and almost unoccupied for nearly two and a half centuries, to be opened up to the public use and benefit, new streets made, and a large number of residences built. Several houses are now being constructed there, and more will immediately be started; and it is safe to say that in seven years more there will not be an unoccupied house-lot for sale in that entire square, where so recently all was an idle waste.

There have been some curious operations in real estate, even in this staid old town, where all is regarded as so unchangeable—and these all made in land alone and at the West End. Nearly fifty years ago, the late James Rundlett (one of the very shrewdest and most sagacious residents here) offered $150 or more per acre for the "Hale pasture" on South Street, near Middle, which was refused; and the same owners forty years later sold it to Mr. Miller for just half that money. The purchaser was laughed at, but in three or four years sold one acre for what he paid for the whole twenty. Capt. Jas. N. Tarlton paid $3500 for a good sized building lot on Middle Street, near Cabot, which was at first thought high, but not so when Mr. Bailey paid him $2500 for half of it,—which last we think was the largest sum ever paid for a lot of the size in the city. Mr. Pickering's $3600 for his large lot, A. L. Jones' round $10,000, and Messrs. Parrott's $7500, were all paid for lots on Middle Street; and the very liberal offer of $10,000 (which unfortunately was not soon enough accepted) was also made for the remaining Rundlett lot on this Street. The $6000 paid by C. H. Sides and others for the nine acres on Union Street, was called too much; but the investment paid them handsomely, as we have no doubt Mr. Webster's late purchase in the same vicinity will pay him. The fact is, not only is land the safest investment but also the surest, and usually the most satisfactory and least troublesome.

In view of all which, don't forget the land sale advertised for this morning, near Middle Street, as per the auction notice of Maj. Hackett. This sale offers a rare opportunity to secure choice lots, on Wibird, Union and other streets,—and doubtless at very reasonable prices.

Little Vagrants.

Editors Chronicle:—Have we a truant law? If we have, is it ever executed? If any reader sees no point to these questions, let him walk through the city any pleasant day and he will see boys enough between the ages of five and fifteen years to fill a school room of average size, engaged in everything but work. They may be seen at all hours of the day playing ball or marbles, congregated on the bridges, wharves and other eligible loafing places, sitting on doorsteps, swinging on gates, cutting fences, defacing buildings with chalk or charcoal, or otherwise engaged in making the word "boy" a nuisance to order-loving people. There are boys in this city who do not do a month's work in an entire year, and who never see the inside of a school-house.

Now where is the responsibility? If complaint is made to the teachers, by those who suffer from this evil, the reply is made that, going to no school, the idlers are under the jurisdiction of no teacher. Members of the committee say that parents must send their children to school, if they wish the benefit of our school system. Now it seems that every good citizen should feel a deep interest in this matter; we allow boys to grow up in in idleness and ignorance, and punish them for crimes committed as a direct result of this street education. Is this right?

CITIZEN.

The condition of affairs referred to by "Citizen" results from the neglect of parents, guardians and members of the school committee to do their duty. The legislature of 1871 passed "an act to compel children to attend school." That act provides that "every parent, guardian, master, or other person having the custody, control, or charge of any child between the age of eight and fourteen years," living within two miles of a public school, "shall cause such child to attend such public school for twelve weeks at least in every year," unless excused by reason of physical or mental disability, or other satisfactory excuse named in the act. It is the duty of the school committee of every town to "cause to be posted in three of the most public places in each school district under their supervision, or to be published in some newspaper printed in town three weeks successively" a "notice of this act." The penalty for violation of the act by parents, guardians or masters is $10 for the first offence and $20 for the second and every subsequent violation. School committees "shall sue" for the recovery of such penalties, and if neglecting to do so after receiving a written notice served by any tax payer, for a period of ten days, shall forfeit and pay the sum of $20 for each offence, to be recovered by the selectmen of the town or the mayor and aldermen of the city. The fines go to the school fund.

"Citizen" will therefore observe that some of the questions propounded are answered by this law. We do not think the law is executed, and called attention to the school committee's neglect months ago. The responsibility of the present state of affairs lies as much with "Citizen" as with any one else, if "Citizen" is a tax payer. The last query should be answered in the negative by every intelligent person, and if our correspondent will take the initiative in bringing parents, guardians, masters and school committee men to a realization of the duty they have neglected, there may be no further necessity for propounding conundrums which the law provides answers for.

The Martyn Concert,

Tuesday evening, was a fine one, but the rainy weather reduced the numbers of the audience considerably. Mr. Martyn's piano forte performances were the best we have listened to at his hands, showing great skill and taste. Mr. Warren's accompaniments and Mr. Hill's singing were good. Master Van Raalte, the juvenile violinist, held the audience spell bound by his exquisite music. The little fellow was repeatedly encored and delighted all by his selections. Mrs. Martyn sang brilliantly and was elegantly dressed. Mr. Martyn gave notice of another concert next Tuesday evening with the same company and we hope he will be greeted by a crowded house. By the way of suggestion, also, we will say that the selection of more humorous songs by Mrs. Martyn would be agreeable to the amusement loving people and we think serve to make next week's concert more of a pecuniary success. Mrs. Martyn has not pleased her audiences at any time more than at her first appearance here, and there are numerous songs and ballads which she has not given to the public which would be acceptable. Being gifted in voice and person and having a manner of acting in her singing which is alike inspiriting to herself and to her hearers, there is no excuse for constraint because certain prudish people chose to criticise her first concert—as they had nothing else to do. We know of no audience more likely to be pleased with such selections as she chose to render at her first appearance than a Portsmouth audience. "High toned" and "long drawn out" performances are not so thoroughly appreciated by the public as to render success certain. We would give more to hear Mrs. Martyn's rendition of "Sherman's March to the Sea" than to hear a half dozen operatic selections—while the "flower song" is more beautiful in conception and a thousand times more enjoyable than the lachrymose productions so generally popular with—singers. Again, we suggest to Mr. Martyn that spirited and humorous selections will prove most satisfactory to audience and manager.

Memorial Service.

Storer Encampment, G. A. R., will observe the usual order of exercises today. All who have flowers to spare are requested to leave them this forenoon at the office of Mr. E. A. Tilton, on Market Street. A procession will be formed on Market Square at two o'clock, as follows: Platoon of police; Portsmouth cornet band; company of marines, Lieutenant Fred P. Ela, commanding, with United States marine band; Storer encampment; carriages containing disabled comrades; board of engineers; steam fire-engine companies, Dearborn 1, Sagamore 2, Kearsarge 3; engine companies 5, 6; naval officers of station; citizens; the city government in carriges. The procession will march through Market, Deer, Vaughan and Elm Streets, Railroad Avenue, Deer, Vaughan, Congress, Islington, Cabot and Middle Streets, through Richards Avenue to the cemetery north of Harmony Grove, where after prayer by the chaplain the memorial services will be given by comrades, and an address delivered by Rev. W. H. Alden. A volley will be fired, the graves decorated, and after singing there will be a march back to Market Square, where the procession will be dismissed. By order of the Navy department, work at the yard is to be suspended.

Laconics.

The Naval Band will don their new uniforms next Monday.

Look at that white silk hat in the window of Terhune & Berry.

Mr. Newton Johnston is erecting a store to be occupied for the grocery business, on Middle Street between Union and Wibird Streets.

A valuable horse belonging to Chas. H. Mendum, Esq., was recently injured by the flooring of his stall falling in the night.

Andrew J. Lynn, who murdered Sarah Brown at Boston by abortion, is in jail in default of $20,000 bail. Lynn was formerly a resident of this city, but has been personating Dr. C. H. Sholes in Boston for some time past.

Mr. Samuel Donnell advertises the sale by auction of the remainder of his stock of groceries, on Saturday, June 1st. Mr. Donnell proposes to soon remove to Peabody, Mass., to engage in business there, and will have the good wishes of hundreds of our citizens and farmers from the neighboring country towns, who have always found him a reliable man to trade with.

The Senate has confirmed Commodore A. L. Case to be Rear Admiral; Captain E. T. Nichols to be Commodore; and Commander James S. Thornton to be Captain.

The Mutuals of Newburyport play the Kearsarge nine of this city this afternoon at 2:30.

We are requested to announce that carriages will be provided for the conveyance of the city government in the Memorial procession to-day.

CLEAR YOUR THROAT!

Relieve Your Lungs.

For the terrible diseases engendered by the lung-trying climate of New England,

DR. BUCHMAN'S

Pulmocine Cordial

Is a speedy and reliable Preventive and Remedy. EVERY FAMILY should have a bottle at hand to check the sudden growth of all Pulmonary Diseases. For the Asthma, Coughs, Croups, Laryngitis, or inflammation of the larynx, Diphtheria, and all kindred THROAT DISEASES at all times prevalent, it is the ounce of PREVENTION. Children attacked with Whooping Cough or Croup should be immediately cared for. These painful attacks come with scarcely a moment's warning, when a physician may be out of immediate reach. A dose of PULMOCINE CORDIAL gives speedy relief, and the little ones are spared hours of pain and agony. As "a stitch in time saves nine," so does the possession of this FAMILY MEDICINE prevent the spread of disease. Parents seeing their children gasping with pain, friends and relatives beholding each other in peril from suffocation by the choking pain in the throat, paralyzed with fear and not knowing the best course to pursue, are liable to apply the wrong remedial agents. There is no safety in delay, no time to waste in such cases. CONSUMPTION, that fearful scourge of the human race, lies at the door of all thus afflicted. BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL arrests it (unless in its advanced stage at which time there is no local cure) relieves the pressing, suffocating feeling at the lungs, and the patient's danger is past.

Buchman's Pulmocine Cordial

is no new discovery. Twenty-three years ago it was used by one of New England's most famous physicians as the best PULMONARY CURATIVE he could prescribe, after a dozen years spent in experimenting with it before he was satisfied that the Materia Medica could add nothing in its favor.

BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL

Is the ultima thule of Medical Discovery.

Among its many ingredients are WILD CHERRY BARK, SQUILL ROOT, LIQUORICE ROOT, BLOOD ROOT, &c. It is a BLOOD PURIFIER, gently stimulating. It increases expectoration and is diuretic. It is sudorific and alterative. It is a necessary family medicine. It is a Tonic, and a powerful aid to the digestive organs. It is a gentle sedative, and relieves nervousness. It is aromatic and agreeable to the taste.

For Coughs,
Croup,
Diphtheria,
Asthma, &c.

USE BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL.

The Pulmocine Cordial is not a quack medicine, is not an experiment, is not composed of any ingredients "discovered" by "wandering in pastures" in South America or anywhere else, nor by one who discovered a weed and thereby cured himself. Most of the ingredients are such as our best educated physicians only use for the complaints specified, in some form or other. The recipe is that perfected by one of New England's most learned and famous physicians, who used it entirely in his daily practice until his death. It is offered to the profession and to the public, absolutely pure and unadulterated.

PLASTER FOR POTATOES.—According to Mr. Compton, author of the prize essay on the cultivation of the potato, very remarkable results are obtained from plaster by dusting the vines with it as soon as they are through the soil; again immediately after the last plowing and hoeing; and at intervals through the whole growing season. The first application may be light, the second heavier, and after that more bountiful, say 200 pounds to the acre. It renders the plants less palatable to the insects, and appears to be fatal to many of the fungi family. The vines retain a bright, lively green color, and the tubers continue swelling until growth is stopped by the frost; beside, potatoes thus grown are so sound and free from disease as to be easily kept for the spring market, without loss by rot. Mr. Compton says he has seen a field, all planted with the same variety, at the same time, on one-half of which, that had received no plaster, the yield was but 60 bushels per acre, and many rotten; while the other half, to which plaster had been applied, yielded 300 bushels per acre, and not an unsound one among them.

BARK LICE ON APPLE TREES.—About the last week in June, by examining apple trees which are affected by bark lice, a white substance resembling fine lint, may be seen adhering to the bark. In this substance are concealed the eggs of the bark louse. By patting a mitten on the hand, this substance can be easily rubbed off and the eggs destroyed.

A TURN OF THE WHEEL.—Players at Wiesbaden are more conservative than at Baden or Hamburg. Some of the wealthiest habitues of the place bet invariably with the greatest caution. Some of the Frankfort bankers, worth millions, whom I might name, never make their stake above a napoleon, and usually content themselves with wagering three or four thorins.

Three years ago, a notorious lorette from Paris reached Wiesbaden with one hundred francs, all the money she had in the world. She had most extraordinary good fortune. Three days after her arrival she had swelled her slender capital to two hundred thousand francs. She then resolved to return home; had paid her bill at the hotel, had packed her trunks, and was expecting the carriage to take her to the station. The carriage happened to be late, and she wanted for the afternoon train. With four hours on her hands, she strolled into the Cursaal, firm in her purpose to play no more. The fascination of the game was to much for her: she placed her mise on the tapis vert, and in an hour she was penniless. She announced her intention to commit suicide, and somebody interested in the tables, hearing of this, went to her and promised her two hundred francs if she would leave Wiesbaden before executing her purpose.

The gambling companies do not like to have their business injured by self-slaughter on the spot; and if any poor devil, bankrupt in hope and fortune, can make them believe he seriously designs bidding eternal adieu to the planet, they will furnish him means to take his leap at some distance from the place where he has wrought his ruin.

The lorette gladly accepted the offer, went by express to Paris, expended what she had left in a petit souper at the Cafe Helder, merrily bade good-by to her friends, and the next morning her body was found in the Seine.

This sad story having become bruited, a young woman in the same circle, who had experienced the same adversity, likewise declared that nothing but charcoal and a close room could relieve her woes. One of the croupiers was apprised of this, and knowing the disposition of the demi-mundanes to visit Azreal without invitation, he called upon "Elise," in behalf of the Direction, with a promise of five hundred francs if she would defer her demise until she reached Frankfort. Entering into a covenant with him to that effect, he accompanied her to the station, purchased her ticket, and saw her off.

Two days after, she was back again, betting furiously against the bank, and actually broke it before dinner—the only time it was forced to suspend during that entire season.—From "The German Gambling-Spas," by Junius Henri Browne, in Harpers' Magazine for June.

AYER'S
SARSAPARILLA,
FOR PURIFYING THE BLOOD.
A medicine that cures is a real public blessing. AYER'S SARSAPARILLA makes positive cure of a series of complaints, which are always afflicting and too often fatal. It purifies the blood, purges out the lurking humors in the system, which undermine health and settle into troublesome disorders. Eruptions of the skin are the appearance on the surface of humors that should be expelled from the blood. Internal derangements are the determination of these same humors to some internal organ, or organs, whose action they derange, and whose substance they disease and destroy. AYER'S SARSAPARILLA expels these humors from the blood. When they are gone, the disorders they produce disappear, such as Ulcerations of the Liver, Stomach, Kidneys, Lungs, Eruptions and Eruptive Diseases of the skin, St. Anthony's Fire, Rose or Erysipelas, Pimples, Pustules, Blotches, Boils, Tumors, Tetter and Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Ringworm, Ulcers and Sores, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Pain in the Bones, Side, and Head, Female Weakness, Sterility, Leucorrhoea arising from internal ulceration and uterine disease, Dropsy, Dyspepsia, Emaciation, and General Debility. With their departure health returns.

BRIGGS' ALLEVANTOR is composed of Ammonia, Chloroform, Spirits of Camphor, Tincture of Lupuline, Oil of Juniper, and Alcohol. This compound is unequalled in the annals of medicine for the cure of Nervous or Sick Headache, Neuralgia, Trembling or Twitching of the Nerves, and all Nervous Diseases. It will counteract all poisons, banish pimples, cure scaly eruptions, itching, humors, &c.; it equalizes the circulation, invigorates the system, increases the action of the heart, without exciting the brain, cures Heartburn, Palpitation and Fluttering of the Heart, Dyspepsia, &c. Briggs' Allevantor absolutely possesses more curative properties than any other preparation. Physicians, chemists, and others are requested to examine and test the remedy, and $1000 will be paid if found different from representation.
COUCHS. Much has been said and written, and many remedies have been offered for the relief and cure of throat and lung diseases; but nothing has been so eminently successful, or obtained such a wide celebrity, as Briggs' Throat and Lung Healer.
CORNS! The excruciating pain produced by Corns, the unceasing twinging from Bunions, the piercing, distressing pain from Ingrowing Nails, cannot be described. Thousands suffer, not knowing there is a cure. Briggs' Corn and Bunion Remedies are no acid or potash compounds, but are reliable, soothing, and efficacious, and just merit the success they have earned from an appreciative public. The Curative is a healing ointment; immediate relief is obtained by its application, and it will positively cure the worst cases of Festered Corns, Inflamed and Ulcerated Bunions, the sorest Instep, the largest and severest Blisters, the most extensive Callosities on the soles or heels of the feet, unequalled in the cure of Chilblains or Frosted Feet. The Allevantor for ordinary corns and preventing their formation is absolutely unexcelled by anything ever known.
PILES have been a terror to mankind for centuries, and almost every attempt to cure them has been baffled. By unceasing study and experimenting, Dr. Briggs has discovered an absolutely cure for internal, bleeding, external, and itching piles. Briggs' Pile Remedies are mild, safe and sure.

The Daily Chronicle,

Portsmouth, N. H.

FRIDAY, MAY 31, 1872.

Hon. E. H. Rollins and the Union Pacific R. R.

Editors Portsmouth Chronicle:—Some weeks ago a paper published in Sullivan County, I believe, printed a letter from a correspondent which contained some malicious and baseless remarks concerning the connection of Hon. E. H. Rollins, as Secretary and Treasurer, with the Union Pacific Railroad. My attention was drawn to this matter at the time; but I looked upon the insinuation as being so utterly contemptible that it was unworthy of notice. But I find now that some of the friends of at least one of the Senatorial candidates are busily reiterating the foundationless imputation even although their principal has been compelled in honor and justice to assert its falsehood—and this disgraceful conduct of theirs leads me to again trespass upon your columns that the public mind may be put right regarding this matter.

Mr. Rollins was elected Secretary of the Union Pacific Railroad in 1869, he having been recommended for the position by Hon. Oakes Ames, who had formed Mr. Rollins' acquaintance at Washington, and who entertained a very high opinion of his business qualifications. This appreciation was so thoroughly justified by subsequent services that, on the resignation of the Treasurer of the corporation, Mr. Rollins was chosen to fill that position, and to add its duties to those of the Secretaryship. Do those who strive so diligently to raise false reports against Mr. Rollins possess anything like a correct idea of what the duties of Secretary and Treasurer of a large corporation are, or what the qualities a man requires to possess to successfully perform them? If they do they will acknowledge that the first requisite is honesty, the second capacity, the third accuracy; and if there is another one of prime necessity that one is earnestness in duty. The corporation which employs Mr. Rollins has proved him to be the possessor of all these qualities; and permit me to edge in the remark at this point that these traits of character and conduct would not at all come amiss in a United States Senator. Doing is more eloquent in its consequences in that relation than is the power of holding forth in well rounded forms of speech—the power to do which is one of the most unquestioned marks of legislative inefficiency otherwise. Just let any intelligent reader go back in his recollection of men who talk much in National and State legislatures, and he will find this rule confirming itself.

But, to go back to my direct subject, let me say that Mr. Rollins' connection with the Union Pacific Railroad is only that of an employee. He is paid a salary—I trust it is an ample one—for keeping the records of the corporation, and for receiving and disbursing its money under the instruction of the Directory. He does not own a dollar's worth of the stock of the corporation, and never did, as I have unquestionable information. He has never, I am also well assured, directly or indirectly speculated in its stock or bonds, nor has he had in any way, directly or indirectly, any interest in any contract for the building of the Union Pacific Road, or for providing its equipment or supplies. He has never, I am farther informed, travelled a mile on its road; so that his position or relations in connection with its interests, can include no scandal or imputation of a semblance of misdoing or wrong in any shape or matter.

Politicians — especially when such oblivionsness serves their purposes—are said to have very short memories; but if any of those who oppose Mr. Rollins' Senatorial pretensions will only look back over a brief period, and take the trouble to enumerate men who hold high places of political trust in the nation and in our State, and at the same time important business associations with corporate bodies, the number will prove much larger than they seem to estimate. Ex-Governor Stearns was of that class, and our respected Governor-elect is the manager of one of the largest corporations in New Hampshire, or in New England. Has it been, or is it now, any disqualification of the characters of these excellent men that such are their relations? I think not, and I also think that men who can pretend to find anything like a stigma attachable to a man because he has the confidence of an extended corporate body must be exceedingly destitute of common sense and charity. Besides there is foolishness in the argument of such men that the connection Mr. Rollins has with the Union Pacific Railroad will interfere with his duties as Senator. Supposing he is chosen to that office, I conclude that, if he is elected, he will terminate that connection at the earliest possible period.

All this insidious, under-ground grumbling about Union Pacific Railroad is designed as a mere bugbear to frighten timid people, for the engineers of such growlings have a very low opinion of the courage of legislators whom they would make their tools,—but there are few, if any, who will experience any alarm on account of their hollowed-pumpkin bugaboo. New Hampshire yeoman are too acute for that. They all know Mr. Rollins and can stand up for his reputation against stronger opposition than these foolish enemies of his can beget. They have a full appreciation of his executive talent, for they have had evidence of it very frequently in such way as constrains them both to admire and be grateful for it; they have found that, with Mr. Rollins at the helm, the Republican ship in New Hampshire has successfully weathered the wildest political storms; they have known him as one of the ablest and most zealous Congressional Representatives the State ever sent to the lower branch, and they have confidence (as a majority, of the people and of the legislature elect,) that he will make a capable, efficient, trustworthy and excellent United States Senator.

RUMFORD.

CONCORD, May 28, 1872.

Who is the Coming Man?

As one sees the liberal appropriations for the Forts in the harbors at Portland and Boston and, two vessels taken from our Navy Yard to other stations to be repaired, the inquiry suggests itself to a Portsmouth man, "Who looks after our interests at Washington?" I recollect last winter when an impending discharge seemed to show that a vast corps of workmen would be idle all winter, and it was found that neither of our Senators were able to induce the Department to order work at the Navy Yard, the gentleman at Concord, whom the friends of rotation present as a candidate for Senator, succeeded by his personal efforts in causing employment at the Yard, through the severe winter, for a large number of otherwise unemployed workmen, and can he not do this again if occasion requires?

Gen. Marston seems to have been the only Representative in Congress who knew that Forts were established at the entrance of our harbor. It is said by an apologist, that Mr. Hibbard lives so far up country that he supposed the marines at the Navy Yard were a suitable harbor defence, and the Forts were only needed as experimental employment for engineers and draftsmen.

Let us have a Senator alive to our wants and capable of protecting our interests. Let us lay aside all claims on account of oratory and good looks, and in our selection choose some one capable of coping with the men from other States, who in matters of appropriations, regarding their constituent wants, make success a duty.

The News.

The Presbyterian general assembly at Detroit has declared against women in the pulpit.

Strikes have begun in Cincinnati.

The steamer Emperor, belonging to the Yarmouth and Boston Steamship Company, struck on Eastern Point Ledge, May 28, and will probably be a total loss. The passengers were safely landed on Matinicus Rock and were taken to Portland. The boat was insured for $30,000.

A circus balloonist was drowned in Alabama, May 27, by his balloon falling into the Tennessee river.

The Faber Pencil Co's works in New York have been burned. Loss $200,000.

The Secretary of the treasury has instructed the collector at New Orleans to prevent the landing of several Greek brigands, reported on a vessel bound to that city.

The President has signed a bill, which provides that, from and after its passage, all soldiers and sailors honorably discharged from the service of the United States, who may die in a destitute condition, shall be allowed burial in the national cemeteries of the United States.

Political.

The Dover Enquirer has a strong article favoring the election of Hon. E. H. Rollins to the U. S. Senate.

Hon. George G. Fogg, editor of the Concord Monitor, denies editorially that he is a supporter of Greeley, as stated by the Boston Times.

The republican State convention of Louisiana nominated Warmoth for governor and Pinchbeck for lieutenant governor. Mr. Pinchbeck made a speech, stating that he would support the nominees of the Philadelphia convention at all hazards.

Three gentlemen of the Springfield Republican staff have retired from that paper and purchased the Springfield Union. It is understood that they will strongly support straight Republican principles.

—A milkman was overheard singing to his fellow craftsmen, "Yes we'll gather at the river." He meant more than he said.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

A Wholesale Stimulant, That is Absolutely Pure.

Physicians throughout the world agree as to the necessity for diffusive stimulants in medical practice, but complain, and with good reason, of the impossibility of obtaining them pure. The difficulty here presented would be a serious one indeed, if the class of agents was limited to the adulterated liquors and wines of trade. It vanished, however, when the absolute purity and extraordinary restorative properties of HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS are taken into consideration. As a stimulant the article is absolutely free from everything objectionable; but this is only one of its recommendations. If it were nothing more than an excitant its effects would be fleeting. It might refresh and restore the system for a few minutes, but could produce no permanent benefit. The stimulanting elements of the Bitters is a means, not an end. The tonic, anti-bilious, depurative and aperient vegetable juices combined in the preparation are the agents that impart vigor and regularity to the weakened and disordered organization, the spiritous principle being chiefly useful in diffusing their influence through the system and otherwise facilitating their operation. Alcohol, even in its purest form, is not so much a medicine as a motive power, by which the specifics of the vegetable kingdom may be brought to bear upon the debilitating and disordered organs that require renovating and regulating; and it is in this way that the pure essence of rye incorporated in Hostetter's Bitters increases the efficiency of the purely medical ingredients.

AT BOSTON.

PRELIMINARY ANNOUNCEMENT.

The Executive Committee of the World's Peace Jubilee and International Musical Festival respectfully announce that the great undertaking to which the music-loving people of the country have been looking forward for many months, with such deep interest, will commence in Boston

On the Seventeenth Day of June,

And close on the Fourth of July Next.

It is hardly necessary to state that the preparations for this great event have required the constant application for months of the thousands who are to participate in it and have involved an enormous expenditure; but the committee feel confident that the time, labor and expense devoted to the successful development of so noble an enterprise must result in not only affording the highest gratification to all who may hear the glorious music to be rendered upon a scale of grandeur never before attempted, and witness the magnificent spectacle which such an assemblage must present, but that it will also confer a lasting benefit upon art, the country, and the age.

While the programme of the first week of the Festival will embrace all the great features to be presented—including the CHORUS OF

TWENTY THOUSAND VOICES,

—THE—

Orchestra of Two Thousand Performers,

the most powerful organ ever built, together with many of most eminent American and European bands and artists, (among whom may be mentioned the great maestro, of fifty-six performers,) the concerts to be given from first to last will surpass any series of musical entertainments ever presented to the American public.

SEASON TICKET, transferable, admitting to all the Concerts from the 17th to July 4th, inclusive, FIFTY DOLLARS EACH, including reserved seats, now ready; and Tickets for single admission to each entertainment, during the first week, FIVE DOLLARS, with reserved seats, will be ready for sale on and after June 1st, and may be had upon application, personally or by letter, to A. The Memorial Services

In honor and remembrance of the heroes who laid down their lives during the nation's struggle for existence, were carried out on Thursday in accordance with the previously published programme. The day was very cool for the season, in marked contrast to the temperature of Memorial Day last year, when the thermometer marked well up to a hundred degrees in the shade.

The G. A. R. and Fire Department, escorted by a company of U. S. marines under command of Lieut. Fred. P. Ela, presented a very fine appearance, and were accompanied on their march by a large concourse of citizens and many carriages. The graves in the Elm Street burial ground were first decorated, and the procession then moved to Harmony Grove cemetery, a delegation of the G. A. R. breaking off on the way to decorate the graves of some former comrades, in another burial ground, near by, the graves in more distant cemeteries having been visited by committees earlier in the day.

The marines, firemen and G. A. R. formed a hollow square, with the mound on which a Soldiers' and Sailors' Monument should be but is not, in the centre, and an interesting memorial service was performed by comrades of Storer Encampment, after which Rev. W. H. Alden delivered an appropriate address, urging that yearly decorating with flowers of the graves of the nation's dead is but a small part of the duty owed them, that the nation honors itself in honoring their memories, that their loved ones are the nation's wards, and that no feeling of bitterness or hatred towards those who assailed the Union need be or should be fostered by the deserved honors paid the Union dead. At the conclusion of Mr. Alden's address the marines fired three volleys with blank cartridge, in excellent style; and a salute was then fired by a squad of the G. A. R., from a howitzer stationed in the cemetery, while the rest of their comrades were decorating the graves with wreaths and flowers.

Owing to the unusual backwardness of the season, it had been supposed that but few flowers could be procured for the occasion, but the quantity was much larger than had been brought out on any previous Memorial Day, and the wreaths and bouquets were beautiful. There were several thousand persons present during the ceremonies, and everything passed off agreeably and without anything to mar the proprieties of the occasion.

Laconics.

The 82d anniversary of the New Hampshire Medical Society will be holden at Concord on the 11th and 12th of June. President J. F. Hall, M. D., of this city, will deliver the annual address on the opening day at 12 M.

The sale of house lots on South, Wibird, Union and other streets, by Auctioneer Hackett, Thursday morning, was well attended, and about half the lots advertised were disposed of at satisfactory prices. Mr. Wm. Y. Evans bought the lot on South Street for $270, and Messrs. W. O. Sides, H. C. Keen, B. F. Webster, J. C. Perkins, J. C. Carr and J. Janvrin, took lots on Wibird, Hawthorn and other streets at from $140 to $600 each.

The Republicans of Ward One will meet at 8 o'clock this evening at the Ward Room on Elm Street, to nominate a candidate for Representative to General Court, to fill the vacancy occasioned by the death of the late Hon. Horton D. Walker.

Mr. J. B. Frost, agent for the Christian Union, is in town and will commence delivering the Chromos, "Wide Awake" and "Fast Asleep," to-day, to the subscribers for the paper. Mr. Frost's headquarters are at the store of Mr. E. A. Joy. Frames for the Chromos may be purchased of Mr. Frost, who has various styles of the required size.

At the annual meeting of the Northern Railroad Company at Concord, on the 30th, the old Board of Directors was re-elected.

Frank Leslie's Illustrated paper for June 8th has an excellent picture of the old Sherburne house on Daniel Street. E. G. Adams has the "Illustrated" for sale.

The barn of Oliver Berry, of Kittery Point, caught fire from the spontaneous combustion of greasy overalls, Thursday afternoon, and was burned to the ground. Mrs. Berry, in her eagerness to save the poulty, narrowly escaped being burned in the barn. The building was a small one, valued at $800, and was insured in the Republic Co. of New York for $500. Mr. Berry had also $100 insurance on tools and $100 on hay. The hay, however, had been all used before the fire.

The Newburyporters won the base ball match at the Plains, Thursday, by a score of 42 to 12.

REMARKABLE COLTS.—A Newmarket correspondent informs us that Mr. Daniel Perkins of that town has a brood mare which brought in the years 1869, 1870 and 1871, three male colts. The first colt was weighed at the age of 364 days, the second at 365 and the third at 357 days; and the weight of each colt when weighed was exactly 810 pounds,—making the weight of the three yearling colts 2430 pounds. Our informant is of opinion that this exhibit is hard to parallel.

THE NEW RAILROAD.—The Salisbury & Exeter railroad have held a meeting, and officially proposed to the Eastern railroad to build the line to Epping, if the Eastern will lease it at 6 per cent. of the cost. There is little doubt that it will be done to the great advantage of all interested. It is a road that would pay the Eastern from the day it was opened, and on a long lease would be a profitable investment.

WHY DO CHILDREN DIE?—In answer to this question, the Medical Recorder holds the following language:

The reason why children die, is because they are not taken care of. From the day of birth they are stuffed with water, suffocated in hot rooms and steamed in hot bed clothes. So much for in-door. When permitted to breathe a breath of pure air once a week in Summer, and once or twice during the colder months, only the nose is permitted to peer into daylight. A little later they are sent out with no clothes at all on the parts of the body which most need protection. Bare legs, bare arms, bare necks, girted middles. A stout, strong man goes out on a cold day with gloves and overcoat, woolen stockings, and thick double-soled boots, with cork between and rubbers over. The same day a child of three years, an infant of flesh and blood, bone and constitution, goes out with shoes as thin as paper, cotton socks, legs uncovered to the knees, neck bare, an exposure which would disable the nurse, kill the mother outright, and make the father an invalid for life.

And why? To harden them to a mode of dress which they are never expected to practice. To accustom them to exposure which a dozen years later would be considered downright foolery. To rear children thus for the slaughter pen, and then lay it to the Lord, is too bad. We don't think the Almighty has any hand in it.

—Tom O'Connor, an unassuming Irishman, is said to be the largest cattle owner in Texas. He does not know exactly how many he has, but the total will not vary much from 60,000.

—If anything could account for Mr. Robert Hart, of Utica, N. Y., emerging from the second story of his boarding house, without going through the formalities of the stairs, it was the presence of four of his wives.

—The neatest thing in the suicidal line is to fill your mouth with gunpowder and then chew up percussion caps until the explosion comes. The kind of man who tries this never spoils the adjacent furniture with brains for obvious reasons.

DEATHS.

In this city, May 29th, LUCIUS ELBERT PRAY son of J. H. M. and Helen F. Pray, aged 2 years, 7 months.

CLEAR YOUR THROAT!
Relieve Your Lungs.
For the terrible diseases engendered by the lung-trying climate of New England,
DR. BUCHMAN'S
Pulmocine Cordial
Is a speedy and reliable Preventive and Remedy. EVERY FAMILY should have a bottle at hand to check the sudden growth of all Pulmonary Diseases. For the Asthma, Coughs, Croups, Laryngitis, or inflammation of the larynx, Diphtheria, and all kindred THROAT DISEASES at all times prevalent, it is the ounce of PREVENTION. Children attacked with Whooping Cough or Croup should be immediately cared for. These painful attacks come with scarcely a moment's warning, when a physician may be out of immediate reach. A dose of PULMOCINE CORDIAL gives speedy relief, and the little ones are spared hours of pain and agony. As "a stitch in time saves nine," so does the possession of this FAMILY MEDICINE prevent the spread of disease. Parents seeing their children gasping with pain, friends and relatives beholding each other in peril from suffocation by the choking pain in the throat, paralyzed with fear and not knowing the best course to pursue, are liable to apply the wrong remedial agents. There is no safety in delay, no time to waste in such cases. CONSUMPTION, that fearful scourge of the human race, lies at the door of all thus afflicted. BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL arrests it (unless in its advanced stage at which time here is no local cure) relieves the pressing, suffocating feeling at the lungs, and the patient's danger is past.
Buchman's Pulmocine Cordial
is no new discovery. Twenty-three years ago it was used by one of New England's most famous physicians as the best PULMONARY CURATIVE he could prescribe, after a dozen years spent in experimenting with it before he was satisfied that the Materia Medica could add nothing in its favor.
BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL
Is the ultima thule of Medical Discovery.
Among its many ingredients are WILD CHERRY BARK, NOVELL ROOT, LIQUORICE ROOT, BLOOD ROOT, &c. It is a BLOOD PURIFIER, gently stimulating. It increases expectoration and is diuretic. It is sudorific and alterative. It is a necessary family medicine. It is a Tonic, and a powerful aid to the digestive organs. It is a gentle sedative, and relieves nervousness. It is aromatic and agreeable to the taste.
For Coughs,
Croup,
Diphtheria,
Asthma, &c.
USE BUCHMAN'S
PULMOCINE CORDIAL.
The Pulmocine Cordial is not a quack medicine, is not an experiment, is not composed of any ingredients "discovered" by "walking in pastures" in South America or anywhere else, nor by one who discovered a weed and thereby cured himself. Most of the ingredients are such as our best educated physicians daily use for the complaints specified, in some form or other. The recipe is that perfected by one of New England's most learned and famous physicians, who used it entirely in his daily practice until his death. It is offered to the profession and to the public, absolutely pure and unadulterated.

400 OF THE SINGERS
Failing to Supply the Constant Demand.
All other machines call the public attention to some new loop or stitch or tension or finish, some advantage in running or needles or feed or prices—and many of these are as we have said very good points, and the agents selling them use them to divert entirely the would-be purchaser from fairly considering the facts in the case; but the
SINGER
seems to unite the good qualities of all, and is never found wanting.
THE SINGER
IS THE OLDEST
SEWING MACHINE
IN THE MARKET,
All others being copied from its first model. It does two-thirds the work of the machines in this country and preserves its advantages over all others combined.
It is readily kept clean, and has THE BEST TENSION EVER INVENTED; it is higher speeded and requires but little power to run; it works equally well upon the finest and heaviest goods; it does all the varieties of work known to the art.
N. B. Those purchasing for cash, before the 1 of January next, will have a consideration allowed them.

ATION.—Irrig... he caus- ...ter to flow ...ultivated ...y artificial m... in our ...r, it is usually ...lowing, ...ogging places in which it can flow ...o rivers and brooks. In Egypt there is a sort of natural irrigation; the Nile overflows its banks yearly, with amazingly beneficial results to the husbandman; but as it never rains, that overflow is not enough, and modes have been adopted to raise the water from the river and disperse it over the land.

The Assyrians somewhat early had means to get water from the Tigris, Euphrates, and other streams, to water their cultivated fields. The Chinese irrigate whole districts by carrying water in cisterns on animals, and in pails by men. Irrigation was practiced by the Romans in Italy. The Peruvians, before their conquest by the Spaniards, had extensive aqueducts to conduct water from the sides of the Andes mountains over their fields; the remains of one are still seen, some hundreds of miles long. When Cortez came to Mexico he found perfection in agriculture that astonished him, and it was much owing to irrigation by canal and aqueducts and the spray of fountains. In Spain, a little later, irrigation was tried at a great expense and with good results.

At present there is much of irrigation in some countries. In Lombardy and the Venetian territories, at least one million acres enjoy its benefits. In parts of England the grass and other crops are largely due to irrigation. In our country, in California and Utah, irrigation is necessary, as the soil in part is too dry; the work of conducting water from the mountains and streams to the fields is well attended to.

Most water in lakes, streams and wells contains vegetable and animal matter; in a gallon, chemical analysis has shown fifty grains. Plants cannot grow without moisture, and this vegetable matter in water is fertilizing; laid at the roots of plants it is absorbed,—the plants take it and grow to profit.

What shall be done with our worn out lands in New Hampshire? Sufficient dressing cannot be obtained; the fertilizers in the market help crops for one season, but they do not enrich the soil; and good muck is scarce, back a little from the ocean. Something can be done by irrigation; springs on the hill sides can be set to work to give their rich contents to the fields, rods and miles away; brooks and portions of rivers can be turned from their natural channels and made to help astonishingly. Brother farmers, let us try it and see. J. F.

—Since the San Francisco authorities have offered a premium of $10 for every dead body recovered from the bay, the Chronicle advises drunkards and Oregon flats to give a wide berth to the water-front. Ten dollars, it says, may seem a small sum for murder, but times are hard and human nature weak.

SOLD AGAIN.—A few days since, as the declining sun threw long shadows over the green fields and pleasant roads of old Hampton, N. H., a well appearing man, appearantly a sailor, entered the Union House and asked for a gallon of whiskey. As there is a little uncertainty about the liquor business, now-a-days, the landlord enquired whether the gentleman came in the cars, and received for answer that the stranger was captain of a large schooner just arrived at Hampton landing, and that he wished to purchase wood, groceries and other supplies. This opened the ears and hearts of the landlord and the trading men of the village generally, and our hero was forthwith served with a fine supper, at which he cracked a couple of bottles of wine, and was afterwards taken in the team of H. L., Esq., a leading citizen, to view a nice pile of wood, which he purchased, as also several other piles, enough to make a cargo, and finally bought a wood lot for future use. Having several barrels of flour and a large assortment of groceries, etc., he returned to the hotel and retired to rest in one of the best rooms of the Union; and in the morning went out to take a walk, leaving word that if Messrs. H. L. or J. J. L. called, to tell them he should be back shortly. This was the last seen of him in Hampton, but he was afterwards heard of footing it toward Portsmouth, and begging a meal. Meantime the grocers and other dealers in the village, by dint of working nearly all night, made out to fill their rare orders; and on driving their loaded teams down to the landing, at early dawn, found out the sell. Worse yet, our stranger had won high favor with the ladies, the night previous, by promising several of them a pair of canary birds; and they too, gathered at the wharf, to add to the general chagrin. We think strangers will henceforth be obliged to show their credeotials (or vessel) in old Hampton, ere they can command so much attention.—Boston Globe.

—The fellowing mathematical problem puzzled the clerks in a Boston office all last week: "There is a log, 10 feet long, with a frog at one end. He jumps five feet the first jump, and every succeeding jump he goes half the distance of the preceding one. How many jumps will take him clear of the log?" The special point of agitation and of perplexity was in the effort to ascertain if the aforesaid Batrachian would ever get off the log, under these conditions.

—The last proposition for eradicating polygamy is to introduce into Utah vast quantities of fashionable millinery goods and induce the Gentile women to "come out" in gorgeous style. This will produce such a competion on the part of the Mormon sisterhood and such heavy bills for finery that the saints won't be able to stand the pressure.

—Her name is Hannah, says the Detroit Free Press. She is wife of William Ellis, of Woodbridge street. She hit him on the head with a flat-iron recently and a doctor had to fix the gash. Warrant applied for.

Railroad Progress.

The Boston Advertiser, in an article upon new railroad enterprises, cautiously remarks: "It is possible that the business men of this city have been so busily engaged in attending to their own affairs, that they have not had time to pay attention to what is going on in the railroad world." We think it is not only possible, but probable. When we see the Eastern Railroad hire the P. S. & P. Railroad at a rental of ten per cent. to its stockholders, and the Boston & Maine Railroad with (to speak within bounds) unexampled liberality, expending millions to build their road into Portland, without developing new business to either line, we are led to enquire whence is to be derived the business from Maine to Boston that will realize the expectations of the stockholders, who every time a watering comes off, step up unhesitatingly and pay their assessments?

Do the Bostonians, so "busily engaged in attending to their own affairs," expect that after the road is built,—as built it will be, from Rochester to Nashua, that the people of Maine, or the travelling public of Portsmouth, Dover, Great Falls and all the region east of Newmarket Junction are always to go around through Boston, wait several hours, and pay for being transported with their baggage to the New York railway station, when all Maine and a good part of lower New Hampshire can have the same privilege of having baggage checked from their own stations to almost any part of the United States, if they only will go some other way than through Boston, that towns north of us now have? It will not be long before our citizens and the road travel to the beaches and at the Shoals can leave here for New York via Epping, Nashua, Worcester, etc., and go in less running time than it takes to go via Boston, and save on their fare and hack hire quite a sum. After this route is opened, and the tide of travel fairly sets in that quarter, we shall perhaps see the business men of Boston awake to the fact that through travel is going by some other way than through the hub of the universe. Then we shall hear of union depots, connections of lines East and South, passengers transported from the New York lines to the eastern roads in cars without delay or expense, and the newspapers may lament that the trade of the East has like that from the North gone to that city which stretches out its iron bands and draws the wealth of the nation to its coffers.

A Good Thing.

The Mutual Benefit Account Book, by Mr. M. V. B. Stimson of Kittery, which is soon to be introduced as a substitute for the ordinary pass book, is a production which is likely to effect an important improvement in the present system of trade, beneficial alike to traders and buyers, — and exhibits a degree of thought which does credit to its author.

In the midst of the great and rapidly growing trade interests of this country, producers, traders and consumers alike have not failed to observe the many sources of embarrassment, expense and injustice which have arisen from the transactions of business under the present system. The retail dealer of experience, at times has been made to feel keenly the weight of his embarrassments as he has run up the columns of his ledger and observed the amount of accounts yet unsettled.

The want of a distinction between the cash and credit customer, the reliable and the doubtful, the one who delivers his own goods and the one who does not, has largely contributed to multiply the evils of the credit system rather than to reduce them. When credit is reduced to necessity alone its value will be increased three-fold, and its extent will be proportionately less. That it makes a difference whether or no a purchaser pays cash for his goods when received, can be easily seen, when the many sources of investment for capital are considered; but hidden beneath the intricate relations of trade, a large percentage of purchasers fail to understand its effect, and those who do, have heretofore been powerless in effecting a remedy for the injustice. As agents of the people—and that is their true relation to consumers—the number of traders in most communities is much greater than is actually necessary, and the general unfitness of many altogether too common for such important positions; and each trader who is sustained by the unwise distribution of patronage becomes a needless burden upon the people, the profits on whose consumption must pay the expense.

The only remedy for these sources of unnecessary expense is in the concentration of patronage upon the ablest and most trustworthy from among the number. The illjudged practice of buying tea of one, sugar of another, and so on, under the impression that it "pays," is absurd, as such a practice only serves to multiply expense in the cost of disbursement of domestic supplies.

Founded on such principles as have been briefly referred to, the introduction of the Mutual Benfit Account Book will receive the hearty endorsement of every economist of whatever station in life. It is really a book in the introduction of which every consumer is interested. We wish Mr. Stimson, who is a careful, painstaking and upright business man, the greatest success in introducing the new system.

Political.

What the Greeley men call a plot, but this time among the democrats instead of the revenue reformers, is now hatching. The object is to prevent the democracy from accepting Greeley, and to accomplish this the plan is to adopt the Cincinnati platform and nominate Gratz Brown.

Hon. Charles R. Buckalew is the Democratic nominee for Governor of Pensylvania.

The Baltimore American predicts that both Grant and Colfax will be nominated at Philadelphia unanimously.

The Laconia Democrat speaks of Josh. Foster et als as "better grounded in (democratic) principle, than they are drilled in practice." It also says that "at this time the democratic motto should be 'success is a duty,' and every other consideration should yield to that one single purpose." And so Democratic demoralization continues. Horace Greeley may prove a Republican "blessing in disguise," after all, in digging a grave for the Democratic party and burying himself in it with them.

THE AMOUNT OF GOLD received each week for Custom-house duties ceases to seem so fabulous when one has been through a great importing house (like that of Jordan, Marsh & Co.'s, Boston,) and viewed the wealth of silks and velvets, of shawls and rich goods, weekly received from all foreign ports of importance.

TALK AT THE TOILET. — Every lady's maid knows that the bewitching beings who pave their triumphant way with conquering hearts, regard a splendid head of hair the most effective of all womanly fascinations. They believe, and they are right, that they can lance as many beaux with the luxuriant ringlets and glossy braids as they can "kill at sight" with their beaming eyes. Hence in their "toilet talk" among themselves and with their attendants, the merits of preparations for the hair are freely canvassed, and the latest result of this discussion seems to be the almost universal adoption of LYON'S KATHAIRON as an article better adapted to promote the health and beauty of the "Chief Glory of Woman" than any other at present before the world. They say that without irritating the skin of the head it eradicates dandruff, and that it penetrates below the surface to the roots of the hair, endowing them with new life and vigor.

"BILIOUS."—If you feel dull, drowsy, debilitated, despondent, have frequent Headache, mouth tastes badly in the morning, irregular appetite and tongue coated, you are suffering from Torpid Liver or "Biliousness." In many cases of "Liver Complaint" only a part of these symptoms are experienced. As a remedy for all such cases, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has no equal, as it effects perfect cures, leaving the liver strengthened and healthy. Sold by all first-class druggists. 592.

CASTORIA—a substitute for Castor Oil—a family physic which is pleasant to take and does not distress or gripe, but is sure to operate when all the other remedies have failed. It is a purely vegetable preparation, containing neither Minerals, Morphine nor Alcohol, the result of fifteen years experimenting by Doctor Samuel Pitcher. It is perfectly harmless and far more effective than Pills, Narcotic Syrups or Castor Oil. By soothing the system it produces natural sleep, and is particularly adapted to crying or teething children. It kills Worms, cures Stomach Ache, Constipation, Flatulency and Derangement of the Liver. No family can afford to be without this article. It costs but 50 cents—ask your druggist to get it for you, and he will always keep it. jul 4w

THE BAR ROOM REMEDY for weakness of the stomach is a dose of Rum Bitters. They are surcharged with Fusel Oil, a deadly element, which is rendered more active by the pungent astringents with which it is combined. If your stomach is weak, or your liver or bowels disordered, tone, strengthen and regulate them with VINEGAR BITTERS, a pure VEGETABLE TONIC, CORRECTIVE AND APERIENT, free of alcohol, and capable of infusing new vatility into your exhausted and disordered system. HOLLOWAY'S PILLS AND OINTMENT.—Scrofula was considered incurable until the great discovery of "Holloway's Pills and Ointment" flashed upon the world. Diseases which baffle the skill of the medical schools, readily yield to these peerless remedies. Scurvy, Erysipelas, Saltrheum, Itch, and all cutaneous eruptions are curable by them. 25 cents per box or pot.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

A Wholesale Stimulant, That is Absolutely Pure.

Physicians throughout the world agree as to the necessity for diffusive stimulants in medical practice, but complain, and with good reason, of the impossibility of obtaining them pure. The difficulty here presented would be a serious one indeed, if the class of agents was limited to the adulterated liquors and wines of trade. It vanished, however, when the absolute purity and extraordinary restorative properties of HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS are taken into consideration. As a stimulant the article is absolutely free from everything objectionable; but this is only one of its recommendations. If it were nothing more than an excellent its effects would be fleeting. It might refresh and revive the system for a few minutes, but could produce no permanent benefit. The stimulanting elements of the Bitters is a means, not an end. The tonic, anti-bilious, deparative and aperient vegetable juices combined in the preparation are the agents that impart vigor and regularity to the weakened and disordered organization, the spirituous principle being chiefly useful in diffusing their influence through the system and otherwise facilitating their operation. Alcohol, even in its purest form, is not so much a medicine as a motive power, by which the specifics of the vegetable kingdom may be brought to bear upon the debilitating and disordered organs that require renovating and regulating; and it is in this way that the pure essence of rye incorporated in Hostetter's Bitters increases the efficiency of the purely medical ingredients.

City Councils.

On Thursday evening, May 30,—the Aldermen signed the order for the widening of Newcastle Street.

The petition of Augustus Lord and others for the widening of Warren Street from Chestnut to Middle Street was received, and it was voted that notice be given of a hearing.

Application of C. H. Mendum for relay of sidewalk on Middle Street was granted.

Voted, that the action of the Mayor relative to vaccination of poor children belonging to public schools be approved, and that the Mayor be authorized to contract with the City Physician for vaccination of poor children.

Petition of William Sladen for cross walk on Creek Street was referred.

Leave was granted John W. Parsons to encumber State, Chestnut and Warren Streets to repair building, and to Robert C. Sides to encumber Cabot Street for building.

The Committee on Police, who were directed to examine the account of J. H. Kent, reported, and the account was referred to Committee on Claims with City Solicitor for settlement.

The Common Council met, voted not to require the Committee on Bills on Second Reading to report the appropriation bill, and sent a message up to the Aldermen by Councilman Wendell, clerk pro. tem., who returned with the information that the upper Board had already adjourned without going through the needless formality of notifying the Council of their intention to do so, whereupon the Council followed suit.

Eastern Railroad.

The new double track on the Eastern Railroad, between Portsmouth and Greenland, is being rapidly constructed. The abutments at the Creek bridge have been extended and the new iron bridge for the second track will be placed on Sunday. The grading for the track to the Plains bridge is nearly done, a small piece of ledge only remaining east of Mr. Emery's, which will be finished in a few days. The new track is on the left side going West, and at the Plains bridge it will be on the right hand side to Greenland. A temporary bridging is being put up at the Plains overhead bridge, while one of the abutments there is being removed and rebuilt. At the ledge in the cut on Messrs. C. Hayes & Son's farm about fifty men are employed in blasting and removing the rock, some of which comes out in large boulders and is used for culverts, etc. Here is a train of platform cars, with two derricks for hoisting out the boulders, which are landed on small drags and moved thus on the cars. The road is graded nearly to Young's crossing. The double track can be used as far as the Plains in a week if desired. It is estimated that three or four week's time will be required to finish the cut at Messrs. Hayes', the bottom of the ledge taking more time than the sides in its excavation.

Vagrancy.

Messrs. Editors:—I am glad to see that the people are beginning to notice the truancy and absenteeism from our schools. The inadequate provision made for keeping children regularly in school is one of the greatest troubles in our school system. As many of our schools have spacious play-grounds, the idlers collect there, conveying the impression to the people passing by that they are members of the school, allowed to roam about by some laxity of discipline, or the indifference of the teachers. I counted on a late day, when schools were in session, seven boys between the foot of Pleasant Street and the Haven School, none of them apparently over fifteen years of age. This class of boys exerts a corrupting and demoralizing influence over the pupils of the schools. I assert without fear of contradiction that two-thirds of the cases of truancy are directly caused by the influence of the "vagrants" of whom "Citizen" complains.

Now, Messrs. Editors, are we to depend for our salvation upon that State law which requires children to attend school twelve weeks and loaf forty? If this subject is mentioned to the City Marshal, he claims to be powerless except in the case of actual truants; and even then, over-indulgent parents usually manage to deprive the law of half its terrors. Other city governments take care of their boys; why cannot ours? "Citizen" seems unconsciously to give us the key to the remedy, in heading his communication "Little Vagrants." I copy the following extract from the report of the St. Paul (Minn.) Supt. of schools: "I have reason to believe that through the public school and the private schools, all the children of the city are in attendance upon a course of education. Truancy is scarcely known. In no part of the city, neither in the town, nor the streets, nor at the depots, nor in the suburbs, will children be found during school hours. I have invoked the assistance of the police, on the assumption that a vagrant child is as much under their supervision as a vagrant man, and I am happy to know that they are in full sympathy with me." An enviable state of affairs, but one which we can attain if the effort be made by the proper authorities. F.

Laconics.

Too much cannot be said in favor of small, portable apparatus for extinguishing fires at the outset. Machines of this kind have done a great deal of good all over the country in putting out fires without the damage by water which is attendant upon the use of engines. It is claimed that the "Gardner Fire Extinguisher" is the lightest, simplest, cheapest and most effective extinguisher ever offered to the public, and persons interested will do well to give it their consideration as a means of protection from fire. Thos. S. Nowell, Esq., is the agent for this city. See advertisement.

Two more circuses are coming, Stone & Murray's and Howe's.

The Journal says a steamer will run between this city and Boston during the Jubilee.

There is to be a change of programme at the Martyn concert, next Tuesday evening, and the price of tickets will be reduced to 35 cents each.

A new bridge is to be built to connect the Navy Yard with Seavey's Island.

As expressman White of the Newcastle line was driving up Vaughan Street, Friday morning, his horse took a sudden start, breaking the whiffle tree and jerking the expressman ten feet ahead of the wagon. By a skillful maneuvre of his pedestals Mr. White landed on his feet uninjured.

Sea weed steeped in water and used as a gargle is highly recommended for the cure of diphtheria.

A Portsmouth correspondent of the Concord Monitor says the contractor who furnishes hay for the Navy Yard at $28 per ton is compelled to purchase it at $35.

Summer guests are already quartered at the Sea View House, near Rye Beach.

The next annual convention of the diocese of New Hampshire will be held at St. John's Church on the last Wednesday in May, 1873.

There are strong indications that Gen. M. F. Wentworth of Kittery will receive the Congressional nomination of the Republicans of the First Maine District, on the 26th inst. Cumberland county will send 116 delegates, and York county, 106—making 112 necessary to nominate.

Riding through Kittery on Memorial Day, we were thus accosted by a sober Irish sailor: "Say, gents, sh'd think this was the main state, this State of Maine. Can't get a drop of liquor to drink. But just wait till Horace Gthreeley is 'lected an' then we can drink as often as we plaze. Horace is the man to let us have liquor." Reflecting on the confident assurance of the man, we could not deny that the sailer's estimate of Horace's inconsistency was correct, for a man who will abandon his principles for a Presidential nomination will as readily forget to advocate any longer the cause of temperance, more especially as he desires the votes of whisky sellers and whisky drinkers.

Steamer Enterprise will commence her regular trips next Wednesday.

John H. Slater, Esq., sails from New York for Liverpool, to-day, in steamer Australia. Mr. Slater goes to Europe for his health.

Divine service will be held in St. John's Church, to-morrow evening, at 1-4 past 7 o'clock.

Rotation.

The Republicans of Ward One held a very quiet caucus, Friday evening, and Hon. James W. Emery received every vote cast for a candidate for the legislature to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Hon. Horton D. Walker. A majority of the votes thrown were headed "For Rotation." The remaining votes indicated no preference on the Senatorial question. The election will take place next Monday.

CLEAR YOUR THROAT!
Relieve Your Lungs.
For the terrible diseases engendered by the lung-trying climate of New England,
DR. BUCHMAN'S
Pulmocine Cordial
Is a speedy and reliable Preventive and Remedy. EVERY FAMILY should have a bottle at hand to check the sudden growth of all Pulmonary Diseases. For the Asthma, Coughs, Croups, Laryngitis, or inflammation of the larynx, Diphtheria, and all kindred THROAT DISEASES at all times prevalent, it is the ounce of PREVENTION. Children attacked with Whooping Cough or Croup should be immediately cared for. These painful attacks come with scarcely a moment's warning, when a physician may be out of immediate reach. A dose of PULMOCINE CORDIAL gives speedy relief, and the little ones are spared hours of pain and agony. As "a stitch in time saves nine," so does the possession of this FAMILY MEDICINE prevent the spread of disease. Parents seeing their children gasping with pain, friends and relatives beholding each other in peril from suffocation by the choking pain in the throat, paralyzed with fear and not knowing the best course to pursue, are liable to apply the wrong remedial agents. There is no safety in delay, no time to waste in such cases. CONSUMPTION, that fearful scourge of the human race, lies at the door of all thus afflicted. BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL arrests it (unless in its advanced stage at which time there is no local cure) relieves the pressing suffering, and by healing at the lungs, and the patient's danger is past.
Buchman's Pulmocine Cordial is no new discovery. Twenty-three years ago it was the parent of New England's most famous physicians as the best PULMONARY CURATIVE he could prescribe, after a dozen years spent in experimenting with it, before he was satisfied that the Materia Medica could add nothing in its favor.
BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL
Is the ultima thule of Medical Discovery.
Among its many ingredients are WILD CHERRY BARK, SQUILLA ROOT, LIQUORICE ROOT, BLOOD ROOT, &c. It is a BLOOD PURIFIER, gently stimulating. It increases expectoration and is diuretic. It is sudorific and alterative. It is a necessary family medicine. As a Tonic, and a powerful aid to the digestive organs. It is a gentle sedative, and relieves nervousness. It is aromatic and agreeable to the taste.
For Coughs, Croup, Diphtheria, Asthma, &c.
USE BUCHMAN'S
PULMOCINE CORDIAL.
The Pulmocine Cordial is not a quack medicine, is not an experiment, is not composed of any ingredients "discovered" by "walking in pastures" in South America or anywhere else, nor by one who discovered a weed and thereby cured himself. Most of the ingredients are such as our best educated physicians daily use for the complaints specified, in some form or other. The recipe is that perfected by one of New England's most learned and famous physicians, who used it entirely in his daily practice until his death. It is offered to the profession and to the public, absolutely pure and unadulterated.

The Singer
SEWING MACHINE
STILL LEADS THE MARKET.
The Success of the Company is far beyond that of any other similar concern; the Daily Manufacture
— OF —
400 OF THE SINGERS
Failing to Supply the Constant Demand.
All other machines call the public attention to some new loop or stitch or tension or finish, some advantage in running or needles or feed or prices—and many of these are as we have said very good points, and the agents selling them use them to divert entirely the would-be purchaser from fairly considering the facts in the case; but the
SINGER
seems to unite the good qualities of all, and is never found wanting.
THE SINGER
IS THE OLDEST
SEWING MACHINE
IN THE MARKET,
All others being copied from its first model. It does two-thirds the sewing done in this country and preserves its advantages over all others combined.
It is readily kept clean, and has THE BEST TENSION EVER INVENTED; it is higher speeded and requires but little power to run; it works equally well upon the finest and heaviest goods; it does all the varieties of work known to the art.
N. B. Those purchasing for cash, before the 1 of January next, will have a consideration allowed them.

Morning Chronicle.

SPIRITUAL.—The Bangor Commercial tells the following: A former resident of this city some years ago moved to Cincinnati and went into business there. Some time since as he was on his way to his place of business at his usual early hour in the morning, when going past a side street, one which he had never had occasion to use, he distinctly heard a voice which said, "Go down this street;" but, not being of a superstitious turn of mind, he continued on his way for a few blocks, when the impression grew so strong that he retraced his steps and went down the street indicated by the voice. He had gone but a few rods when the voice again said, "Go in there;" he looked and found himself opposite a small third-rate hotel. Going into the barroom which opened on the street the first sight that met his astonished eyes was the bar-keeper holding up a coat of a peculiar cloth and color for the examination of a small knot of idlers. He at once recognized the coat as belonging to a friend of his whom he had last seen in Maine during his visit home. Upon making inquiries, he found that his friend lay dead in the house, and finding that there was an evident disposition to plunder the valuables and clothing of his dead friend, he took charge of the dead body and saw it properly buried, and the property sent home to his mother. Had it not been for his remarkable warning, the dead man, dying among strangers, might have gone to the dissecting room of the medical college, and his effects to heartless thieves. What makes the story the more wonderful is that this gentlemen had no idea his friend was in town.

BEECHER ON HEN-ROOSTS.—Ward Beecher is credited with having written a note, so extraordinary in its language and tenor, that it might well be wondered whether he can really be its author. If we are to trust report, the daily papers of Des Moines, Iowa, recently contained a notice relative to some obscure actress who had been fulfilling an engagement at Albany. According to this notice, Mr. Beecher not only attended the young woman's performance at the Albany theater, but called upon her after it was over, and wrote for one of the papers an adulatory paragraph which appeared next morning, and which wound up with the wish that when she was called to Heaven "her seat might be among those bright angels of which she was so truly one." A Baptist gentleman name Cressy happened to see this notice, and having Mr. Beecher's reputation at heart, cut the paragraph out and sent it to him, coupled with the request that if he did not write it, he would have the goodness to say so. This roused the leonine Beecher, who immediately "slopped over," in a letter which makes twenty lines of small type. It is written in Mr. Beecher's most angry vein. Nothing like it has left the Beecherian pen ever since the party with the truss was disposed of by him. After informing poor Mr. Cressy that, had he been a reasonably intelligent man he would not have put such a question, Mr. Beecher magnanimously adds, "Still, I forgive you!" and appends the explanation that he has never seen a play acted in a theater in his life. After several sentences of satire and indignation, Mr. Beecher concludes thus: "Any neighborhood into which these strolling theaters come ought to doublelock their barns and look well to their horses. A manager who can forge letters will be likely to have around him a company that will rob hen-roosts."

JOHNNY'S VIEW.—Johnny writes this letter from school: "I write to tell you that I am very wretched and my chilblains is worser again. I have not made any progress and don't think I shall. I am sorry to be such expense, but i don't think schule is of any good. One of the fellows has taken the crowne hout of my new hat for a target. i said you would not like it, he has also borrowed my watch to make a water wheal with the work. Me and him have tried to put the works back, but we think there is some wheals missing, it won't fit. I hope matilda's cold is better. i am glad she is not at schule. i think I have got consumshun. the boys at this place are not gentlemanly, but i suppose you did not know that when you sent me. i will try not to get bad habits. the trowsers have worn out the nees. i think the tailor must have cheated you. the buttons have also come off and they are tore at the back. i don't thinl the food is good but i should not mind it if i was stronger. the piece I send you is of the beef we had on sunday but on other days it is more stingy. There are black beedles in the kitchen and sometimes they cook them in the dinner which cant be wholesom when you are not strong. one off the boy had tamed one, not a cooked, a raw one and it will dance when you whistle Down in a coal mine, which makes him think of his happy home."

JURUBEBA
Is a Powerful Tonic, specially adapted for use in Spring, when the LANGUID and DEBILITATED system needs strength and vitality; it will give vigor to the feeble, health to the sick, animation to the dejected, activity to the sluggish, rest to the weary, quiet to the nervous, and health to the infirm.
It is a South American plant, which, according to the medical and scientific periodicals of London and Paris, possesses the MOST POWERFUL tonic properties known to the Medical world, and is well known in its native country as having wonderful curative qualities, and has been long used as a specific in all cases of Impurities of the Blood, Derangement of the Liver and Spleen, Tumors, Dropsy, Poverty of the Blood, Debility, Weakness of the Intestines, Uterine or Urinary Organs.
DR. WELLS' EXTRACT OF JURUBEBA
Is strengthening and nourishing. Like nutritious food taken into the stomach, it assimilates and diffuses itself through the circulation, giving vigor and health.
It regulates the bowels, quiets the nerves, acts directly on the secretive organs, and by its powerful TONIC and restoring effects, produces healthy and vigorous action to the whole system.

$1000 REWARD.
BRIGGS' ALLEVANTOR is composed of Ammonia, Chloroform, Spirits of Camphor, Tincture of Lupuline, Oil of Juniper, and Alcohol. The compound is unequalled in the annals of medicine for the cure of Nervous or Sick Headache, Neuralgia, Trembling or Twitching of the Nerves, and all Nervous Diseases. It will counteract all poisons, banish pimples, cure scaly eruptions, itching, humors, &c.; it equalizes the circulation, invigorates the system, increases the action of the heart, without exciting the brain, cures Heartburn, Palpitation and Fluttering of the Heart, Dyspepsia, &c. Briggs' Allevantor absolutely possesses more curative properties than any other preparation. Physicians, chemists, and others are requested to examine and test the remedy, and $1000 will be paid if found different from representation.
COUGHS, Much has been said and written, and many remedies have been offered for the relief and cure of throat and lung diseases; but nothing has been so eminently successful, or obtained such a wide celebrity, as Briggs' Throat and Lung Healer.
CORNS! The excruciating pain produced by Corns, the unceasing twinging from Bunions, the piercing, distressing pain from Ingrowing Nails, cannot be described. Thousands suffer, not knowing there is a cure. Briggs' Corn and Bunion Remedies are no acid or potash compounds, but are reliable, soothing, and effectual, and just merit the success they have earned from an appreciative public. The Curative is a healing ointment; immediate relief is obtained by its application, and it will positively cure the worst cases of Festered Corns, Inflamed and Ulcerated Bunions, the sorest Instep, the largest and severest Blisters, the most extensive Callosities on the soles or heels of the feet, unequalled in the cure of Chilblains or Frosted Feet. The Allevantor for ordinary corns and preventing their formation is absolutely unexcelled by anything ever known.
PILES have been a terror to mankind for centuries, and almost every attempt to cure them has been baffled. By uncasing study and experimenting, Dr. Briggs has discovered an absolutely cure for internal, bleeding, external, and itching piles. Briggs' Pile Remedies are mild, safe and sure.

The Daily Chronicle,

Portsmouth, N. H.

MONDAY, JUNE 3, 1872.

The News.

After spending three years in an obstinate attack upon the management of the Methodist Book Concern, and becoming the recipient of innumerable hard names, Dr. Lanahan has succeeded in getting the church to acknowledge the existence of gross frauds and to take measures for securing a reform.

General Howard has withdrawn his request to General Crook for a suspension of the campaign against the Indians of Arizona, and advises him to take vigorous measures at once to punish hostile Apaches, whom he designs as robbers and murderers, who will not be conciliated.

Alexander Murray was convicted on Thursday, at Pulaski, N. Y., of manslaughter, for killing W. Edget last fall. This is the first criminal trial under the new law allowing intelligent men, who read the newspapers, to be drawn as jurors.

Four young ladies in New London, Conn., sisters, are to be married the same day during the coming month, in the same house.

James Gordon Bennett was dying on Saturday.

Senator Sumner made a three hours' speech against the President, Friday.

The London Standard says "the political campaign just opened in the United States has caused hundreds of street riots, men and women have been shot down for their political sentiments and a reign of violence and bloodshed has been inaugurated which we pray England will never see." The editor of that paper is evidently intending to write a book on America.

The Boston Journal appeared on Saturday enlarged by seven columns space; the price of single copies is reduced to three cents. The Transcript and Traveller have also reduced their price to three cents.

Boston had eleven deaths from small pox last week.

Political.

Senator Bayard of Delaware, in a letter to constituents says, "I cannot think the democratic masses will barter away their grand and simple party faith to follow an executive nomination which defeats everything of wisdom, propriety and justice which have ever been advanced for the control of our party movements."

Mr. Voorhees says that there are at least eighty Democratic members of the House who stand with him, and that Frank Blair is the only Democratic Senator for Greeley.

Gen. Kilpatrick, Anna Dickinson, Theodore Tilton and Kate Stanton have been "retained" for the later Franklin.

The children of the late John Greeley publish a card denying that he ever said "Horace will never be President of the United States." They add that he said, "I foresee with almost prophetic clearness, that Horace is the rock on which, if rejected, the [Democratic] party will be split into fragments." The Democratic party is split into fragments already, and it needs no "prophetic" vision to see it.

The Senatorial Question.

Editors Chronicle:—Your types make me to say, "Was not Judge Fowler and Col. Hall associated with these 'working leaders' who nevertheless 'acted unitedly in the understanding' to the contrary as you have stated?" This makes a charge against Judge Fowler and Col. Hall which I never intended to make.

What I wrote was this: Was not Judge Fowler and Col. Hall associated with him (Rollins) to assure neutality? Who are the "working leaders" who nevertheless "acted unitedly in the understanding" to the contrary as you have stated? Will you please insert this correction in justice to all concerned.

ANTI-ROTATION.

SENATORIAL.—As the time draws near for the meeting of the Legislature, the Senatorial question assumes greater interest and importance and is very generally and freely discussed in political circles and the newspapers, and with almost as great diversity of opinions as there are possible candidates. As far as we can judge of public sentiment, it cannot be denied that in this section of the State, at least, a very strong feeling in favor of rotation has been developed within the past few weeks. This has arisen largely, as it seems to us, not from any dissatisfaction with or want of confidence in Senator Patterson, so much as a growing belief among active and influential Republicans that with so few positions of high responsibility within the gift of the State, and with so many men of ability in the Republican party possessing every requisite and qualification for the highest trust, any policy that tends to concentrate and perpetuate such political honors and power on any two or three men, however deserving, to the exclusion of the many, is dangerous and weakening in its tendency, productive of disaffection, and if long continued must inevitably prove fatal to the integrity and success of the party.

Two years ago we expressed ourselves against this doctrine of rotation as a general principle. Nor are we by any means convinced now of its wisdom or policy as a party measure where there are no other reasons for a change. Yet, if we may judge from what we hear and read, probably a large majority of the Republicans of this Congressional District hold to it, and, as we have before remarked, the sentiment—which two years ago was already strong—seems rapidly on the increase. Of the Republican papers in this District we know of but one, the Portsmouth Journal, that has pronounced in favor of the re-election of Senator Patterson. Four, at least, the Portsmouth Chronicle, the Great Falls Journal, the Rochester Courier and the Lake Village Times, are for Hon. E. H. Rollins. The Exeter News Letter is understood to favor Gen. Marston. In the second Congressional District, the Manchester Mirror is for rotation; the Amherst Cabinet and Merrimac Journal for Patterson; the Statesman and Nashua Telegraph neutral as yet. In the Third District, the National Eagle and Lebanon Press are for Patterson, the Coos Republican for rotation, and the Keene Sentinel and Northern Advocate have admitted articles both for Patterson and rotation.

If the press is an exponent of public sentiment, there is certainly throughout the State a very formidable feeling in favor of rotation. This sentiment is less in the western district than in this vicinity, yet even there by no means inconsiderable, and in the whole State it is so strong as to render a successful concentration against Senator Patterson by no means improbable. In view of such a contingency, the question of his successor becomes a matter of deep interest to the Republicans of the State, and especially to the Representatives upon whom will devolve the responsibility of selecting his successor. It is fortunate that the Republican party has such excellent material from which to choose. Among the candidates most prominently mentioned are Hons. E. H. Rollins, Gilman Marston, Mason W. Tappan, Aaron F. Stevens, and Ex-Gov. Stearns. There is not one of these who has not already served his fellow citizens in public life with marked ability and credit. Gen. Marston possesses legal abilities of the highest order, has an excellent military record and many devoted personal friends in this section, who confidently claim that he is the coming man. General Stevens' career has been alike honorable in professional life, as a soldier, and in legislative experience. Mason W. Tappan was one of the pioneers of the Republican party, is one of the ablest of its members, with few superiors in his profession and a large political experience. Gov. Stearns is an excellent example of a self-made man, with remarkable business qualities and an executive ability rarely excelled, and possesses in a high degree the confidence of his fellow citizens.

Yet of all the names mentioned in the event of rotation being successful, the Republicans of New Hampshire could hardly do a better thing or one that would tell so much upon our future success as the sending of Edward H. Rollins to the United States Senate. Certainly there is no man in the State to whom the Republican party is under greater obligations for its past successes, and there is no one who will better or more faithfully represent its popular ideas and its living, progressive principles. Mr. Rollins has had much experience in political life, both State and National. Its every trust he has proved capable, careful of the interests of his constituents, prompt, earnest and fearless in every exigency where their wants were involved. He is just in the prime of life, a clear-headed, high-minded man, thoroughly Republican and reliable. For a man of action, of keen perceptions and indomitable pluck and energy, we may look in vain for his superior. If faithful and efficient services, undoubted ability, a quick appreciation of the wants of the people and practical statesmanship have their due influence, Mr. Rollins can hardly stand second in the race.

There are other deserving gentlemen well qualified for the position, such as Gen. Harriman, Ex-Gov. Haile, Ass. Fowler, J. H. Ela, Austin F. Pike, Jacob Benton, C. H. Bell, &c., some of whom may yet become formidable candidates, but at present it looks as if the choice, if it does not again fall on Senator Patterson, will rest on one of the first mentioned.—Dover Enquirer.

AGAIN TO THE ONSET.—The National Senate was yesterday the scene of a spectacle never before witnessed in the history of the country. Hon. Charles Sumner, the senior Senator from Massachusetts, who in spite of his weakness and faults, holds a high place in the estimation of his constituents and of the country, has taken a step unwarranted by circumstances and unpardonable in one who occupies the position and possesses the advantages enjoyed by our Senator. Not content with the position assumed, and the words uttered some months ago,—words calculated to cast reproach on the public and dishonor upon the government,—Mr. Sumner has seen fit to make another assault upon the administration. This attack, as described in our special despatches this morning, will be deeply regretted by the Senator's friends, and will be found to produce but little harm in affecting the chance of President Grant's renomination at the Philadelphia Convention. Globe.

—A gentleman lately addressed a passionate billet-doux to a lady in the same town, adding this postscript: "Please send me a speedy answer, as I have somebody else in my eye."

USE BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL for all throat diseases.

THE AMOUNT OF GOLD received each week for Custom-house duties ceases to seem so fabulous when one has been through a great importing house (like that of Jordan, Marsh & Co.'s, Boston,) and viewed the wealth of silks and velvets, of shawls and rich goods, weekly received from all foreign parts of importance.

PILES.—The unceasing torture from internal bleeding, external and itching piles is fast wearing away the thousands of those who are afflicted and their hope and courage have long since given place to despair. Let those who see this cheer up, for a mild and sure cure may be had by using BRIGGS' PILE REMEDIES.

USE KENNEDY'S HEMLOCK OINTMENT.

CORNS.—Since pride and fashion have had control of mankind, and shoemakers were compelled to make boots and shoes to fit fancy instead of the feet, the suffering from Corns, Bunions, Ingrowing Nails, Sore Insteps, Blistered Heels, Callosities on the bottom of the feet, &c., cannot be described. But Briggs' Corn and Bunion Remedies will cure all such torments, and proper fitting boots will prevent their reproduction. Sold by all druggists. a12

CASTORIA—a substitute for Castor Oil—a family physic which is pleasant to take and does not distress or gripe, but is sure to operate when all the other remedies have failed. It is a purely vegetable preparation, containing neither Minerals, Morphine nor Alcohol, the result of fifteen years experimenting by Doctor Samuel Pitcher. It is perfectly harmless and far more effective than Pills, Nacotic Syrups or Castor Oil. By soothing the system it produces natural sleep, and is particularly adapted to crying or teething children. It kills Worms, cures Stomach Ache, Constipation, Flatulency and Derangement of the Liver. No family can afford to be without this article. It costs but 50 cents—ask your druggist to get it for you, and he will always keep it. J. B. Rose & Co. 53 Broadway, New York. jul 4w

SPECIAL NOTICES.

A Wholesale Stimulant, That is Absolutely Pure.

Physicians throughout the world agree as to the necessity for diffusive stimulants in medical practice, but complain, and with good reason, of the impossibility of obtaining them pure. The difficulty here presented would be a serious one indeed, if the class of agents was limited to the adulterated liquors and wines of trade. It vanished, however, when the absolute purity and extraordinary restorative properties of HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS are taken into consideration. As a stimulant the article is absolutely free from everything objectionable; but this is only one of its recommendations. If it were nothing more than an excellent tonic its effects would be fleeting. It might refresh and revive the system for a few minutes, but could produce no permanent benefit. The stimulating elements of the Bitters is a means, not an end. The tonic, anti-bilious, depurative and aperient vegetable juices combined in the preparation are the agents that impart vigor and regularity to the weakened and disordered organization, the spirituous principle being chiefly useful in diffusing their influence through the system and otherwise facilitating their operation. Alcohol, even in its purest form, is not so much a medicine as a motive power, by which the specifics of the vegetable kingdom may be brought to bear upon the debilitating and disordered organs that require renovating and regulating; and it is in this way that the pure essence of rye incorporated in Hostetter's Bitters increases the efficiency of the purely medical ingredients.

HAVE IT ALWAYS AT HAND.—Accidents will happen in the best regulated families, and for this reason among many others, the MUSTANG LINIMENT should find a place in the cupboard of every household. In all the world there is nothing comparable to it as an application for cuts, contusions, burns, sprains, and scalds, and when every other preparation that medical ingenuity can suggest, has failed to afford relief in rheumatism, neuralgia, sore throat, glandular swellings, muscular contractions, cramps, toothache, &c., this powerful anti-inflammatory and pain-destroying agent immediately assuages the sufferer's agony and eventually accomplishes a radical cure. Probably there is not a connoisseur in horse flesh or an amateur horseman in the land who does not know, either from personal observation or reports that the MUSTANG LINIMENT is the supreme remedy for all external diseases and injuries of the horse.

AYER'S

CHERRY PECTORAL

For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma and Consumption.

The few compositions, which have won the confidence of mankind and become household words among not only one but many nations, must have extraordinary virtues. Perhaps no one ever secured so wide a reputation or maintained it so long as AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL. It has been known to the public about forty years, by a long continued series of marvellous cures, which have won for it a confidence in its virtues, never equalled by any other medicines. It still makes the most effectual cures of Coughs, Colds, Consumption, that can be made by medical skill. Indeed the CHERRY PECTORAL has really robbed these dangerous diseases of their terrors, to a great extent, and given a feeling of immunity from their fatal effects, which is well founded, if the remedy be taken in season. Every family should have it in their closet for the ready and prompt relief of its members. Sickness, suffering, and even life is saved by this timely protection. The parent should not neglect it, and the wise will not. Keep it by you for the protection it affords in sudden attacks, and by its timely use.

LOCAL AFFAIRS.

Whose Fault Is It?

Editors Chronicle:—Thanking you for the space allotted to my first communication (on the subject of truant and idle boys) and for your explanation of the law, I trouble you with one more communication on the same matter. The law enacted by the last legislature was a step in the right direction. It is excellent as far as it goes, but it stops far short of the point at which we must find our remedy. The execution of this law would bring but a partial remedy to the evil of which we complain. For ought we know some of the boys justly styled "little vagrants" may have attended school the modicum of time prescribed by the law; must they therefore be allowed to run wild upon our streets all the rest of the year? I acknowledge that I have been remiss in neglecting to give the committee a "written notice," and accept my share of the responsibility. But I have had the idea that the school committee were elected for some definite purpose, and that citizens were excusable for failing to interfere with their duties and to prosecute their delinquencies. Many of the committee never think of their position except when called to attend the meetings of the board, and even then (if report speaks truly) it is often difficult to find members enough to transact business.

The fact is, we are behind the rest of the world in our schools and school system as well as in other respects. As long as we allow the present state of affairs to continue, we are committing a crime against ourselves and the rising generation. CITIZEN.

Laconics.

Steamer Star of the East, from Gardiner (Me.) for Boston, was in collision with schooner Mary Patten, from Salem for Bangor in ballast, off the Isles of Shoals at about 12 o'clock Thursday night. The amount of damage is not given, but no lives were lost.

Much has been said about the improvement and embellishment of Richards Avenue, and at last we are glad to be able to announce that something has been done,—Mr. B. F. Webster has put up a neat, substantial board fence on the boundary of his land, which adds fifty per cent. to the good looks—or rather, takes away fifty per cent. of the bad looks—of the Avenue. Now if the other abuttors would only go and do likewise!

Lieut. Geo. A. Norris, U. S. N., is detached from duty at the signal office and ordered to the Tuscarora.

Jubilee Notes.

Chief Justice Chase and several of the foreign ministers at Washington have regularly accepted Boston's invitation to become its guests during the ceremoines of opening the grand musical festival.

Strauss and his Austrian band, and the band of the British Grenadier Guards, left Europe for this country on Friday.

The city committee have notified the press committee that they propose giving a reception to the accredited representatives of the press attending the festival on the morning of the 17th of June, in Faneuil Hall.

State News.

The Peterboro' Transcript of May 30 says "digging after water pipes seems to be the principal business of our village people at the present time. There is scarcely an aqueduct in town that was not frozen during the cold weather last winter, and the most of them remain so yet. Culverts taken up a few days since on Pine Street, were found quite filled with ice, and would probably have remained so a month to come, had they not been disturbed. Frost has been found at a depth of six feet."

Farmington has shut down on liquor selling and has notified venders of fusel oil of that fact. A liquor agent has been appointed. The selectmen of Newmarket have warned dealers to stop selling on Sunday.

Fifteen military companies will take part in the ceremonies at the inauguration of Governor Straw.

Professor Parker of Dartmouth College has not been and will not be appointed to the chair of metaphysics in that college. Rev. Dr. Noyes will remain in the chair.

Messrs. A. D. Fessenden & Co., have erected a large coopering establishment at Merrimack, the company being exempted from taxation for five years.

An injunction, issued by Judge Sargent, was served on the Directors of the Nashua & Rochester Railroad Friday evening in the interest of the advocates of the middle route, restraining them from the collection of assessments and the transaction of business. A mandamus was also served in favor of the Directors declared elected, by T. J. Melvin of Chester, on stock not counted, demanding the surveys, profile of the road and books of the corporation. A hearing will be had on the injunction in Manchester on the 7th inst., and on the mandamus at Exeter on the 21st.

DROWNED.—Mr. Frank Plaisted of York, Me., a young man 27 years of age, was drowned on Friday, May 31, by falling from a bridge into York river while fishing. The body was recovered on Sunday and will be buried today.

NORTHERN RAILROAD.—The twenty-seventh annual meeting of the Northern Railroad corporation was held in Concord May 30th, and elected the following board of directors: Onslow Stearns, John A. Burnham, Geo. W. Nesmith, Uriel Crocker, Joseph W. Clark, Charles F. Choate, Joseph Minot. It was voted that the subject of leasing or contracting for the construction of the Concord & Rochester Railroad be referred to the Board of Directors, with full power to take such action in reference thereto as will best serve the interests of the Northern Railroad. The Directors organized as follows: Onslow Stearns, President; Joseph Minot, Treasurer, and Wm. L. Foster Clerk.

A BIG ESTABLISHMENT.—It is stated that there are received and kept regularly on the file at the American Newspaper Advertising Agency of Geo. P. Rowell & Co., New York, no less than 582 different American Daily Newspapers, 56 tri-weeklies, 49 semi-weeklies, 4,662 weeklies, 8 semi-monthlies and 320 monthlies, making a weekly average of over 8,500 periodicals of all kinds which are regularly filed and kept open for inspection by advertisers and others who may be interested. The visitor to New York from Oregon, Texas, Florida or Maine, can find at this establishment the local paper published at his home.

READ THE RECORD.—During the debate upon the army appropriation, Representative Hale of Maine delivered a speech containing a careful and thorough review of the financial policy of the present administration and showing results at once surprising and satisfactory. Mr. Hale included in his computations the appropriation bills of the present session, which are nearly enough completed to indicate that the expenditures for the next fiscal year will be at least $12,000,000 less than for the year ending on the 1st of next July. The summing-up of what has been accomplished during the past six years is as follows:—

Reduction of annual taxation	$308,000,000
Reduction of annual expenditures	225,652,228
Reduction of the principal of the national debt to April 1, 1872	315,131,730
Reduction of annual interest on the national debt	20,484,502

Among the incidents of this great result are the reduction of the number of articles and occupations subject to excise tax from 285 to 38; the dismissal of 2334 internal revenue officials, by which an annual saving of over $1,200,000 is effected, and the collection last year of $87,250,000 of revenue from spirits, fermented liquors and tobacco, in place of less than $34,000,000 in 1865. While all this has been done, States have been lowering their indebtedness and many municipalities have paid theirs to the last dollar. Mr. Hale concludes that in view of the record, there is no fear that "the American people are prepared to turn their backs upon the great party through whose administration of the government all these blessings have come."

—Are we like sheep?—Exeter News Letter.

Perhaps.

—The man who quit chewing tobacco the other day on the score of economy, foots up his bill for camomile, spruce gum, peanuts, liquorice and maple sugar, the first day, at $1.80.

—A sad and peculiar accident happened to a child at Wichita recently. The mother stepped into a store to make a purchase, leaving the baby in its carriage on the sidewalk. A gust of wind struck the carriage, and pushed it down the street against a team of horses. The horses becoming frightened kicked over the carriage and injured the baby so seriously that there is no hope of its recovery.

—An offensive Charlestown teacher received the following note the day after she had presumed to take away a boy's knife: "Miss——, you will return John's knife. I have provided pencils, strings and pennies for spending money to the teachers of the ——school as long as I mean to, and I tell you to return that knife or I'll carry the case into court." Strange as it may seem, the boy is still knifeless.

CLEAR YOUR THROAT!
Relieve Your Lungs.
For the terrible diseases engendered by the lung-trying climate of New England,
DR. BUCHMAN'S
Pulmocine Cordial
Is a speedy and reliable Preventive and Remedy. EVERY FAMILY should have a medical hand to check the sudden growth of all Pulmonary Diseases. For the Asthma, Coughs, Croups, Laryngitis, or inflammation of the larynx, Diphtheria, and all kindred THROAT DISEASES at all times prevalent, it is the ounce of PREVENTION. Children attacked with Whooping Cough or Croup should be immediately cared for. Those painful attacks come with scarcely a moment's warning, when a physician may be out of immediate reach. A dose of PULMOCINE CORDIAL gives speedy relief, and the little ones are spared hours of pain and agony. As "a stitch in time saves nine," no dose the possession of this FAMILY MEDICINE prevent the spread of disease. Parents seeing their children gasping with pain, friends and relatives beholding each other in peril from suffocation by the choking pain in the throat, paralyzed with fear and not knowing the best course to pursue, are liable to apply the wrong remedial agents. There is no safety in delay, no time to waste in such cases. CONSUMPTION, that fearful scourge of the human race, lies at the door of all those afflicted. BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL arrests it (unless in its advanced stage at which time there is no local cure) relieves the pressing, suffocating feeling at the lungs, and the patient's danger is past.
Buchman's Pulmocine Cordial
is no new discovery. Twenty-three years ago it was used by one of New England's most famous physicians as the best PULMONARY CURATIVE he could prescribe, after a dozen years spent in experimenting with it before he was satisfied that the Materia Medica could add nothing in its favor.
BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL
Is the ultima thule of Medical Discovery.
Among its many ingredients are WILD CHERRY BARK, SQUILL ROOT, LIQUORICE ROOT, BLOOD ROOT, &c. It is a BLOOD PURIFIER, gently stimulating. It increases expectoration and is diuretic. It is sudorific and alterative. It is a necessary family medicine. It is a Tonic, and a powerful aid to the digestive organs. It is a gentle sedative, and relieves nervousness. It is aromatic and agreeable to the taste.
For Coughs,
Croup,
Diphtheria,
Asthma, &c.
USE BUCHMAN'S
PULMOCINE CORDIAL.
The Pulmocine Cordial is not a quack medicine, is not an experiment, is not composed of any ingredients "discovered" by "walking in pastures" in South America or anywhere else, nor by one who discovered a weed and thereby cured himself. Most of the ingredients are such as our best educated physicians daily use for the complaints specified in some form or other. The recipe is that perfected by one of New England's most learned and famous physicians, who used it entirely in his daily practice until his death. It is offered to the profession and to the public, absolutely pure and unadulterated.

The Singer
SEWING MACHINE
STILL LEADS THE MARKET.
The Success of the Company is far beyond that of any other similar concern; the Daily Manufacture
—OF—
400 OF THE SINGERS
Failing to Supply the Constant Demand.
All other machines call the public attention to some new loop or stitch or tension or finish, some advantage in running or needles or feed or prices—and many of these are as we have said very good points, and the agents selling them use them to divert entirely the world-be purchaser from fairly considering the facts in the case; but the
SINGER
seems to unite the good qualities of all, and is never found wanting.
THE SINGER
IS THE OLDEST
SEWING MACHINE
IN THE MARKET,
All others being copied from its first model. It does two-thirds the sewing done in this country and preserves its advantages over all others combined.
It is really kept clean, and has THE BEST TENSION EVER INVENTED; it is higher speeded and requires but little power to run; it works equally well upon the finest and heaviest goods; it does all the varieties of work known to the art.

ALL persons are forbidden landing or going on the Island in the harbor, known as Leach's Island, for any purpose except by permission; and any person violating this notice must take the consequences if any accident shall happen to them. J. RIDER & SON.

Morning Chronicle.

—The intelligent compositor has broken out in Natick, where, aided by the vigilant proof-reader, he entered into a conspiracy against a dead clergyman, and remarked: "Fraud after fraud departs."

—A wise old gentleman, who knew all about it, on retiring from business gave the following sage advice to his son and successor: "Common sense, my son, is valuable in all kinds of business—except love-making."

—Mr. Agapius Hancherako, editor of the Alaska Herald, has appeared in a Greeley suit of clothes, made from white bear-skins. A great many people hereabouts appear in white bare skins every morning, but they don't all "fight mit Greeley."

—A London correspondent thus writes of the indulgence of English women in the flowing bowl:—"You go to the theatre, and between the scenes well-attired women in the dress-circle will take out a pocket-flask and refresh themselves with brandy or port. You enter a railway carriage, and your fair vis-a-vis most unblushingly takes her flask and sucks her sherry before your eyes."

—A conductor of a freight train on the New York Central road, last week, was at first flattered, then amazed and then indignant at the fact that while passing through Syracuse everybody made signals to him and pointed to his train. He finally in his wrath responded by sundry digital gyrations which ceased when he discovered that one of the grain cars was leaking corn at the rate of a bushel a minute.

—A Paris journal perpetrates the following: "Miss Grant is one of the most highly educated women in Europe. She speaks with facility English, German, French and Italian. She has contributed under the veil of anonymous signatures to several American magazines; and on her return to her own country she is to marry the son of one of the richest manufacturers of New York, who is a member of the American Parliament.

—A Pennsylvania young man had a young lady friend, who was the fortunate possessor of a half dozen gold fish. He went angling one day and caught a pound trout. He preserved it alive, thinking it would be a nice companion for the gold fish and concluded to surprise the young lady by putting it in the aquarium while she was away. The surprise was complete, for the trout swallowed all the gold fish, and then calmly turned over on its dorsal fin and died of indigestion.

—Ah! here we have it: "The substitution of Adams and Colfax, as opposing candidates, for Greeley and Grant, would at once lift the canvass to a higher plane. The offensive element of personalism would be eliminated. What now threatens to be the most acrimonious political struggle ever known in this country, would be transformed into a rational and temperate discussion of principles and policies." Only one person on this planet could have originated this brilliant idea, which his name is Samuel Bowles.—Boston Times.

AYER'S HAIR VIGOR
FOR RESTORING GRAY HAIR
TO ITS NATURAL VITALITY AND COLOR.
Advancing years, sickness, care, disappointment, and hereditary predisposition, all turn the hair gray; either of them disposes to fall off prematurely, and either effect is unsightly and unpleasant to behold. DR. AYER'S consummate skill has produced an antidote for these deformities, which has won gratitude for him from multitudes of men and women. His HAIR VIGOR sometimes reproduces lost hair; and always restores to faded and gray hair its natural color, with the gloss and freshness of youth. The comparatively few bald and gray heads, that we now see, are those who have not yet discovered the virtues of AYER'S HAIR VIGOR for renewing the hair. The fresh and youthful hair we see on older heads is often the product of this art. If you are disfigured, or made old, austere and ugly, by gray hair, restore its youthful color, and with it your fashness, to their original softness and agreeable expression.
As an elegant dressing for beautifying the Hair, it has no superior.

IT DON'T PAY.—As a profession dissipation don't pay. Men who idle away the precious days of life never succeed in their wilful determination of making circumstances accommodate themselves to their convenience. Dissappointment, disgrace, and an abrupt conclusion of schemes invariably overtake them in their wild career of dissipation. They practice wrong doing with the ardor of professional men. Physically and morally dissipating away life day by day in sheer idleness, in debauchery, in the commission of crimes which the perpetrator supposes his cunning will hide from the eyes of the world, is far more laborous than regular employments which the law protects and God approves. Therefore, although vice is practiced by thousands as a distinct calling, those most celebrated in that way die early, and society rejoices when they go. Science is charitable in supposing their brains diseased.

CANNED FRUITS.—The imprssion prevails among those who use the fruits freely which are put up in tin cans, that they are injured thereby, and this impression is in many cases correct. We have long contended that all preserved fruits and vegetables should be stored in glass, and that no metal of any kind should be brought in contact with them. All fruits contain more or less vegetable acids, and others that are highly corrosive are often formed by fermentation, and the metallic vessels are considerably acted upon. Tin cans are held together by solder, an alloy into which lead enters largely. This metal is easily corroded by vegetable acids, and poisonous salts are formed. Undoubtedly many persons are greatly injured by eating tomatoes, peaches, etc., which have been placed in tin cans, and we advise all our friends who contemplate putting up fruits the present summer to use only glass jars for the purpose.—Journal of Chemistry.

—The Meridian Gazette is responsible for the following: "An experienced honsekeeper tells a contemporary that flies may be kept out of the butter plate on a table by a simple and novel expedient by planting in it a thin slice of bread, cut columnwise and inserted in a perpendicular position. Whether the bread scares off the flies or not the woman cannot say, but she declares it certainly keeps them off."

Our devil suggests the solution that the towering pillow of food frightens the forlorn flies, who retreat for fear 'twill fall on 'em.

—A paragraph from the Norwich Bulletin to the effect that an aged citizen of Stonington, though stopping within a quarter of a mile of the depot, had never seen a railroad train, has been extensively circulated. The Bulletin regrets the fact, and thinks it may be well to mention that the elderly inhabitant passed in his checks a trifle over one hundred and twenty-seven years ago.

—Some of the papers are criticising the rhetoric of a clergyman who has recently preached and published the following on the passage of the Red Sea: "The billows reared as God's hand pulled upon their crystal bits."

TUESDAY, JUNE 4, 1872.

Petty Meanness.

The attention bestowed upon the members of our royal family by European courts must be very pleasing to the young people and very gratifying to the old folks at home. But the people generally do not look at the matter in that light. They have a decided prejudice in favor of simple, old-fashioned, republican traditions. And "our son and daughter in Europe," done up in courtly toggery and reported now in this palace and now in that, are a little too much of a good thing for the common American constitution.

The above paragraph, which we copy from the Golden Age, is a good illustration of the depth of meanness to which otherwise honorable and fair minded men will sometimes descend in search of props with which to stay up their political idols, or fer levers with which to attempt the overthrow of their political antagonists. Miss Nellie Grant is said—on the authority of the New York Nation and World, two bitter anti-Grant papers, and of numerous Washington correspondents——to be a modest, unassumming, lady like young girl. But she is the President's daughter; and Mr. Tilton, whese often erratic but always earnest advocacy of his own theological notions has never made him unjust or ungentlemanly to his religious opponents, considers it quite the fair thing to attempt to foster a prejudice against the father by casting covert slurs at the unoffending daughter. If Mr. Grant chooses to send his daughter to Europe, he has the same right to do so that Theodore Tilton has to go if he so pleases; and Miss Grant commits no greater outrage on society or republican institutions by dressing becomingly in Europe than Mr. Tilton's lady friends do by similarly dressing in New York. And even that the daughter of the chief magistrate of the United States is treated with courtesy by the courts of Europe does not seem to us very threatening to our liberties, nor very broad ground for denunciation of the girl, her entertainers, or her father. If Mr. Tilton is not already ashamed of having written the paragraph we give above, then it goes further than anything else he has ever written to show the utterly corrupting influence of American politics on those who take an active part in them.

The News.

In the United States Senate, on Saturday, Mr. Flanagan of Texas made a speech in reply to those of Messrs. Sumner and Schurz. Mr. Conkling of New York and Mr. Logan of Illinois also spoke in opposition to Mr. Sumner, and the latter announced that another time he would reply to that Senator's speech. The resolution for the final adjournment June 3d was rescinded, and at the evening session another, fixing the time one week later, was received from the House and concurred in.

A request for time, for more careful consideration of the supplemental article to the treaty, is made by the British government. This request, if it mean anything, must mean the postponement of the Geneva tribunal, which should meet on the 15th.

The prospects of saving the treaty are not improved. The propositions which the English government make cannot be accepted. It is now too late, at any rate, for the supplemental treaty to reach Geneva on the 15th instant, the day assigned for the meeting.

The Methodist general conference which has been in session in Brooklyn for the past month has adjourned until next year.

The annual meeting of the New England woman's club was held in Boston on Saturday.

A heavy defalcation in the Merchants' Bank of Boston is brought to light, the bank examiner, Mr. Ripley, having discovered that the discount clerk, William H. Wadleigh, had four years ago embezzled $87,000 for speculations.

This is the third defalcation which has taken place in the Merchants' Bank; the defalcation of Hooper many years ago, and the robbery of the bank by a former cashier before its organization under a United States charter, being well-remembered in financial circles.

James Gordon Bennett, founder and proprietor of the New York Herald, died in New York at half-past 5 o'clock P. M. on Saturday. His age is reported to have been 77, although several authorities assert that he was born about the year 1800. He was a native of a small town in Scotland, but his parents were French Catholics, and he remained an adherent to the Roman Catholic faith until his decease. At the age of 14 or 15 he entered a Catholic seminary at Aberdeen, where he pursued a full course of study with the idea of taking holy orders, but this plan he gave up and on the 19 of April, 1819, he embarked for America. He taught school in Halifax awhile, then worked his way to Portland and Boston. In 1822 he went to New York, whence, after a short connection with the press, he went to Charleston, S. C., where he was engaged to translate Spanish-American papers for the Courier. Returning to New York he attempted a commercial school and failed, lectured on political economy and failed, and made his first venture in journalism by purchasing a Sunday newspaper, in conducting which he also failed. After being employed a season as reporter and contributor in various offices he became attached to the "National Advocate," a democratic organ, writing against the tariff, and commenting on political subjects generally. A year later he was connected with the "Enquirer" under James Watson Webb, and was one of the pioneer correspondents at Washington. He rose to be an associate editor on this paper and continued in the office after the consolidation with the Courier, writing in support of Andrew Jackson. In 1832 he started the New York Globe, which lived one month. Then he went to Philadelphia and became the leading editor and one of the owners of a paper called the "Pennsylvanian." Returning once more to New York, he started in May, 1835, under the most discouraging and difficult circumstances, the New York Herald, of which journal he remained the sole proprietor and conductor up to his death, although he withdrew from the active managment of the paper about five years ago. His last sickness was only one week in duration, and was of an epileptic character.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

Use Buchman's Pulmocine Cordial for all throat diseases.

The Amount of Gold received each week for Custom-house duties ceases to seem so fabulous when one has been through a great importing house (like that of Jordan, Marsh & Co.'s, Boston,) and viewed the wealth of silks and velvets, of shawls and rich goods, weekly received from all foreign parts of importance.

Use Kennedy's Hemlock Ointment.
